Subject has appointment at FRU with Further Submissions Unit on 30/03/2017 - 12:00hrs, however it is possible that this can be expedited in detention given his failure to attend the same appointment recently and other reporting.

Subject served with IS86, IS91R, IS98 and IS98A on 01/03/17.

5. Assessment of removability. .

High- Removal is imminent.

6. Previous immigration compliance and non compliance.

High - Subject is an overstayer with no basis of stay in the UK. Subject was selected as a case for OP Perceptor at CEU on 04/01/17 however did not report. Officers from CEU attended the target address in search of the subject. Subject has not had leave for several years and has continuously tried to block any removal action by lodging futile FLTR applications which have all been refused. He has no family ties in the UK.. He has declined voluntary departure. Therefore as his removal is being taken forward, he is likely to abscond if granted temporary release.

7. Assessment of risk of harm to the public.

HARM Assessment B. PNC check:- No Trace- Subject's risk of harm to the public is Low

8. Known or claimed medical conditions (including mental health and/or self-harm issues and any reference to a Rule 35 report)

Subject claims to be suffering from depression. Referring officer says that the subject initially told them that he takes 45 mg of [Sensitive/irrelevant] as and when required. He has not taken any medication recently and doesn't have any. But he is now claiming to have last taking the medication yesterday and to have lots of that medication at his home. .

9. Risk indicators and risk level, according to the Adults at Risk policy (where relevant)

There are no exceptional circumstances, no risk indicators and risk level that render the subject unsuitable for detention.

Detention authorised as a Level 2 AAR by SEO Hannah Southworth who stated: "The subject is imminently removable and a valid passport is held.

The medication he claims to take, which appears to be backed up by the NHS letter, is a common medication we see for depression. It is likely that this medication can be provided in detention.

The subject has failed to adhere to his reporting restrictions and detention is likely to be minimal".

10. Any other compassionate circumstances (including children issues and ties to the UK)

Subject has no known ties in the UK

11. Any other information relevant to the detention decision (for example, change in detainee's circumstances, whether this is a pregnant woman or a family for which Ministerial authority has been requested or granted to extend detention beyond 72 hours,).

At this time, there is no change of circumstances

12. Previous applications for bail or temporary release.

N/A

13. Action plan for next review period (including any outstanding actions from preceding detention review).

To re set removal direction

14. Recommendation (whether to maintain detention or release, supported by reasons).

Maintain detention- Subject is a Sri Lankan national and an overstayer with no basis of stay in the UK. Subject was selected as a case for OP Perceptor at CEU on 04/01/17 however did not report. Officers from CEU attended the target address in search of the subject. Subject has not had leave for several years and has continuously tried to block any removal action by lodging futile FLTR applications which have all been refused. He has no family ties in the UK.. He has declined voluntary departure. He is a Harm B with a no trace on the PNC. Therefore detention is justified and proportionate to effect his lawful and imminent removal from the UK.
