Please expand on your answer:

If this means that as in the case of my friend who had a lovely candle ceremony that the registrar included with the choice of them writing their own vows which they did at the hotel when they got married is still an option

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would seem appropriate incorporating time and travel involved

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Not all couples have financial difficulties however there should be an option to not charge fees that the registrar in charge could make

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is in the interests of the officiant to have this recognition should they wish to officiate at ceremonies and a cost recovery basis seems appropriate

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I don't believe that the current law prevents couples getting married and I am not sure that the proposals would increase those getting married, it would however offer greater choice in where they could marry

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Having looked at costs when helping my friends plan their weddings it really was down to budget

Register office weddings in our area were very reasonably priced and had lovely facilities in a listed building with the option for one of my friends to go for a low cost late afternoon mid week wedding and then they hired the village hall and catered a buffet and disco so did not have an expensive day at all.

Another friend looked at the hotel wedding and decided that was the option for her saving money on wedding cars as she stayed the night before as part of the package and didn't feel the fees charged by the registrar's were not worth it for all the additional choices she could put into the ceremony
I can see that it would be a good idea to allow families to use their homes and large gardens if they have them to have a legal wedding so maybe the weddings would take place in more locations rather than increase in numbers and offer couples more choice on what to spend their budget on.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Not sure on savings as the legal wedding wherever it took place would have a cost

The fee for having a legal wedding before a non legal ceremony in a location not currently allowed would be saved however whoever was doing the legal ceremony would still set a fee so there may be no saving involved

I think the fee for being a recognised venue is paid by the venue and in my area seems quite reasonable so not sure how this would benefit the couple unless the hotels pass a fee onto those using the venue

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

It may be that more venues think about having weddings some who could accommodate small weddings that would think it easier not having to have the approved status if they are just asked to do a few weddings a year

Community facilities, village halls, restaurants and small business may feel that they could hold weddings if the fee to be pre approved and have less restrictions

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

venues may feel that they would have greater choice on who could conduct a legal wedding however it would be important that in looking at all the options available competition is fair for all those who could officiate at weddings whatever their status church, humanist, registrars and celebrants

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Looking at the proposals and fees structure it may have a financial impact on local Authorities if they are not allowed to compete for the ceremonies outside of the register office which could lead to job losses in those authorities that have invested into staffing to cover this area. Also if all ceremonies have to be registered at the register office the demand to do this work would be high and the cost of delivering this does not seem to be mentioned

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

My friends dealt with a local authority who have a ceremony team and they found it great that they could talk and email with the same staff about their big day and found them to be supportive all the way from enquiring to the big day and even getting a congratulations follow up after the wedding.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think that it would appear to make the process much easier for those who live abroad to organise a legal wedding in England and Wales without the need for in person visits to sort paperwork and if only have to be here a few days before the wedding it will mean saving money of trips back home to their families if working or living abroad

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think that it would appear to make the process much easier for those who live abroad to organise a legal wedding in England and Wales without the need for in person visits to sort paperwork and if only have to be here a few days before the wedding it will mean saving money of trips back home to their families if working or living abroad

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I believe that this may be an issue as lots of vessels are registered outside of England and Wales

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

no knowledge

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Local authorities who have invested in staff for the weddings may be forced to look at potential redundancies within the service particularly if independent celebrants can perform a legal ceremony.

Businesses like hotels may face more competition for the wedding market if ceremonies can be held anywhere this could be a major blow to the hospitality industry who have suffered so much as a result of the pandemic and lockdown restrictions.

Small business may attract weddings such as caterers who could deliver food to all locations. If family gardens are large enough or a field with marquee hired then pop up services could attend i.e. prosecco cart, ice cream cart mobile fish and chip van or hog roasts.

Religious organisations may not be affected as if religion is an important factor it will still remain so

The humanist society would like to be able to hold a legal ceremony as would independent celebrants if tight controls were in place this could be an option however I have reservations on this being open to fraud

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD87-H

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-10-29 15:33:57

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

None

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

None

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

None

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

None

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If either party is not the Registrar should be required to remind them that the lack of recent connection with England or Wales may affect the validity of the marriage in the eyes of the law and the authorities of their home jurisdiction. "Proceed at your own risk".

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided the parties are required when they meet in-person to provide photo ID. I was not when I got married but that was in 1979!

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

I have no views on the matter.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

No, no, and no again. There is nothing like meeting in person to pick up any sense of something wrong. This suggestion would put Registrars in an invidious position and would probably lead to allegations of racism.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

No view.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

And I have my doubts about the exception. Since 1753 one of the aims of the law has been to avoid clandestine marriages!

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But I remain of the view that all marriages should be by the Registrar with whatever religious ceremony the parties want to follow.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See CQ 11.

Please share your views below:

See CQ 11.

Consultation Question 13:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If banns are to be retained I see no value in this suggestion.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It's a bit late . . .

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

no views

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes and yes, if Anglican preliminaries are to be retained. Essential.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes if common licences are to be retained.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

All weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries and then be civil in form and before the Registrar.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

No

Please expand on your answer:

All weddings should be before the Registrar, who should then provide if the parties ask for it a special copy of the certificated overprinted with an R - on the strength of which (and only on the strength of which) any religious ceremony the parties choose could follow.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

A necessary conclusion from my previous answer.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If religious marriages are to continue, yes of course.

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No views

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If marriage has to be before the Registrar it is not important to the State or to the public who can then conduct a religious ceremony.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

No, for the same reason.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

No view.

Consultation Question 28:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

No

Please expand on your answer:

All these No answer are based on my view that marriage should be by and before the Registrar only.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But all this should happen before the Registrar.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again, assuming that the marriage before the Registrar has taken place first.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The marriage before the Registrar should be civil and secular only. What the parties then do at any religious ceremony is a matter for them.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Manifestly not: but the law needs to be made crystal clear that the ceremony before the Registrar is in and of itself a complete marriage, whether or not there is a religious follow-up.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Civil ceremony in the Registrar's office. Subsequent ceremony wherever the parties choose.

Please share your views below:

See previous answer.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The true marriage should be that before the Registrar and strictly civil and secular.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view.

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Welsh only, which would be inconvenient to non-Welsh speaking family in a later generation.

Moreover: It should be possible to get a certificate in English only of a marriage in Wales whenever it took place. My parents were married in Wales in 1944 because my father was stationed there - they had no other connection with Wales - and a certificate which is not entirely in English is not always acceptable to the authorities of countries where they've never heard of Wales!

Consultation Question 56:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There is no such thing as absolute electronic security.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Failure 1 should lead to a non-qualifying ceremony.

Of course: if my proposal is followed - that all marriages be celebrated in civil form before the Registrar - any purported ceremony not so celebrated will be non-qualifying.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See previous answer

Consultation Question 58:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See Q57

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable if only the Registrar can celebrate a marriage.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This presumption finds its origins in the days when much of the population was illiterate. It is absurd now.

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Very much so. The case of Bham should be reversed. Clerics celebrating ceremonies of marriage where there has been no civil ceremony should be prosecuted and if they use a place of worship the rating relief on that place of worship should be withdrawn.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

No view

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I understands the idea, but I find the idea absurd. There are some things you can do online and some you cannot and getting marries in in the second group.

No

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I see no harm in it as long as what is meant is the unofficial ceremony which should be allowed after the marriage before the Registrar.

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I see no harm in it as long as what is meant is the unofficial ceremony which should be allowed after the marriage before the Registrar.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

I see no harm in it as long as what is meant is the unofficial ceremony which should be allowed after the marriage before the Registrar.

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Because I do not see such marriages as being the subject of notice. Certainly the officer of the vessel should be required to have sight of the certificate with the R overprint which I proposed earlier.

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See previous answer.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See previous answer

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I have no idea.

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would not arise in my scheme.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

And indeed that no other form of marriage should have any legal effect whatsoever.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

You do not offer an option of "same fee as any other marriage outside the office" which is what I would have ticked.

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I would have no officiants.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

There is a problem with non-qualifying religious ceremonies, and the provisional proposals do nothing to solve it. The solution can only be to insist that all marriages are by and before the Registrar, with religious ceremony to follow if the parties wish. The change in practice would of course have to be well publicised.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The cost of a basic marriage before the Registrar is modest as it is. I doubt if it discourages anyone. The problem lies with couples who choose to disregard the need for it.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDSU-A

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-10-29 15:41:37

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Ceremonies

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Answer not applicable as I am an Independent Celebrant

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Answer not applicable as I am an Independent Celebrant

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Answer not applicable as I am an Independent Celebrant

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Answer not applicable as I am an Independent Celebrant

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Answer not applicable as I am an Independent Celebrant

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

All my weddings have been postponed due to the virus

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This varies widely across the world and so the UK should use the same approach as, say, USA. There the couple register their marriage at their local courthouse and are then free to have the ceremony in any way they like within 60 days.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In the light of the rise in sham marriages, and marriages under duress I think this is important

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Thinking about all the preparation that goes into a wedding, the last week can be pretty hectic, so a minimum of 7 days seems realistic

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I am not sure that this would work, but it is possible to consider it

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

If notice is to be given online, with the 'in person' meeting a minimum of 7 days before the ceremony, I do not see why this would be a problem.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It's old-fashioned these days to have the notices displayed on a screen on the entrance of the register office

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Nothing to add here

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The Law Commission review is all about providing choice and flexibility, so I agree with this

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See previous reply

Please share your views below:

Unsure as to what other circumstances this might apply to

Consultation Question 13:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why not?

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Nothing to add here

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Yes, absolutely. The notice for a registrar ceremony is published only in the register office where the couple gave notice, so the same rule should apply

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

The church must have input on this. As an independent celebrant I am unable to comment

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

The church must have input on this. As an independent celebrant I am unable to comment

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

The church must have input on this. As an independent celebrant I am unable to comment

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I'm not clear what you mean by this - if all Independent celebrants were trained to become registration officers then this would work, but not if a 2 tier system was still in place

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Independent Celebrants
Humanists
Quakers

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely agree

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I believe that the individual should be licenced and trained to legally register marriages, not the whole body, unless the body can prove training has taken place.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as that is a limit of their control - simply to keep a list, not to be a part of the selection or governing process. Unfortunately, some registration offices have behaved unethically and even unlawfully as they perceive independent celebrants to be 'competition'.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No comment to make here

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

in the air, and/or

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

no comment to add

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

only agree in part - the adding of occupations seems archaic and unnecessary

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

At times, it may not be possible to have the statutory amount of time between giving notice and the actual marriage, due to individual circumstances

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

no comment to add

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

no comment to add

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

there should be a reasonable time frame imposed

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

but the availability of a Basic Registration must be made easier to find on many local authorities websites, and this should still be available to all if this is the style of wedding they wish to have

Consultation Question 78:

No

Please expand on your answer:

an independent celebrant is able to do this without a fee being levied

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

this prohibits many venues from offering weddings, as the cost is beyond them

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

not clear what is meant by this question

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

as long as this doesn't become unrealistically expensive, and once done, it's done and is not a regular expense. Many independent celebrants are sole traders, and can do without unnecessary expanse.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Couples want to be married on the same day as their celebration ceremony, rather than separate the two. It seems ridiculous in this age, and in comparison to other countries, that this choice is not made available to couples unless they want to have the registrar out to their venue. But there are many restrictions with a registrar-led ceremony, - time, content, location, ability to personalise, include some religion if wanted, that they are forced to separate the two if they don't want 'one size fits all' ceremony. I don't believe the current law actually discourages couples from getting married, but just affects the way in which they do it. It isn't common knowledge among most couples that it isn't a straight choice between church or registrar, so including independent celebrants is vital to ensure no discrimination and freedom of choice. I am unsure whether there would be an increase in the numbers of couples getting legally married, but there would without doubt be an increase in those choosing a celebrant-led ceremony if that celebrant could also carry out the legal aspect of the marriage.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. Often, local register offices 'hide' the Basic registration on their websites, so it is not in plain sight. However this is legally available to all and so should be clearly displayed in the same way as say, registering a birth. The principle is the same.
2. The costs of marrying on approved premises is about the same whether it's a registrar or a celebrant. The difference being that if the couple decide on a bespoke celebrant ceremony, they must still have their legal registration carried out at the register office in order to be entered into the register, making the whole process more expensive. To bring the registrar out at an approved premises costs similar to this, but the same ceremony is offered, for which they have to pay only circa £50 if they do this separately a day or so before the celebration ceremony.
3. I cannot comment on the costs of church weddings.
4. Many locations that offer weddings are not licensed due to the prohibitive costs of becoming so, with many hoops to jump through and a repeated expense every few years. By allowing the person (in this instance, the celebrant) to be licensed, this opens up so much choice and flexibility for the couple to have their ceremony, their way.
5. See above

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I've covered much of this in the previous answer

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Frequently, the venue has availability, but the registrar does not, so an obvious choice would be to employ a celebrant. Some couples however, don't want to do this when they discover that it will have to be done in two separate ceremonies. This adds to their costs and takes something away from their wish to be legally married on the same day.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

mostly answered above - the benefits to all of these - venues, celebrants, availability, business opportunities - not forgetting the increase in choice for their special day - is massive.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

nothing further to add here

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

if independent celebrants are permitted to carry out legal marriages as part of their bespoke ceremonies, then this frees the Registration Service to do what it does best - to concentrate on maintaining the register of births, marriages and deaths. It reduces their costs as they will not have to employ, train and pay registrars to attend approved premises, and limits their working week to Monday-Friday. This opens up many opportunities for the couple, the venues and for independent celebrants.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Many couples go to Scotland or choose destination weddings to circumvent England's laws.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

as above

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

no comment to add

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

no comment to add

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

The costs to local authorities should decrease as they will no longer need to employ, train and pay registrars to deliver ceremonies at approved premises. To businesses, also a decrease, as they will not need to register as an Approved Venue and find the associated costs for doing this.

Can't comment about religious organisations

As long as any required additional training to train independent officiants to provide legally recognised marriages was not prohibitive or repetitive, then this should not present an obstacle.

For couples, it makes everything simpler, easier, and less costly.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD8V-G

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-10-29 16:32:31

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Please withhold my e.mail address

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am widowed but may re-marry

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

From friends I found the current registration service the most convenient way to marry

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This requirement allows time to think and not marry indiscriminately. It also helps against forced marriages

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Time to consider getting married

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

All interviews should be face to face so as not to discriminate

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

This practise should continue

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This allows anyone to legally object

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This gives time to give notice and then book wedding venues, caterers etc

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

All officiant teams are trained to give an excellent ceremony and they wear name badges if there is any complaint. If the couple can specify a change there could be a charge of compliance for a forced or illegal marriage.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Only if sanctioned by GRO

Please share your views below:

No

Consultation Question 13:

No

Please expand on your answer:

All part of the United Kingdom

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

These should be on line

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

A meeting should take place

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Both of the couples should attend the meeting

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

One authorising authority

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

One authority on the day. Current registrar system should remain

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Registration officers should be the authority at all ceremonies

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

One registrar and one to take the ceremony therefore two.

This maintains the authority of the marriage

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Tradition

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Authority must be maintained to stop false weddings

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

An official list should be publicised but no pseudo religions as will lack authority

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Sincere beliefs can change thus making the vows unacceptable

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes. Exclude

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

No

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The GRO is a central organisation for records so no mistakes are made

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will be the same as Scotland and the USA

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Without doubt

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should be a true and proper service to the population.

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Standard fees should be charged. Regulated by the government

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

One organisation

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The GRO

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Policing by a true and proper organisation

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Confirming proof of marriage

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

To some people this confirms the marriage

Please share your views below:

Mention of God, Jesus, Allah etc is fine but must not fall into a religious ceremony in entirety.

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Allow anyone to object legally

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If health and safety checked

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

All ok

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Legal objection must always be allowed

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Trained to do so

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Local register office

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

No

Please expand on your answer:

security is never very good especially remote venues

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Witnesses and signing paramount proof of a legal marriage

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

No problems

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Both parties agree confirmed

Consultation Question 64:

No

Please expand on your answer:

GRO control

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Who knows what may happen

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Must be in UK waters

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Not that I know

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I think the currensituation does not discourage or prevents couples from getting married and I do not think it would encourage any extra couples getting married.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Costs could be a barrier but as long as fees recover costs and no profit results it is the fairest way of getting married officially.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The benefits of marrying in a register office is that all ceremonies are the same or similar. When they are held at a venue the couple will attempt to outdo their friends and show off causing each new couple to spend more than perhaps they can afford.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

See previous answer

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

This gives the couple a choice within legal barriers

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

More revenue

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Not as well regulated as it should be

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Always extra cost to administer

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD82-C

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-02 20:05:19

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Skipton Boat Trips

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

We would love to provide this service for our customers! We have many people ask us about getting married on the boat each year

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDWZ-K

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-03 15:45:11

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

+ [REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Confidentiality is not required

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

When we wanted to wed we only had the option of a civil partnership. When we wanted to convert our civil partnership to a marriage we only had the option of a dreadful Register Office interview.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

All the weddings I was due to conduct have been postponed to 2021 or 2022. I have had some new bookings for 2020 where couples have been unable to secure a Registrar for their preferred date so they are having their ceremony and are completing the legal registration on an alternative date. In Gloucestershire the Register Office has no capacity to book any more 2020 weddings. Many couples are discovering celebrants for the first time and are delighted with what an independent celebrant can offer them - in a Covid compliant way of course

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This places unnecessary limits on couples who wish to marry in a beloved place they do not live in, for example a former home, favourite holiday destination

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We live in an on line world - the law needs to move with the times

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

This allows necessary paperwork to be drawn up.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

of course - we live in a digital age, people are used to working remotely. I think it should be an option - it wont suit everyone

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, lets make life easier and the process less convoluted

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

as previously - we live in a digital age - the marriage laws need to reflect this

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

12 months is a fair and reasonable length of time under normal circumstances

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

yes so long as the couple have the right to choose their own officiant

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical

Please share your views below:

I think the reasons already noted are sufficient

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

lets make the system uniform across all marriage institutions

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

on line publication of notice - uniform across religious and civil weddings

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

easier to have civil proceeding first

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

yes I think they should

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

easier to have one system

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

it is critical that Independent celebrants are afforded the same rights as Humanist celebrants and should be able to officiate legal marriage

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

it is critical that Independent celebrants are afforded the same rights as Humanist celebrants and should be able to officiate legal marriage.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The description is too narrow and doesn't fit well with the description of independent celebrant bodies

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

of course - the organisations must be acting within the law and not be contrary to public policy or morality

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

yes - but please ensure that there is that Independent celebrants are afforded the same rights as Humanist celebrants and are nominated as individuals to officiate legal marriage

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There must be an overarching body

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is critical for the development and modernisation of marriage laws in the UK

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In addition - I would suggest that the NOCN Level 3 Diploma in Celebrancy: Naming and Couples - as the highest available celebrant qualification in the UK should be used as a requirement

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However this should not impact on the creative and personalised elements that many couples are now seeking

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This needs to be an ongoing rolling programme as some leave and others seek to join

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

prayers, hymns, religious reading, blessings from a variety of faiths and traditions - as requested by the couple

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should be about offering the widest possible choice to couples

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

wherever is meaningful to the couple

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

No

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants will need clear guidelines they can apply when making their judgements

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Definitely

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

County councils - Registration office. Venue would apply for pre - approval

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Failure to sign is not acceptable

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The name of the officiant should be required

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

fixed time limit should apply

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The current laws prevent couples from marrying where they wish to. Many of my wedding ceremonies are held in venues that are not approved marriage premises or they held in non approved areas within approved venues. This relates especially to privately owned homes, land and gardens

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It is often very difficult for couples to have a simple marriage registration in a Register Office at a time and day to suit them as slots for this type of marriage registration are so very limited.

Most couples who opt for the creative personal wedding ceremony I offer want legal registration of their marriage thus requiring them to have a separate legal registration

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It would be wonderful - introducing choice and options to couples who want a wedding that is both legal, creative and personalised in the venue of their choice. In addition with an officiant who has taken the time to get to know them and write a ceremony with bespoke aspects

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

as a self employed independent celebrant my income is not fixed or predictable - any Officiant registration fee needs to be realistic

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD8F-Z

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-03 18:45:54

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] - independent civil celebrant

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

NO,I am happy to be named

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not married, I am a civil celebrant and perform non legally binding wedding ceremonies for others.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It is not legal to perform a ceremony and not disclose that it is not a legal ceremony. I would never do this

Other

Please expand on your answer:

see above

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Barriers exist for people seeking non traditional or mixed faith and outdoor weddings.

1) mixed faith weddings - where neither partner can marry in the place of their faith but do still want to honour their beliefs. This is not possible in a register office or Humanist ceremony, but as an independent celebrant I welcome all faiths and will write ceremonies incorporating all aspects they wish honoured.

2) outdoor weddings - currently no-one can marry legally outdoors yet many wish to. My own ceremonies take place in gardens, woods, forests and festivals, under the sky and stars.

3) Pagan, Druidic, Celtic ceremonies etc - faith weddings which are non traditional - currently these are not allowed - no faith is allowed at Register or Humanist ceremonies so there is no provision for these wedding ceremonies.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I have conducted one out of the seven weddings I had been contracted to undertake this year. My couples have had to postpone their ceremonies. I lost several prospective ceremonies as the couples opted instead for a quick register office legal wedding.

My couples lost money and the opportunity for the weddings they wanted.

I have conducted one ceremony over Zoom, but in general this year has been disastrous.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

yes - the use of Zoom or similar would cut waiting times - couples are currently caught in a backlog

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

This seems sensible

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am not able to answer this question

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again not able to answer this question

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Not my sphere of competence

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

as above

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

This seems sensible

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If celebrants are allowed to conduct legal ceremonies then the need for registration officers would be to register not conduct the ceremonies.

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As above -there is no need for a registration officer if celebrants are trained and licenced to officiate. Registration officers could then be office based dealing with the legal paperwork

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

2) is a very binary view. It is not a question of religious faith or none. This implies faith or Humanism. However, there is a third choice. In the same way that celebrants such as I conduct funerals which have a range of spiritual beliefs, so do weddings. Pagans, Wiccans, Spiritual beliefs, handfasting, jumping the room, mixed faith, ceremonies are all valid, but not covered by the limiting choices you are offering. People often want a blend of religious and non religious content. For example a broadly humanist ceremony with some pagan elements (handfasting and jumping the broom) and some Christian elements (bible reading or the Lords prayer). This is not possible under a church/faith wedding or Humanist, as they do not allow any faith. Nor do register ceremonies. Only Independent Civil Celebrants allow ALL faiths and beliefs to be recognised and celebrated.

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is very limiting. Humanism is NOT the only alternative to faith! Spiritual beliefs, ancient pagan elements, even Jedai and other new belief systems are not currently able to marry or have elements in their legal ceremonies which reflect their beliefs or cultures. I speak as one who is a member of Humanist UK, but I honour all beliefs and allow them in my non legal ceremonies, There is a huge appetite in the populace for ceremonies which are legal but allow spiritual beliefs - there is currently no avenue for this and to limit it again is short sighted and discriminatory.

Please share your views below:

If I understand this question correctly, you are asking for organisations which are non religious belief organisations but which could conduct weddings. there are several independent civil celebrant training colleges which train celebrants to a high level. the FOIC - Fellowship of Independent Celebrants offers NOCN certificate and Diploma recognised courses. The IPC (Institute of Professional Celebrants) UK society of Celebrants and Civil ceremonies are all highly thought of. All of the above train celebrants to conduct ceremonies for all faiths, including humanist, spiritual, etc

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

1) - not suitable for non religious bodies - however, a certain standard of training (diploma) should be a requirement at the very least for a Celebrant and their regulating body should be held accountable for the standard of their wedding ceremonies. These should be written to a high standard, though most definitely NOT to a formula similar to the register service currently available, as this would take away the point.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I am not sure I understand. Do you mean organisations which promote hatred or illegal practices - then yes. However, religious and spiritual freedom should be allowed - beliefs are personal and unique

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Civil celebrants are self employed. Their training body is not legally involved in their professional choices. Therefore this is not really relevant. Once trained, the civil celebrant is an independent, often sole trader. However, a regulating body is a good idea

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not sure that this question is clear,

If you mean that civil celebrants should not be able to make a business out of officiating at weddings then this is patently absurd as it is their income.

if you seek to limit their ability to officiate weddings to only one kind of expression of their belief then this is also failing to understand the nature of civil celebrancy.

For example, I conducted a non faith based, non spiritual wedding this year which still had elements of pagan and Celtic faith (hand fasting). next year I will conduct a pagan ceremony, and another which has Christian elements. As a funeral celebrant i regularly conduct funerals with prayers, or other elements, as well as humanist, non faith and even Pagan or Druidic elements.

Yet I myself do not have these faiths. My beliefs are irrelevant - I am giving my families and couples the wedding or ceremony of their dreams and wishes.

When I was a teacher my own faith was irrelevant when teaching in multi cultural classrooms - to be otherwise would be discriminatory. I believe the same is true of wedding ceremonies. This is not about profit, it is about honouring the beliefs of the people who trust me to conduct the service for them.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

To a certain extent. I am working at the lower end of the wedding market, at about £500 per ceremony. However others charge £4,000 for a wedding. Our clients are very different, and my own tastes are to simple and fair pricing, but it is up to the couples to decide what price range they wish for. Unlike other services for weddings, there is no 'mark up' when conducting a wedding. It covers the time taken writing and re writing, the time spent with the couples, travel expenses and sometimes the costs of hotels , flights etc if working abroad. It also covers conducting the ceremony itself. It is up to the couples to find a celebrant in their price range. I know that registrars going to hotels to conduct services get paid time and a half at weekends and are paid by the hour. yet the council charges up to £650 for this service - of which the celebrant registrar gets about £30 - 40. Often they conduct up to 6 weddings a day on popular weekends. This is why so many leave to become celebrants, and also because they want to be able to write ceremonies with freedom to include all the elements the couples want.

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why not? Why should a celebrant not be free to be a lay minister in their own time and also a civil celebrant? Why discriminate?

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be very helpful. However it should not seek to limit the range or content of a service.

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As stated before, training bodies do not have any power over celebrants once trained. I suggest a nominated governing body to oversee weddings, and suggest that the registration authority should perform this duty.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Outdoor, woodland, garden. beach - these are all places couples want to be able to wed - under the sky, not in a structure. The officiant should be the licence, not the place.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

YES!!!!!!"

Please share your views below:

ALL ELEMENTS SHOULD BE ALLOWED - THIS IS THEIR WEDDING NOT ANYONE ELSE'S.

handfasting

sand ceremonies prayer

religious readings

unity candles

jumping the broom hymns or similar religious songs

quartering the elements (Pagan) earth, wind, fire and water, north, south, east west religious outfits/iconry sacred circles and smudging (Pagan/Celtic/Druidic)

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

YES YES YES

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Yes to all of the above. Other countries have allowed this for years and it is very popular. Currently weddings in venues are ridiculously expensive and prohibitive - up to £20,000 for an average wedding cost, a lot of which goes on the venue. This is discriminating against the poorer section. Some belief systems, especially pagan, are linked to the natural environment and require outdoor venues, often wooded.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why limit this? Who does it hurt?

I was raised atheist but attended Christian schools. I was a humanist yet taught in CofE schools. I taught Muslims, Hindus, Jewish, Christian etc children. I visited churches and synagogues, Temples and Mosques.

As a funeral celebrant I conduct funerals in many different places including church burial grounds, crematoria and woodland burials. If a vicar wants to conduct a funeral in a civil place, who cares?

Same with weddings - why cause more rules to break - just free the whole thing up and let couples CHOOSE

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

No

Please expand on your answer:

SAFE - yes

Dignified? Why? Weddings should be fun. If that is what the couple wants. Serious, spooky, dignified or whatever they wish. Heartfelt - yes. Genuine - yes.

Romantic - if they want. but dignified - why?

A handfasting can be fun, romantic, loving, irreverent and dignified in turns. No-one is saying that weddings shouldn't be a true commitment. A Legal and moral linking of two souls, an agreement to honour, love and care for each other. However, the wedding itself can be anything the couple want, as long as the commitment they make is real.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

SAFE - yes

Dignified - no - that is the couple and the celebrant's choice.

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Why stop at only two languages? Many civil ceremonies are bilingual (BSL should be an option)

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Surely we are over the whole same sex/intrasex/Trans question now? If two people love each other and find someone of their faith who is willing to marry them despite their faith's blinkered view of such things then good luck to them.

Two people marry, not two genders.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No to 1 for the reasons above

YES to 2 - this has to be a priority to avoid coercion and marrying for gain or legal status/people trafficking etc

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This takes away the rights of a couple NOT to marry but to consider their assets as joint, and their parenting rights etc to be as if married. It is a couple's choice if they marry or not, and the rights of a long term couple should be preserved as if married - it won't stop people wanting to get married, it will just protect the vulnerable and the children of such a relationship.

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Yes - because currently they cannot marry in their desired place or style, due to the same limitations as mentioned above. If they are able to be married by an independent civil celebrant they will be able to have their wedding where they want and when they want without any legal limitations currently in place.

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why add to the red tape? As long as they give notice and follow legal advice, this should not be limited to waiting for a registration officer to become free. This can and has delayed weddings to the point where the person had passed before legally being able to wed the person they loved.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Yes - ferries, sailing ships and barges - obviously subject to size and safety

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why only a member of the crew? Surely a celebrant should be able to join the couple - why should it only be limited to crew members? this seems to be a purely financial decision to benefit the owners of the vessels, not the couples themselves and would lead to the same abuses currently seen on land at venues who charge the earth. It discriminates against poorer couples.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This should be at the discretion of the officiant.

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Neither - should be completely discretionary - currently Make a wish and dream wedding charities do this and do not charge. It is up to the conscience of the officiant and the means of the couple to pay.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Oh yes? As previously stated, celebrant registrars get a fraction of what the council charges. I can see why cash strapped councils do this, but paying the celebrant registrars a decent wage for their time should be mandatory.

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

see above

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This should be on a case by case situation

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If this becomes a licence to print money, with the officiant charged and sent through hoops it will be a disaster. A simple yet fair and in depth process, with clear and transparent pricing is the only way.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1 - yes it does - there are many couples for whom the two tier system is offputting, leading to them having a ceremony which is not to their taste and does not allow for their faiths. Also many couples can't afford it and save for years, and others just don't bother as it is such a faff
2) It is a step in the right direction but any decision must distinguish between Non faith (humanist) and Civil celebrants, who are in the majority and are the ones conducting the multi-faith, spiritual and open ceremonies which couples want.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1) if a couple wants a simple ceremony it is almost impossible to get - one afternoon a week and booked weeks in advance
2) yes most definitely - this is a racket which prohibits weddings for anyone under a certain pay grade or encourages debt and borrowing
3 - not my area
4) it is ridiculous to have place where no weddings can take place legally and yet ceremonies take place their all the time with non legal weddings.

5) Yes, this adds to the price and prohibits many couples from even trying

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

All of these proposals would allow couples to conduct weddings for a reasonable price and would enable them to do so much more easily.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I have already given my opinion on council charges for licenced venues

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

- freedom
- not having to save up for years or go into debt
- simplification of the process which is currently very confusing
- less waiting
- true religious and spiritual freedom unlike current restrictions which discriminate against any belief that is not Christian or atheist (C of E and Registrar weddings are the only ones licenced and this is binary and discriminatory against other faiths)

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

This does bring in revenue for local authorities, from licencing venues to renting out registrars for a huge profit compared with what they are paid

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

They can create new jobs for overseeing and licencing, they can reduce the need for registrars at venues thus allowing them to not have to pay overtime, but still retaining them for training and licencing new officiants.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

not sure

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

not sure

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It limits their ability to offer wedding packages

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

They could have a whole new industry of river weddings, weddings on ferries, special chartered wedding boat trips etc - lots of potential revenue

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Training and accreditation would cost independent officiants money, which would pass on to couples initially. The LA and government would have initial costs to facilitate training and all of the necessary paperwork, computer systems etc.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD8Q-B

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-03 19:08:36

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] [REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/a

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

N/a

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/a

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/a

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/a

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/a

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Everything cancelled or postponed until 2021 or 2022. Complete loss of income.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It shouldn't matter. If the couple have the right to marry in England then it should be the whole country and not different counties. We are so computerised these days that this shouldn't impact on required checks.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Great idea

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Without knowing what checks are made on individuals within the current 28 days it's difficult to see why it takes so long. How many sham marriages have actually been prevented after a 7 day period?

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Not sure on this one.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes. If this works now, why change it and make it more complicated for the individuals concerned

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

How can an officiant be booked without confirmation of a date or time being set in advance. Current practice for a Celebrant is to be booked once a date and venue has been selected.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure how this works as not involved with religious services. Can't comment

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Online should be possible too if Civil ceremonies change to this

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes. Good idea

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is what we have been looking for.

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Celebrants should be authorised too

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There is no governing body for Independent Celebrants. There are training organisations and these offer this service to make money out of training personnel, not necessarily to govern how they perform later.

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This completely excludes Independent Celebrants who offer a ceremony based on a hugely diverse belief system.

Please share your views below:

This will be a very popular question for Humanist U.K. and Council Registrar personnel who do not wish for Independent Celebrants to be able to officiate. sadly they was exclusivity and not Inclusivity.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If the GRO are to record this info, but are they going to be responsible for accepting nominated officiants too?

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely!

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

You can't nominate someone who isn't.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We are running a business. We charge based on what we offer and thus enables couples to make a choice based on services as well as price.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Why wouldn't we.

Consultation Question 36:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I believe that the legal requirements are necessary and should be conducted identically in each ceremony, but as an Independent celebrant we create bespoke services for our couples and this is why we are paid to do what we do.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Some couples I have been involved with are of mixed faith eg Jewish/Athiest. A Hebrew prayer over wine is an example where a Jewish faith mini-ceremony element has been included in a predominantly secular ceremony.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

There should be no limit at any venue

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I'm not sure where would be considered un-dignified.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Guidance but not Authorisation

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Mistakes happen

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If this is how it currently is required. But a shorter period of time may be necessary and a special license issued

Consultation Question 64:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with part 1 but not 2-4

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is no different than notifying GRO of the venue booked

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Depends on the couples. As this hasn't been an option before I cannot comment

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

A time limit should be set, but this could be a 3 month time limit rather than 10 days

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If this is within their paid working hours there is no additional requirement to be paid more for time

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

All of my couples have completed a Registration ceremony plus a bespoke celebrant ceremony. For some couples this has caused them to pay two set fees. I think there would be an increase in legally married couples if they can have the ceremony they want.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

There are significant costs involved and these vary across the country and by differing celebrant fees but this is business. The fact that some Register offices do not advertise the £46 basic ceremony and have been known to make it difficult for couples to book these is criminal. The fact that couples need to arrange for a separate legal ceremony, even at £46 is a shame and could be addressed under this change in the Law.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

This change shouldn't be based on "savings" made by the couples rather than an increase in their choices available for them.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I'm one celebrant and conduct over 30 ceremonies per year. There has been a significant increase not only in ceremonies but in the number of celebrants available and this must be considered to be a factor that couples want the ability to choose who they have officiate and what words they say during their ceremony. No longer prescriptive and same for all ( tick box options)

There is a huge business opportunity for small, family owned venues to host ceremonies as well as more well known venues in reading choice of rooms and grounds.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD8D-X

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-03 22:36:38

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

FOIC

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

married in 1980 .

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Own son has had his wedding cancelled four times. I have not been able to conduct any weddings this year all cancelled and deferred to 2021/22

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Couples should have a choice on how they marry and by whom. Legality is important to prevent illegal marriages however celebrants with extensive knowledge of the legal process could take on this role. Celebrants are able to carry out no legal ceremonies offering couples choice and a ceremony that is personal and reflects the beliefs of the couple and not the ceremony is unique and not as a register lead wedding that is often very formal and cold and uniformed in delivery.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With the progress in technology using an on line process is important to enable councils to move into the 21st Century . This would also offer a more efficient service and allow council staff to gain additional IT skills. It could also be a saving to the councils.

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Allowing seven days would allow the office to be able to investigate and identify any issues. However in cases where illness necessitates a quicker response 3 days should be an option.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Remote interviews could take place , however it is important that proof of identity is available at the time to confirm the couple being interviewed are the correct people.

The use of zoom or teams is an option.

If any doubts an face to face interview should be conducted. this may apply to the following groups.

previously married couples needing to prove divorce status.

Non British nationals.

people who do not have British status

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Notice is important again to prevent illegal regulations.

Consultation Question 9:

No

Please expand on your answer:

notice should be made.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Having a substitute officiant involved will help prevent any delays associated with sickness etc.

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Taking away this process will allow couples greater choice. This procedure is out of date with the times and taking it away will begin to offer choice .

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There needs to be more flexibility and the couple should be given the right to be able to be married in any parish after it has been established that they have met the criteria.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

This process has lead to less people getting married in church and as church congregations have reduced in size having such tight restrictions does not encourage young people to attend church willingly without having to attend for such a long period in order to hear bands. Bands should be able to be read in non religious setting and perhaps the time has come to question if bands are necessary.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

The clergy if marrying a couple does need to check the legality of the marriage like a registrar. Meeting the couple does help get to know the couple and helps put them at ease in readiness for the ceremony. Just like a celebrant meets the couple before hand. However the clergy often meets more than once to check out that the couple know what they are marrying for. This does question if the questioning why a couple want to marry is the responsibility of the clergy and what power do they have.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

They should attend as a couple not independently.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

All denominations should have the power to marry example Baptist, Methodist, etc celebrants.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

all colleagues agree.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Ceremonies created to reflect the views , beliefs and values of the couple.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Religious and non religious should be offered what ever the couple want. personal to them

Please share your views below:

Prayers,
religious readings
blessings

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However if you change the regulations about civil wedding ceremonies this answer will alter.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

offers choice

Please share your views below:

as long as risk assessed the couple should have choice.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

need some guidance for legal reasons

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

for their own safety as well as others duty of care

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Upto the owners however insurance of the individual does need to be checked.

Please share your views below:

The owner should be responsible and clear guidelines and insured the celebrant in my case would need to check their insurance in the event of an accident.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There does need to be some regulation

No

Please expand on your answer:

need to reduce the rigidity of the process.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

No

Please expand on your answer:

again rigid.

No

Please expand on your answer:

still need to a ceremony otherwise no one would get married .

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However proof required

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

This does need to be addressed especially with people terminal. They should be able to be legally married without any delay.

No sure about prisons.

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Dont have time however if on line this would help.

Consultation Question 64:

No

Please expand on your answer:

dont need a registrar celebrants could do this.

Consultation Question 65:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

where ever the couple wish

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

celebrants could do this

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

choice if they wish

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

acceptable for travel

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

No fees should be required.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

if they wish however should not be law .

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

standard cost across all councils

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If hosting weddings and have registrars attend then charge. however locations should be able to carry out weddings in areas that do not have to be licensed

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If couple wish a registrar to attend.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is understanding that employed council staff will need to be paid.

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

No

Please expand on your answer:

other methods example virtual may replace this

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Allowing greater flexibility by allowing celebrants to conduct marriages including the legal process will enable couples to have a marriage the way they want and a marriage that reflects the values and beliefs of the couple. The current law puts a lot of pressure on couples who may want to marry in church however the hoops they have to jump. the strict church regulations result in the church instead of encouraging people to go to church the strict regulations discourage them. losing future church goers. If banns and less legality surrounded the getting married in church then more people would choice to marry in churches.

However celebrants can and should be allowed to legally marry couples in churches or any venue chosen by the couple. Regulations should be in place to protect the couple associated with safety.

a marriage ceremony should be a ceremony that reflects the values and beliefs of the couple in a place of their choice without any constraints apart from safety.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. The cost of a register office wedding should only be for the registrar and payment should only be for one. the witness of the ceremony needs to have been done before the day with papers all checked. having 2 people is an added cost and not necessary.
2. The rule associated with approved premises needs to be got rid off.
3. The cost of marrying in registered places of worship. should be allowed however minimal costs
4. Private facilities should be able to ask for a minimal charge which should be part of the wedding celebration.
5. Limited costs for the couple to pay for the presence of a civil celebrant.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

More choice

Less legality may encourage couples to marry earlier than stay engaged longer more people marrying in church with no need to here banns being able to marry when and where a couple want.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. couples would have greater choice.
2. would not need registry offices as couples could be married by celebrants in a venue of their choice.
3. allowing venues to allow religious and non religious officiates would allow couples greater choice.
4. The business opportunities include.

More marriages

increased costs for wedding venues smaller venues could be used for weddings and marriages

The wedding industry would benefit considerably with opportunities for their services to be used in places that they would not have imagined.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The local Authorities would be able to use the resources they presently use for focusing on providing other services. the demand on the amount of money LA have is being stretched. The role of the register will still be needed for the registering of death, births. etc. However not doing marriage ceremonies would free up time to enable them to be used for checking the legality surrounding the couples background and the need to ensure that the couple do not have any illegal reasons for not being married.

WE are in the 21st century we need to move in practice and give people choice taking away the legal stiff archaic practices their is a need to change. Many registrars have become celebrants and being able to carry out the legal marriage and the wedding is more fulfilling role which offers an individual the opportunity to create wedding ceremonies that reflect the values and beliefs of the couple and not using the words that they have to use as dictated by the LA.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

More flexibility couples

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

flexibility offering choice

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

choice and more flexibility

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

choice

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1. if people do not use LA loss of income
- 2..Greater profits and they can offer facilities not licenced and this cost
3. Small costs however if they lessen the strict criteria more money into the church and may increase congregations.
4. Celebrants are increasing in numbers and can offer religious and non religious ceremonies and should be recognised as able to understand the law and create a legal marriage as well as a unique and personal ceremony.
5. Couples will be able to choice when and where they are married. they will be able to create with a celebrant a unique and personal ceremony that reflects their values beliefs and one they will treasure . the cost of this will be more transparent

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD8Y-K

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-04 17:06:33

About you

What is your name?

Name:

Pastor [REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Methodist Church

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Am legally married

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

security for us both

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I had to conduct a wedding during pandemic , the couple were not believers but wished to use the chapel to make it legal, then after a very short service 10 mins they went home and had another ceremony with a celebrant who could not do a legally binding wedding. I was happy to help but felt that the marriage of their choice was not by me in chapel but in their home by a celebrant. Consequently I feel that other celebrants should be allowed to do a legal wedding and one that the couple really want as it is the one day they will remember always.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Some people originally belong to an area like Pant here by me, so they wish to marry in their hometown but now live and work away, I have come across this a lot.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If its online its much more visible and accessible

Consultation Question 6:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

& days is reasonable I think

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Provided they are witnessed yes

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes it should still be possible as its necessary

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Its open to viewing and all above board so thats a good thing

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

What schedule is this exactly?

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Is this in case the celebrant of their choice becomes ill?

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

You need a plan B always on such an important day

Please share your views below:

Well yes if its necessary as no one knows what may happen

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure on this I must say

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Unsure

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I would think in that particular church but to include the surrounding local area

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Both are a good idea as you still cant be too careful

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

No its a bit degrading and outdated now, come to the Methodists instead

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Just open it all up a bit, look at the poor couple who came to me to get married then went back home to have the alternative ceremony they really wanted

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Its how we usually do it , legal declarations etc

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think they should be allowed to officiate for the couple who choose them ANYWHERE

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Its enough

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No it needs to be opened up now as its putting people off

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with the second one as celebrants must be owned and recommended by their training body

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No one must dictate how others must live their lives

Please share your views below:

One Spirit ministers must now be allowed as they are already in Ireland and Scotland

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes because they will know if the celebrant is worthy of recommendation

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes if morally unsound they need stopping

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes again because the individuals will be known to them

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Definitely hold them all on a good to go list

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes its about time now to let them

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

You have still to be known to be of good character trustworthy and true

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If you want to do weddings you have to be worthy and fit

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

You can have a fee but youre not there to rip them off

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As i said a standard fee is acceptable but dont get greedy

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No I think you could do both religious and non religious as required as I know I have been asked to

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Definitely , standards must be upheld

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Its always good to follow guidance

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If they dont comply they deserve to go

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If they are letting the side down they shouldnt be doing it

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

You have to realise that you are conducting a legal ceremony and accept the resposibilty that goes with it

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Well maybe there should be ten yearly checks to see if they are still fit for purpose

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

They must tow the line if they want to keep doing weddings its a serious thing

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

You know where they both stand with their own wishes if they say them in public

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Its their day and they should have their choice

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No limitations , make way for all peoples

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes of course its about personal choice

Please share your views below:

Hymns and readings, a thought for the day etc

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Well this is the other way round to what recently happened to me, I think that once they have had a legally binding ceremony, thats the one that counts and will be registered.

There wouldnt be any harm in an extra one, as it wouldnt be the one that counted any way, the first one would be the one registered.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No , open doors continues to be good practice as it invites the open to all practice

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes provided it wasnt a ridiculous place like a toilet

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

All ok but I personally wouldnt want to marry anyone in the air

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes its reasonable for the family to have a degree of privacy and you do get a lot of families who have fallen out

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

At our local chapels we have always allowed other ministers or official celebrants to come and do them as long as they show respect and co operation. Sometimes we get a good donation

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes because they might be a good judge of whether the place is acceptable or not

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Decency is the main thing and to take it seriously , the commitment you are making

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Im afraid you have to guide people now a bit as a lot need to be told what s dignified and safe, some are too young to be sensible

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes if the place could be looked at you could then decide if its suitable

Please share your views below:

The council and it should be done by filling in a form

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is going to be a historic document in years to come and so as much detail as this would be great for those who will see it in years to come

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In English and Welsh I think or else only one or the other would understand it

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

To avoid sham marriages you need to be doing this yes

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes all these things could happen and have to be thought about now

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think that the marriage register must always be signed and witnessed

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If they cant go along with the lawful requirements then they are not serious in their intent to marry and must be stopped at it

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Cant say as I understand this scenario so am not commenting.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

You cant just presume someones married when they co habited a long time

Consultation Question 60:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Keep it the same you dont know if lying goes on you see

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Big offence worthy of being struck off

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Yes especially in terminal illness I think.

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Just need proof that they are terminally ill and thats enough

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Lot more sensible, there are not enough ministers to do weddings thats why I as Pastor have a dispensation and am an authorised person

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Seems a long time if someones terminally ill but it gives them a bit of scope

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

May as well be the same length of time

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes provided it could be carried out and achieved with documentary evidence

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Well there could arise a situation that needs this so yes

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Really I think both are emergencies

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Some people have this sort of requirement to marry at sea

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As I said you never know what means what and to whom...

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Same thoughts really

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Its all got to be registered just the same wherever it is

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should be any official celebrant who is worthy and qualified, but this could of course be a Maritime officer

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

One rule for all

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should be anyone as long as they are an officially recognised celebrant and can legally perform a wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Yes there is demand for religious weddings I know

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As soon as reasonably possible

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Only fair

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Compassion needed in these cases

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes keep that on

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Just would come under necessary expenses

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

You need to actually see venues are fit to have weddings going on

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Only fair

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

same

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

cost should be same

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Some fee but with allowances

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

only fair

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Yes I know that current law discourages those wanting to marry, the improvements would certainly lead to more wishing to marry I guarantee this fact

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Recently I was asked to do a wedding as short as possible which I did. The couple were not believers and had a second ceremony afterwards at home. However it was the church ceremony that was registered and legal. If the second celebrant had been legally able to marry them they would not have used me at all. They didn't want me really, or the chapel, but had to have it in order to be legal. They DID want a non religious spiritual service at home, so they had to have two services and it was expensive. Open up the way to alternative celebrants, may I recommend ONE SPIRIT MINISTERS who are already legal in Ireland and Scotland. It would be so sensible and encouraging to couples and more accepting

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

To make marriage more affordable, comfortable and available please do bring in your proposed changes which would open up a lot of hope to those who feel on the outside

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I think the benefits would be immense to applying marriage laws with this greater scope and understanding of modern circumstances, I personally know it would work in an enormously better way

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

As business opportunity it would be marvellous, I do think however that to look at the place first would be advisable always and for staff to have special wedding training.

Non religious celebrants are fine but must be proven to be people of great integrity and take their responsibility extremely seriously as they are carrying out a lawful procedure

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have always found local authorities fantastic and helpful and dutiful and kind

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The local authority would have more choices to suggest to those wishing to marry which is a strength indeed

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Well they could suddenly have the prospect opened up to them that they can marry HERE and don't need to go to Ireland, please please allow it as it is now time to change the outmoded laws and come into the modern age which has different needs

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

People on ships want to marry and why not

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Let them be treated the same as anyone else

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

It's not that expensive to get married really but I do think our churches put people off with being old fashioned, the new laws will open up options and choice and cannot fail to be an improvement

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD8S-D

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-05 14:16:37

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Registration Service

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This dates back to a time when people were not socially mobile and stayed within their communities for generations.
The law now serves no purpose.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Self serve is the future direction for most services and the age profile of those getting married means they are likely to work.
To take time from work to undergo these processes can be difficult and so to allow people to do this from the comfort of their home, 24/7 seems only appropriate
It also allows for the future of virus control to minimise the face to face interaction required in offices.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

For any service and couple to plan a ceremony within 7 days is very difficult.
The service will need to allocate resource and plan the ceremony etc.
The whole thing could be farcical if it isn't given due attention and so to maintain dignity of what is being done (and also avoid rash decisions by couples) I believe it should be a minimum of 14 days.
I do appreciate that for some people the 28 day period can be difficult but for the vast majority 28 days is more than enough. A compromise to 14 days would hopefully help.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

This is a very difficult situation. This relies on officers then making that judgement and having to justify that decision to clients. How do you justify that decision without causing great offence to people.
I think this review should take out as much as possible any personal judgements. If both parties meet certain criteria and documents can be viewed on screen and verified somehow then a face to face interview seems unnecessary. I believe this would account for most instances.
Where there is a clear concern regarding sham, freedom and willingness to marry etc. then a face to face follow up should be mandatory. Each of these can be prescribed clearly with criteria rather than left to officers to make this call.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes

This would open up a more equitable system to Scotland.
People from England/Wales can fairly easily marry in Scotland however the other way around is not possible without residency and other complications (paperwork validity 12 months v 3 months etc) This could even be marketed out and make it simpler for people who class somewhere in EorW as home with family but live/work in Scotland to marry where they choose.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely. The local publication is laborious and pointless.
Doing this on a national database online makes far more sense as people are more socially mobile.
It also makes it harder for anyone to have a marriage in secret where one party is vulnerable. Making it more likely family members would know and could raise a caveat.
The information that is put online I feel however should be more limited than the current information to protect people's privacy.

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree this should be the initial validity but there should be the option to extend this a further 12 months to account for future pandemic situations, beast from the east or personal crisis for the couple such as health concerns.

Could there be a way that criteria is set for the validity dependant on the case?

Scottish paperwork is only valid 3 months so if one party giving notice in Scotland the corresponding paperwork here could be valid the same

Paperwork to marry overseas perhaps only valid 12 months.

Paperwork where one or both parties are foreign nationals perhaps 6 months

Others could have a 2 -3 year validity provided no change in circumstances?

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It would be almost impossible for Registration to state so far in advance which officer would officiate at the ceremony

The paperwork should simply state which body would officiate (anglican, nominated other, celebrant, Registrar etc) and I'm sure the same could apply for any of these bodies due to sickness, moving roles or holiday leave. This would be unnecessary at this point to the process.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant should be irrelevant entirely.

It should be the officiating body who is named

I appreciate the venue won't be licensed but the individuals however the body should ensure only licensed or authorised officiants can attend.

Please share your views below:

Absolutely any circumstance as it should be the body who is officiating that matters, the individual that body puts forward should not be relevant until nearer the time with the couple.

The only exception would be independant celebrants who would need named and others could not then act in their place as they are as stated independant.

Consultation Question 13:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If we are removing residency let's open it up to be as flexible as possible for people

If someone is marrying in EorW but lives in Scotland surely it is sensible for banns to be read out wherever possible to ensure any objections can be raised.

If we move to civil preliminaries for all ceremonies it would remove the need entirely for banns to be read anywhere.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No

All preliminaries should be civil so it is standard and the state is fully protected with fair and equitable treatment for all couples.

All civil preliminaries should be online nationally for the reasons already given.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Banns should no longer be in place.

All preliminaries should be civil.

All officiants (representative of their body) should have to speak to or meet a couple to agree the ceremony date, time and appropriateness of their choice

Any officiant should have the right to ask for further details or meet the couple prior to agreeing to marry then. In religious buildings this is important so they can be satisfied a couple are not marrying simply because the church is pretty in a beautiful location.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes absolutely otherwise we would be going back in time where one party owns and speaks for the other.

Every individual should be accountable for themselves and have the right to give their own information and raise concerns regarding coercion/forced marriage

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

As above

Strongly believe it needs to be regulated, consistent and equitable for everyone. This provides the best platform to protect the interests of the state and the individuals.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If we are opening this up to customer choice and making the playing field entirely level then we are to remove such boundaries unless they can be fully justified.

Registration Officers should be able to deliver any kind of blended ceremony requested by the couple if the couple choose a registration officer to deliver this.

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In essence yes however there are some exceptions to this.

If the ceremony is to be in a place which is deemed safe and has public liability insurance and other staff on duty taking responsibility then this is acceptable

If we are opening up staff to climbing mountains, going on boats, in to peoples homes and gardens they have a right to be protected.

In such instances public liability insurance should be in place and 2 officers should attend and be reflected in the cost of service delivery

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be ongoing training for clergy to retain such status.

The standards of ceremony and paperwork varies greatly between religious buildings and officiants.

In some instances it is questionable if due process has been followed and as such to raise those standards there should be annual online training in place to maintain their license.

this should apply to all officiants

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

They should indeed nominate but there should be mandatory training online to be completed annually to become an officiant of any kind and this should be reviewed annually with online training to maintain official status

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is simply a civil ceremony

There are many belief and value systems out there which are not officiants.

If we open this up we could have dozens or hundreds of belief groups entitled to this status.

A civil ceremony should be able to reflect the beliefs and values of any couple through flexibility within the wording and promises made and personalised ceremonies. There would be nothing moving forward to prohibit a civil ceremony to include beliefs or values from any system or organisation provided it was ethical and legal.

Please share your views below:

The system should simply be

Anglican
Nominated Other
Civil

What we need is an expansion of what civil is and encourage local authorities to work with celebrants to deliver ceremonies in a new and exciting way but within the governance that will protect the state and the individual.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The system should simply be

Anglican
Nominated Other
Civil

What we need is an expansion of what civil is and encourage local authorities to work with celebrants to deliver ceremonies in a new and exciting way but within the governance that will protect the state and the individual.

A civil ceremony should be able to reflect the beliefs and values of any couple through flexibility within the wording and promises made and personalised ceremonies. There would be nothing moving forward to prohibit a civil ceremony to include beliefs or values from any system or organisation provided it was ethical and legal.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

The system should simply be

Anglican
Nominated Other
Civil

What we need is an expansion of what civil is and encourage local authorities to work with celebrants to deliver ceremonies in a new and exciting way but within the governance that will protect the state and the individual.

A civil ceremony should be able to reflect the beliefs and values of any couple through flexibility within the wording and promises made and personalised ceremonies. There would be nothing moving forward to prohibit a civil ceremony to include beliefs or values from any system or organisation provided it was ethical and legal.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

The system should simply be

Anglican
Nominated Other
Civil

What we need is an expansion of what civil is and encourage local authorities to work with celebrants to deliver ceremonies in a new and exciting way but within the governance that will protect the state and the individual.

A civil ceremony should be able to reflect the beliefs and values of any couple through flexibility within the wording and promises made and personalised ceremonies. There would be nothing moving forward to prohibit a civil ceremony to include beliefs or values from any system or organisation provided it was ethical and legal.

Consultation Question 28:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The system should simply be

Anglican
Nominated Other
Civil

What we need is an expansion of what civil is and encourage local authorities to work with celebrants to deliver ceremonies in a new and exciting way but within the governance that will protect the state and the individual.

Rather than GRO maintaining this list it should be on a more local level in conjunction with local authorities who could oversee the training and ensure law upheld. The list would then be held for the County at GRO.

A civil ceremony should be able to reflect the beliefs and values of any couple through flexibility within the wording and promises made and personalised ceremonies. There would be nothing moving forward to prohibit a civil ceremony to include beliefs or values from any system or organisation provided it was ethical and legal.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

No

Please expand on your answer:

They should indeed nominate but there should be mandatory training online to be completed annually to become an officiant of any kind and this should be reviewed annually with online training to maintain official status

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I don't however agree that this should be the case

I believe there should be

Anglican
Nominated Other

Civil

What we need is an expansion of what civil is and encourage local authorities to work with celebrants to deliver ceremonies in a new and exciting way but within the governance that will protect the state and the individual.

Rather than GRO maintaining this list it should be on a more local level in conjunction with local authorities who could oversee the training and ensure law upheld. The list would then be held for the County at GRO.

A civil ceremony should be able to reflect the beliefs and values of any couple through flexibility within the wording and promises made and personalised ceremonies. There would be nothing moving forward to prohibit a civil ceremony to include beliefs or values from any system or organisation provided it was ethical and legal.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The level playing field is critical which is why

I believe there should be

Anglican

Nominated Other

Civil

What we need is an expansion of what civil is and encourage local authorities to work with celebrants to deliver ceremonies in a new and exciting way but within the governance that will protect the state and the individual.

Rather than GRO maintaining this list it should be on a more local level in conjunction with local authorities who could oversee the training and ensure law upheld. The list would then be held for the County at GRO.

A civil ceremony should be able to reflect the beliefs and values of any couple through flexibility within the wording and promises made and personalised ceremonies. There would be nothing moving forward to prohibit a civil ceremony to include beliefs or values from any system or organisation provided it was ethical and legal.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Within the same parameters as anglican, nominated other and registration.

level playing field is surely what we are aiming for with this process

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Just because someone has a belief system does not mean they are unable to deliver an entirely secular ceremony.

The skills of the role are what is necessary. If the individual feels within themselves able to do so then there is no reason why not, but with strict penalties if they breach this (such as risk losing their official status)

Consultation Question 35:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but what does this mean. Peoples understanding of this can be different.

Is singing, dancing, barefoot and lots of joy undignified. It is to some people however shows warmth love and joy to others.

I think the criteria should be clearer such as nothing sexist, racist, ageist, sexually explicit etc. that would be offensive to others could be clearly identified and outside this we need to allow people to express themselves as they wish to do so without judgement.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Without questions.

As above this should be the terms of training that requires repetition on an annual basis to remain licensed as an officiant

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but this should only be anglican, nominated religious body or local authority as I believe there should be

Anglican
Nominated Other
Civil

What we need is an expansion of what civil is and encourage local authorities to work with celebrants to deliver ceremonies in a new and exciting way but within the governance that will protect the state and the individual.

Rather than GRO maintaining this list it should be on a more local level in conjunction with local authorities who could oversee the training and ensure law upheld. The list would then be held for the County at GRO.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Without questions.

As above this should be the terms of training that requires repetition on an annual basis to remain licensed as an officiant.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

12 month license with online training undertaken annually to maintain this.

There could be a range on modules to be completed such as managing data, preliminaries to marriage, the ceremony, content, registration of schedule, what happens next, fees, processes, health and safety, IT security.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should also include all officiants though if it is a level playing field such as anglican ministers, priests, registration officers etc.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consent is critical and should be part of the ceremony early on.

How do we manage a situation if someone has just had the ceremony and it has been witnessed but then the paperwork can't be signed.

It seems counterintuitive to what we need to do to protect the interests of the state and individual if we do not clearly make consent a major factor in the ceremony.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With some exceptions to be made clear around sexism, racism, violence, anything sexually explicit etc etc.

People must have the freedom within the bounds of common decency and legislation to express themselves without judgement as far as possible on their wedding day more than any other. People display love and make promises in different ways.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Whatever the couple chooses

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why would we remove the rights of the individuals to do so.

Surely we should be opening this up to more choice rather than closing it down.

A couple may wish to have a large ceremony somewhere with family and friends but have a small blessing in their home town with grandparents who couldn't travel for instance.

I can see no reason to cease this practice provided it is clear that this is a blessing with the marriage having already taken place.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Lives are more complex now and people are more likely to have people in their past who they do not want present.

Currently it is not possible to prevent this unless the person is disruptive. It should be the right of the couple to choose who is present at such an intimate and important point in their lives.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes within reason.

The body or officiant should have the right to refuse.

If someone wants to get married on Helvellyn who will pay the insurance for officers to go on a treacherous ridge just so someone can say they've done it. Is it necessary to take such risks and push boundaries?

There must be conditions around cost of this provision, insurance that would need to be in place and the need for 2 officers to be present for safety reasons when not in a public recognised venue with other staff on duty.

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

These are all fine provided the body or officiant has the right to refuse the request

The fees can be set to allow 2 people to attend for safety and security

That fees can be set to allow for a reekie to establish suitability

That public liability insurance can be provided by the couple to cover this

There is a great risk in going to peoples own home in particular and officers open themselves up to all sorts of personal risk and also allegations. Furthermore we have to consider the different standards of home we may visit and the appropriateness of doing so.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If we remove the need for open doors otherwise if the right to object remains with open doors then they should have to be publicly accessible, at least for the time of the ceremony.

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

All ceremonies should be able to be performed anywhere, but each body should have the right to refuse this.

For instance for clergy to perform civil ceremonies in a church would seem inappropriate.

It would however be fair for clergy to perform a civil ceremony or a religious ceremony outside the church if they felt comfortable doing so.

Other than in the church which would I imagine remain a place of religion and worship then civil and religious weddings should be possible wherever.

We must remember a church is the body of the people who gather to worship. They can however worship in other places in addition to the church and so the ceremony should also be allowed to reflect this

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should be the body they are associated with rather than the officiant themselves

Consultation Question 52:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is open to too much interpretation and risk.

This should be decided by a set of rules/guidelines as agreed by their body and then applied by the individual.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Local Authorities and therefore ultimately GRO

It should be similar to the current license system for venues but on a cost recovery basis.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Is it possible that the preliminary paperwork does not include a venue - the legal right and consent to marry should be regardless of where. This would also enable clients to change their mind over where to marry without having to do new paperwork again which is inconvenient costly and takes time.

Especially helpful for people who face a challenge such as job loss or illness etc. and can't go with their original plans.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

On the condition they understand it would be deemed to be in a foreign language if in Welsh and would require a translation the same as any other any time they wish to use it

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure - would need a lot more consideration and proposal as to how this could be possible/risks in doing so

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I still believe witnesses should be present

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There are many reasons why people marry and marriage doesn't always necessitate living together. Working in different areas and living separately/between each others residences is modern life. We can't judge how others decide to live.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is exceptionally outdated thinking. for a start people should stop judging and assuming anything.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should be expanded to include the couple and any witnesses or guests.

this would remove where the couple and celebrant purport that it is the wedding everyone is observing when in fact it is a celebration.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Extremely onerous and outdated.

If a ceremony was allowed anywhere we would only be looking at a waive in timescale in order for end of life ceremonies. This would make it simpler, and if the timescale was reduced from 28 to say 14 days it would be more likely that many people could marry without an "emergency" wedding.

Housebound would be covered by getting married anywhere as would prison or hospital.

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but this should be allowed online, by post or by electronic methods, where appropriate

The interview should not be necessary before issuing the schedule but could be done immediately prior to the ceremony.

Consultation Question 64:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think in it's current form it is laborious however there is always a need for some emergency ceremony provision under the new procedures

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

They should be valid for the same period as any other schedule.

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

They should be valid for the same period as any other schedule.

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I believe that all schedules could be valid for much longer than 12 months unless one party is in Scotland, where it involves marriage overseas or where one or both parties are foreign nationals. This would give much greater flexibility.

To protect public and individual interests I believe the ceremony and signing the schedule should be in the presence of the officiant otherwise you can't see off camera for instance if someone is being forced to marry.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Flexibility is absolutely the key with all the reform.

No

Please expand on your answer:

Everyone is at risk of death so it seems a very woolly statement that could not be justified in law or in practice.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

No

Please expand on your answer:

They should either marry here or overseas. It can't be both. This seems a stretch too far and very difficult for any governing body to manage.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

They should either marry here or overseas. It can't be both. This seems a stretch too far and very difficult for any governing body to manage.

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I believe the paperwork for marriage should not include the venue or officiant. The legal paperwork should be about the individuals being legally free to marry. Their being free to marry should not be dependant on where within EorW. If however they wish to marry overseas then it should state overseas, Scotland should simply state Scotland etc.. so couples can change within reason the finer details of their day.

Gives much greater flexiblty to everyone and reduces need to do new paperwork when their status to marry hasn't changed, only their location of choice.

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other than HM forces they should either marry here or overseas. It can't be both. This seems a stretch too far and very difficult for any governing body to manage.

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other than HM forces they should either marry here or overseas. It can't be both. This seems a stretch too far and very difficult for any governing body to manage.

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other than HM forces they should either marry here or overseas. It can't be both. This seems a stretch too far and very difficult for any governing body to manage.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Other than HM forces they should either marry here or overseas. It can't be both. This seems a stretch too far and very difficult for any governing body to manage.

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other than HM forces they should either marry here or overseas. It can't be both. This seems a stretch too far and very difficult for any governing body to manage.

It is also unreasonable to be able to return the schedule whenever they wish. How could this system possible be sustained and in the public interests

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But this should be tiered as the cost of doing this in a city is likely to be much cheaper than in a large geographic rural area.

Fees tend to be set in accordance with our main urban areas but this would be damaging to other areas.

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Just because someone is ill does not mean they are not able to afford the appropriate fees which have to be paid by others. There are hardship policies in place should they need to be applied.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Due to different geographic areas and practices there could be no national fee that would apply in this instance

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again, the cost of doing this is dependant on many local factors.

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would be ok for the actual delivery of the ceremony however this is a small part of the time and cost invested in any wedding by the registration service.

We must also recover costs for booking, the letters, emails, website info, the talking through ceremony choices and giving advice, printing paperwork and preparing the staff to attend. Their travel costs and travel time, training time and the time back in the office to input the schedule print and prepare certificates and monitor and maintain security of the stock and registers. Postage costs etc It isn't as simple as the fee for turning up to the ceremony

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Taking emotion out of the situation the fee should be paid where appropriate and the hardship policy should apply where necessary.

The fee should be at the same level as for any other ceremony. These often take a considerable amount of work and impact upon other services where we may need to close offices to undertake such duties.

These ceremonies should not be seen as an ideal option when couples may have had years to form the marriage without impacting on so many other people.

I fully agree they are required and support their necessity but don't feel they should be encouraged. We should encourage people to marry at the appropriate point in their lives.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should apply to all officiants. Anglican, Civil, Nominated Other etc. and their should be online training required to fulfil the obligation to be licensed. Repeated annually to maintain the license

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I am not sure it would lead to an initial increase. The cost is certainly prohibitive for some and the rigidity is offputting for many. The flexibility and range of options from low cost and private to a full on celebration should mean it is open to everyone to be able to enjoy in their own way.

That said I think the majority still want the traditional wedding with the traditional vows and trimmings. It's like a right of passage for most. It's still a minority at this stage who want something alternative albeit that is slowly growing.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think it's getting too complicated and we are overthinking it.

I believe customers want to choose between Anglican, Nominated Other or Civil.

I believe civil should include all anglican and other religious ceremonies

I believe civil should be managed and licensed by the local authorities on behalf of the RG

The costs should be on recovery and broken down by booking, amendments, location, planning etc. That way couples can choose to make it as big and expensive or small and affordable as they wish and the service recovers the cost for each element as appropriate to their area.

I think preliminaries should all be civil and not include the location or date/time. These should not determine the validity of the couple to marry.

The length of the authority should be extended as appropriate to 2-3 years unless it's in Scotland (needs to be 3 months to match) foreign nationals or marrying overseas maybe 6 months.

At present the biggest thing that puts people off from discussions with friends and family is the pressure to do something different and usually expensive instead of keeping it simple and affordable.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think the new way could actually work out in some instances more expensive for couples once we begin to drill down to the cost for recovery.

I think couples will like the ability to do things their way and make it socially acceptable to have the wedding of their choice.

I am delighted we will be moving toward a more flexible approach with less judgement and archeic values attached.

I think being able to marry in village halls and do the planning and work themselves will be very attractive rather than bound by an expensive venue who may want to dictate how their day will flow.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD8M-7

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-06 15:53:31

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

I am a celebrant accredited with Humanists UK, but operating in the capacity of a sole trader.

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

For future protection of legal rights and as a public declaration of our love and commitment to one another

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

We had a civil wedding, but would have preferred a legal Humanist Wedding in line with our beliefs. This would have enabled us to celebrate our marriage in a manner that reflected our beliefs, in a place of our choosing and without the additional cost of having to have a civil ceremony in addition to make it legal.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

The COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in the postponement of the weddings I had booked for this year and enquiries for future weddings have vastly reduced. This has had a significant impact on my income.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

3 days seems reasonable as most couples will arrive in the country a few days before their wedding to prepare and gives time to enable any additional checks to take place.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I do not have sufficient experience to answer this question.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I think that the option to give notice remotely should address this problem.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Should include death or severe illness of a close relative

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

It should be on a parr with all other ceremonies

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

It should be on a parr with all other ceremonies

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

It should be on a parr with all other ceremonies

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think that the Church of England should be the nominating body and determine who is nominated as would be the case for other nominating bodies

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The term 'secular' does not include Humanist. It would make sense to make the definition consistent with that for same sex marriage.

Please share your views below:

It should be restricted to organisations that have a history of conducting rituals/ceremonies relating to significant life events.

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I suggest that it should have to be associated with an organisation that meets one of two sets of criteria, with two different outcomes:

- ☐ The first is 20 members meeting regularly in a specific religion or belief building, along with the belief in marriage bit. Any officiant tied to an organisation that meets this criterion would then be able to conduct marriages in this building only, or maybe in it and within say 5 miles of it. All existing religious providers would automatically meet this criterion, so could carry across to it without any paperwork.
- ☐ The second is a set of criteria related to officiants who want to be able to conduct marriages in any location. Since we don't have to worry about existing providers, we can now safely set much higher criteria, such as:
  - ☐ Something about how marriages can't be the primary thing an organisation does
  - ☐ Having in place procedures for the selection, training, accreditation, discipline, and de-accreditation, of fit and proper persons to conduct solemnisation of marriage, that are to the satisfaction of the registrar general (required in Ireland, previously considered here)
  - ☐ Having a higher minimum number of members in E+W signing a statement of support, e.g. 2,000, or maybe more
  - ☐ Being a registered religion or belief charity in England and Wales, possibly for a set period of time (this is already required in Northern Ireland and Ireland)
  - ☐ Having been in continuous existence as a religion or belief body in England and Wales for a set period of time, e.g. 5 years (required in Ireland) or 10 (previously considered here), or possibly a registered charity for that long
  - ☐ Having been performing weddings for its members in England and Wales for a set period of time, e.g. 5 years (previously considered here), such ceremonies being rooted in its belief system

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Agreed

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Subject to satisfactory training and CPD

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think that this proposal is unnecessarily vague and unhelpful.

I would suggest that it is changed to something along the lines of officiants are permitted to charge a fee that is a reasonable reflection of the their time, expenses and overheads associated with developing and conducting the ceremony, whilst the primary motivation of providing the service is to promote and express their beliefs.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This should be on a parity with religious and non-religious belief bodies

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This should be subject to conducting sufficient CPD and being peer reviewed in line with nominating bodies code of conduct

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There is a serious risk that registrars or commercial celebrants will start performing what they bill as 'humanist' ceremonies. This may lead to all sorts of employment law headaches for registrars. But we would also have concerns about people not properly trained in providing humanist ceremonies nonetheless claiming to offer them. We know religious groups have similar concerns. Instead, civil marriages should have to stay secular, or at the most be allowed to include content that may be religious or humanist in nature but is there for other reasons that are not religious or humanist – a bit like Humanists UK's policy regarding religious content in humanist ceremonies.

Please share your views below:

Please see above.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No limitations

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Unless deconsecrated or with the permission of the minister.

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I don't think that officiants acting in an individual capacity have the organisational capacity to approve locations.

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In the case of a building, it should be the owner of the building who is responsible for the safety of the venue.

In the case of outdoor venues:

- where a couple are paying an individual or an organisation for the use of an outdoor venue, it should be the responsibility of the owning person/body to ensure that the venue is safe
- for a public space, e.g., woodland, beach, the couple should take responsibility for checking its safety and the officiant should advise where necessary and seek confirmation from the couple.

As individual practitioners in most cases, it would be unreasonable to expect the officiant to be fully responsible for approving the venue.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Subject to answer above. This should be guidance to inform the officiant's risk assessment but not something that they are held responsible for.

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Responsibility should lie with the organisation that currently authorises locations as they have the experience and organisational systems.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Or other officiants nominated by an approved nominating body, e.g. Humanist Celebrant

No

Please expand on your answer:

Should be consistent with all nominated officiants

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Should be any nominated officiant

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Not known

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

See below

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Humanist Celebrants already pay a levy to Humanists UK in part to maintain their accreditation. If the Registrar General is satisfied that Humanists UK is an appropriate nominating body, it should accept their decision whether or not to authorise an individual officiant and therefore there should be no additional cost to the Registrar General's office.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Whilst the current law may not discourage or prevent significant numbers of couples from getting married, it does make it more complicated and expensive for those who want a legal ceremony that is not a civil or religious ceremony. This is discriminatory.

The proposed changes may lead to an increase in the number of couples being legally married, but I am not aware of any reliable statistics on this question.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

For couples wanting a Humanist wedding, they are required to have a separate legally recognised wedding (usually a civil ceremony). This has an impact on costs, particularly if they want this to take place at the same venue where they have their Humanist ceremony. This also restricts the choice of locations to approved premises, which may be more costly than other locations such as private gardens/homes or public spaces.

Having to have two ceremonies also leads to confusion for guests and may detract from the ceremony that the couple deem to be their 'true ceremony'.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please see above

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

No comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I believe that this would vastly increase the number of venues that decide to offer wedding ceremonies, thus giving a welcome boost to small and medium sized enterprises.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDRD-R

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-06 16:04:47

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

OneSpirit Interfaith Foundation

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

When we married in 2016, we had few choices; a soul-less wedding with a registrar, or a wedding in a church which did not recognise our spiritual beliefs and where we could not be true to ourselves. A third option, would have been to go to another country within the UK (or abroad) where the law permitted weddings of our choice, which would have added an extra expense to our wedding - but we wanted to get married in our home county in England and be close to our family.

In the end, so that we could complete the legal aspect of our marriage, we opted for a basic registry wedding (which doubled the cost as the registrars came out to the venue as we wanted both ceremonies to take place on the same day), and then had a wedding blessing as our main ceremony, held by an officiant of our choice (in this case a fellow OneSpirit Interfaith Minister). This enabled us to have our spiritual beliefs acknowledged, not only in a meaningful ceremony to us with the officiant of our choice, but also one where we were able to co-create the content with the minister, and most importantly, create our own wedding vows.

We would have preferred to have had our minister complete the whole wedding in the venue of our choice, rather than have it in held in two parts - especially as we had never met the registrars before, had no idea who they were, and will never see them again, and yet, they were part of one of the most important days of our life.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would enable couples to marry in a location of their choice, whether they live in the area or not. England and Wales has some stunning countryside and beautiful wedding locations, which could be very attractive to couples contemplating getting married in a special place to them.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be helpful to those couples marrying in a location that isn't near their home, this means they wouldn't have to travel to the area just to give notice, saving on time and further expense.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

If the couple are travelling some distance to the wedding venue, then a minimum period of 24 hours before the wedding might be helpful for the in-person interview. This could help minimise needing multiple journeys (and the expense that they may incur) to complete the paperwork.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

A multitude of emotions can be hidden within a conference call, it would be impossible to know if the party being interviewed was being intimidated by someone the interviewer couldn't see - unless the interviewer is highly skilled, they may not pick this up. In-person interviews would also surely add a level of safety and security for anyone being coerced or forced into a marriage?

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In this digital age when we turn to our mobile devices for all sorts of help and information, it doesn't make sense not to have this facility; and it would also enable anyone who has a legitimate objection to a wedding a better chance of being able to make that objection.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Offers greater flexibility to the couple in their wedding plans, and in the event of anything unforeseen happening to the date they planned originally.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Identifying the officiant on the schedule when registering a wedding would highlight anyone endeavouring to mislead a couple by stating that they are a registered officiant and therefore able to hold the legal aspect of a wedding, assuming that the Registration Service will be responsible for keeping an updated listing of officiants from all organisations.

And life happens, and sometimes officiants become unavailable, so being able to have an amended schedule is imperative. Although protocols for amendments to a schedule should an officiant become unavailable on the day would need to be considered.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely, as mentioned above - life happens, and sometimes officiants are not able to be there on the day for various reasons, so protocols for a substitute officiant to step in are vital.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely, holding the legal aspect of a wedding is a serious matter, and officiants should be required by law to ensure that the above criteria are met.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As a registrar will not have been trained/ordained in any religious/spiritual rites, then yes, they should only be able to officiate at civil weddings.

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If it is safe to do so, yes. It depends where the wedding is being held and at what time, and that as a lone worker, the registrar would need to be sure that their well-being was being taken into consideration.

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It should be the responsibility of the nominating organisation to ensure that their officiants are up to date with wedding law, are considered fit and proper persons to hold such ceremonies and meet whatever stringent criteria the organisation has in place for the continuing development of their officiants.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Any organisation that does not respect all humanity or has a code of ethics that promotes intolerance and supports violence to others who are not of the same ethnicity/sexuality/ or race.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes, as shared above.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If officiants are named on wedding schedules, then the GRO will have to keep a list of nominated officiants, otherwise it would be easy for unscrupulous celebrants, who have not been nominated by an organisation, to run a wedding business and not be held to account.

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Independent celebrants/officiants are generally in business to hold ceremony for profit, as a way of making a living - how would enabling independent celebrants to be included on the public listing keep the sanctity and integrity of marriage?

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The organisation I am registered with take this issue very seriously. They have a strict criteria which its officiants must meet before being considered for nomination to the list of solemnisers in those countries within the UK where wedding law allows for this. It audits its officiants on a regular basis to ensure that they are keeping to a schedule of self-development, not promoting themselves for profit, are upholding the ethics of the organisation, and are up to date with any changes in wedding law, so that they can be recognised as 'fit and proper' persons to hold legal weddings.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have expanded on this above.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Should weddings become a business and a way of making a living, there is a greater chance of the profit gained from holding weddings taking precedence over the meaning of a wedding to a couple.

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If allowed, an officiant will hold a pivotal role at a wedding, and therefore the expenses undertaken in providing that role should be met and covered accordingly. However, if a limit on fees is not set, then this could leave the door wide open for officiants to run a business for a hefty profit in what could become a tawdry commercial enterprise, with little thought for the couple getting married.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If officiants could register with more than one organisation, then as an example, a conflict of interest could arise in the case of any issues around a wedding, if a complaint needed to be raised, or the officiant did not conduct the wedding to the appropriate ethical or legal standard.

If the officiant was authorised by more than one organisation - there could be argument as to where the complaint rested and that could become very messy and costly legally.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely, whilst there must be a degree of flexibility to meet a couple's personal wishes, it must be the officiants responsibility to ensure the ceremony is dignified, acknowledges the solemnity of marriage, and also held in safety.

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

General guidance on the legal aspects that the GRO require in each ceremony would be essential, but how the weddings should be conducted should be up to the individual organisation and the couples wishes.

Also, guidance from the GRO on process such as if an officiant suspected a sham/forced marriage for instance would be necessary.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The organisation that the officiant is nominated by should have that responsibility, and hopefully will be operating within a strong ethical and governance framework which would pick up any officiants who were failing in their duties and remove them from the register accordingly.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, the GRO should have the power to remove nominated officiants. However, I would hope not without conversation with the officiant and the nominating organisation first, and if that fails, then also the authority to withdrawn the organisations nomination status until the matter had been resolved.

Consultation Question 39:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I would not be in favour of independent officiants being able to be nominated, whether monitored by the GRO or not.

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I would be in favour of officiants being nominated for a period of say three years, after which the organisation they are nominated by would re-nominate them. This would ensure a level of professionalism and commitment to the role.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is vital that an officiant keeps themselves up to date with CPD, any changes in wedding law, and takes into account their health and well-being.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Surely if a ceremony contains any religious/spiritual content, then it simply isn't a civil ceremony?

It is a good idea to be able to offer a ceremony that contains a spiritual element, as perhaps a third option to having either a religious or civil ceremony.

As an interfaith minister, I know that there are many who would deem themselves spiritual rather than religious, and would ideally require a 'spiritual' ceremony that doesn't rely on content taken from the traditional orthodox religions.

Religion and spirituality are not the same thing, and it is time attention was paid to this, with couples wishing to marry having their personal wishes and beliefs met outside of orthodox religions or a barebones civil ceremony.

Please share your views below:

No - I cannot see how a civil wedding can still be classed as a civil wedding, if it holds religious/spiritual content.

And would those who were offering the religious content options at civil weddings, have been trained to do so?

I wouldn't like a Registrar, for instance, who has no formal training in spirituality, or interest in my spirituality, to conduct my wedding, and just be spouting text that they happen to have been asked to read.

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Without public access, objections would not be able to be made, unless there is going to be a function on the GRO website for this, when wedding notices are listed. And also, would it not make sham/forced marriage easier if weddings could be held behind closed doors?

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Anywhere that the officiant deems safe and dignified.

Please share your views below:

If accessible to anyone, and safe to do so, there should be no limit to where a wedding can be held.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Again, for the safety of all involved in the wedding, public access should be available.

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant should be able to assess whether the proposed location is safe, or indeed whether they are prepared to hold the wedding there.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will be an important part of an officiant's role, if the law is changed so that weddings can take place anywhere. Suggestions from the GRO on what is deemed safe and dignified could form part of their guidance to nominating bodies.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

If a venue is regularly used, then perhaps a system similar to that in operation now, where the venue applies to the GRO for a licence to become a registered venue. This could be renewed annually, and would ensure that the venue complies with a required criteria of safety measures so that an officiant would know that all was in order.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Mistakes can be easily rectified;

The officiant is a witness

But if the marriage document isn't signed or registered, what evidence remains that the couple agree to be married?

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDYP-B

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-06 16:40:12

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Humanists UK

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

AS A HUMANIST CELEBRANT I SHOULD HAVE conducted 35 wedding ceremonies this year. As it is, due to Coronavirus restrictions, I have only conducted 1 (one) because my couples have postponed their weddings to 2021 or 2022 in the hope that restrictions will have been lifted

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is an outdated requirement, particularly for couples who do not reside in the area where they wish to marry.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Only if that interview may also be conducted online as an additional requirement.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

This is sufficient time for any checks and queries to be clarified where necessary and would not require the couple to be resident in the area.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes - as in 6 above

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, so long as reciprocal arrangements/checks are possible within the timeframe.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No reason not to as far as I can see.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As a Humanist celebrant my contract is with the couple - their contract is not with 'a service provider'. They choose me on the basis of an interview to check me out and to ensure they are satisfied that I will represent them and their views in a Humanist ceremony. I do not contract 'substitutes' my USP is a personal preparation and to conduct the ceremony in person except in exceptional circumstances.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As 11 above, but the key is that the couple have the opportunity to develop their relationship with their chosen celebrant.

Please share your views below:

Only with the couples' agreement and in exceptional circumstances. NEVER as a matter of course for reasons set out above.

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I have no view.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes, possibly, in order to check that there is no coercion or that this is a forced marriage.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

for reasons above

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

My strong contention is that accredited Humanist celebrants should be able to officiate at civil weddings and for this NOT to be the sole responsibility of registration officers - based on what my wedding couples have told me this would be their preference.

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I have no view. My contention is that accredited Humanist celebrants should be legally allowed to officiate.

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I have no view

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

My view as an accredited Humanist celebrant.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

My strong contention is that ONLY accredited Humanist celebrants should be allowed to officiate at a wedding and not commercial celebrants where training is inconsistent, where there is no official body to which couples have redress and where celebrants are not required to be re-accredited, demonstrate their continuing professional practice, and have their practice observed as part of re-accreditation.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

No, my belief here is that organisations should nominate officiants by name only as a form of quality control and recommendation. I would not recommend a blanket nomination.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However I would add that the General Register Office regulations should be examined and adjusted in order to ensure that none of its rules unintentionally discriminate against celebrants other than former ROs.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

because the GRO would need to keep a public list of officiants for examination.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As would be expected in best practice.

Consultation Question 31:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

For the reason that if as an accredited Humanist celebrant I am asked to officiate in [REDACTED] and the couple have chosen me, then my daily rate for officiating does not cover the amount of time it takes to travel to [REDACTED] nor to arrive the day before as would be my practice, in order to do a run-through of the ceremony the day before. It should not be assumed that what Humanist celebrants do is the SAME as what registrars do. It is not. The fees reflect the length of time it takes to work with a couple and write their individual ceremony tailored to them as a couple and including information that is pertinent to them and which tells their story. This takes time. Humanist ceremonies are not 'off the shelf' ceremonies and fees will differ depending on how much time is spent preparing the ceremony and in travelling to deliver the ceremony. This is why couples choose a Humanist celebrant and not a Registrar. A standard fee would not cover this.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As 32 above

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely. That is what we do already.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But only in general terms and in order to clarify what legal aspects of the ceremony makes it legal. Not to determine content otherwise.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Partially. My concern is that if Humanist celebrants are included as an officiant, that the GRO will also need to change in order to incorporate areas different to that which have been encountered before. I would be wary of the GRO coercing Humanist celebrants to become more 'like' Registrars, for example, by the imposition of standards that would not be congruent with Humanism as a non-belief system.

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no view

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Otherwise what would differentiate a civil ceremony from a religious one?

Please share your views below:

as above

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

i have no view

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No, the law should not limit weddings in any particular venue.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

No

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is not relevant in the 21st century.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Without question.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

None to my knowledge. All individuals who wish to marry should have the opportunity to do so regardless of where they reside or the state of their health.

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, so long as a timely interview is possible and the individual is not asked to wait.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

I have insufficient knowledge to answer this question.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I have no idea.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Probably yes so long as it completely covers their costs and time.

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I don't know. I officiate at a range of venues and geographical areas across England so if as a Humanist celebrant I was authorised to officiate, I would want to charge my fee to reflect this and not have it set by regulation.

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I don't know.

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I don't actually understand this question.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. The law 100% discourages AND prevents couples getting married where they want and are actively choosing a Humanist ceremony because Humanist ceremonies are not legal in England and Wales although they are in NI, Scotland and Jersey.

2. Yes, absolutely it would.

I would say that 90% of my wedding couples have had to undertake an additional RO ceremony and all the costs involved in order for their marriage to be lawful. They choose a Humanist ceremony because it represents who they are and how they live their life (ie the RO does not offer this level of preparation and personalisation, and a commercial celebrant will not share the same Humanist views as the couple). It is in the act of choosing a Humanist celebrant to marry a Humanist couple that the circle is closed. Currently this circle is interrupted by being forced to undertake an additional legal ceremony. This is time consuming and costly. And unnecessary given that if they happened to be in Scotland, NI or Jersey they would not have had to do this.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. couples are restricted by when the RO can make an appointment for their ceremony and where the ceremony can take place
- 2 the cost of marrying on approved premises increases the overall cost of the wedding
- 3 ditto above

4 marrying in unauthorised locations means they have to have a second legal ceremony and thus increase cost burden
5 as above.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1 ROs are busy places that feel like conveyor belts. they do not guarantee the same person that interviewed them will be the person marrying them. ROs are costly particularly if a couple want to have a second Humanist ceremony that represents their beliefs.

2 couples would have more choice if they could marry wherever they want. Increasingly couples do not associate churches, ROs, places of worship or even approved premises as representing nor fitting in with what they want on their wedding day.

3 See 1 above.

Re evidence, in 2020 we have seen so many ceremonies cancelled or postponed. If my couples want to postpone and rebook they also have to do so with the RO. This is time consuming and would not be necessary if Humanist celebrants were approved as officiants.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. I have been very disappointed in the number of venues that have asked my couples for additional fees once their wedding has been postponed due to coronavirus.

2. Subsequently my couples have experienced difficulty re-booking with registrars and time and time again say that if they only had to re-book once they prefer the approach of the celebrant to the RO. In particular they resent paying the RO to attend approved premises only to offer a rushed and routine standard ceremony, so unlike what a Humanist celebrant would offer. ROs do not represent value for money for a couple who want a completely personalised ceremony.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1 This would increase the number of venues and increase competition between venues but it would also increase the choice available to couples and potentially the cost

2 If Humanist celebrants were approved this would increase the pool of officers available

3 I have no opinion

4 As in Scotland and Northern Ireland, the business opportunities would increase and this would be a rare thing in the current economic climate.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

no answer

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have insufficient knowledge of the law in this respect, to answer adequately.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

ditto

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

ditto

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

ditto

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1,2,3 I have no idea

4 Humanist celebrants would incur costs of additional training in order to become legally complaint I assume

5 the main beneficiaries would be the couples because they would have more choice, there would be more competition and potentially the market rates would be competitive.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD7U-E

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-06 16:42:01

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Private individual

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

It is important for couples to be able to access a cut-down, Covid secure marriage ceremony even during lock down. The ceremony should be as simple as possible with no guests - only 2 registrars, the couple and 2 witnesses.

I personally know of 3 couples who were prevented from marrying during the first lock down and the lady has subsequently fallen pregnant. Their children will therefore be born out of wedlock.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The residency requirement is anachronistic and makes no sense as it is impossible to verify at the time of the wedding. It adds to the bureaucracy.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

7 days allow more time for someone to change their mind - eg in a forced marriage. Most commercial contracts have a cooling off period and the 7 day wait would in effect be a cooling off period

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I am not in favour of remote interviews.

Technology can and does fail

Not everyone has access to suitable video services - this would therefore be discriminatory

It is more difficult to check for coercion when interviews are done by video

It is very difficult to see if an accomplice is out of sight and feeding answers to the respondent

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

You should be allowed to give notice in Scotland only whilst Scotland remains part of the UK.

It should not be possible to give notice in a specified Commonwealth country or territory. Who would administer this? The FCDO would be very reluctant to take on this extra work

It should not be possible to give notice on board a naval ship. This just complicates matters and would be used very very rarely - simply not worth the hassle for little gain.

Note, however that if it becomes possible to start the process of giving notice by video link then it will be impossible to check where the applicants are at the time of the video call.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The current system of posting notices only in a Register Office is ineffective. Very few people visit a Register Office to check.

Care would need to be taken with personal info going on a publicly accessible database to avoid coercion, stalking and even burglary (house will be empty on wedding day and may be full of presents). Occupations of the couples should not be shown publicly for their own safety eg police officer, magistrate, armed forces etc

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

12 months allows sufficient time to rearrange or postpone a wedding. During this time it is unlikely that material facts will have changed that would make the notice invalid.

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

For Register Offices, the schedule should say Any Licensed Officiant employed by X Register Office. This is because some weddings are booked 12 months in advance and it is impossible to guarantee the availability of an officiant so far in advance

For non Register Office weddings, the officiant should be named plus one substitute so that interested parties can check that the officiant is properly authorised to conduct the wedding. If the Registration Service is required to issue an amended schedule with different names this should be a chargeable service

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Best to nominate 2 officiants at the time of application - this will reduce paperwork if the first choice officiant is not available on the day.

Please share your views below:

A substitute officiant from any Register Office should be able to act in all circumstances

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is anachronistic

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

It is better to completely separate out religious and civil marriages.

All couples should be required to give a civil notice and the notice published in the agreed format (eg Register Office as now or perhaps an online database in the future).

If churches wish to additionally read banns and publish them, it is entirely up to them how they do it and where they post the banns. Church Banns would have no legal validity

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

All legal preliminaries and paperwork should be dealt with exclusively by a Register Office as they have the experience and expertise to deal with them quickly and efficiently. (Some clergy conduct very few weddings and as such are more likely to make mistakes)

Once the Register Office has cleared the paperwork and met the couple, they will be free to go to a church for their ceremony

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

See answer to 16 - this should be the preserve of a Register Office

Both of the couple should make separate declarations to the appropriate person

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Register Offices have the experience and expertise to handle the preliminaries to a high and consistent standard whereas churches do not. it is important to separate out the legal formalities from the ceremonial or religious formalities. The church should have no role in processing the legal formalities

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is vital to separate out religious and civil ceremonies
If a couple wishes to have a religious celebrant they are free to marry in church or to have some sort of religious blessing after the civil wedding

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, Register Offices should be able to send 2 officers at their sole discretion (assistance with large weddings, general back up if things go wrong or for extra expert opinion if needed)

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Only if trained and certified as being trained.
Re-certification should be mandatory every two years as many clerks conduct few weddings

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but all officiants need to be trained and certified as being trained.
Re-certification should be mandatory every two years

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

There should be both a prescribed and proscribed list

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

but all officiants must be properly trained and certified and recertified at regular intervals

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I strongly agree

There should be a prescribed and a proscribed list of organisations for weddings

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I do not agree

All officiants should be trained and certified. It would be incumbent upon the organisation to train up officiants who hold certain offices

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The organisation must certify that the proposed officiant is fit and proper (and this description needs to be defined by the GRO eg Resident in the UK, 18 years or over, DBS checked, speak fluent English etc etc)

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

it should be up to religious, non religious and independent celebrants to decide their fees eg free, cost recovery, profit etc. However it is vital that there is a low cost option for marriage at a Register Office which operates on a cost recovery basis

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure what a conflict of interest would be!

Agree that there should be no limit on fees

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The important thing is for the officiant to be trained and certified. They can then conduct a legal marriage ceremony in any setting by adjusting the content according to the organisation that asked them to officiate

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree though this will be difficult to police and may be unpopular with couples .

Perhaps better to have a short section in all ceremonies with the prescribed words that have to be said in a dignified and solemn manner. Thereafter the ceremony can continue in whatever format the couple wishes

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree. This is vital for consistency. It will also mean that guidance can be updated centrally to all officiants

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Primary responsibility yes but additionally all officiants should be subject to unannounced inspection by the local Register Office or GRO inspectors

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Register Office staff should be authorised for the period of their employment plus one year after departure.

Other officiants should be authorised for 12 months with a light touch re-authorisation every year and a more detailed one every 5 years

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree. But appropriate continuing training should be provided by the GRO and charged at cost recovery rates. This would reduce the chance of external training providers supplying poor quality courses at elevated prices

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1a it should be a requirement that consent is given in writing eg on the schedule. It would be for the couples and celebrant to decide if they optionally wanted to give oral consent

1b Disagree. This is their last opportunity to declare they are free to marry. If they lie, they will have lied during the preliminaries and during the ceremony thereby making conviction for perjury more easy

2. Disagree. There must be consistency across all forms of marriage. By making written consent a requirement, this option falls away as the schedule with the signed consent would be returned to the GRO

3. Strongly agree

4. For the elimination of any doubt, the marriage should be formed at the point when both parties have signed the schedule

Consultation Question 43:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be minimum requirements and standards eg certain words to be said or declarations to be signed, the location should be appropriate, and the legal part of the ceremony must be done in a dignified and seemly manner

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage in all its formats should be standardised. This standardisation could be in the form of legal template. This template should then be inserted into all weddings whether religious or civil. It would then be up to the churches to add on any religious or traditional element that they agree with the couple.

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Very strongly disagree when weddings are conducted in a Register Office. There needs to be an option for a completely secular ceremony. Some Registrars may be offended by being asked to include religious content.

For non church weddings that are not conducted in a Register Office then it is up to the couple and the celebrant to decide the content

Please share your views below:

There should be no religious content in a Register Office wedding.

For weddings conducted outside a Register Office it should be up to the couple and the officiant to decide what to include

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure what the background to this is. But we need to maintain the law that prohibits two marriage ceremonies. If you have a civil wedding ceremony you cannot have a religious wedding ceremony afterwards. You can of course have some sort of blessing or religious celebration - but not another wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly disagree. Closed door ceremonies could facilitate sham or forced marriages. Closed doors could mean that non official celebrants conduct a fake marriage

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be a requirement that the owner of the land or building should give express written approval for a marriage to be conducted there. This would stop couples causing disruption (eg wanting to marry in Trafalgar Sq); would stop couples causing offence (Christian couples marrying on the pavement in front of a mosque).

Locations need to be safe from a health and safety point of view as well as being safe and secure for officiants.

Please share your views below:

Outdoor areas are fine provided they are safe (eg not on the edge of a cliff top)

Weddings should not be allowed in the air - distracting to crew if in a small aircraft; doubts about location of wedding if the ceremony was done outside UK airspace; not open to members of the public; not open to scrutiny by local Register Office or GRO inspectors. It would also be vulgar!

Private homes should not be allowed unless they have been pre-approved by the council (safety of registrars going into a private home, lack of space, dangerous dogs)

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

They should be publicly accessible to facilitate scrutiny

Locations do not need to be regularly available for other marriage ceremonies

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Religious and civil weddings should remain separate and distinct in both content and location

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No, there may be pressure on a celebrant to approve a grotty flat that will be overcrowded with guests and dogs etc (health and safety issues here)

If officiants are required to approve wedding locations their decisions may be subjective and inconsistent

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants are not qualified to say whether a location is safe. Approval should be the exclusive preserve of the Register Office
The wedding location must be specified in advance (as it is now) - this will prevent any last minute problems if anyone considers the location to be unsafe or undignified

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Guidance is essential but it should be drawn up for Register Offices only and not officiants

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

All venues must be pre-approved. Approval could last for 1 year or longer

Please share your views below:

The venue owner should request approval
The Register Office should inspect then approve or reject
Approval could last 12, 24 or 36 months
An approval fee would be payable to the Register Office. This should be set at cost recovery plus a healthy margin to prevent frivolous applications

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

1 and 2 should be compulsory
3 should be optional

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is important to keep the option to register in both English and Welsh as one party may not speak the other language

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but what about signatures? How will digital signatures be applied?

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

2 witnesses are essential. The lack of witnesses could facilitate sham or forced marriages

3. The marriage document needs to be signed at the time of the ceremony as it should contain a written statement saying both parties agree to the marriage. In the event of an administrative mistake where the document is not signed the couple should have the option to sign it with the original witnesses within 7 working days of the original ceremony.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage was traditionally all about living together for ever but society has changed and if a couple wish to marry but not live together then it is not the State's role to prevent them from doing so

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We need to be absolutely clear here. If you marry you get all the protections and benefits of marriage.

if you chose not to marry then these protections and benefits are not available to you.

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree. This may discourage "gold diggers" who persuade a terminally ill person to marry so that they can benefit from a will

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

A single authority is sufficient for all types of marriage. However, the decision to waive the Notice Period or perform an RG Marriage should remain with the GRO and not the local registration service.

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Keep things simple - all schedules for all couples to be valid for the same period of time. However a new Authority to Marry will need to be issued if the location of the marriage changes eg from hospital to care home to hospice etc

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Keep things simple - all schedules for all couples to be valid for the same period of time. However a new Authority to Marry will need to be issued if the location of the marriage changes eg from hospital to care home to hospice or prison etc

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Strongly agree
2. Agree
3. and 4. Strongly disagree. Weddings should always be conducted in person with all parties present in the same room. This will help reduce forced marriages, coercion, sham marriages etc.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This needs careful clarification. What for instance would risk of death entail? Eg a soldier told at short notice he is being posted to Afghanistan? A racing driver trying to break a world speed record? A bomb disposal person called to an unexploded bomb?

For those in hazardous occupations it is incumbent on them to plan their marriage arrangements to fit their risk

Consultation Question 68:

No

Please expand on your answer:

And what happens if the vessel drifts outside territorial waters

These "trophy" weddings cheapen marriage. What's to stop a couple marrying and then going on a boat trip to celebrate?

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be a welcome boast to the cruising industry and there is a very good chance that the ceremony would be conducted professionally. Celebrants (eg Captain) would need to be a British Citizen and to have undergone mandatory training and assessment

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No - this would open up the opportunity for forced marriages, sham weddings, coercion etc without any possibility for outside scrutiny. How would anyone assess the vessel as being suitable?

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Vessel details should be compulsory as well as details of the officiant. this will allow checks to be made after the ceremony if doubts were raised about the validity of the wedding or the conduct of the ceremony.

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Simplicity and consistency is key.
The fee to give notice is not expensive

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly agree

Consultation Question 78:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The fee should be cost recovery plus a premium - this will help to deter frivolous applications

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Cost recovery plus small premium

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Travel time is too complicated - how would it be calculated - notional mileage rate (but this would be more expensive in London), cost of a taxi, cost of a bus? What happens if on the day of the ceremony the actual travel time is far more than the amount charged eg due to traffic?
A travel time addition is unlikely to be much eg £5 per hour and to charge such a small amount looks petty to a couple and is an added admin burden for Register Offices to deal with.
Much better to allow Register Offices to continue to set their own all inclusive fee for the attendance of registrars at venues other than the Register Office

Consultation Question 81:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Register Offices should be allowed to set their own fees for discretionary services. The guiding principal is that they should be cost recovery plus a premium. The GRO could give recommended fees for offices in London and elsewhere but they would not be compulsory

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. The law does discourage couples from marrying - if the requirement to Give Notice were abolished we would see a huge increase in marriages arranged at short notice or even walk-in marriages. However the requirement to give notice is a vital brake and allows couples to reflect on their decision to marry; it allows others to object if there are grounds for a legal objection and it allows UKBA time to carry out immigration checks where appropriate.

The current law also discourages couples from getting married in the format that they want.

2 If the proposals lead to: an increase in places where couples can marry; a more informal and personal ceremony conducted by a wider range of officiants; as well as making the whole process less complicated then I do believe it will lead to an increase in weddings

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. It is vital to keep an option for a cheap and simple marriage ceremony at a Register Office. The current statutory fee is about right.
2. The cost of marrying at a licensed venue is a commercial matter for the couple and the venue owner. Government has no role in this part. However the cost of providing Register Office staff to attend a venue wedding is another matter and this should be decided by individual Register Offices
3. The cost of marrying in a place of worship where no Register Office staff are required to attend should be a commercial matter between the couple and the venue
4. I do not understand this - if a venue is not authorised for weddings it cannot have weddings
5. See answer to 1 above in this box. It is up to the couple if they want a more extravagant event

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. There would be no change in the availability of Register Office weddings. There may be a longer wait to get an appointment to Give Notice if all Notices have to be processed at a Register Office
2. A pre-approval process is vital and the cost included in any fees
3. There would be no change. Register Offices offer a statutory wedding service and will continue to do so

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. If venues wish to be licensed they need to pay the licence fee. If they cannot get a licence because they cannot fulfil the requirements they either give up or make changes to their premises or procedures so that they fulfil the requirements
2. Registrars need to be booked in advance so that they are available to conduct ceremonies at venues. The fees for the attendance of Registrars at outside venues should be a matter for Register Offices and calculated on a cost recovery basis plus premium which includes travel time and parking etc

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. There will be lots of one-off weddings at venues if pre-approval is not required. This may provide a modest increase in revenue for the venues
2. If trained Register Office staff are the officiants, the venue (and indeed the couple) can be assured of a professionally conducted ceremony. Registrars need to be booked in advance
3. There will be a very small increase in business opportunities. But I believe if couples want a religious ceremony most will want to have it in a place of religious relevance
4. I believe there will be an immediate but small increase in marriages conducted under any liberalised arrangements. This will in turn lead to greater business opportunities eg for venue hire and hire of non official officiants.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It is helpful that currently marriage legislation and GRO guidance is applied consistently by all Register Offices

Where fees are statutory they should be given in a range ie so that London Register Offices and offices with high demand for statutory services should be able to charge at the top end of a scale of fees whereas quieter Register Offices or those in deprived areas would be able to charge at the bottom end of a scale of fees.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Removing Church Banns and centralising Giving Notice to Marry in Register Offices would increase demand for this service slightly and therefore increase revenue but as the fee is cost recovery there would be little benefit for individual Register Offices

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. If you mean other FOREIGN jurisdictions (and not Scotland and N Ireland), then it is up to the foreign jurisdiction to specify what pre marriage formality (eg CoNI) is required and who is able to produce the paperwork. In an ideal world HMG would tell all foreign jurisdictions that the only paperwork they will provide to facilitate the marriage of British Citizens overseas is a standard Authority to Marry which has followed the normal Giving Notice to Marry procedure.

2. Foreigners wishing to marry in the UK currently follow exactly the same procedures as UK residents - they need to give notice to marry. The only variation is the need to translate documents, verify foreign divorces and translate documents if necessary. I see no need to change any of this

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

This is a matter for the Maritime and Coastguard Agency

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Allowing ceremonies on board cruise ships would give a welcome economic boost to this industry

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1. There will be increased set up and training costs
2. No change - they will need to apply and pay for a licence
- 3 and 4 They will need to pay for their officiants to be trained and certified
- 5 No change

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDY9-M

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-06 17:05:07

About you

What is your name?

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Humanists UK

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

My marriage is recognised by law; however, in addition to the brief registry office ceremony that was the legal element, we also had a Humanist ceremony as that reflected our beliefs and allowed us to have the celebration that was meaningful for us. It was annoying to have to go to the registry office in addition to our chosen ceremony.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

The wedding that was both meaningful and personal to us was the Humanist ceremony that we had. As that is not (yet) recognised in law, we were forced to also go to a registry office in order to have a legally binding wedding. In our view, that was both unnecessary and discriminated against our belief system.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I agree that a balance needs to be struck between giving couples flexibility and ensuring protection for those who may be being forced or coerced into a marriage. The proposal above seems reasonable, with the caveat that if it is widely known that an in-person interview is required only in the case of suspicious circumstances, a requirement to meet in person might cause alarm and, if one of the parties is being coerced, put that party in danger.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

That would seem reasonable.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think the couples should be given the choice about whether or not the notice is displayed online.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I don't see the point of that.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think it is obvious that if the planned officiant is unable to attend unexpectedly, an alternative should be available if possible, to allow the wedding to go ahead.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think that it is essential that people who have a sincere and coherent set of beliefs and who live their lives in accordance with those beliefs should be allowed to be married, in a legally binding ceremony, by an officiant who is authorised by the organisation that represents their beliefs. A coherent and sincerely held belief system that does not involve a deity or religious worship is nonetheless profoundly meaningful and should be recognised as such. Individuals (such as myself) should have a right to celebrate the milestones and significant events in their lives within their belief system and not have to effectively be forced into two separate ceremonies in order to be legally married.

Please share your views below:

I believe that, for the sake of clarity and transparency, there should be list of organisations that DO amount to non-religious belief organisations. If it is helpful for legal and administrative purposes to also have a list of types of organisations that do not amount to non-religious belief organisations, then I don't see a problem with that, personally. It may be helpful to enable people to understand the reasons why different organisations have different designations in terms of their ability to officiate a legally binding wedding ceremony.

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. I think the requirement for at least 20 members is too low: that would open the system up to abuse by minority cults.
2. I think that the requirement to "meet regularly for worship or in furtherance of their beliefs" is too restrictive and would potentially exclude groups who are large in number but meet only once a year, for example. "Regularly" is a vague term and would need clarification.

I think a better way to identify groups who could nominate officiants would be to consider the status of the group in terms of membership numbers, whether it has a structure and a clearly accessible and established rationale and purpose, etc.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I agree

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I think the essential thing is the training that officiants would have. If individuals appointed to a particular office would have the key training automatically as a pre-requisite to holding that office, then nominating by office would fine. Otherwise, it should be named , qualified individuals.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants who are from non-religious belief organisations do not have any form of income or material support from their organisation and as such should be able to charge for conducting ceremonies. This, from a couple's point of view, is entirely in-line with the fact that registrars charge for ceremonies. Prohibiting officiants from non-religious belief organisations from charging for conducting ceremonies would effectively prevent them from holding ceremonies and thus be discriminatory. Officiants from religious organisations receive financial and material support in order to be able to function and not have to seek employment elsewhere to gain an income and survive economically. Removing from non-religious officiants the ability to survive economically is a deeply unfair and patently absurd proposal.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that independent officiants should be able to charge for officiating at weddings, as long as officiants from non-religious belief organisations can also charge. Anything else would mean that independent officiants are economically viable but officiants from non-religious belief organisations are economically prevented from conducting ceremonies in any meaningful way or on any significant scale.

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I believe that:

anyone proposing to be an officiant with any organisation should be legally required to fully disclose any other accreditation that they have to officiate weddings;

once that full disclosure has happened, it would be up to the organisation to decide if they feel it is congruent with their belief structure to train and then accredit the individual to officiate weddings from within their own organisation.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I think that religious content should primarily come from participants in the ceremony or guests (e.g. those giving a reading could read from a religious text, or music played/sung could be religious in nature). I do not think that there should be an expectation that a civil officiant should actively deliver religious elements, especially as they may run counter to the officiant's own beliefs.

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

As long as the wedding ceremony itself is not held in a place that would be objectionable to those not involved in the wedding, or in a setting that is actively dangerous and risks those involved being harmed, I don't think there should be legal restrictions on where they can be held.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

For venues such as hotels etc., I think the current registration process should continue. For other locations such as outdoors or private homes, I think there should be a set of clear criteria, and if the location meets that criteria, it could be submitted to the General Register Office for pre-approval.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think that in emergency situations, the requirement to have a notice period between giving notice of intention to marry and having the wedding ceremony should be waived.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I think that non-religious belief weddings should be allowed to take place wherever civil weddings can take place, including in international waters. Unlike religious weddings, non-religious belief weddings typically do not have any adherence to a specific building or structure that is associated with worship, and so getting married outside (especially in nature, which can form a strong part of the non-religious belief structure) should be facilitated.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If the person is housebound due to a disability, having to pay a fee could be discriminatory. The circumstances under which a fee is charged should be more nuanced than the description above, or there should be clear circumstances under which the fee must be waived.

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Unless it is the case that the housebound person would otherwise have travelled to the Register Office, thus not requiring the registration officer to incur any costs in travelling to the house.

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

There are couples currently who choose not to marry as they do not subscribe to the "institution" of marriage. If the current proposals, in enabling greater flexibility and personalisation of ceremonies, can remove the perception of an institution that is restrictive, they would hopefully lead to an increase in couples who get legally married.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The costs and the inconvenience of having a separate, legally recognised wedding in addition to a wedding that is conducted according to a set of non-religious beliefs are burdensome, unfair and discriminatory.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDYN-9

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-08 11:18:41

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Humanists UK

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

I think that there should be greater flexibility and that a lot of the interviews could be carried out online, and that to meet in person could be done on the same day as the wedding if there were limitations to travel.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes, I agree with this.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes of course. Love travels.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

One of the benefits of being with a reputable organisation like Humanists UK is the fact that we can support each other and, in the unlikely event I could not conduct the wedding, I know that there are many well-trained celebrants who share the same beliefs and would be able to conduct the wedding to the high standards that we expect.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Preferably a Humanists UK one!

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I'm not sure I have strong views on this

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

2

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

I think that there should be a possibility for people to contact separately with issues or questions. A helpline perhaps.

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I whole-heartedly believe that there should be a list of non-religious belief organisations for the purpose of officiating at weddings. It is incredibly important; there are all sorts of commercial enterprises in the US that allow people to 'become ordained' for a set price.

As a non-religious person with strong beliefs in humanity, working towards the common good, equal rights, I am proud to call myself a humanist, and provide humanist, meaningful, memorable wedding ceremonies that can bring families and friends together to celebrate the love and commitment of the couple.

Humanists UK should be top of the list, in my humble opinion!

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes, I think that any organisation that promotes purposes that are unlawful or contrary to public policy or morality should be excluded.

Of course, I think that exclusion of any officiant or organisation should have a very clear process.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes, I think that when it comes to a very reputable organisation, then it is possible to nominate officiants by office.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think it would be better to go through a reputable organisation, who can assure quality and standards

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It depends on what kind of religious content. Sometimes the religious aspect might be more cultural than religious. Clearly, if a deity is mentioned, then that is religious.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No limitations!

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think it would cause confusion if non-religious belief ceremonies were to take place in religious venues, and vice versa!

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Very important.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I think the organisation can address the steps necessary, but yes, it is really important that venues that frequently host weddings work with officiants to ensure that there are standards, and consideration of accessibility for all etc

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Sailing boats, ferries, catamarans.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I hope so! I love being on the ocean and would love to conduct weddings on the high seas.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

As a humanist, I believe in compassion and I often lower my modest fees for those in need, or to help couples.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Yes, the current law prevents couples from getting married.
In fact, I won't get married until I can have a humanist wedding with legal recognition.
Many couples would like to get married outdoors, and in a meaningful, non-religious ceremony.

Your provisional proposals would definitely result in an increase in couples becoming legally married. Looking at Scotland, the number of weddings soared after legal recognition was given to humanist marriage and they now outnumber Church of Scotland weddings as a preferred choice. Also, the current situation prohibits many couples from getting married in a secular service due to the costly nature of venues, and/or the excessive demand for dates at registry offices.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. many of my couples have lamented that they have been unable to book the registry office for the same day or even same week as their humanist wedding. also, the costs vary considerably and really unfairly depending on the borough of the registry office.
2. the costs are extremely high, especially for Saturdays over the summertime
3. the costs of marrying in reg places of worship is far lower than the costs of marrying in a secular ceremony in an approved venue so it therefore is unfair and unequal. I've known people to choose a church wedding simply for the lower cost!
4. registry officers charge a lot of money to go to a location, and often limit their time. whereas as a humanist celebrant, I don't charge anything extra for travel, and I only have one wedding in day, which allows flexibility for the couple to alter the time to adjust to the sunshine, or unforeseen challenges (such as traffic) on the day itself.
5. it seems totally UNFAIR and UNEQUAL that couples who are non-religious (including those who identify as humanists) who want a humanist wedding have to pay twice as much as those who want a religious wedding. it also does not support people who have to consider differing religious roots on both sides of the family.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. this will relieve the excessive pressure and increase availability; following this pandemic, the timing of this scheme could not be better (if it can be swiftly actioned)
2. this will enormously help couples to choose to commit and become legally married as the economy tightens
3. this again will halve the costs for couples who choose a humanist wedding.; so it is very much encouraged

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

This would help venues to host more weddings, and allow for more weddings on varying days, throughout the year, which in turn would help with staffing, suppliers and so on.
The wedding industry is huge and, I hope, that in the aftermath of this pandemic, that many couple will choose to become legally married, and celebrate with their family and friends.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law means that local authorities are all acting differently and the costs vary.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDYA-V

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-08 11:46:36

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

N/A

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am currently engaged and seeking to get married in an Anglican Church ceremony.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Our wedding was originally scheduled for July 2020, but had to be rescheduled to March 2021 due to the pandemic. This rescheduled date is now in question due to restrictions on guest numbers and as such, we have decided to proceed with a simple legal marriage ceremony in January 2021 and will follow with a full 'wedding' when restrictions allow. It has been exceedingly frustrating how the rules keep on changing and has caused significant anxiety and stress as everything is so uncertain. Even now, we are not sure if we will be able to get married in January 2021 as there is no consistency to the rules. It is utterly ridiculous around the rules for whether you are allowed to have a reception and the restrictions on numbers of guests - you could hire out an entire restaurant for 50 people (at separate tables) which is permitted, but can't have a 'reception' for 50 people sitting at tables eating food. What is the difference? With the second lockdown, our banns are now not able to be read (due to the closure of the Church) which means we have to explore yet another alternative route and obtain a Common Licence. I firmly believe that the rules on weddings should not keep changing - they should remain the same, regardless of what Tier you are in and be allowed to go ahead as the Government is messing with people's lives. It is shameful.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I see no purpose in this.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Seems sensible.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Assuming the application can be processed in time, why should they have to wait any longer?

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes. This is a good suggestion based on not only the current situation, but the progression of technology and will provide much greater flexibility.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Who will check a notice board? May as well not bother if it isn't accessible online.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a good length of time, but there should be an option to extend it due to unforeseen circumstances.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Seems sensible.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again, sensible.

Please share your views below:

Yes, if agreed by all parties in advance.

Consultation Question 13:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I don't see why the country of publication should matter when all are part of the UK.

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no view.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Yes, it seems silly having to do it twice - we are in this position where our marrying church is different to our local church. We have no affiliation to our local church so it is very much an administrative tick-box which serves no purpose.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

1. Yes
2. This seems unnecessary - some kind of meeting is sensible, but I think this could be done together or remotely via video link.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes, I think it is important both do this and bear the responsibility - therefore, one member of the couple cannot be held to account if the other declares falsely.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

For simplicity, there should be just one rule for preliminaries, regardless of whether the ceremony will be civil or Anglican.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No, I don't see the purpose of any such limitations, provided the officiant and couples are in agreement.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

As long as all parties are in agreement and authorise it, then this shouldn't be prohibited by law. For example, if a church is happy to allow a non-religious ceremony to take place, then this should be allowed; however, permission must be sought.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Need to include any other relevant party e.g. the owner of the land/building, cruise ship Captain

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is needed for greater flexibility and to keep with the times. This will also help to fit around honeymoon plans and be a less stressful way of registering the marriage.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDCF-B

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-08 14:37:44

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

The Boundary Co. Ltd

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

-

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am in a legal marriage, married in church of England

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

We have a beautiful old oak barn on site which we have used for blessings, and clients would love to use the space for legally binding ceremonies. The majority of our clients have shown huge interest in being able to hold their legal ceremony and the reception at the same location. Of course without the license which is currently required by law we are unable to have these legally binding ceremonies.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

As a result of the national lockdowns and local restrictions put into place by the government, we have able to operate as a business. This has halted our intention of applying for a wedding licence, which we believe if we were legally allowed to hold ceremonies we would currently still be able to operate.

Of course the local council who are the licensing authority have been hugely impacted by COVID-19, which is one of the main reasons we as a business have not submitted our application.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This existing restriction only has a negative effect on our type of business by restricting peoples choice of where they wish to get married. With the modern world moving at the pace it does, it seems ludicrous to still enforce this restriction.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This proposition seems far more sensible considering how much the world has evolved.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

We believe that having completed the in person interview, you are at liberty to get married whenever you like. We do not see what benefit is derived from enforcing a delay. Once again it seems like an outdated regulation

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

We believe interviews should always be held in person, but as previously answered above the rest of the process we believe should have no time restriction and be able to be completed remotely.

Remote interviews may place added undue and unnecessary pressures on the interviewer to make assessments of validity.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

We feel it should be possible to provide notice irrespective of location, given the means of communication now available to everyone.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With the majority of the world being online it makes far more sense to now provide these notices online

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with the proposal, especially given the uncertainty this year has brought upon us, and continues to do so

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree the officiate should be named to ensure validity of the ceremony. We feel one substitute should be permitted.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems to be pragmatic approach

Please share your views below:

We feel that is reasonable however perhaps the word 'unavoidable' requires some clarity

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We feel there should be one process in England and Wales regarding the notification of a wedding

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It seems a very outdated rule given the level of modernisation, it should all be online

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No, we feel they should published online as any other notice should be

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

No, we feel there should be one formal approach to wedding notices covering the whole of England and Wales, regardless of where the wedding is held. The banns/notices should be published online

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

We agree

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Once again we think one formal approach to standardise and simplify the outdated process

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes we feel this would maintain the validity of the ceremony whilst standardising the process

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However we feel those officiating at a Church/religious wedding should comply with the same regulations as that of a officiate for civil ceremonies

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Everyone who wishes to be an officiate for weddings, whether civil or religious should be subject to the same regulations

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

they should be able to nominate but they would still need to registered/regulated the same way as any other officiate

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

aslong as its the same process to become an officiate

Please share your views below:

No distinction should be made, it should be one process to cover and officially recognise a marriage

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

they can be nominated but must follow the same criteria to become an officiant

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

please see previous responses

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

please see previous response

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The General Register Office should be responsible and the only body able to grant that status

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We believe there should be a limit but not a standard fee

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants of any type need to have the status granted to them by the General Register Office

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

it is the responsibility of the General Register Office

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But applies to all officiants, religious or otherwise

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Part 1 - Agreed

Part 2 - We feel that there should be a universal process and the method of expressing consent needs to be approved/recognised by the General Register Office

Part 3 - We feel that verbal consent should be provided wherever possible and there should be an approved list of circumstances where verbal consent is not required.

Part 4 - Agreed

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed but there should be an element of standard process/declarations that should be contained in all ceremonies.

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We feel that the core requirements must be contained in the ceremony regardless of whether it is civil or religious .

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

We feel the responsibility rests with the officiant to determine the suitability of the venue/location. Bearing in mind the solemnity of the occasion.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

We feel the location of the ceremony is down to the wedding party as long as the officiant deems it suitable

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

we agree as this will assist the officiant in ensuring the appropriateness of the location, furthermore any amendments to the guidance can centrally maintained and readily available to officiants

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

From our perspective of running a venue used for weddings we could market or state that our site has been pre approved for weddings and would help prospective clients to plan and make decisions

Please share your views below:

General register office should be responsible for pre approvals. Once the venue has been used once for a ceremony it would be deemed suitable and would gain pre approved status for future ceremonies. Responsibility to ensure this status is maintained is on future officiants when arranging a ceremony

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with point 1 and 2, however point 3 should have been assessed and checked at the interview stage

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However we would say that in point 3 and 4 it should state both or either of the party, as per point 1

No

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with point 1 and 2. We disagree with point 3, documents should be signed before or during the ceremony

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We feel the officiants carry a lot of responsibility to uphold the legality of the ceremony therefore any impersonation of an officiant should be classed as a serious offence with penalties set accordingly, a large deterrent

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But would need clarity as to what constitutes an emergency

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

We feel it should be possible in principle however it raises a lot of issues and places a lot of additional responsibility, on the officiant when assessing the suitability of the location

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant needs to be named so the wedding maintains its legality, by having the pre approved officiant, recognised by the general registry office

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Unknown

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The wedding is not formally and legally recognised until the schedule has been completed and returned to the authorities

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

The fee should be the same as any other parties would pay

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

We feel the limitation on where legal ceremonies can be held does impact the decisions surrounding planning a wedding .

We feel the provisional proposal would lead to an increase in legally recognised marriages

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The fees associated with a wedding are in general a small percentage of the overall cost of a wedding, and therefore have little bearing on the decision to legally get married

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The cost benefit is relatively immaterial to the total cost of a wedding. However the main benefit would be the ability to get married where and when the party actually chooses as opposed to where they are told

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

As a relatively new business the current laws have impacted our business hugely. The requirement for a costly license, obtained from the local council has stunted our business development. We are currently losing in excess of 50% (20-30 weddings per annum) of potential customers due to our inability to offer a licensed venue. The expenditure we would incur to comply with the criteria stipulated by the local council and subjectively applied has deterred us from submitting our application. We have developed a location which has proved extremely popular with potential clients, and has been used for blessings by celebrants with great success.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Given the current impact of the pandemic on our industry, the return to 'normality' is undoubtedly going to increase demand. The proposed scheme would enable more people to get married in more locations helping to ease the inevitable backlog. Our business would thrive if the new scheme was to be passed and we struggle to see any negative effects of a change in the law

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It would reduce the local authorities workload, and help generate employment.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

See above

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We only see the impact being positive as it will provide residents with a greater choice

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

see above

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

no views

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

no views

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1. Not a significant cost
2. A reduction in cost and certainly increased revenue
3. no view
4. Some set up cost but potential for increased income
- 5.No significant increase in cost

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDYW-J

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-08 15:18:17

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

So long as the interview process has taken place and the interviewer is satisfied in the legality of the marriage, the time between the interview and the ceremony is largely irrelevant.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I would suggest that in-person interviews should be in place for everyone. However, if interviewers are satisfied that an online interview is sufficient to 'get the job done' then I would think this is acceptable.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

This seems like a sensible amendment that will make a huge difference to a small proportion of couples.

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This is, in theory, totally acceptable. However some people may have legitimate concerns about such personal information being openly available on the internet.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Should be fine. The only issue here is that if an officiant agrees to perform a ceremony and then becomes unavailable due to illness, for example. In this case would the couple need to obtain a new schedule, possibly at short notice?

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See my previous comments!

Please share your views below:

If there is a legitimate reason why the chosen officiant was unable to perform the ceremony, and a substitute officiant could still ensure the legality of the ceremony, then this should be fine. (Otherwise a couple would be required to obtain another Schedule, and this seems like a time-consuming bureaucratic exercise!)

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I believe this should be agreed in consultation with individual couples and churches.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems like the best way of ensure the legality of the ceremony.

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As long as they have the relevant training and knowledge then this is a sensible idea!

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There may need to be some kind of quality assurance to ensure that all people put forward as officiants had the knowledge and skills to perform the role to a legally acceptable standard.

It is important that people from non-religious organisations are also able to act as officiants.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

This seems like a sensible suggestion although may bring up some contentious issues!

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Again, some quality assurance may be required, but this should be acceptable.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Very important!

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Perhaps a cap on a fee charged would discourage any individuals from turning this in to a purely money-making venture.

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There should be generous flexibility in this guidance.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There may need to be some centralised oversight to ensure the system is working.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

This is difficult as omission from this list may imply that content is not allowed.

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a key argument in these changes. This would enable couples and officiants to engage in meaningful ceremonies in a variety of places. It would also lead to a reduction in the (currently very high) costs associated with getting married.

Please share your views below:

As long as officiants are content that the service is legal, and all criteria met, e.g.: witnesses, then the ceremony should be able to take place anywhere.

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If all people involved are happy for the venue (religious or otherwise) to be used for that type of service, then this should be allowed to go ahead.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDY1-C

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-09 19:44:50

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

None

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

I had a religious wedding as the only other choice 32y ago was a dingy registry office. I am a humanist so would have preferred other options

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We need to ensure all marriages are consensual I feel this would put some people at risk

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Should all be in person to avoid sham or forced marriage

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Yes any reasonable

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Banns are archaic and I see no reason for them

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I think it is unnecessary to have them at all

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes to avoid sham marriage

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

All checks should be equal

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Any wedding

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

2 are unnecessary

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Equality for all

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Humanists

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Definitely

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Probably

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Particularly music which though religious may be enjoyed for its self

Please share your views below:

Music

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Should be limits

outdoors,, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I don't think it is responsible to ensure safe

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Local authority

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Should be longer of under 1i at marriage

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

No

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We should have reasonable flexibility

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDYS-E

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-10 13:16:31

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] County Council

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This can be quite difficult to achieve if the couple or one of them lives abroad as they then have to set up residence with a time lag of 28 days before they can get married. It can also be difficult to prove as most people deal with statements and other documents online

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would be ok as long as the 28 days start after the in person interview as the couple may have submitted incorrect information or not have the right documents

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

14 days would be good to make sure that there are no legal challenges but also to give time to produce correct documents

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

No I think it should always be in person so that non-verbal behaviour can be observed more closely and that sham and forced marriages can be detected in a neutral safe environment. For example one of the parties could have coercive family members standing in the room listening to the exchange- how do we provide privacy and protection?

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 9:

No

Please expand on your answer:

data protection issue, especially in the age of social media when information can be circulated anywhere on the web. Addresses for instance.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It could be extended in the case of emergencies eg pandemic

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No to both as what if there is a problem on the day and there needs to be a substitute. Also this will cause the registration services lots of work if they have to constantly change details in theory right up to the 11th hour!

Consultation Question 12:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should always be 2 officiants for safety reasons

Please share your views below:

No

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

not sure

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No This would make it different to notices of marriage which have to publicise in the district . They need to be the same. Also not many people attend church and some are virtually hardly used so no-one would see them.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes to make sure its not a sham/forced marriage

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes in line with civil weddings

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is unsafe as there are lots of difficulties- sickness, accidents, colleagues to confer with in case of problems. Lack of authority. Too much responsibility for one person

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

not sure

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is taking the safeguarding of lawful processes out of government control and giving it to private individuals who may not be suited for the job. Quality and legal aspects would be affected

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The registration service as it stands is already a non-religious belief organisation monitored and governed by government , law and legislation to make sure everything is done legally.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This could be a cult. There is also already provision to hold some type of ceremony that fit these ideas after the legal civil marriage/ Civil Partnership such as renewals of vows or 'blessings' within the framework of the particular organisation/religion

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

yes

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

No

Consultation Question 28:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If this goes ahead then there needs to be some sort of monitoring and regulation by GRO

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

as question 28

Consultation Question 30:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Could be biased and unregulated

Consultation Question 31:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This would be a massive piece of work for the Registrar General as at the moment this is all done 'locally' through interviews, training and development at local level.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If weddings are conducted privately by those in business this will not be a cheaper option for couples as the officiants will need to make a profit. You can currently get married for £46

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be a limit on fees as with civil weddings now otherwise the prices will rise for the customer as the officiant is in effect- a business and has profits to make

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This could be corruptive as personal friendships, hierarchy in an organisation may make it difficult to withdraw authorisation

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should still be dealt with by local government authorities

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Reviews on quality and development should be made with options to withdraw if standards are not followed

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

as above question 40

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

No

Please expand on your answer:

consent and impediments should be part of the ceremony so they are publicly declared.
some religions or organisations may circumvent consent by getting an unwilling person to sign a piece of paper or get others to sign for them. this could be for a sham or forced marriage

Consultation Question 43:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be legal declarations but with enhancements for additional choice decided between the parties

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

some content such as readings and music should be allowed but not the actual wording of a religious ceremony

Please share your views below:

readings and music

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It depends which is legal should come first

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

People need to be able to witness and object

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

What about health and safety regulations, risk assessments who will determine if somewhere is safe for the couple, guests and officiants and also maintain the dignity and solemnity of the ceremony and controlling the content within legal frameworks

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

What about health and safety regulations, risk assessments who will determine if somewhere is safe for the couple, guests and officiants and also maintain the dignity and solemnity of the ceremony and controlling the content within legal frameworks.
in the air for instance might be possible on a plane but not skydiving!
How do you risk assess someone's home and more importantly challenge when things are not right/go wrong?
Outdoors should be allowed if the places are risk assessed eg parks, gardens, beaches, fields.
Rivers would be difficult as you need a boat big enough for all parties and need to be safe

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

They should be kept separate

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be guidance on this as the officiant may be swayed into approving somewhere that is unsafe

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But is this subjective by each individual so needs to be monitored and guidance provided

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

but what if officiants disagree or are pressured into agreeing something unacceptable

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

local authorities and registration services already risk assess and issue licences to approved premises . I think this should be modified to include wider settings but in the same way

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It is signed on the day of the wedding to say that is accurate- anything added after that has not been witnessed or signed to say it is correct so this could cause problems with future certificates and legal challenges such as pensions, inheritance etc

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

mistakes can be put right but there have to be witnesses otherwise who would stand up in a court of law if the ceremony is challenged and if not signed how do we know it took place or followed all the legal requirements

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

No I think the current procedures are easy and quick

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The Rg's licence allows people to get married quickly- sometimes the same day so how can there be one form of schedule as we can't have everyone being able to get married quickly unless they have different time limits. Also the RG's give an extra safeguard to make sure correct procedures are being followed which is very important if someone is dying.

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

1. ok to extend validity

2. we do this partly at the moment with questioning being done remotely but then in person straight after to check, sign and produce documents. How would we be satisfied that the documents if scanned in are ok and that the couple are not being coerced or groomed by someone else in the room?

3/4 totally against remote weddings as where would they be held? who would attend? would safety measure be followed.? How would pre ceremony interviews to determine consent be given? Signing of the schedule is important so we know the couple, witnesses and officiants know that a proper legal ceremony has been conducted. Signing remotely could lead to errors and omissions that could impact on the legality of the proceedings and the extra copy might be lost or used for fraud.

No

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

canal boats, river cruises, ferries and private yachts as long as all preliminaries and risk assessments are followed

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1.No there are still lots of people getting married and most are happy to go through the legal preliminaries to make sure that they are legally married in the end

2. I think it could possibly make it easier for couples who aren't very serious about getting married but just want to have a party in a field or on a ship or in another location because they can

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Register Offices are cheap to get married in and therefore offer a greater choice for most people. The standard of venue and availability obviously varies, but if the fee to a celebrant is more than the register office then depending on the couples wishes as to venue. the cheaper option will always be a register office.

The biggest cost at approved premise is the reception and room hire and this is down to customer choice. The fees for the registrars to attend are very low in comparison considering the responsibility and legal procedures they have to follow.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think the only thing to do would be to make it possible for couples to marry outdoors but in current approved premises or those locations that have been approved and risk assessed as safe and suitable for an outdoor ceremony

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Availability can sometimes be an issue as lots of people want to get married at the same time of day but most authorities have lots of ceremony officers approved by the local authority who are available on an ad hoc basis. The problem is not enough registers, but this will not be a problem if we go to schedules as we can send out more people to cover weddings (though this is self regulated anyway by the availability of venues on any particular day)

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I think it would be unwise and unsafe to give permission to host weddings without pre-government approval and safety controls and who would be responsible if someone was injured, legalities not followed etc?

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Registration Officers and ceremony officers might lose their jobs if anyone can apply to be an officiant. Revenue related to marriages would diminish and so would cost local authorities so wider redundancies may follow due to cutbacks.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Certificates of no impediment are usually required to marry abroad which the country that they are getting married in request so some other way would need to be devised if this is abolished to prove to other countries that the couple are free to marry . Why change the process?

Residency is usually the issue which I agree should be unnecessary in current way, though we still need a method of immigration control for those coming in from abroad to marry here

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Certificates of no impediment are usually required to marry abroad which the country that they are getting married in request so some other way would need to be devised if this is abolished to prove to other countries that the couple are free to marry . Why change the process?
Residency is usually the issue which I agree should be unnecessary in current way, though we still need a method of immigration control for those coming in from abroad to marry here

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDYR-D

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-10 14:48:37

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] County Council

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Not worried about confidentiality

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

No legal barriers - married in C of E Church

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I work as a Superintendent Registrar at the register office and have attended quite a lot of weddings during the COVID-19 pandemic and have found that, despite the reduced number of guests, that the couples have had lovely wedding ceremonies and actually found them to be quite special and intimate with just close family and friends. Many other weddings have been postponed as the day would not have been as the couples wanted as they envisage having lots of family and friends to celebrate with.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Couples who live abroad and wish to be married with their family and friends in this country have to come home to reside for the seven days and nights and then usually do not have time to stay here for the 28 clear days until they can marry so have to return home and then come back for the wedding causing unnecessary expense to themselves.

Couples who wish to be married in a non-conformist church have to either reside in the district they wish to marry in or be regular worshippers at the church and this seems unfair as couples being married in C of E churches can marry anywhere they have ties or family.

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree in principle but we find that it can take a lot of questioning with some people to extract the correct information.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

Seven days seems a short period for anyone to find out about the proposed marriage if they have an objection.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Still prefer the idea of face to face interviews.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I agree.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The likelihood of anyone seeing a notice on the notice board in a district are very limited and online but with limited information on would seem to be a better option.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

One year seems to be a good time frame.

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This would be difficult to administrate I would have thought.

Consultation Question 12:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Please see answer above - who would know if the officiant was qualified.

Please share your views below:

I do not really understand what other circumstances.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not know a lot about banns only civil marriages so do not feel qualified to answer this.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I am unsure but I think I agree

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I think that these should also be online if civil marriage notices were to be online.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

I think they should have the power to check documentary evidence and that this should be done as a matter of course. I think they should have the right to meet the couple beforehand but not necessarily separately.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

I think Anglican weddings should fall in line with other couples giving notice of marriage for civil ceremonies and ceremonies at non-conformist churches and give notice separately.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

It would be easier if all marriages were preceded by civil preliminaries and no doubt Anglican vicars would find that this made life easier for them.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I do think that that registration officers should continue as we do now. Who would actually regulate the system if we had other celebrants performing ceremonies as I think that they would need to be checked on by some type of body.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think this would be acceptable but my only concern is that of safety.

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do agree in principle that they should be able to officiate at any venue instead of just in church and would prefer this to any other celebrants being able to officiate.

Consultation Question 23:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think all non-conformist churches and the Church of England should work under the same rules.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

They would need to be defined and I think there should only be so many different organisations allowed to act as celebrants otherwise this could open up all sorts of organisations that may have some very strange beliefs.

Please share your views below:

I only really know of humanist type weddings as an alternative to civil or church.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Think there needs to be some type of organisation that has a certain amount of numbers rather than just anyone with a religious belief being able to officiate.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I think they should make it the same for religious and non-religious organisations but definitely not for organisations that have anything to do with being unlawful or contrary to public policy or morality. I think marriages whether performed by a vicar, minister, registration officer or celebrant should be dignified and seemly as they are at the moment and not go too far in allowing anyone to marry couples with any type of ceremony that would offend anyone.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I think they should be able to nominate officiants by office.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Seems the sensible place to have a list.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Makes sense to have all officiants and religious and registration officers administrated by the same place.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There definitely needs to be a body who will oversee this and perform regular checks.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have no doubt that a lot of people will see this as a business venture.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There should be a set fee and I feel that the government should consult with local authorities before setting a fee and have all the fees at a similar price.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Should definitely not be allowed to be part of any religious body or registration officer and should be totally independent.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No other option.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Any celebrants must work according to guidance issued and also be regulated and checked on.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above - work should be monitored by someone.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would be interested to know how GRO would employ to regulate this.

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am unsure as to how to answer as I do not quite understand the question but if it means that they are authorised forever and not a certain time period then I agree as it would be expensive and difficult to administrate if they had to be re-registered every couple of years although this would be a source of income for GRO.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This must happen.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage should be formed at the point of signing the declaration.

Consultation Question 43:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think that it would be easier for the officiants to have a fairly standard script and this could be enhanced by the parties if they wished.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

These weddings have taken place for many years and I think they should be able to impose their own requirements.

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would make the lives of registration staff a lot easier than trying to police what is constituted as religious but I do not think we should go as far as prayers/singing of religious songs

Please share your views below:

I think that singing by choirs (religious music) should be allowed likewise religious music to be played and that if anyone wishes to add a religious reading then that should be allowed.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If religious content will be allowed in ceremonies whether by registration staff, celebrants or others then it will not be necessary.

Consultation Question 47:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Am unsure on this - what if someone wishes to object.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I do not think this would be a good idea at all as weddings should be seemly and dignified as mentioned previously and this would not be the case if weddings were allowed anywhere. Who would sort out the health and safety for any celebrant etc., attending.

in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

I feel that outdoors is fine as long as health and safety checked but private homes could present health and safety problems and I do not feel it is appropriate in the air (I think you must mean hot air balloons etc.,).

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think health and safety should dictate whether marriage take place in these locations.

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think that non -religious marriages should take place away from a place of worship and that non-religious weddings should not take place in church as it seems confusing to all concerned.

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I feel that if other persons start to officiate at weddings then it should definitely not be up to them to decide where is suitable as couples can be quite demanding with regard to weddings and may either offer money or another incentive to 'persuade' an officiant that the venue should be approved. This should be done by a separate body taking health and safety into account.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No comment to make - I do not think officiants should be making that decision.

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think some officiants would go ahead and have a wedding even if the location was not safe and dignified. I think the phrase 'free for all' comes to mind.

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I still think another body (such as local authorities do now) should judge the suitability and approval for premises.

Please share your views below:

As above - local authority or similar.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I think the place of marriage should be there on the document before the ceremony but that the date and parents details could be added later - the same as a CP schedule.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Whatever the couple wish

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think that electronic registration is a definite must.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Witnesses should be present

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with the above and have no further comment

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Why would they not cohabit after the celebration of the marriage (unless for religious reasons). What would be the point of marrying if a couple do not wish to live together at any point in the relationship. Could this not be considered to be a marriage of convenience whether that be financial or other gain to be made.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree - if they have not been through a form of marriage and do not believe themselves to be married then the presumption should not be made.

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I would have thought that three years would have been sufficient but I have had no dealings with this at all so do not feel qualified to comment.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants will have to be closely monitored and their organisation responsible for them.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I think that GRO deal with these situations very well and although I have attended death bed weddings I have not attended housebound, prison or hospital. I think that the above are well covered and do not need any change.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think we should continue as at present and take the details from the one party who is not terminally ill as this makes things considerably easier for them and I find that it gives us an opportunity to meet that person and be able to be made aware of the situation we are going to face when attending the marriage.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as this still worked in the same way as RG's licence - GRO give us the permission at the moment but I think this could work with registration officers issuing said paperwork as we would have a set of rules to work to, just as GRO do at the moment.

Consultation Question 65:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think three months is adequate - if they are happy to wait for longer than this then could go down the normal route and wait for the appropriate number of days the same as everyone else.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree and have no further comment.

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think validity of schedules etc should be extended.

Although I do not like the idea of 'remote anything' to do with weddings, I do feel that there may be some merit in this if normal weddings were to be stopped as in the coronavirus situation at the moment. How far it would be extended would be interesting - could a couple be in different countries to each other etc.,

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Has to be fair to all.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think I agree but who would actually police this - I think it could be open to being used incorrectly.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No problem with this.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

I think that this should not be allowed as the size of the vessel comes into consideration and also problems on health and safety. I think leave it to the cruise ships.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as the place is given I do not see the need for the name of the officiant as long as they are registered with some governing body.

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think it should be a member of the ship whether the Captain or any other member as above who have been authorised by GRO.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree - no further comment.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree - no further comment.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I think they should have the choice of religious/non-religious.

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think there should be a time limit otherwise paperwork will be forgotten about /lost etc., and could become a big administrative problem.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Have a national banding so all the same. At the moment the local authority pays.

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with number 2 - I feel our present system fits the bill perfectly.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I totally agree.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree - no further comment except that if we have been asked to ensure location is safe then the couple should pay presuming it is the couple's request. I feel the registration officer should be able to refer to a health and safety consultant as what would happen if an accident were to occur and one of the guests injured/killed - would the local authority be responsible? Maybe an independent health and safety assessment needed.

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This has to be governed by a specific body and the easiest is the local authority.

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is what happened at the moment.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree - no further comment.

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think that the fee should be less than attending at a venue away from the register office if the person is housebound or detained as they have no choice but to marry in that place whereas other couples choose their location. I think the fee should cover the hourly rate and travel so that it does not impact on local authorities although these ceremonies are not common in our district.

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

I think we should continue as at present and charge a nominal amount for the notice of marriage and waive the fee for the ceremony.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I feel that if GRO charges a fee then they should be the ones to keep a check on that officiant and make sure they are abiding by the rules.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I think that the current law regarding marriage are quite straightforward and work well for most couples. I think that those living abroad would benefit from new rules allowing them to give notice and marry sooner than 28 days. I do not think the new proposals would encourage people to marry particularly unless, for instance, you could legally marry in a hot air balloon, on a yacht or any other place the couple thought would be 'different'.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think the current costs seem acceptable to couples . I have had no complaints about the fees for conducting a legal then non-legal ceremony (in the garden of a hotel etc.,)

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I cannot really see as to how much of a saving will be made and I do not think it of great importance to couples as we at the register office do not have complaints about the prices either for Register office weddings or at approved venues as anything wedding related costs a fortune and our couples are quite happy to pay our fees.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I think that the impact on registration staff will be huge and many job losses will result if other people are allowed to officiate at weddings and the loss of income to the local authority will be very high

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I cannot see any benefits for existing registration officers only for any other type of officiant if they are allowed to officiate at marriage venues.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think it will lead to a loss of jobs and income from the marriage ceremonies and the registration service will have a lot of duties taken away in terms of appointments for notice of marriage , attendance at marriage ceremonies.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I cannot think of any benefits unless the local authority are involved in the changes regarding who can officiate and weddings and maybe have some form of control over them which can be charged for, likewise the actual places that people wish to be married will need to be inspected so maybe the local authority could take that on at a price.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think it could make it better for the regulations to be relaxed on whereabouts you can be married and also having to give notice in person if you live abroad and then are able to do this by video link.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Hopefully it will make life a little easier for all concerned but we need to proceed with caution and make sure the legislation is exactly what is required.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I do not know a deal about this so not able to comment,

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As above, I do not know a great deal about this so not able to comment.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

I think there will be cost to local authorities in lost income, businesses may be made out of the new proposals and no doubt we will see the growth of 'wedding celebrant' companies who employ a lot of people to attend marriages. I think the Clergy may benefit as more people may want a religious ceremony therefore more money to the clergy. I don not think there will be any potential savings for the couples but the new regulations may make life a little easier for them,.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD1X-B

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-10 16:19:41

About you

What is your name?

Name:

Dr. Zainab Naqvi

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

De Montfort University, Leicester, UK

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

No

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Participants in my research study on women's attitudes and experiences concerning polygamous marriages in the UK who identified as adherents of Islam expressed that they did not consider themselves truly married unless they had undergone the Muslim Nikah ceremony even if they had participated in a legally recognised civil ceremony.

It is possible that the difference in structure of the Nikah to civil register ceremonies along with the way that consent was expressed led to this feeling of not being married and the proposed structure which emphasises consent could lead to a greater affinity with mainstream legal recognition.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This proposal would go some way to addressing the practical concerns of women in the Muslim community as indicated by my study concerning the validity of marriage and its recognition for them in religious terms.

Participants expressed the importance of being recognised as married in religious terms and how the civil register marriage does not meet their needs in this sense.

By giving minoritised religious and cultural communities this greater level of flexibility and autonomy over the form and ceremony, it would promote a sense of recognition which stretched beyond mainstream legal recognition.

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would support the spiritual needs of religious communities and remove the practical need of undergoing two separate ceremonies in order to obtain legal and religious validity.

It would also provide participants with the choice of the type of ceremony they wish to have and its substance.

For example, a Muslim Nikah ceremony does not tend to have an exchange of verbal vows but a couple may wish to include these in their ceremony.

This proposed arrangement would facilitate this without the need for two separate ceremonies.

Similarly for a couple where the participants come from different religious backgrounds, this approach may give them the opportunity to combine their preferred contents from their traditional community religious ceremonies into one ceremony.

Please share your views below:

For the Muslim community, the acceptance of the terms of the marriage agreement is a key element of the Nikah ceremony. The opportunity to say they accept these terms in front of witnesses would be helpful.

Similarly, having relevant prayers and supplications allowed during the ceremony may be desirable to reflect the act of worship that marriage is viewed as in Islam.

Finally, the declaration of the gift made to the bride by the groom for all to hear would be helpful - not only for the religious aspects but also as a way of uplifting women's rights by ensuring that they are aware of this right and setting standards for how communities should determine the appropriate norms around the gift for each generation.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In my empirical study of women's experiences and attitudes concerning polygamous marriages in the UK, a trend emerged that Muslim women did not see themselves as married until they had undergone the religious Nikah ceremony.

They did not see themselves as married by just undergoing the civil wedding ceremony - repealing this provision would support the practical needs and experiences of women so that they can seek legal recognition on their own terms in a way which is meaningful for them. This would involve the centring of religious recognition which is what many of them do anyway. Thus, repealing this provision would merely reflect the behaviour of these women.

Consultation Question 47:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Muslim Nikah ceremonies can already take place anywhere according to the religious requirements.

For that reason, they do take place in private residences for example.

For a couple that wishes to have a Nikah ceremony only, it would be helpful if they could have legal recognition included in this.

Please share your views below:

As long as the requirements are clear and the venue is practically able to meet the needs for a ceremony, the law should permit weddings in all venues.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would be unlikely that a religious venue would be able to meet the needs of a non-religious belief wedding because of the spiritual significance of the religious venue.

The community which worships there would be worried about the wider implications of opening up their sacred space to non-religious belief ceremonies.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as this guidance is produced in consultation with minoritised religious communities and other concerned parties.

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would facilitate the lived experiences of communities like the Muslim community where cohabitation does not necessarily commence straight after the Islamic Nikah ceremony.

In addition, it would target the issues that have arisen with religious-only marriages leading to their previous characterisation as non-marriages because of a failure to comply with current formalities for a valid ceremony.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It would be helpful to take into consideration whether this factor of longstanding cohabitation is useful for determining the validity of a marriage that was conducted overseas before abolishing this presumption.

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is particularly helpful for promoting accountability in the marriage officiating process.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

At present, the Muslim community in most cases engages in two separate marriage ceremonies to fulfil religious and legal requirements.

This is discouraging for couples.

This separation creates issues for couples in terms of practical obstacles such as the added expense of a civil ceremony. It de incentivises them seeking legal recognition.

In addition, whilst there is the opportunity for couples to be more autonomous and seek legal recognition if they wish, the opposite is also true that it can lead to individuals, particularly women from these communities being vulnerable. This is particularly true when they have a precarious immigration status and are in the UK on a fiance visa.

In my study concerning women's attitudes and experiences around polygamous marriages, two relevant themes arose in the data.

First, that there were women who were religious-only marriages due to various circumstances that were dissatisfied with their lack of legal recognition because they felt invisibilised and blocked from being publicly recognised as married.

The second theme related to opportunity for abuse whereby women enter the UK on fiance visas, undergo the religious-only ceremony and then are denied legal recognition by their husband. This is held over them with the threat that they will never have the legal ceremony and may be removed from the UK at any time if they do not meet the demands of their husband. As they are not legally recognised spouses, this situation places them in an extremely precarious position.

The provisional proposals may go some way to mitigating these issues although it is important for there to be a level of choice for participants to marriages. Another theme that arose in my study was the freedom and autonomy that women enjoyed when they rejected legal recognition as it also meant that they could protect their assets and not necessarily have to undergo lengthy divorce processes should they wish to leave their marriages. It is important for these factors to be balanced when shaping the new legislative approach.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDA8-U

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-11 12:15:18

About you

What is your name?

Name:

The Revd. [REDACTED] (Rector [REDACTED])

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I have conducted three C of E weddings during the pandemic:

- a. an emergency wedding where the bride's father was terminally ill. This took place at the bride's family home and was attended by a very small number of people.
- b. a wedding in church attended by 30 people
- c. a wedding in church attended by 15 people

All have been extremely good occasions, tinged with sadness for different reasons, but all fitting and intimate celebrations of the marriage of two people.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

I would have thought that a period of one month was not unreasonable.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

So many of our conversations in the pandemic have been remote ie via Zoom or similar.

This has been a very new but highly efficient system.

Nevertheless, some in-person contact at some point in the process is vital. This is the case from a pastoral point of view (ie we get to know the person taking our wedding) or in the case of query or concern about legalities.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

This would make sense.

The ancient practice of reading banns, where everyone in the village would know the parties concerned, is outdated.

Reading banns in parishes, other than the one where the ceremony is to take place, is largely meaningless ceremonial.

Reading banns in the parish church where the wedding will take place allows some (albeit only three weeks) meaningful contact between the couple and the congregation, which is pastorally helpful and gives the couple some sense (albeit brief) of belonging.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

1: Yes

2: Yes

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

I am not sure this is necessary, but it might be helpful. Doing things together in the preparation for a wedding is generally a good thing.

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Not sure what this list would look like.

Anyone can enter into a civil marriage. Is this not sufficient?

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure that 20 is a large enough number.

Anyone can enter into a civil marriage. Is this not sufficient? If a couple involved with a group as described wished to follow this with an informal "celebration of marriage" ceremony (ie not a marriage itself) would that not be acceptable?

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Not sure what kind of organisation you have in mind, but in principle, yes: this would make sense.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

This sounds sensible.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure what qualifications/training/gifts/skills are imagined here. Could anyone set themselves up as an officiant? Being part of an overarching organisation (C of E or other) offers both a protection and an accountability; and also some measure of quality control/evidence of competence.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It would seem to be helpful, beneficial and just plain good sense, that a national range of fees might be established, published and adhered to. "Privatising" the wedding business would/could/might lead to all kinds of malpractice and inconsistency.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There is real merit in setting a time limit for authorisations (3yrs/5yrs).
This can then lead to appraisal, review and re-authorisation.
It can also take in account the possibility of in-service training and professional development.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, but ...

It is important for C of E marriage services to follow the liturgy as set out in the BCP or Common Worship. Couples cannot just create or invent vows or other forms of words to replace what is required. However, there can be scope for additional material which makes the service more personal in which the couple can have a say.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is just confusing and unhelpful.

Couples have chosen a non-religious/non-church option. This should be reflected in the shape and content of the ceremony offered. Otherwise, they are having their cake and eating it!

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If this means the prohibiting of a second wedding then yes.

But if this means to do away with the Service of Prayer and Dedication after Civil Marriage, then no.

Consultation Question 47:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure what I think about this. Is a wedding an entirely private function?

I have never had a problem with "trouble makers" turning up unannounced.

However, I have always welcomed parishioners (who wish to see the couple married but who have not been formally invited) "to sit at the back".

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, but ... in a C of E context, this should be anywhere in the parish (ie open-air/home/garden/other public building)

Is there a question about some ideas for place which might compromise the dignity of the ceremony/occasion? Not sure I can think of one, but couples are increasingly imaginative!

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Does "in the air" mean in an aircraft, helicopter or balloon? If so, fine.

Does it mean in free-fall wearing a parachute or similar? If so, no.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

For the C of E, this should be the diocese in which the venue is set.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I imagine this would be voidable - but perfectly OK if errors were rectified retrospectively and in a timely manner?

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Having recently conducted an emergency wedding by Archbishop's Special Licence, due to the bride's father's terminal illness, I can only report that the personnel involved at the Registry were extremely helpful and that the process was very straightforward indeed.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am not sure I fully understand this question. Does it mean that a wedding could take place "virtually"? ie on Zoom or similar?
During this pandemic, although hugely unsatisfactory, I have dealt with couples who have either had much smaller weddings than originally intended, or who have postponed until next year. Does the question envisage an alternative to these?

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In my recent experience, a letter from a medical professional was extremely helpful.
Sadly, people will sometimes say all sorts of things to get what they want.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Not sure - a possible case might be made for a Navy ship or similar, perhaps?

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think, as with all other marriages, the name of the officiant is critically important.

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, but see above re independent officiants.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I have no idea!

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I have no evidence for it, but my sense is that increasing the scope of options for a C of E within the parish boundary would be a good thing.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no hard evidence for this, but my sense is that:
there is anecdotal evidence that marrying costs a lot of money.

However, it seems to me that the costs (if large they be) are related rather to the "staging of the event" than the cost of any legal preliminaries, registration or the service on the day.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think probably, that any benefits are more related to choice and extra options than concerns about financial savings.
Of course, there would potentially be a concern for a parish or for the C of E at large, if suddenly people wished to be married elsewhere and church income thereby be affected.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

No comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

No comment

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no experience of 1.
My understanding of 2 is that things are relatively straightforward at present.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No sure what difference there would be in practice.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

If in the C of E the effect of the proposals is to encourage couples to choose to have a service in a place other than a church building, it may be that the fees would need to attach to the person not the place.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD8A-U

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-11 14:09:58

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] County Council

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

As a registrar, it was very difficult as we could not extend the notice expiry dates and people were very angry about having to give notice again. Furthermore, many people had to give notice again as they changed their place of marriage through no fault of their own or were unable to move venue as it would have meant giving notice again and there wasn't always time.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It doesn't make any sense to have the seven day residency period as it causes many problems when couples give notice, especially if they live abroad and need to return to give notice. Sometimes, they are not able to marry in England and Wales as the residency period is too onerous. Also, if a couple live in separate houses but spent one night at the other's house during the notice period, technically they wouldn't be able to give notice which is ridiculous. Or they don't tell the truth which makes a mockery of the system. Also, if a couple are marrying in a non conformist church and neither live in the district, they have to complete their residency period in the district where they are marrying which is pointless if the church has agreed to marry them. Likewise, the fact that you have to ask if the church is their 'usual place of worship' and add this to the notice is neither live in the marriage district. Couples should be able to give notice at any register office in England and Wales on production of a document such as a driving licence or bank statement.

Consultation Question 5:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The proposed system creates unnecessary duplication - it is important to see the couples to determine whether it is a sham or forced marriage. This will be most important with Brexit approaching and most register offices becoming DROs.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

Three days would be too short as it will not allow for foreign divorces to be processed at the GRO and would put too much pressure on register offices. I think it should revert back to two weeks as this gives time for legal objections.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

It will be very difficult to ask someone to come into the office if you suspect a sham or forced marriage. This may put people at risk and open up grounds for discrimination. Notices should be face to face as you can study people's behaviour which might not be apparent online. I think it could put registrars in a difficult situation legally.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The fact that the date and place of marriage would be much more accessible online would cause many couples worry. Not necessarily because they will be at risk of harm but they could find a disgruntled ex partner trying to cause trouble or cancel arrangements. Currently, if someone wants to be disruptive, they have to make an effort to come to the register office to seek out that information. The current system makes this harder.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This allows couples to give notice when it suits them. The register offices would be inundated with appointments at certain times of year if the notice period were 3 or 6 months. However, this could be extended in extreme circumstances, like a pandemic.

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This would be too restrictive especially if the celebrant falls sick. This should be left open.

Consultation Question 12:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As above.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

I think that all Anglican preliminaries should be conducted at a register office to ensure consistency and accuracy. The preliminaries should be the same regardless of where they marry.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes, especially if there is a case of forced or sham marriage.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

For accuracy and consistency.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Registration Officers have a great deal of knowledge and experience and this is helpful to ensure that ceremonies are conducted properly.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This would be quite difficult to prove?

Please share your views below:

This would be helpful.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It would be hard for registration staff to determine the point at which the ceremony becomes too religious? It would be fine to sing hymns and have religious readings but what if couples want to incorporate wording from the book of common prayer or if a religious person present at the ceremony wants to bless the couple? I think it would need clear guidelines as to what can and can't be done.

Please share your views below:

Hymns and readings only.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

You have to consider the health and safety elements of conducting a ceremonies anywhere especially if only one officiant attends. Employees may feel under pressure to conduct ceremonies somewhere that they don't feel is safe or where they feel comfortable. If it is at a private house, it may be daunting to conduct a ceremony if people have been drinking and not under the control of venue staff. They may feel threatened if they decide not to proceed if the couple are intoxicated. A private home can be risk assessed prior to the ceremony but this is not a guarantee that problems may arise on the day ie overcrowding, rowdy behaviour or fire hazards.

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Please see my comments above.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If locations are publicly accessible then they usually will have been assessed for health and safety standards and fire safety regulations. This would not be the case if couples could marry anywhere.

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Only if the officiant is self employed. The council should take responsibility for the approval of locations for registration officers.

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As above.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

As the councils already have these processes in place they should continue to approve locations. This will make it easier as there will be one point of contact.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think the current system where the partner who is not poorly and who gives notice on behalf of both of them works.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as the legal notice is given by the partner who is well and the waiting period is waived?

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Whether it is 3 months or 12 months it doesn't make much difference as very few survive a week after marrying.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The problem is that everyone would claim that they were at risk of death!

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be a reasonable time limit set.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should be set by the local authority depending on the needs of that particular register office.

Consultation Question 81:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I think that a small minority will welcome the flexibility of being able to control the ceremony content and location but it is important to remember that most people are traditional when it comes to weddings and do not veer from the established format. Some flexibility to the content and location of ceremonies would be welcome but it is important to uphold the seemly and dignified nature of a wedding otherwise it will make a mockery of the institution. Many people are traditional at heart and will not want to veer too far from the established format. For those couples who don't want a traditional ceremony, you may see an increase.

I'm not sure this will lead to an increase in more people being legally married as in my experience, most people who have problems with the validity of the marriage have married abroad or had a religious ceremony such as a Nikah marriage. If anything, there may be more problems with legalities if the rules are relaxed and people think they've had a legal wedding when they haven't.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I can only comment on registration ceremony costs of marrying in a register office or approved premises and these are not prohibitive given the total cost of a wedding.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

You need to consider the impact of marrying in places that are not approved. Couples will need to be mindful that there may be additional costs and implications such as insurance and liability if something goes wrong. There might be less protection under the law? Celebrants currently charge as much for a 'blessing' than for a legal wedding. Register Offices only charge £57.00 for a statutory wedding which is not a high amount on the cost of a wedding.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Regarding the costs of registration officers' attendance at approved premises, this is dependent on the local authority but is not overly expensive given the total cost of a ceremony (the photographer probably costs more). Given that this is the legal part of the ceremony and the register entry and subsequent certificates are created by someone who has been extensively trained, it is not expensive. Any mistakes to the register entry can result in problems with identity or inheritance, for example, and this may increase if you have untrained celebrants conducting legal ceremonies.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. It is important that there is some pre-approval process for venues as there needs to be health and safety checks and fire safety to consider. It would be madness to allow ceremonies to take place in a venue that hasn't been checked.
2. I can't comment on other authorities but in ours, we always manage to accommodate couples in terms of availability - it is only usually last-minute ceremonies where they might struggle to get the time that they want.
3. I don't see why venues can't host weddings officiated by religious officiants although, I am not sure how popular that would be as most people would probably want to marry in a place of worship?
4. I am not sure there will be an increase in business opportunities as it will just shift from one form to another. It also just shouldn't been seen as a business opportunity as this may diminish the solemnity and dignity of the occasion.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law allows local authorities to ensure that ceremonies adhere to all legal requirements and staff are trained to a high standard.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

There won't be any potential benefits to local authorities of the proposed scheme. As they will not be able to control who and how conducts ceremonies, they will most likely have to deal with problems post-ceremony such as mistakes on the marriage schedule and problems with validity, as they are usually the first port of call. The revenue that local authorities will be much reduced if the law is relaxed, as there will be an increase in people setting themselves up as celebrants.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDA6-S

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-12 12:59:58

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am now divorced, but in 2004 I was married in a Pagan, Druid wedding, but had to have a civil wedding to make it legal which I think was unfair that my wedding was not recognised. For us it was also the expense of having to do this twice as we wished to express ourselves through our belief system to bind us together as a couple.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes I was aware that it would not be recognised, which is why I had a registry office ceremony as well.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

My husband wished for it to be legally binding and I respected his wishes to make it a legally recognised wedding.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I am aware that people I know that follow a Pagan Path have struggled to have ceremonies because of the pandemic and not being allowed to gather outside at times and restrictions with legal registry office celebrations on top.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think that there should be a notice period prior to marriage, though I do not feel it should have to be in person

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes I think an online as this can be done via zoom/skype or other technology means notice should be sufficient

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes I think remote video link i.e. zoom/skype or other such means should be sufficient unless there are concerns, then an in-person meet should happen

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes this should still be possible

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Recognised bodies such as Pagan Federation, Humanist organisation etc

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I believe this is vital for ensuring the officiant is one of good standing and safeguarding everyone involved

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I believe that there should be limits to what they can charge, being able to cover costs and time only within acceptable limits

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

From a legal point yes, that the wedding must include certain legalities otherwise no

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I believe that there should be a re-registering every few years to enable proof of ability and continued good standing and eligibility

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes there should be guidance as to how they determine a safe location

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

That the officiant should be able to have a list of requirements for that place i.e. access safety etc. This could be a tick box sheet that it meets these requirements

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I believe that there should be an enhanced process to ensure there is no false coercion of someone who is held in mental health hospital or is housebound to safeguard them

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I believe that if for example Pagans could have a legal wedding in their own spiritual ceremony there would be more legal weddings

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The cost of legal weddings needing to be separate on top of a for example Pagan ceremony does prohibit. Weddings can be costly and there should be a limit to this for those with lower income to be able to afford this

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDA3-P

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-13 13:44:01

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Equal Civil Partnerships Campaign

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

We would be happy for interviews to be able to take place remotely

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

We agree that it should be possible for notice to be given outside England and Wales.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is of particular interest to the mixed-sex civil partnership community. A large number of mixed-sex civil partnerships, a far greater proportion than same-sex cps or marriages, choose to have the basic no-frills registration in a working office. Although a legal requirement, many register offices offer very little choice in time and availability. We understand that this is because of the fixed price and that register offices make a loss. We hope that reducing the number of registration officers needing to be present would lower the cost to the register office and allow them to make simple registrations more freely available.

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This option would allow couples the choice to have a registration in private homes or gardens. At ECP we are particularly enthusiastic about the option to license personal spaces. It would offer a 'middle ground' for mixed-sex civil partnerships who at the moment have the choice of a 'no frills' simple signing in a working office or the decision to use a larger venue. The option of allowing couples to register their relationship in a home or garden offers a simple yet very personal choice which resonates with couples choosing a mixed-sex civil partnership.

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Our view is that it should be the registrar who is licensed - not the venue - so that there should be no further cost incurred in licensing a venue (eg home) for a registration or marriage.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We are very strongly enthusiastic about this – having campaigned for so long, we are very well aware of the risks – financial and legal – of couples being left without a legal relationship in case of the death of one partner. This is particularly relevant during a time of national emergency such as a pandemic. We do have two concerns

- We would like to ensure that there are robust mechanisms for checking against forced legal relationship or fraudulent registrations
- We would like to ensure that this doesn't discriminate against couples who would not be able to access the technology – through use, knowledge or cost.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDA1-M

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-16 08:13:51

About you

What is your name?

Name:

Superintendent Registrar

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Hampshire Registration Service

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

The refusal to allow Notices, already given, to be extended during lockdown and recovery has caused extensive extra work for local authorities and unnecessary extra costs and inconvenience for thousands of customers, including some couples who are now abroad and cannot return to give notice again.

The refusal to allow Notices to be completed partly online during lockdown and recovery has exposed hundreds of registrars across the country to needless exposure to the virus as a result of extended face to face appointments with couples. As new lockdown restrictions come along and the rules around self isolation continue then suitable resource available to maintain adequate cover to maintain all functions of the RO service (including death registrations) may be affected. It is not appropriate to consider marriage law and required legal processes affecting local resource that is also expected to deliver the full statutory responsibilities of a Registration Officer.

As DROs are not required to give notice in the district where they live they often travel outside of their locality (even though individual area lockdown restrictions may be in place) exposing other Local Authority staff to potential C-19 infection). If local restrictions and lockdowns continue is it difficult to manage weddings (and be C-19 secure) for couples and their guests travelling from areas of the country with higher restrictions (tiers) in place. The available guidance on this is unclear.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

the 7-day residency rule is a nonsense as couples can book themselves into a hotel or stay with friends for 7 days to comply with it and this is then sufficient for them to become 'resident' in the area they are staying in. It is an outdated rule and does not reflect the way that people live their lives now

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other – This raises potential issues for Section 24 (s24) reporting on potential sham marriages if the first part is done remotely, (although arguably s24 reports don't necessarily stop many marriages going ahead). This could be resolved by a longer period between the in-person interview and the marriage date for foreign nationals.

Some couples would still want to do the first part in person and there is a danger of this option becoming crowded out if there is pressure to do it remotely. As has been the case with certificate ordering online, now this has become mainstream many local authorities have removed the ability for this to be done in person, and a similar situation could arise if the majority of couples opt to do this online. A clearer proposal to this would be to make the online process mandatory for all couples followed equally by a mandatory f2f interview before authorities are issued

There is a danger that the first part could be done by one of the couple alone answering for both parties which would play into the forced marriage agenda and may mask safeguarding issues. To that end, if this is agreed, the in-person meeting must include safeguarding questions individually from each other so that both parties confirm they wanted to enter into the marriage.

Might be more sensible to take a step further and utilise the Verify.Gov service for UK nationals.

This proposal is supported along with the assumption that full cost recovery would continue

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

10-14 working days – to allow time for the schedule to be issued and sent to the officiant in good time. If a s24 is raised or forced/ safeguarding concern at the in-person interview then there will need to be time for the investigation to be undertaken before the marriage takes place.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

No - How would we know if sham/forced is an issue without the face to face meeting when much of this is done on a gut feeling in the presence of the couple. Also, by inviting couples to come in only where we have concerns would them tip them off that we harbour suspicions. This could also raise equality issues

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

only if the information displayed is reduced, ie Name and Town/District. Personal information (address, age, etc) being displayed online would result in data protection issues and potential identity fraud. It would also encourage unlawful marketing approaches to the couple.

Consultation Question 10:

No

Please expand on your answer:

12 months seems arbitrary, why not 24 months? a lot of couples start planning their wedding 2 years in advance and therefore they could book and be given an appointment to give notice at the same time. Reducing the need for reminders and chasing and therefore reduce costs

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

1) Yes - provided that recognised groups like DSRs employed by the local authority can be recorded as a generic group (by 'type'), not as individuals. If not, larger districts will find this an unacceptable admin burden and creates a risk that on the day of the ceremony, the information will be incorrect and therefore potential for the marriage to not proceed.

2) Yes - provided that:

- a. There is provision to charge a full cost-recovery fee for amending the schedule.
- b. There is provision for a cut-off date when the schedule can no longer be amended in advance of the wedding/CP – for operational/logistical reasons.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

a. Yes - provided that the local authority issuing the certificates can check that the replacement officiant was authorised to carry out their duties and the couple understand that their marriage/CP will not be legally recognised if not.

Please share your views below:

b. No – there should be no need to substitute the officiant except in the case of 'death, sudden illness or unavoidable delay'.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

- 1) No - Universal civil preliminaries should apply to create a level playing field and consistency, provide better control on sham/forced/safeguarding issues and to prevent pressure on ministers of religion.
- 2) Yes – Universal civil preliminaries should apply

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

provided that there is provision for a full cost-recovery fee to be charged for the attendance of the officiant, even if they are not leading the ceremony, and that the officiant should be properly trained, that training is refreshed regularly, and that the officiant should face sanctions for non-compliance with regulations. A regulating body for all officiants should be created and 'licenses' issued by this regulating body. The licenses should be timebound to avoid an ever growing list of officiants. The Local Authority would be best placed to deliver this function on the basis of full cost recovery

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If civil preliminaries are universal and any religious or non-religious marriage is legally recognised then a registrar should be able to officiate at any wedding regardless of who is leading the ceremony.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

with the proviso that we could insist on sending two members of staff under certain circumstances – ie. large number of guests, unusual/new venue, out of hours, couple not known to the service, etc. Where this is needed a full cost recovery fee should be charged

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

- 1) No - if universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

2) No – if universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Please share your views below:

No – all organisations should be on a recognised list – if indeed the purpose of the consultation paper and subsequent reform of the marriage law is to create a clear and simple set of rules

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

1) No - if universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

2) No - if universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

This proposal opens to potential routes organisations to set up and facilitate sham, forced and coersive marriages

Where this is needed a full cost recovery fee should be charged

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

No comment

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

No comment

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 28:

No

Please expand on your answer:

if the Government enables religious and non-religious officiants we propose that it would be more appropriate for the local authority to maintain the local list. Just as LAs do now for non conformist churches 'approved persons'

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

if independent officiants are able to officiate at weddings then they should be on a recognised public list

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

if enabled, independent officiants should be subject to universal full cost recovery fee regulations applicable to all officiants. All officiants should be either full cost recovery or able to make a profit - so the same rules apply to all officiants.

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If enabled, officiants should be limited to being in one group only.

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

because we support universal civil preliminaries and civil officiants attending all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

it should rest with the local authority, (who would be their employer if all officiants are civil as above), or the holder of the local list of authorised officiants if not.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

the local authority should act as above (see Q.37), but GRO should have the power to do so as the regulator if the local authority does not act.

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

(See Q.37/Q.38 above). We propose that the local authority should manage the officiants and GRO only oversee it if the local authority fails to act.

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

there should be a time-limited membership fee subject to renewal, and regulations (such as having valid Public Liability Insurance), as with other professional bodies, and a de-authorisation process if inadequate CPD is undertaken. This will also help to keep the list contemporaneous and remove unclean data such as membership of deceased parties, for example.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See Q. 40 above

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. No – we should maintain the status quo:

- a. if physically able, customers should be required to orally express their consent
- b. if physically able, couples should be required to orally confirm no impediment.

2. Yes - provided that the expression of consent and confirmation of no impediment is a universal requirement that makes any marriage ceremony legally recognisable

3. No - parties should sign a declaration but see point 2 above – they should also have orally expressed consent and confirmed that there is no impediment during the ceremony. The declaration alone should not be sufficient for a marriage.

4. No - the marriage should be formed when the final signature is entered onto the declaration (couple, witnesses and officiant) AND after the couple have orally expressed their consent and confirmed that there is no impediment. All these conditions should need to be met for the marriage to be legally recognised.

Consultation Question 43:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

- the form and ceremony should be chosen by the parties and agreed to, but the legal requirement for oral consent and confirmation of no impediment, and signing the declaration should be universal (as Q.42 above), to ensure that all marriages are consistently legally recognisable

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

the form of the ceremony and who can have one should be a matter for agreement by the religious group concerned, provided that they abide by the same legal requirements as for other groups (as outlined in Q.42 and Q.43 above).

As long as the legal parts of the ceremony remain secular and defined then the contents of the ceremony should be in agreement with the religious group concerned and defined at the outset

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

the legal parts of the ceremony should remain secular and as dictated by current civil registration legislation, however embellishments such as music and readings with religious content - that have no legal standing - should be allowed, provided that they comply with equality and diversity rules.

Please share your views below:

Nothing particular that should definitely be allowed, but anything that could be considered critical of another belief system or a recognised protected characteristic should not be allowed

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

the rules re open doors should be consistent for all forms of marriages and the process for objecting to a wedding should be carried out during the notice period or after the marriage if the legal impediment to that marriage is established later.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - however all venues/locations should need to be licensed (albeit temporarily), encompassing checks on permission from the location/venue owner, a responsible person being present at the venue/location for the duration of the ceremony, appropriate insurance and risk assessments having been completed in line with health & safety regulations.

Licensing regulations would therefore need to be relaxed to include short-term licences (for example for one wedding only) and outside locations. To ensure resources were available for this temporary licensing process a full cost recovery fee would be required.

No location should automatically be disqualified, however there would need to be some checks and balances allowing legal guidance on an acceptable level of risk – for example, an officiant should not be required to conduct marriages in a location/venue that is considered high risk (such as in a hot air balloon or whilst bungee jumping for example). All Officiants

Must reserve the right to refuse to conduct a ceremony if they consider the location to be unsafe or at high risk

Owners/organisations operating a venue or location for wedding ceremonies should be able to choose what type of ceremony (civil, religious, non-religious) can take place in their venue, and what category or recognised officiant (civil, non-religious, religious) can lead these ceremonies.

Please share your views below:

see above

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

it should be the decision of the licensing local authority (see Q.48 above).

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

a. Other – a dynamic risk assessments should be carried out on the day, but the location should already be licensed (albeit temporarily) including a full risk assessment, as in Q.48 above.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

b. Other - we believe that licensing should remain with the Local Authority (see Q.48 above) and if this is the case then - yes, GRO should provide guidance on whether a location is to be considered safe and dignified. GRO, or their approved training provider, should also provide such guidance to officiants for their dynamic risk assessment on the day.

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

(see Q.48 above). The pre-approval process would be covered by our suggested licensing process.

Please share your views below:

Local authorities should be responsible and should licence a venue/location for a one-off, or series of, weddings.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

provided the details are added before it is signed

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

but only if the marriage takes place in Wales

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- a. Accurate and representative signatures can be recorded
- b. There is a contingency in place if the electronic system fails (many countryside wedding venues have poor internet coverage)
- c. The officiant is responsible for back-capturing the registration if necessary in the event of a system failure

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Yes

2. Yes

3. Other – the marriage should be void if the ceremony was not officiated by an authorised officiant, regardless of whether the couple had knowledge of this or not.

4. Other – as above. If the opt in has not been given the same-sex marriage should be void, regardless of whether the couple has knowledge of this or not.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Other – maintain the status quo – typographical mistakes should not render a marriage void, however a significant mistake that could call into question the identity or marital status of one of the parties, for example, should render it void.

2. Yes – as previously stated in Q.42 above, a marriage should not be valid until the declaration is signed by all parties present, including the witnesses and officiant.

3. Yes - (see 2 above).

Consultation Question 58:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

any one of 1(a), 1(b)(i), 1(b)(ii), or 2 should be enough individually to make the marriage non-qualifying, without the need for two tests to be satisfied.

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

we believe that all legal processes must have been fulfilled for a presumption in favour of the validity of the marriage, but conversely we do not believe that the couple should be required to have cohabited for a period after its celebration, particularly in this day and age.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

provided that all forms of marriage are legally recognised then this should be abolished

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

it seems a nonsense that if a party believes they have entered into a marriage without expressing free and informed consent that they only have 3 years within which they can challenge the validity of that marriage.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Yes - registrars statutory fees for these services are nowhere near commensurate with the costs involved in providing the services, and the statutory fees for each of these services are not in line with each other. These fees should be regularly reviewed so as to represent realistic full cost recovery.

The criteria for a doctor signing off a letter for an RGL should also be more specific. Currently they are very subjective and many customers who continue to attend hospital appointments regularly are being signed off as apparently "on their death-bed".

It is not appropriate for the wider Council Tax-payers to substantially subsidise the marriage of a customer who could potentially afford to pay standard fees for getting married, just because they are terminally ill.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

fees for this service should be reviewed to reflect this extra work and represent full cost-recovery.

We are anecdotally aware of cases under the current system where the ill party knows nothing about the application for an RGL because there is not the requirement for the ill party to give notice and so the whole preparation can currently take place without the ill party's knowledge or consent.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The local authority, rather than GRO, should have the ability to reduce the waiting period, subject to confirmation by the doctor, and this should include the ability to take notice at home or in a clinical setting for the terminally ill patient.

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

conversely we would propose a shorter timeframe (ideally less than 28 days) for the ceremony to take place and powers given to the local authority to arrange the marriage as soon as practicably possible after the issue of the schedule. If the schedule expires before the marriage has taken place the full fee should be repaid to restart the process. If the schedule lasts longer than 28 days then there is no reason for them to have had a reduction in the waiting period.

We are aware of numerous cases under the current regime where once the RGL has been issued the couple prefer to wait for an extended period of time before conducting their marriage. This time frame should be extended. Imposing a time limit to complete the marriage because of an arbitrary timeframe is unhelpful and may be causing rash decisions

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

there is no specific urgency in these cases and so the 12-month validity period should remain so as to be consistent with all other civil marriages.

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Yes

2. No - a two-part mainly remote process could work but an in-person part of the process is required to check for safeguarding/sham/forced issues

3. No

4. No

Schedules/authorities should be extended to allow existing arrangements to take place after the national emergency, or couples should be able to marry outdoors to minimise the risk where appropriate.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would suggest that if anyone who may be at risk because of any work that they undertake in support of the national emergency wishes to get married quickly then the facility should exist for this to be allowed. The question here would be who determines if their job is in support of the national emergency?

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

no issues with the proposal per se, provided that the technicalities of what district the couple are marrying in, and ensuring they are in UK territorial waters, are very clear and easy to follow. There would be complications with the distinction between English & Welsh, and Scottish law near the Scottish border, for example.

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure if I agree with this as many vessels are registered in foreign countries and therefore they would be marrying under the rules of that country – I may have misunderstood the Q!!

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Yes -

If the proposals in the consultation documents suggest opening up the ability to marry in any venue( as long as it passed the appropriateness test) then why exclude privately owned vessels in water – the only thing that excludes this is the ability for objection to take place – not achievable if the vessel is privately owned and at sea! If the objection route is part of the notice period then this removes this from this scenario

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - provided they have had the same training and are subject to the same CPD as other officiants.

Yes - provided they have had the same training and are subject to the same CPD as other officiants

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Quite possibly – but unable to comment as have no knowledge of the demand in for religious/belief ceremonies this area

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

- electronic copies should be received by the relevant district within 7 days, and the hard copy sent as soon as possible. The marriage could be registered on receipt of the electronic copy but certificates not issued until the hard copy has been received.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

this should be full cost recovery, and should be regularly reviewed to keep pace with increasing costs.

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

1) It is not appropriate for the wider Council Tax-payers to substantially subsidise the marriage of a customer who could potentially afford to pay standard fees for getting married, just because they are terminally ill.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However the stat fee should be set at realistic full cost recovery basis (taking into account all elements of service provision)

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

– we believe it should always be set by the local authority.

If it is not locally set it should be set at national average cost recovery. Nationally set fees should also be reviewed regularly and uplifted in line with RPI/CPI

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

it should be set at full cost-recovery set by the local authority. 'Full cost recovery' means it should include all of the costs for the full gamut of local authority work in relation to ceremonies, including on-costs and non-direct costs and it should not just be based on the registrar's hourly rate

Consultation Question 81:

No

Please expand on your answer:

fees for discretionary services should be dictated by the marketplace alone, and should not be regulated nor related to cost recovery. This income stream can significantly reduce the financial burden on the wider Council Tax-payer and allow local authority registration services to self-fund whilst supporting the provision of free statutory birth and death registrations.

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

if someone is detained then they do not have a choice to have a stat fee ceremony at a RO, so a realistic fee should be set at full cost recovery

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Neither - it should be set at a level that is full cost recovery. The vast majority of RGL cases are for couples who are seeking to avoid the payment of inheritance tax upon the death of one of the parties.

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

- if authorised officiants can operate anywhere within England & Wales then the RG should set the fees nationally on a true full cost-recovery basis.

Any fees in either case should include the cost of verifying qualifications are valid and that CPD is up to date (what does this mean?). It should be aligned with the current process for Approved Persons

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. No
2. No

The proposals will no doubt increase choice, but we have received no anecdotal feedback or evidence that suggests couples are foregoing getting married because of the current legal restrictions. On this basis, we don't see how the deregulation of marriages would increase the number of marriages taking place.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. We are currently only able to offer cost-effective budget options in decommissioned register office rooms because we also receive the income from more costly licensed venue marriages. If we were to potentially lose the licensed venue marriage income this would have a negative effect on our ability to continue to offer the low-cost budget options. For Statutory Register Office marriages these are already being subsidised by the wider Council Tax-payer because the statutory fee has been set far too low for full cost recovery purposes.

The income received from ceremonies largely funds the other elements of the Registration Service (births and death registrations for example) free at the point of delivery.

2. We are not aware of any feedback that our licensed venue attendance fees are too high. The fees paid are a very small proportion compared to the total cost of a wedding at such a venue. The fees we charge to venues to become a licensed premises are also very low when spread over 3 years.

3. The current statutory fee for sending a registrar where one is required does not cover our costs and should be reviewed regularly.

4. Nonsensical question as couples are not able to marry in locations that are not authorised. If couples wish to have a celebration of marriage this is their choice and the costs incurred are not set by us.

5. See point 4 above. There are a range of affordable options already available for a legal marriage.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. If we lose the income from licensed premises and our attendance at weddings at these premises, due to full cost recovery rules we would be required to increase the cost of register office weddings in decommissioned rooms to subsidise all elements of the service.

2. We don't believe that couples should be able to get married in any location without pre-approval of some kind.

3. Although couples who choose to get married in any location may not have to have a separate legally recognised wedding the costs of getting married are unlikely to be reduced as a legal officiant would have to attend to make the marriage legal and the location would have to be assessed at least once prior to the marriage to ensure it is safe and dignified. Venues that are not used regularly (or 'one offs') would incur additional costs for these pre-ceremony risk assessments that are required by law for any business or organisation operating legally within Health & Safety legislation.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. Licensed venues that are already operating as public-facing businesses should already be complying with the simple legal regulations regarding planning and health & safety that are required as part of the licensing process. These are not direct costs of being licensed – we find a number of potential venues do not comply with Health & Safety rules, so the licensing process forces them to comply, and we fear that a deregulated marketplace would have the effect of making some of these venues disregard the regulations.

The costs of becoming a licensed venue cover the administration and checks that these measures are in place, and ongoing support to the licensed venue from the Local Authority. The cost of being licensed is minimal in comparison to the potential income that venues can generate as a result.

2. The costs of registration officers attendance at a licensed venue are covered by the couple, not the licensed premises. We develop a relationship with our licensed venues and work well in partnership with them. We staff our provision according to demand and rarely turn away couples who want to book with us.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. Safety checks would still need to be in place for any officiant to attend a venue.
2. If we were to lose a proportion of our income we would be unable to employ as many registrars in the service and this would have a negative impact on our availability.
3. The proposed scheme would give couples more choice according to their own wishes and beliefs
4. We do not agree that the proposed changes would increase the number of couples getting married in the long term, just the choice of where they marry and who can marry them.

There is no mention here of any reference to the Muslim community and the issue that many Muslim women face when they 'marry' under their muslim culture and religious beliefs. If that marriage ends there is no protection for women and children of that marriage

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Because of the unfunded free provision of birth and death services, most local authorities subsidise these services with income from marriages (albeit whether this is right or wrong – this is the reality of the status quo). Removing the monopoly on secular marriages from the registration service will inevitably lead to a significant reduction in the way services are delivered and a financial burden on local authorities.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

If our previous suggestions are taken into account, local authorities would be able to charge full cost-recovery fees for services that are currently under-funded. We would also be able to conduct weddings outdoors, for which there has been growing demand, and be more flexible on ceremony content for those couples with mixed beliefs.

A simpler solution to the whole proposal which would address the majority of couples' wishes would be to allow couples to marry anywhere within the footprint of licensed venues, including outdoors, and to allow the temporary licensing of venues or locations for one wedding. Retaining the monopoly of local authorities to provide civil marriages would ensure the ongoing quality and high training of staff, adherence to legislation and opportunities to spot sham, forced and the wider 'prevent agenda'.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. None. We are required to follow the requirements of the country they are getting married in.
2. Longer waiting period applies (as required by UKVI to undertake checks)

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. This could potentially reduce the number of couples who travel abroad to get married.
2. There may possibly be a slight increase in people travelling the UK to get married from overseas, however it seems unlikely as in our experience most overseas nationals who choose to get married here do so because they either live here or are marrying a UK national. Again, we don't really have the climate to attract people to this country as a wedding. Don't agree with this statement

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1. Fees should be set at realistic full cost recovery. Ceremony fees currently subsidise other elements of the service that are delivered free. The cost recovery should consider all overheads of delivering a comprehensive Registration Service delivering all statutory functions. Including entering the marriage onto RON
2. Removal of licensing fee for approved venues will dilute any benefits to local businesses as there will be greater choice for the customer (same work more locations)
3. No comment
4. No comment
5. No comment

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDDM-K

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-16 12:13:46

About you

What is your name?

Name:
Stephanie Pywell (Dr, if you require titles)

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

The Open University

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Other (please state)

If other, please state::
Academic researcher with an interest in weddings law and celebrant-led couples ceremonies

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

[REDACTED]

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

[REDACTED]

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I am leading a quantitative study, with Rebecca Probert, on the effect of the pandemic on couples' wedding plans.

A friend described her son's fiancée as having been 'beside herself' since lockdown began: they were due to marry on 28 March 2020, and have so far postponed twice. The prospective bridegroom is very distressed his wife's mental state.

My daughter's friend, who was due to marry in May 2020, is now on her second postponement, with the wedding scheduled for April 2021. The prospective bride's mother has cancer, and is not expected to live for much more than a year. The couple are seriously considering abandoning all their plans for the wedding they have been planning for two years, and having a small ceremony that they can arrange relatively quickly.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a pointless constraint for people who are (usually) so mobile, and the capacity for fraudulently establishing such residence renders it meaningless.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If the online system is to be centralised, as appears to be the case – there is mention of 'a central hub' – presumably the notice would include details of the register office(s) at which the parties wanted to have their in-person interviews. The IT system would, self-evidently, need to be robust, which is not always the case with essential government IT projects.

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Seven days, provided that this would be sufficient time for a concerned registration officer to obtain a forced marriage protection order. If not, then the period should be whatever time is the minimum to obtain such an order, as the system must protect the most vulnerable.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think that interviews should be in person, because of the possibility – identified in the CP – of coercion in other situations.

There should be – as the Consultation Paper later proposes – provision for regulations to be made to waive this requirement during pandemics and other national emergencies, and for registration officers to visit terminally ill, housebound or detained people to carry out these interviews.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Assuming that this refers to the initial giving of notice, I cannot see why such arrangements are necessary if notice can be given online or by post.

Provision could be made for the in-person interview to be postponed until less than the prescribed period before the wedding if one of the parties is a member of the armed forces who is serving abroad or at sea at the material time.

This provision should not, however, apply to people living abroad, as it would increase the vulnerability of people who might be compelled to travel to the UK the day before their forced marriage.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I share concerns about publishing individuals' addresses, and details of the planned wedding, so I welcome the proposal to withhold these.

Would it be possible to identify individuals only by their name and date of birth? There could be provision for anyone with concerns to contact the registration service to ascertain further details, subject to appropriate proof that they were concerned about the legality of the proposed marriage or the person's welfare. It would, however, be difficult to ensure that such enquiries were from someone with genuine concerns rather than, for example, a violent ex-partner.

Consultation Question 10:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Given that many weddings are planned up to three years ahead, I can see no objection to a schedule's validity being 36 months.

Whatever the initial period, my as-yet-unpublished empirical study of weddings that were scheduled to take place during or after lockdown suggests that there should be provision for the validity of a schedule to be extended, when a wedding is postponed beyond the validity period in circumstances that are beyond the couple's control. Evidence of the reason for the extension could be provided to cover such events as cancer treatment or a significant bereavement; national or global emergencies should also be covered, but there would be no need for evidence.

Consultation Question 11:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In principle, this is fine, but how would it work in the event of, eg an officiant's delayed train on the day of the marriage, especially if that occurred on a day, or at a time, when the registration service was not working? I would suggest that the proposal should go ahead, with further provision for last-minute amendments to be made on the schedule in exceptional circumstances.

Could this potential difficulty be resolved by having fields in which to enter the name of the 'planned officiant' and 'registering officiant (if not the planned officiant)'?

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please see above answer.

Please share your views below:

A clear distinction needs to be drawn between foreseeable and planned changes of officiant, and last-minute substitutions.

Foreseeable and planned changes should require prior information, agreed by both parties, to be given the registration service. To permit one party to change the officiant would seem to strike at the heart of the officiant-based system, and to create opportunities for abuse. As the proposed system is to be officiant-based, such changes should be permissible only for a limited range of reasons that could not have been known about at the time that the schedule was issued – eg long-term illness or the side-effects of long-term treatment; the officiant re-locating to a significant distance from the agreed venue; ... and, probably, a catch-all of 'other reasons regarded by the registration service as substantial and valid, subject to the provision of appropriate supporting evidence.' This could cover things such as a series of text messages to which the proposed officiant had failed to respond, so that weddings were not unnecessarily delayed because of wayward officiants.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If the system of banns is to be retained – I favour universal civil preliminaries – I agree with the proposal.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

The logical church(es) in which to call the banns are those nearest to where the couple live. There is no point in calling banns if they are planning to marry in another church, as it is most unlikely that any member of the congregation will know either party.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

These duties should not be undertaken by clergy. They are not trained in regulatory and immigration matters, and may feel that such responsibilities are incompatible with their pastoral obligations.

Couples who are going to marry according to any religious rites should be made aware of the additional solemnity of that undertaking, so it is appropriate to require them to meet with their chosen officiant – by video-conferencing if necessary, since there will be no legal consequences – before applying for the schedule.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

I favour abolishing this requirement, and making exceptional preliminaries subject to a universal civil procedure.

If the system for common licences is retained, I think the couple should be required to attend and make separate declarations.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

The compelling arguments against displaying civil notices in a small window apply equally to orally giving notice to a congregation of people, very few of whom are likely to know the parties.

I am undecided about whether the possibility of permitting ritualistic banns as part of the ceremonial and pastoral aspect of getting married in an Anglican church justifies the undue lengthening of the service that can occur in popular and picturesque churches, especially during the summer. I think the views of Anglican clergy should prevail on this issue.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think that the officiant should also be required to:

4. attend the wedding, subject to appropriate changes in the law to accommodate Jewish and Quaker usages;

5. declare, or indicate in some other approved way, the moment in the ceremony at which the couple become lawfully married. This is, after all, the pivotal moment of the proceedings. If religious rites or practices require that the ceremony be conducted in silence, the moment of becoming lawfully married could come when the schedule is signed. In weddings that last for several days, it would be quite possible for one party to abscond or die during the celebrations, and it would be vital in such circumstances to know whether this had occurred before or after the couple had become married.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Couples could be given the option of requesting the attendance of a second registration officer, if their ceremony was going to be large or complex, and the could be required to cover the costs of this.

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, provided that steps are taken to ensure that they undergo the same training and assessment in the basic legalities of marriage law as all other officiants. This is desirable in order to avoid perpetuating the preferential treatment of Anglican clergy over other religious and non-religious organisations that can nominate officiants.

Training should include such universally applicable topics as health and safety and safeguarding requirements; anti-discrimination and data protection laws; best practice regarding equality, diversity and inclusion; and marriage-specific topics.

Given the history of Anglican clergy as a separate category of officiant in England and Wales, it may be appropriate for this training to be included as a formally assessed element of the ordination training provided by the Church of England and the Church in Wales.

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The relevant governing authorities of such organisations may nominate officiants but, given the diversity of organisations, all nominees should be required to undergo centrally accredited training and formal assessment before they are authorised to officiate.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not think that any reform involving nominees should be limited to religious and non-religious belief organisations.

Subject to centrally accredited training and formal assessment before officiants are authorised, I can see no reason why any type of organisation – except those that are expressly proscribed, or promote views that are unlawful or contrary to morality or public policy – should be prohibited from nominating officiants.

As Jane Mair has pointed out, in 'Belief in Marriage' (2015) 5 International Journal of the Jurisprudence of the Family 63, there may be couples for whom the progress of a particular football club is a shared passion, and they might want a wedding that reflects this.

Please share your views below:

Only organisations that are expressly proscribed, or promote views that are unlawful or contrary to morality or public policy should be barred from nominating officiants.

It is notoriously hard to determine whether some non-religious beliefs fulfil the criteria for a 'philosophical belief' – an Employment Tribunal ruled that ethical veganism should be regarded as such in Casamitjana v The League Against Cruel Sports 2020; a different Employment Tribunal had ruled that vegetarianism was not such a belief in Conisbee v Crossley Farms Ltd – and this restriction would probably lead to unnecessary litigation.

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I would support this definition for religious organisations, but I do not think there should be a distinction between non-religious belief organisations and any other sort of non-proscribed organisation.

Despite its being the most prominent campaigning organisation for an increase in the type of officiant, Humanists UK does not have a marriage service, and prominently advertises the personalised and bespoke nature of its ceremonies. Its sincerely held belief about marriage – that it should take place in a ceremony that has maximum meaning for the couple – is one that is widely shared by people who would not identify as humanists. The second criterion above would therefore appear either to exclude officiants nominated by Humanists UK, or to unfairly discriminate against individuals and other organisations that share its sincerely held belief but do not regularly meet in furtherance of that belief.

To single out any non-religious belief organisations would simply change the pool of couples who cannot marry according to their beliefs. At present, this group includes humanists, couples who have different faiths from one another, and couples who have no religious or non-religious belief. If Humanists UK were treated as an exception on the basis of its belief system, and permitted to nominate officiants, the discrimination against all the other couples would continue to be enshrined in law, leaving it open to further challenge. The ceremonies of such couples can reflect their beliefs and lifestyles only if the pool of officiants is as wide as possible, and this must include independent celebrants.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes - see above. It would be deleterious to the institution of marriage if such organisations were allowed to nominate officiants.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes, but the office-holders should be required to undertake the same centrally accredited training and formal assessment as all other potential officiants.

Consultation Question 28:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree in principle. In practice, however, the Registrar-General might choose to create a statutory regulatory body to undertake this and other regulatory functions, including accrediting initial and CPD training, administering formal assessments, and authorising officiants.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have conducted empirical research with independent 'wedding celebrants'. My article, 'Beyond beliefs: a proposal to give couples in England and Wales a real choice of marriage officiants', in CFLQ [2020] 215–238, indicates that most respondents would welcome this opportunity.

86% of 287 independent celebrants who responded to the empirical survey reported in 'Beyond beliefs: a proposal to give couples in England and Wales a real choice of marriage officiants' [2020] CFLQ 215–238 belonged to membership or training organisations. The survey was disseminated via celebrants' professional organisations, so it is almost inevitable that this figure over-estimates the true percentage of independent celebrants who are members of such organisations: there is no method of reaching independent celebrants with no professional network.

The article outlines a two-tier structure, dependent upon centrally accredited training and formal assessment, that would enable celebrants who wish to conduct only non-legally-binding celebration ceremonies to continue to do so, but to gain formal accreditation to officiate if they so wish. In view of the use of the word 'officiant' adopted in the Consultation Paper (which was published after my article had been accepted for publication), I would amend the ways of denoting the two levels of accreditation to 'Authorised celebrant' and 'Authorised officiant'.

The availability of accredited independent celebrants would afford couples maximum choice of ceremony and venue.

Consultation Question 30:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This sounds attractive, but is too subjective. I recommend that all nominees should meet the criteria you outline, and the additions that I suggest in response to the next question.

I agree that it is not for the state to lay down criteria for ordination, or becoming a religious leader, but I do think it is the role of the state to ensure that everyone who officiates at a wedding is subject to the same stringent criteria, so that religious officiants are not seen as being treated differently from non-religious officiants.

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with the criteria, but think that further criteria should be applied to ALL potential officiants, rather than independent officiants only:

4. the successful completion of formal assessment
5. satisfactory DBS checks at the most stringent level (these may already exist for Anglican clergy and leaders of other religious groups)
6. proof of permission to work in England and Wales.

The term 'fit and proper' could be used as a convenient descriptor of any person who has satisfied the GRO or a statutory regulatory body that they have met all six requirements.

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree for religious organisations.

If non-religious belief organisations are treated separately from other types of organisation, I would agree for them, too.

I do not agree for non-religious, non-belief organisations, since couples would have less expensive options than being married by, say, an officiant nominated by a football club.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The category of celebrant should be recorded on the central database of officiants. This should be publicly available, so that couples can make an informed choice of officiant.

Consultation Question 35:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree only to the extent that the formalities must be complied with in a dignified and solemn way.

After the schedule has been signed and witnessed, I see no reason why the rest of the ceremony should not be undignified, if that is agreed by the couple and officiant.

I would impose a requirement that no element of the ceremony should be criminal, obscene, violent, likely to give offence to one or more guests, or a risk to health and safety.

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The GRO should issue guidance only on the legal formalities.

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As above, I recommend a statutory regulatory body, so that all classes of officiant (including Anglican clergy) are treated equally.

Consultation Question 38:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There should certainly be a power to de-authorise, subject to appropriate procedural safeguards.

This power should lie exclusively with the GRO or a statutory regulatory body that has oversight of all officiants.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In principle, yes, but this power could be delegated to a statutory regulatory body.

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, subject to the regular (possibly annual) successful completion of CPD training and related assessment to ensure that all officiants continue to demonstrate their possession of appropriate skills and updated knowledge.

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, but this should apply to all officiants, not just independent officiants.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with 1–3.

Instead of 4, I think the officiant should declare, or indicate in some other approved way, the moment in the ceremony at which the couple become lawfully married. For many couples, and their guests, this is the pivotal moment of the proceedings, and they may feel that a ceremonial or ritualistic act – such as the exchange of rings and accompanying promises, the tying of hands, or walking round a fire together – is more important and definitive than simply giving their consent to becoming spouses.

If religious rites or practices require that the ceremony be conducted in silence, or in the absence of one of the parties, the moment of becoming lawfully married could, as the CP suggests, come when the schedule is signed, and option (2) could be modified to accommodate this.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I do not understand Humanists UK's view, expressed at 6.91, that non-religious belief content should be excluded from civil ceremonies. So far as is ascertainable from the organisation's website, there is no non-religious belief content in a 'wedding' conducted by a celebrant accredited by Humanists UK.

This raises the question of whether a wedding potentially conducted by an officiant accredited by Humanists UK is in any material way different from a wedding potentially conducted by an independent officiant. As noted in 'Beyond beliefs: a proposal to give couples in England and Wales a real choice of marriage officiants', CFLQ [2020] 215–238, one piece of feedback quoted on the organisation's website is the following:

'I wholeheartedly recommend a humanist wedding. It is so customisable that it can surmount any boundaries of religion, culture or language. As with anything bespoke it does take a bit more time to consider material you would like the ceremony to contain, but it is so worth it. You will have a ceremony that is 100% you.' <https://humanism.org.uk/ceremonies/non-religious-weddings/faqs/> accessed 7 October 2020.

This, in turn, reinforces my view that non-religious belief organisations should not be treated any differently from other types of organisation.

Regarding 6.93, I would have thought that a future Parliament could make different rules governing religious content in weddings conducted by registration officers from those governing religious content in weddings conducted by other non-religious officiants. Providing couples with a choice of ceremonies that were exclusively religious, exclusively secular, or blended religious and secular, would maximise choice, and simplify matters for the registration service, so this would be my preferred option.

If the Commission does not feel able to differentiate in this way, I would support lifting the ban on religious content in all civil ceremonies.

Please share your views below:

I do not favour providing a list of examples, because this could be interpreted by some officiants as excluding other religious content.

Provided that the legal formalities are fulfilled, any necessary constraints on the length of the ceremony are complied with, and health and safety is not compromised nor the law broken, the couple should be free to include whatever religious content they wish. It would be for the couple and officiant to decide to what, if any, extent the officiant should engage in the religious elements of the ceremony's content.

Independent officiants have existed in Jersey for only 22 months, seven of which have been dominated by the COVID-19 pandemic. I think it inevitable that, when more ceremonies come to be conducted by independent officiants, the provisions presented in 6.102 will be applied inconsistently, and will lead to the difficulties of the kind identified in 'Neither sacred nor profane: the permitted content of civil marriage ceremonies' [2018] CFLQ 415. The exclusion of prayers, in particular, is likely to be problematic: as a member of the National Panel for Registration expressed it to me in 2019: 'some couples would like to have The Lord's Prayer, just in case'.

It is clearly appropriate expressly to exclude some of the most sacred elements of religious practices – such as the taking of the Christian Eucharist – from non-religious ceremonies, but I see no reason why couples and guests in a civil wedding should not offer less ritualised forms of worship to a deity whom they believe to be omnipresent.

Therefore, I would favour an exhaustive list of content that is specifically excluded from all non-religious weddings. This list should be compiled after consultation with representatives of all the major religions, and should be publicly available to all officiants and couples. All other religious content should be permitted in all ceremonies that are not exclusively secular.

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Anglican clergy and other religious officiants may be prohibited from marrying same-sex or interfaith couples, or couples where one or both parties are divorced, but such couples may wish to have a minimal legal wedding, followed by a longer and more substantial wedding-related blessing or similar ceremony in a religious place that is meaningful to them, conducted by a religious person.

This legal provision does not infringe on any of the proposals for equality and freedom of choice – indeed, it increases the latter, albeit for a minority of couples. It is arguable, however, whether the provision for such ceremonies needs to remain enshrined in statute.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, subject to the officiant being satisfied that the venue is safe and appropriate. I think 'dignified' is too restrictive, since this would not apply to hot-air balloons, weddings underwater or in the sea, ceremonies involving very young children or animals, all of which were reported by the respondent independent celebrants in the survey reported in 'The day of their dreams: celebrant-led wedding celebration ceremonies' CFLQ [2020] 177–199.

Please share your views below:

There should be no limits other than 'safe and appropriate' on wedding venues, though consideration would need to be given to insurance for potentially high-risk venues such as hot-air balloons, speedboats and cliff-tops.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

The law should be as permissive as possible.

(1) and (3) Religious and other organisations can impose constraints on the use of any venues that they own; it would, for example, be unlikely that a civil or non-religious wedding could take place in a traditional Catholic or Anglican church, but quite possible that a modern evangelical church would regard its premises as a community facility that could be hired for specific purposes.

(2) Subject to the rules set down by the governing bodies of religious organisations, I see no reason why a religious wedding should not take place anywhere agreed by the officiant and the couple.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As noted above, I think 'dignity' is too stringent a requirement.

In addition to satisfying themselves as to the safety and suitability of a venue, officiants should be charged with pointing out to couples any potential practical difficulties, such as parking facilities, accessibility for disabled persons, the potential consequences of inclement weather, and the provision or otherwise of toilets.

I disagree with the suggestion in 7.167 that registration officers and independent officiants should be obliged to conduct weddings in all sorts of locations; they should have a free choice and, if the couple prioritises the venue over the identity of the officiant, they could seek a new officiant. There could be valid reasons why some officiants, such as those with certain hidden medical conditions – such as Reynaud's syndrome – would not wish to conduct weddings in venues that were, technically, safe and accessible to them.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It might be helpful for the GRO to provide some general guidance, but this should be purely advisory because, as the CP points out, officiants' knowledge of venues will vary, and this will affect the process that they may wish to adopt.

As the experience with 'religious in nature' shows, GRO guidance is almost certain to be interpreted in various ways by officiants, and this risk – and hence the unequal treatment of couples – increases with the purported specificity of the guidance.

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

1. The Responsible Officer in the local authority, who could delegate as necessary.

2. There should be statutory requirements, including: a visit to the venue at least once every five years, annual provision of certificates of public liability insurance and fire safety, food hygiene certificates where appropriate, full compliance with the Equality Act 2010, etc. Many of the requirements would necessarily be met by hotels, but not by more unusual, but potentially popular, venues such as ruined castles.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think that the following information should be compulsory;

the full names of the parties

the parties' ages or dates of birth the date of the wedding
the name and, if appropriate, affiliation, of the officiant (if different from the officiant named when the schedule was issued) the location of the wedding.

The following should be optional:
the parties' occupations
the parties' parents' names
the parties' parents' occupations.

Would it be possible to include details of a step-parent, or a parent's long-term partner, or a foster carer, instead of a parent, if one of the parties wished to reflect that person's significant role in the party's upbringing?

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

An option should be available for religious and other organisations, and independent celebrants, to maintain their own separate registers if they so wish, and if couples wish to sign them. I am uncertain whether legal provision needs to be made for this, but it would be unfortunate if a ceremonial aspect that many couples value were removed because of full electronic registration.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I don't agree with option 2. I think this should make a marriage voidable, and the burden of proof should be on the person seeking to avoid the marriage to establish that both of the couple knew that the authority had lapsed.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but...

If there were a defined moment at which the couple became legally married, and this was known to all parties, option 3 could render a marriage void if the ceremony were one where signing the schedule was agreed to be the point at which the legal marriage took place. This would make the signatures irrelevant to the legality of the marriage where they are 'just the paperwork', but would be of greater significance if neither of the couple nor any other person had done or said anything to declare that the parties had actually become spouses.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I have no personal experience or research-based knowledge of these circumstances.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I am concerned about the proposal, in 11.30, that there should be 'no waiting period' between the giving of notice and the issuing of the document authorising the wedding, because terminally ill people are extremely vulnerable. If a couple requested the issue of the document immediately, how would the private interview with the terminally ill person (as proposed at 11.25) take place?

Could the terminology be something like: 'no statutory waiting period after the parties have been separately interviewed by a registration officer'? This would enshrine the safeguard of the interviews, while minimising unnecessary delay.

Consultation Question 65:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This seems to contradict the principle that the 28-day time limit between giving notice and the in-person interview should be reduced for terminally ill people because the marriage is urgent.

I would therefore favour an initial 28-day period of validity. If the couple do not marry within that time, possibly because the terminally ill person makes an unexpected recovery, they should be able to apply for a new authorising document without being charged for giving notice for a second time. There should be a 28-day period between the reinstatement of notice and the issuing of an authorising document that would have the normal period of validity.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Early findings from an empirical study that I have led with Rebecca Probert, to which we received 1,449 useable responses, indicate that a significant minority of couples would have been prepared to marry remotely, or in a socially distanced way, during complete lockdown. It therefore seems sensible to delegate legislative powers that permit appropriate regulations to be made rapidly in the event of a national emergency.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As the CP points out, couples may have compelling reasons, other than terminal illness, for wishing to marry quickly during a national emergency.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But the emergency provisions should also facilitate weddings of those who wish to marry because a close relative or friend is at increased risk of death, whose visas may expire during the period when 'normal' weddings are prohibited, etc. It is impossible to provide an exhaustive list of circumstances in which such facilitation would be desirable.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

There are some large sailing ships in which able-bodied and disabled people are able to serve together as crew members for periods of several weeks or months, while the ship goes very long distances. See the Jubilee Sailing Trust's website: <https://jst.org.uk/>. This type of vessel could acquire particular significance for some couples.

Large private yachts might also be a meaningful place to some couples.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I have no relevant knowledge.

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think this is too vague. Could there be a requirement such as 'within seven days of landing at a place where there is a postal service via which the schedule could be returned to the registration service', with couples being required to secure proof of posting as evidence that they had tried to comply with this law?

There would clearly be a greater risk of schedules going astray if they were posted somewhere other than England or Wales, so there might need to be special follow-up procedures for non-receipt of schedules for weddings that had been planned to take place in international waters.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This is a good idea in principle.

However, it is likely that many detained and housebound people are impecunious, so they could effectively be disbarred from marrying, which would be unlawful. Could there be some sort of financial support or waiver scheme that would enable local authorities to recover their costs in circumstances where a person who wished to marry was able to establish that, on the balance of probabilities, they were unable to afford the inescapable costs of doing so?

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The law should make it clear what sanctions would apply to a local authority that did not provide such weddings, since this is currently unclear.

Booking and 'administration' fees should be unlawful in respect of register office weddings.

'Register office' should be interpreted to include 'registration office'.

The law should specify the minimum number of 'slots' per week at every register office (as defined above) that every local authority must provide for such ceremonies.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think that registration officers should provide advance estimates of the total fee, which should be calculated to include travel by car or public transport, parking, and any necessary walking. These estimates should be binding, so that the couple are not penalised if the journey is unduly protracted for any reason. Registration services could cover their occasional losses under these arrangements by adding a notional contingency sum to all their estimates.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again, binding estimates should be provided in advance.

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

My answer to CQ75 applies equally here.

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other professions' regulatory bodies charge initial and continuing registration fees, and my survey of independent celebrants, reported in 'Beyond beliefs: a proposal to give couples in England and Wales a real choice of marriage officiants', CFLQ [2020] 215–238, established that most respondents would be willing to pay for initial and continuing authorisation to conduct legally binding wedding ceremonies.

I suggest that religious and non-religious belief organisations would be required to pay for the initial and continuing registration of their nominated officiants, and these costs could be recovered by amortising them across the number of ceremonies that each officiant would be expected to conduct each year.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The provisional proposals would make it clearer to some couples whether they were getting married or not so, if they wished to be legally married, it would increase their chances of doing so.

The proposals for greater choice, reduced cost and simplified laws seem certain to reduce the number of couples who opt for non-legally-binding wedding-style ceremonies, and never actually marry.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. My desk-based research, published as '2 + 2 = £127, if you're lucky' and 'Availability of two-plus-two marriage ceremonies', both in ([2020] Law Society Gazette, suggests that there is currently inadequate provision of 'minimal' register office weddings, and that the cost and availability of these is poorly advertised. This could discourage some couples from getting married, or make it practically or financially impossible for them to do so.

2. and 3. I agree with the conclusions of the Consultation Paper regarding the costs of marrying on approved premises and in registered places of worship.

4. and 5. At present, couples who wish to marry in such places must pay for both a legally binding wedding and a separate wedding-style ceremony led by an independent celebrant or a celebrant accredited by Humanists UK. This is an absurd, but inevitable, consequence of the current law governing weddings.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. Sanction-backed obligations for local authorities to provide more such ceremonies, in all register and registration offices, for no more than the prescribed fee, and to advertise them prominently on their websites, could encourage more people to marry cheaply.

2. I agree with the conclusions of the Consultation Paper regarding the potential savings to be made here - these would be very significant in cases such as outdoor venues and private homes. The reduced costs of marrying on approved premises and in registered places of worship would be reduced by the reduction in the number of persons who would be paid to attend, and the lower cost of regulation, but would not necessarily change very significantly.

3. The necessity of having a separate, legally binding wedding would be removed for everyone except religious couples whose circumstances prevented them from being married by a religious officiant of their choice in a place of worship of their choice. Such couples would probably continue to have a separate religious ceremony, but the overall costs of their wedding celebrations would be significantly reduced if the cost and availability of register office weddings were more tightly regulated so as to reduce the former and increase the latter.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

The CP makes it clear that the current law has restricted the ability of some actual and potential businesses to provide the venues that they would like to provide, or to take as many bookings for them as they would wish.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

It is impossible to answer this question without taking account of the catastrophic effect that the pandemic has had on many aspects of the wedding industry. What follows is therefore predicated on the assumption that some venues will survive, and attempts to assess what the effect on them might be.

(1) This is likely to be a significant benefit.

(2) The reduction in the number of registration officers required to attend each wedding will double officers' availability, which will be of benefit to venues, particularly in the most popular months.

(3) This will enable venues to take more bookings for weddings, as there will be more officiants available to conduct such weddings.

(4) This would be of benefit to businesses, but a number of posts that I read in wedding-related Facebook groups during my most recent empirical research suggest that some couples are realising the benefits of small, simple wedding ceremonies, attended only by the people they are closest to. It is therefore possible that, although there will probably be more weddings if the law is changed, the wedding industry will not benefit as much as might be expected, because significant numbers of couples may come to prioritise substance over style. There seems to be widespread agreement that, without a change in the law, the wedding industry is unlikely to recover fully.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The fact that many registration officers have to have multiple designations – as, for instance, registrars and deputy superintendent registrars – is clearly burdensome. Recruiting, training and paying such staff constitute unnecessary overhead costs.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The necessity for only one registration officer to attend every civil wedding would represent benefits in terms of costs and efficiency.

If Parliament chose to permit weddings to be conducted by independent officiants and officiants nominated by religious and non-religious organisations, it is likely that there would be a significant decrease in the demand for wedding ceremonies conducted by registration officers. This would almost certainly lead to redundancies directly arising from the reduced demand for services. I suspect that the loss of this monopoly would also lead to a significant, and possibly very damaging, reduction in overall income for local authorities.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. I suspect that the restrictive nature of the current law causes many couples to travel to Scotland, Northern Ireland and Jersey to marry. I doubt whether the law is a significant consideration in destination weddings, or those that occur in countries where couples' families live.

2. The only feature of the current law that I imagine is attractive to non-residents of England and Wales is the possibility of marrying in exceptional approved premises, such as stately homes and castles.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. I think the proposed scheme would reduce the number of couples who travel to Scotland, Ireland, Northern Ireland and Jersey to marry. I do not think that it would have much effect on the number of couples who choose destination weddings, or weddings in countries where their families live.

2. Since the law would amount to 'levelling up' with some other countries, I can see no reason why it would increase the number of couples who travel to England or Wales to marry.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no relevant knowledge at all, but accept the Consultation Paper's findings.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no relevant knowledge at all, but accept the Consultation Paper's findings.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

I accept the Consultation Papers' findings on these points for 1. to 4.

If the system of centrally accredited training and formal assessment that I propose were implemented, the initial costs would be higher, but they could be recouped from a wider group of officiants and organisations.

Overall, I think the proposals would serve their declared aim of reducing costs for couples who wish to marry in England or Wales.

This Consultation Paper is a model of clarity and comprehensiveness. I lost count of the times I read something and thought 'yes, but what about...?', only to find that that issue was dealt with a few paragraphs later. I offer thanks and congratulations to everyone involved in the production of such a well-researched and readable document.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDAQ-M

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-16 15:01:29

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED], completing this as Secretary to SERB

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

SERB - South East Registration Board. What follows represents the agreed combined responses from Registration Service Managers and/or Proper Officers representing the following Registration Districts: Bracknell Forest, Brighton & Hove, Buckinghamshire, East Sussex, Hampshire, Isle of Wight, Kent, Medway, Oxfordshire, Portsmouth, Reading, Slough, Southampton, Surrey, West Berkshire, West Sussex, Windsor & Maidenhead and Wokingham.

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

The inability to change primary legislation to allow Notices already given to be extended during lockdown and recovery has caused extensive extra work for local authorities and unnecessary extra costs and inconvenience for thousands of customers, including some couples who are now abroad and cannot return to give Notice again.

The inability to change primary legislation to allow Notices to be completed partly online during lockdown and recovery has exposed hundreds of registrars across the country to needless exposure to the virus as a result of extended face to face appointments with couples.

The interpretation by GRO that existing venue licenses could not be extended by Local Authorities caused huge frustration and additional workload at a time when LAs were already under much stress.

Customer frustration with the law – ie. not being able to change location of venue without giving Notice again – again the inability to change primary legislation for giving notice to permit this.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The 7-day residency rule is irrelevant in modern society as couples can book themselves into a hotel or stay with friends for 7 days to comply with it and this is then sufficient for them to become 'resident' in the area they are staying in.

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This raises potential issues for Section 24 (s24) reporting on potential sham marriages if the first part is done remotely, (although arguably s24 reports don't necessarily stop many marriages going ahead). This could be resolved by a longer period between the in-person interview and the marriage date for foreign nationals.

Some couples would still want to do the first part in person and there is a danger of this option becoming crowded out if there is pressure to do it remotely. As has been the case with certificate ordering online, now this has become mainstream many local authorities have removed the ability for this to be done in person, and a similar situation could arise if the majority of couples opt to do this online.

There is a danger that the first part could be done by one of the couple alone answering for both parties which would play into the forced marriage agenda and may mask safeguarding issues. To that end, if this is agreed, the in-person meeting must include safeguarding questions individually from each other so that both parties confirm they wanted to enter into the marriage.

We are content for British nationals marrying other British nationals to do the process remotely, but we are not content for this to be done by foreign nationals, although this would create a two-tier system. That said, one already exists now with the 28/70 day waiting period.

Might be more sensible to take a step further and utilise the Verify.Gov service for UK nationals.

It would be very resource intensive for each LA to create their own online system – it would make good sense for this to be one national system which then allows couples to choose which location they prefer for the in-person interview

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Seven working days – to allow time for the schedule to be issued and sent to the officiant in good time. If a s24 is raised or forced/ safeguarding concern at the in-person interview then there will need to be time for the investigation to be undertaken before the marriage takes place and so this may well take longer than 7 working days.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

No - How would we know if sham/forced is an issue without the face to face meeting when much of this is done on a gut feeling in the presence of the couple? Also, by inviting couples to come in only where we have concerns would them tip them off that we harbour suspicions. This might also raise equality issues.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Only if the information displayed is reduced, ie Name and Town/District. Personal information (address, age, etc) being displayed online would result in data protection issues and potential identity fraud. It would also encourage unlawful marketing approaches to the couple.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

1) Yes - provided that recognised groups like DSRs employed by the local authority can be recorded as a generic group, not as individuals.

2) Yes - provided that:

- a. There is provision to charge a full cost-recovery fee for amending the schedule.
- b. There is provision for a cut-off date when the schedule can no longer be amended in advance of the wedding/CP – for operational/logistical reasons.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided that the local authority issuing the certificates can check that the replacement officiant was authorised to carry out their duties and the couple understand that their marriage/CP will not be legally recognised if not.

Please share your views below:

No – there should be no need to substitute the officiant except in the case of 'death, sudden illness or unavoidable delay'.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Universal civil preliminaries should apply to create a level playing field and consistency, provide better control on sham/forced/safeguarding issues and to prevent pressure on ministers of religion.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided that there is provision for a full cost-recovery fee to be charged for the attendance of the officiant, even if they are not leading the ceremony, and that the officiant should be properly trained, that training is refreshed regularly, and that the officiant should face sanctions for non-compliance with regulations.

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If civil preliminaries are universal and any religious or non-religious marriage is legally recognised then a registrar should be able to officiate at any wedding regardless of who is leading the ceremony.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With the proviso that we could insist on sending two members of staff under certain circumstances – ie. large number of guests, unusual/new venue, out of hours, etc.

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

1) No - if universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony. Alternatively, if only one officiant is permitted then the religious organization should nominate their own officiant.

2) No – if universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony. Alternatively, if only one officiant is permitted then the non-religious belief organization should nominate their own officiant.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No comment

Please share your views below:

No – All organisations should be on a recognised list

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

1) No - if universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony. This proposal would be open to potential for organisations to set up in order to facilitate sham/forced/coerced marriages

2) No - if universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony. This proposal would be open to potential for organisations to set up in order to facilitate sham/forced/coerced marriages

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

No comment

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

No comment

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 28:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If the Government enables religious and non-religious officiants we propose that it would be more appropriate for the local authority to maintain the local list.

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony. Alternatively, if independent officiants are able to officiate at weddings they should need to be authorised and included on the public list

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If enabled, independent officiants should be subject to universal full cost recovery fee regulations applicable to all officiants. All officiants should be either full cost recovery or able to make a profit - so the same rules apply to all officiants.

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If enabled, officiants should be limited to being in one group only.

NB. If universal civil preliminaries are in place then a civil officiant should attend all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Because we support universal civil preliminaries and civil officiants attending all ceremonies regardless of who leads the ceremony.

If only one officiant is permitted then also yes GRO should issue guidance to all officiants

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should rest with the local authority, (who would be their employer if all officiants are civil as above), or the holder of the local list of authorised officiants if not.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The local authority should act as above (see Q.37), but GRO should have the power to do so as the regulator if the local authority does not act.

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

(See Q.37/Q.38 above). We propose that the local authority should manage the officiants and GRO only oversee it if the local authority fails to act.

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be a time-limited membership fee subject to renewal, and regulations (such as having valid Public Liability Insurance), as with other professional bodies, and a de-authorisation process if inadequate CPD is undertaken. This will also help to keep the list contemporaneous and remove unclean data such as membership of deceased parties, for example.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

(See Q.40 above)

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. No – we should maintain the status quo:

- a. if physically able, customers should be required to orally express their consent
- b. if physically able, couples should be required to orally confirm no impediment.

2. Yes - provided that the expression of consent and confirmation of no impediment is a universal requirement that makes any marriage ceremony legally recognisable

3. No - parties should sign a declaration, but see point 2 above – they should also have orally expressed consent and confirmed that there is no impediment during the ceremony. The declaration alone should not be sufficient for a marriage.

4. No - the marriage should be formed when the final signature is entered onto the declaration (couple, witnesses and officiant) AND after the couple have orally expressed their consent and confirmed that there is no impediment. All these conditions should need to be met for the marriage to be legally recognised.

Consultation Question 43:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The form and ceremony should be chosen by the parties and agreed to, but the legal requirement for oral consent and confirmation of no impediment, and signing the declaration should be universal (as Q.42 above), to ensure that all marriages are consistently legally recognisable

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The form of the ceremony and who can have one should be a matter for agreement by the religious group concerned, provided that they abide by the same legal requirements as for other groups (as outlined in Q.42 and Q.43 above).

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The legal parts of the ceremony should remain secular and as dictated by current civil registration legislation, however embellishments such as music and readings with religious content - that have no legal standing - should be allowed, provided that they comply with equality and diversity rules.

Please share your views below:

Nothing particular that should definitely be allowed, but anything that could be considered critical of another belief system or a recognised protected characteristic should not be allowed.

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Anyone should be able to celebrate in any way they choose following a legal marriage, but in all cases it should be clear to everyone attending and witnessing such a celebratory ceremony that it is not a legally recognised marriage ceremony and that the couple are already legally married.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The rules re open doors should be consistent for all forms of marriages and the process for objecting to a wedding should be carried out during the notice period or after the marriage if the legal impediment to that marriage is established later.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However all venues/locations should need to be licensed (albeit temporarily), encompassing checks on permission from the location/venue owner, a responsible person being present at the venue/location for the duration of the ceremony, appropriate insurance and risk assessments having been completed in line with health & safety regulations.

Licensing regulations would therefore need to be relaxed to include short-term licences (for example for one wedding only) and outside locations. To ensure resources were available for this temporary licensing process a full cost recovery fee would be required.

Please share your views below:

No location should automatically be disqualified, however there would need to be some checks and balances allowing legal guidance on an acceptable level of risk – for example, all officiants should not be required to conduct marriages in a location/venue that is considered high risk (such as in a hot air balloon or whilst bungee jumping for example).

Owners/organisations operating a venue or location for wedding ceremonies should be able to choose what type of ceremony (civil, religious, non-religious) can take place in their venue, and what category or recognised officiant (civil, non-religious, religious) can lead these ceremonies.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should be the decision of the licensing local authority (see Q.48 above).

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

A dynamic risk assessments should be carried out on the day, but the location should already be licensed (albeit temporarily) including a full risk assessment, as in Q.48 above.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We believe that licensing should remain with the Local Authority (see Q.48 above) and if this is the case then - yes, GRO should provide guidance on whether a location is to be considered safe and dignified. GRO, or their approved training provider, should also provide such guidance to officiants for their dynamic risk assessment on the day.

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

(See Q.48 above). The pre-approval process would be covered by our suggested licensing process.

Please share your views below:

Local authorities should be responsible and should licence a venue/location for a one-off, or series of, weddings.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided the details are added before it is signed

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But only if the marriage takes place in Wales

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided that:

- a. Accurate and representative signatures can be recorded
- b. There is a contingency in place if the electronic system fails (many countryside wedding venues have poor internet coverage)
- c. The officiant is responsible for back-capturing the registration if necessary in the event of a system failure

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Yes

2. Yes

3. Other – the marriage should be void if the ceremony was not officiated by an authorised officiant, regardless of whether the couple had knowledge of this or not.

4. Other – as above. If the opt in has not been given the same-sex marriage should be void, regardless of whether the couple has knowledge of this or not.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Other – maintain the status quo – typographical mistakes should not render a marriage void, however a significant mistake that could call into question the identity or marital status of one of the parties, for example, should render it void.

2. Yes – as previously stated in Q.42 above, a marriage should not be valid until the declaration is signed by all parties present, including the witnesses and officiant.

3. Yes - (see 2 above).

Consultation Question 58:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Any one of 1(a), 1(b)(i), 1(b)(ii), or 2 should be enough individually to make the marriage non-qualifying, without the need for two tests to be satisfied.

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We believe that all legal processes must have been fulfilled for a presumption in favour of the validity of the marriage, but conversely we do not believe that the couple should be required to have cohabited for a period after its celebration, particularly in this day and age.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided that all forms of marriage are legally recognised then this should be abolished

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It seems a nonsense that if a party believes they have entered into a marriage without expressing free and informed consent that they only have 3 years within which they can challenge the validity of that marriage.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Yes - Registrar's statutory fees for these services are nowhere near commensurate with the costs involved in providing the services, and the statutory fees for each of these services are not in line with each other. These fees should be regularly reviewed so as to represent realistic full cost recovery.

The criteria for a doctor signing off a letter for an RGL should also be more specific. Currently they are very subjective and many customers who continue to attend hospital appointments regularly are being signed off as apparently "on their death-bed".

It is not appropriate for the wider Council Tax-payers to substantially subsidise the marriage of a customer who could potentially afford to pay standard fees for getting married, just because they are terminally ill.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - Fees for this service should be reviewed to reflect this extra work and represent full cost-recovery.

We are anecdotally aware of cases under the current system where the ill party knows nothing about the application for an RGL because there is not the requirement for the ill party to give notice and so the whole preparation can currently take place without the ill party's knowledge or consent.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The local authority, rather than GRO, should have the ability to reduce the waiting period, subject to confirmation by the doctor, and this should include the ability to take notice at home or in a clinical setting for the terminally ill patient.

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Conversely we would propose a shorter timeframe (ideally less than 28 days) for the ceremony to take place and powers given to the local authority to arrange the marriage as soon as practicably possible after the issue of the schedule. If the schedule expires before the marriage has taken place the full fee should be repaid to restart the process. If the schedule lasts longer than 28 days then there is no reason for them to have had a reduction in the waiting period.

We are aware of numerous cases under the current regime where once the RGL has been issued the couple prefer to wait for an extended period of time before conducting their marriage and often this leads to a situation where it is too late because the terminally ill party dies before the marriage can take place. Denial of the seriousness of the illness and imminence of death is commonplace.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There is no specific urgency in these cases and so the 12-month validity period should remain so as to be consistent with all other civil marriages.

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Yes
2. No - a two-part mainly remote process could work but an in-person part of the process is required to check for safeguarding/sham/forced issues
3. No
4. No - Schedules/authorities should be extended to allow existing arrangements to take place after the national emergency, or couples should be able to marry outdoors to minimise the risk where appropriate.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Doctors can still provide evidence of illness remotely.

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No issues with the proposal per se, provided that the technicalities of what district the couple are marrying in, and ensuring they are in UK territorial waters, are very clear and easy to follow. There would be complications with the distinction between English & Welsh, and Scottish law near the Scottish border, for example.

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But it would make sense that the 'port of choice' would be the port of registration of the vessel.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Yes - But only on commercial vessels registered in the UK with a captain on board with recognised commercial qualifications.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided they have had the same training and are subject to the same CPD as other officiants.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Quite possibly – to our knowledge most commercial vessels already have their own chaplain, but as we are not experts in this area, we are not in a position to comment.

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Electronic copies should be received by the relevant district within 7 days, and the hard copy sent as soon as possible. The marriage could be registered on receipt of the electronic copy but certificates not issued until the hard copy has been received.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should be full cost recovery, and should be regularly reviewed to keep pace with increasing costs.

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

It is not appropriate for the wider Council Tax-payers to substantially subsidise the marriage of a customer who could potentially afford to pay standard fees for getting married, just because they are terminally ill.

Consultation Question 77:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The fee should be set district by district, locally agreed on a full cost-recovery basis.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We believe it should always be set by the local authority.

If it reflected full cost recovery a statutory fee is easier & fair to all – which must be reviewed annually to keep pace with cost increases. Local registration offices will not then be under pressure to raise fees. The term of the approval would also need to be established.

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should be set at full cost-recovery set by the local authority. 'Full cost recovery' means it should include all of the costs for the full gamut of local authority work in relation to ceremonies, including on-costs, back office and non-direct costs and it should not just be based on the registrar's hourly rate

Consultation Question 81:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Fees for discretionary services should be dictated by the marketplace alone, and should not be regulated nor related to cost recovery. This income stream can significantly reduce the financial burden on the wider Council Tax-payer and allow local authority registration services to self-fund whilst supporting the provision of free statutory birth and death registrations.

Consultation Question 82:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We do not agree that fees should be prescribed for the registration officer to officiate at any wedding.

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Neither - It should be set at a level that is full cost recovery. The vast majority of RGL cases are for couples who are seeking to avoid the payment of inheritance tax upon the death of one of the parties.

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If authorised officiants can operate anywhere within England & Wales then the RG should set the fees nationally on a true cost-recovery basis.

Alternatively, if authorised officiants can only operate in the district where they registered, then the local authority should be able to set the fees on a full cost-recovery basis.

Any fees in either case should include the cost of verifying qualifications are valid and that CPD is up to date.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. No
2. No

The proposals will no doubt increase choice, but we have received no anecdotal feedback or evidence that suggests couples are foregoing getting married because of the current legal restrictions. On this basis, we don't see how the deregulation of marriages would increase the number of marriages taking place.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. We are currently only able to offer cost-effective budget options in decommissioned register office rooms because we also receive the income from more costly licensed venue marriages. If we were to potentially lose the licensed venue marriage income this would have a negative effect on our ability to continue to offer the low-cost budget options. For Statutory Register Office marriages these are already being subsidised by the wider Council Tax-payer because the statutory fee has been set far too low for full cost recovery purposes.
2. We are not aware of any feedback that our licensed venue attendance fees are too high. The fees paid are a very small proportion compared to the total cost of a wedding at such a venue. The fees we charge to venues to become a licensed premises are also very low when spread over 3 years.
3. The current statutory fee for sending a registrar where one is required does not cover our costs and should be reviewed regularly.
4. This question is not clear, couples are not currently able to marry in locations that are not authorised. If couples wish to have a celebration of marriage this is their choice and the costs incurred are not set by us.
5. See point 4 above. There are a range of affordable options already available for a legal marriage.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. If we lose the income from licensed premises and our attendance at weddings at these premises, due to full cost recover rules we would have no option but to increase the cost of registration office weddings in decommissioned rooms.
2. We don't believe that couples should be able to get married in any location without pre-approval of some kind.
3. Although couples who choose to get married in any location may not have to have a separate legally recognised wedding the costs of getting married are unlikely to be reduced as a trained, qualified officiant would have to attend to make the marriage legal and the location would have to be assessed at least once prior to the marriage to ensure it is safe and dignified. Venues that are not used regularly would incur additional costs for these pre-ceremony risk assessments that are required by law for any business or organisation operating legally within Health & Safety legislation.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. Licensed venues that are already operating as public-facing businesses should already be complying with the simple legal regulations regarding planning and health & safety that are required as part of the licensing process. These are not direct costs of being licensed – we find a number of potential venues do not comply with Health & Safety rules, so the licensing process forces them to comply, and we fear that a deregulated marketplace would have the effect of making some of these venues disregard the regulations. The costs of becoming a licensed venue cover the administration and checks that these measures are in place, and ongoing support to the licensed venue from the Local Authority. The cost of being licensed is minimal in comparison to the potential income that venues can generate as a result.
2. The costs of registration officers attendance at a licensed venue are covered by the couple, not the licensed premises. We develop a relationship with our licensed venues and work well in partnership with them. We staff our provision according to demand and rarely turn away couples who want to book with us.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. Safety checks would still need to be in place for any officiant to attend a venue.
2. If we were to lose a proportion of our income we would be unable to employ as many registrars in the service and this would have a negative impact on our availability.
3. The proposed scheme would give couples more choice according to their own wishes and beliefs

4. We do not agree that the proposed changes would increase the number of couples getting married in the long term, just the choice of where they marry and who can marry them.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Because of the unfunded free provision of birth and death services, most local authorities subsidise these services with income from marriages (albeit whether this is right or wrong – this is the reality of the status quo). Removing the monopoly on secular marriages from the registration service will inevitably lead to a significant reduction in the range of services offered by registration services.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

If our previous suggestions are taken into account, local authorities would be able to charge full cost-recovery fees for services that are currently under-funded. We would also be able to conduct weddings outdoors, for which there has been growing demand, and be more flexible on ceremony content for those couples with mixed beliefs.

A far simpler solution to the whole proposal which would address the majority of couples' wishes would be to allow couples to marry anywhere within the footprint of licensed venues, including outdoors, and to allow the temporary licensing of venues or locations for one wedding. Retaining the monopoly of local authorities to provide civil marriages would ensure the ongoing quality and high training of staff, adherence to legislation and opportunities to spot sham and forced marriages.

If local authorities lose the monopoly on civil marriages then they should be granted an equal opportunity to charge on a profit-making basis, and should not be the only type of organisation required to only charge at cost recovery.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. None. We are required to follow the requirements of the country they are getting married in.
2. Longer waiting period applies but this is necessary and well publicised.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. This could potentially reduce the number of couples who travel abroad to get married but it seems unlikely as we don't have the climate that most of these couples are looking for.
2. There may possibly be a slight increase in people travelling the UK to get married from overseas, however it seems unlikely as in our experience most overseas nationals who choose to get married here do so because they either live here or are marrying a UK national. Again, we don't really have the climate to attract people to this country as a destination wedding.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1. Our costs will necessarily increase as we are forced to recoup lost income from those marriages we do manage to retain. Additionally, there seems to be no reference to the cost to local authorities of registering all of these marriages onto the electronic register once the ceremony has taken place. The Local Authority, and thus local tax-payers, should not have to subsidise the registration of marriage. A fee should be chargeable for the marriage to be entered into the electronic register payable to the local authority. Certificate sales will not cover the cost of this provision.
2. Won't change – just be shifted
3. No comment

4. No comment

5. Costs will be forced to increase as local authorities' income reduces

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDYT-F

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-16 15:46:35

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Registration Service

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

no

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

I experienced no legal barriers to having a ceremony which was very personal and meaningful and delivered by the local registration service.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I have been involved in many weddings during Covid 19. Almost without exception they have been positive experiences under such difficult circumstances, carried out by an experienced and professional service which has been able to bring to bear it's many years of training and experience to ensure that weddings have complied with restrictions and yet couples have still had meaningful and moving ceremonies. We as a service have received many compliments on the overall handling of weddings during the pandemic, from booking to wedding day. I believe people have been glad to have a central point of contact to come to in this difficult time, and group of trained professionals to see to their needs. I have been involved also in several GRO's licence or 'deathbed' civil partnerships and weddings, all of which have been carried out with consummate professionalism for a very grateful couple. Overall, couples have simply been pleased that they have been able to get married, and that we have accommodated their wishes as far as restrictions have allowed.

I do believe that it has been very important that weddings have been kept within a single, central and regulated system as we have had many many couples or families who have tried to bend coronavirus restrictions and it has been important to have a single, determined framework to work within.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Proof of residency helps to reduce instances of fraud. Abolishing this requirement could lead to people marrying in England and Wales because out laws are easy, leading to a kind of 'wedding tourism' mirroring the 'health tourism' we already experience which again is dangerously open to instances of fraud.

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No. The documents required can be very complicated, particularly in the instance of those re-marrying (especially women who have changed their name), anyone who has changed their name or those British Citizens who were born after 1983 but do not have passports. Negotiating these documents via an online form seems a process that would be fraught with the potential for errors to be made and then if the in person interview is only a few days before authorities are needed, chances to correct errors are very small. In my experience, many people need in-person assistance to negotiate the system of notice, and simply coming in person to the registration office is not exactly a hardship.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

the current 28 days is sufficient. If errors or issues are discovered only 3 days before a proposed ceremony (and many couples do plan to marry on the first available date) then there is very little time to correct or re-arrange if necessary.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely not. Remote interview is subject to a shocking lack of safeguarding. We would have absolutely no way of knowing if the person on the screen is the same one as on the documents (given advances in technology that those looking to cheat the system wold be certain to exploit) or if there was anything occurring off-screen that could force a declaration of consent where it is not actually present. With no guarantee of a safe, private and secure interview, how could safeguarding be achieved?

If a second interview were called for, how would the registration service be able to guarantee that the same person is being spoken to? Many of our staff are part-time so it would not always be possible to guarantee the same registrar to do both interviews and online appearance can be altered. Again, fraud and safeguarding issues would be rife here.

Introducing this would make it far too easy for anyone wanting to trade in illicit weddings to proceed.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have several questions about this plan. Where online would the notices be displayed? A dedicated website? Who would manage this database? What would the requirements for 'expose to a risk of harm be' and how would it be assessed? How would notices be displayed in this case? Who would be responsible to managing risk of harm and how should risks be reported? How would data be protected from malicious intent? Once information is put onto the internet for public display, it is always available in some way and I fear it would be too easy for anyone wishing to cause issues and use data maliciously to do so.

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes. This has proven most helpful in times of emergency such as the Covid-19 pandemic as many couples have been able to rearrange without having to give notice again.

Consultation Question 11:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No. This could lead to a huge amount of last-minute re-issuing of paperwork and most registration offices are not open on weekends when this burden would occur. Chaos could be caused. Working rotas via the registration service need to be flexible and responsive to the needs of couples and of staff, often changing last moment, and this flexibility should not be sacrificed, as has been evidenced by the constant barrage of changes during this pandemic. Perhaps if organisations providing the officiant were named instead?

It must be acknowledged that persons conducting weddings are people too with their own needs and asking them to commit to shifts regularly a year in advance is a very unfair burden which may prevent them making decisions for their own lives.

Consultation Question 12:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would worry me in the case of independent officiants. How would couples have any guarantee that these officiants have training and experience and are ready to conduct ceremonies? I believe this could open up instances of marriage fraud.

Please share your views below:

Which circumstances would be acceptable? This could constitute a very harsh regulation of people's working lives.

I do not believe that independent officiants are suitable for the job of conducting legal ceremonies for instances such as this. surely a robust service with a bank of trained staff would be a much more reliable way to obtain a legal ceremony.

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All preliminaries should be civil

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

All preliminaries should be civil

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

All preliminaries should be civil

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

All preliminaries should be civil

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

All preliminaries should be civil

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

All weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries. Church and state should be separate in the case of legal status.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Religious belief or non-religious belief weddings should only be conducted by officiants linked to those beliefs.

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No. Two staff are needed for safety and quality.

Weddings can be very emotional and fraught settings with lots going on. A registration officer is responsible for their own safety, for the safety of guests and for the correct legal procedure being followed during the ceremony and for the effective, friendly and meaningful delivery of a ceremony service. This is a lot to expect of one person within a short time. Mistakes could easily be made and two pairs of eyes are much better than one. Lone working can also be dangerous, particularly in cases where officers are travelling between weddings and may get delayed, or are carrying money and legal documents.

For the safety of the registration officers and the security of the legal process for a valid marriage, two should be required to attend by law, so that the cost of this can be captured in the fee to the wedding couple. Fees for registration officers to attend at an approved premise are minor compared to the fees charged by the approved premise for hosting the wedding and cost cutting at this point could endanger staff and the legality of ceremonies.

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

They must be trained and assessed as officiants regardless of their other status.

Consultation Question 23:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes. Official organisations should be responsible for appointing officiants to ensure that standards are met.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Sports clubs

Fan clubs e.g. Star Wars fans or anything based on known fictional source material.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

20 seems like a very small number.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

No.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not believe independent officiants are a good idea, but if they are authorised then they must be registered and regulated.

Consultation Question 30:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No. I believe external, civil, assessment should be in place as for independent celebrants.

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not believe that independent officiants should be allowed, but if they are then they must be regulated as above.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I absolutely agree that they should not be able to act in such a manner as to cause a conflict of interest but I do think that there should be set hourly/ceremony fees country-wide with additions only for travel or unsociable hours.

Allowing independent officiants to set their own fees opens the whole business of weddings up to crass and rampant commercialism as is seen currently in the funeral industry. Leaving weddings solely within the registrations service negates any risk of this.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes.

Please note that this guidance is already received and out into place by the employees of the registration service. I am unsure as to why additional independent celebrants are also needed.

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No.

An independent system of inspection and training would remove any danger of bias from nominating bodies who may have vested interests to continue using unsuitable officiants due to fees paid for registering/ links with the organisation/ societal pressure etc. All officiants should be subject to the same training and inspection.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I believe form and ceremony should be overseen by the nominating bodies or by GRO.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Religious incidental music or readings by guests not including the Anglican marriage service the presence of religious artifacts e.g. the chuppah or small icons

Nothing which requires the registration officer to deliver prayers/blessings or similar which may not reflect their expertise of beliefs.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No. Premises should be suitable for the dignity of the occasion and suitable for health and safety. The quantifier 'anywhere' raises many concerns for where might be chosen.

on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or

Please share your views below:

Premises should be fixed and assessable so that health and safety and dignity can be assured. Water/air venues would be highly weather dependent when it comes to safety and conditions could not be guaranteed. Similar concerns arise for the dignity of the occasion, how can anyone be married in a dignified way of a boat is being tossed about on waves, or strapped into a plane experiencing turbulence?

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I do not believe that independent officiants who have been contracted for a service will be sufficiently motivated to apply proper standards to venues if doing so would prevent them from being paid. It seems ridiculous to allow someone employed directly by the wedding couple to assess the venue the couple wishes for and to expect them to be impartial about whether or not they declare it suitable. I also have doubts about the regulation of their fitness to assess such venues.

The registration service has strict, comprehensible and above all, unbiased, standards for all venues and officers who are employed and trained to see them put into practise. We work very hard to work to appropriate risk assessments and it is foolhardy to throw away all that wealth of knowledge and experience to 'independents' who may have neither.

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not believe that independent officiants should be allowed to assess venues (aside from immediate safety concerns on the day e.g. candles etc.) when whether or not they get paid could be dependent on saying that venue is suitable. Venues should be approved by an independent body e.g. the Registration Service, where an officer's pay is not linked to their performance of any particular ceremony.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No. Such guidance is already supplied to the venues themselves nowadays and still amendments have to be made on the day, which shows that such guidance is not infallible. I do not believe independent officiants should be making these assessments.

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes. This process should operate away from the officiants agreement, and be unbiased.

Please share your views below:

The registration service should be responsible as now. Couples should apply and an officer will inspect according to GRO guidance and issue approval / notices for change where necessary, then notify the officiant.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Why should this be added after the ceremony? This information can easily be gathered at notice.

I do not agree that the location of the wedding should have no bearing on the marriage and as such it should be fixed.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No.

A wedding undertaken with no witnesses should not be valid.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

The law as it stands works perfectly adequately for the weddings of those above. None of those weddings are easy things to organise but the registration service has systems in place which run efficiently already. these systems must be used if additional notice is to be required.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If schedules are being issued without waiting period on the grounds of terminal illness it seems unlikely that they would need to last for that period of time.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that authorities should be able to be extended. I do not agree that weddings or preliminaries should be able to take place remotely as I believe this removes many of the safeguarding measures which are essential to the process of ensuring identity and consent.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes to the extension of authorities but no to the other proposed changes.

No

Please expand on your answer:

In cases such as the Coronavirus, every person is technically 'at risk of death' and so everyone would be able to marry regardless of any other factors. This surely increases transmission risk and encourages people to break restrictions for celebrations etc.

Consultation Question 68:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not think people should be able to marry on board a ship

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not think they should be allowed but if they are they must be regulated as every other officiant.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not think they should be allowed but if they are same rules should apply as on land.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. I do not believe that the current law prevents people from getting married. Marriage is a booming industry which continues to rise. Essentially couples who want to be married will marry even if a ceremony cannot be exactly tailored to their requirements. We have seen this in the huge numbers of couples still marrying during this pandemic.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. Register office weddings are available but those statutory (£46) slots are hardly ever taken up as couples do want to have larger weddings with more guests and at times convenient to them. The cost of marrying within a registration office outside a statutory ceremony is negligible and very good value for money considering the service and the quality of many registration office locations.
2. The cost of having registrars come to approved premises is absolutely miniscule compared to the cost of using those venues. One of the most popular venues I attend has a £15,000 minimum spend, against which the £450 for attendance of registrars (considering that this includes all preliminary work, the registration and a professionally delivered ceremony) is hardly worth mentioning. Costs are not prohibitive.
5. The necessity of having a separate, legally recognised wedding is easily facilitated within the registration service and many couples enjoy this. Again, costs are negligible compared to what most couples doing this are willing to pay out for their larger ceremony and it can be done any day of the week in a variety of lovely locations.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. I do not think that this scheme will create any extra wedding slots above what we are already able to provide at the registration service. I do not agree that there is sufficient cost benefit to outweigh many of the negatives such as removing one registrar.
2. Couples will not experience savings, as venues will still need to either be pre-approved (for those frequently doing weddings) or will need an approval process which will surely incur a fee from an officiant. costs for these things will still be passed to couples as they are now. Independent officiants will not be doing risk assessments for free and I doubt they would share them with other officiants. Indeed, the need to assess each property each time could lead to higher fees as it will be a long and challenging process requiring experience and training. There will also be costs for travel and/or equipment which will surely be passed to the couple. Instead a system of approving more kinds of venues through the licensing system would ensure the costs could be split amongst more couples.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. The requirements are in place to preserve the dignity of marriage and all those attending. Businesses who are unable to comply may lose opportunities but that is because their venues are not suitable for purpose so I do not see this as an issue.
2. As I have said above, the cost of registration officers attendance at approved premises is negligible compared to the costs of hiring such premises.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. I do not see that this is a benefit
2. The introduction of a schedule system rather than a register system would be of benefit as it would ensure that more registration officers would be available at peak times of day which would allow venues and couples more flexibility as to their scheduling. However, it may lead to a huge surge in 'wedding season' bookings and prices, leaving venues without bookings at the other times of year and couples further out of pocket.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Benefits would include an expansion of the venues they are able to offer.

HOWEVER it is very important to note that the wedding side of local registration is the area which brings in most revenue and which allows for the covering of costs for other statutory services such as birth/death registration, citizenships, notice-taking, not to mention building maintenance and staff costs and reducing the income of the local authority by allowing independent celebrants to do the job of the registration service could have a devastating effect on these.

I also believe that by not keeping the entire marriage process in the hands of the registration service we open the local authority up to errors and mistakes which could invalidate marriages and create significant costs.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1. local authorities could easily lose revenue under these proposals, from venue licensing and from the registration service.
2. I do not see that there is much benefit to businesses in these changes except for those who would be allowed to operate wedding venues.
5. It seems to me a very real possibility that the costs for couple would actually increase under these proposals, due to the lack of fee capping and the need for each venue to be assessed separately for each occasion.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDAD-7

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-16 15:48:13

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

The Guild of Cornish Celebrants

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

Cornwall

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Other

Please expand on your answer:

not applicable

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Not applicable

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Not applicable

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Care would need to be taken to ensure that the person being interviewed on line was able to answer questions independently and was not being coerced or intimidated by someone just off camera.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

yes it should be

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would ensure far more people would be able to easily search for a couple intending to marry.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would put the officiant on a clear legal standing.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Sensible requirement

Please share your views below:

- where the relationship between the couple and the officiant has broken down

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

This would be so much easier for the couple and the public to understand

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Equality of opportunity and responsibility would dictate that everyone couple irrespective of how they choose to solemnise their marriage should be treated the same.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes they should

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Equality of opportunity and responsibility would dictate that everyone couple irrespective of how they choose to solemnise their marriage should be treated the same for the legal civil preliminaries

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This ensures freedom of expression regarding the ceremony content whilst ensuring that the legal aspects are covered.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Couples need to have choice - a clear choice that a Registration Office can only officiate at Civil Weddings is clear.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Brings this into line with other officiants

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Trades Unions, Political Parties,

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would allow smaller belief organisations who may not have a recognised venue for services or worship to marry couples who share their beliefs.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes they should.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

If they are larger organisations then yes, smaller organisations - perhaps those who in the Q25 category should be named

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

this keeps clarity and control

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Independent Celebrants would fill in the gaps left by religious and non religious belief organisations and Registration led ceremonies. Currently the number of couples who are having a quick legal ceremony with Registration and then having an Independent Celebrant conduct a meaningful ceremony which can include and blend spiritual and religious elements are increasing exponentially. If these proposals go ahead with out allowing for Independent Celebrants then many couples will still be disadvantaged by having to choose between a religious or non religious belief ceremony or a civil ceremony with Registration as they will be unable to express their views through their ceremony.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should maintain the quality of officiant

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is essential to maintain quality of officiants.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

These officiants are already remunerated by their organisations in the main.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is clear and transparent and couples will know that if they opt for a Independent Officiant that their ceremony is the focus for the Officiant.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Removes any conflict of interest

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage is a serious step and should be treated as such and not as a frivolous occasion

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will maintain standards

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, this will require guidance and "inspection" to ensure fairness

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, this will require guidance and "inspection" to ensure fairness

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, this will require guidance and "inspection" to ensure fairness - standards need to be agreed and shared to ensure transparency

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - CPD needs to be clearly defined to ensure compliance and is essential to ensure standards are kept up.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The Schedule signing would need to be established as an essential element of all marriage ceremonies to ensure clarity that in any case of doubt that the couple have expressed consent somewhere in the ceremony, that doubt can be removed by the signing of the schedule.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This gives choice to the couple

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This gives equality for all couples. If a couple choose a religious ceremony they will understand that the rules of that religion applies.

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is an especially important relaxation for Independent Celebrants who often lead interfaith marriages taking elements from religion/s and create a new tradition of meaningful marriage for the couple.

Please share your views below:

Giving examples can be difficult as there will always be arguments to get around them. A set of basic principles may be a better alternative.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as the robust legal preliminaries are in place

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Couples are already choosing various locations for a wedding celebration - the beach, moorland, their garden, this proposal would enable these ceremonies to be legal

Please share your views below:

Care would need to be taken to ensure safety - ie in the air, or under water, also maintenance of dignity needs to be considered on something like a fair ride.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

this will enable more choice and couples would then be able to marry at home

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be clear and transparent.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants would be able to agree with the couple the venue for the marriage. Some officiants may be happy with a location that another was unable to access

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed but guidance would be welcomed on this - would a full risk assessment be required in each and every case? What constitutes "Dignified"? This would ensure fairness and equality

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Who would pre-approve? At what cost, this could lead to a monopoly for the Registration Service if they were the pre-approval body. Who gains the benefit for this? Is it the couple or is it the venue?

Please share your views below:

if this did go ahead then

1. GRO should be responsible for it
2. they should have a list of those venues who hold over a certain number of weddings per year - ALL officiants who conduct a wedding at that venue should give feedback

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Fairness and equality

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Subject to training being available.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

- I would state that witnesses to the marriage are important enough to render the marriage void

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

removes the necessity for intrusive questioning about consummation of the marriage

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

removes ambiguity

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The office of Officiant is a legal one and therefore should not be taken lightly

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Presently, it can be very difficult to get hold of Registration Services for a RGs license marriage - call centres etc can be difficult to circumvent. It is imperative that deathbed marriages can be expedited often at short notice.

Marriages of detainees would need to have the approval of the owner / governor of the institution, and capacity to marry confirmed. Housebound individuals should not be subject to any additional rules as the new proposals would allow them to marry at home.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Registration Officers must be available at all hours to be able to take the notice and this should be able to happen either at the persons home, hospital or hospice. Time is often of the essence in these situations. Waiting times must be waived at no cost to the couple, and authority for the wedding to take place immediately must be in place.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

subject to my response above

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This makes sense and would allow for weddings to continue during a time of national emergency

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be very good for members of the armed forces who may be deployed.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

these need to be clearly defined

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Not knowledgeable enough to comment on different types of vessel

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

It would be only fair and equal if weddings in international waters also had the choice for a religious or non-religious belief weddings

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

They should be registered as soon as possible within an agreed timescale - could there be an interim electronic registration

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Cost recovery - must be nationally set

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

These couples are often at a disadvantage financially at these times

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This fee should be nationally set and the civil wedding slots should be readily available

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would need to be monitored to ensure fairness across the country

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would need to be monitored to ensure fairness across the country

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would need to be monitored to ensure fairness across the country

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would need to be monitored to ensure fairness across the country

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would need to be monitored to ensure fairness across the country

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Cost recovery

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The perceived cost of a wedding puts some couples off, the relaxation of the rules regarding "where" a couple can marry may help some couples marry more cost effectively.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As an Independent Celebrant we have to ask our couples to have a separate legal ceremony at a Register Office before having our celebratory ceremony. This can put some couples off having the celebration that they want as they have to pay more, and they may want both legal and celebratory ceremony on the same day, and the Registration Officers may not be available. The availability of the statutory ceremony at the Register Office /Registration Office, varies immensely across the country, and often couples are "persuaded" not to have a Celebrant led ceremony but to have an Approved Venue marriage instead. Ceremony costs vary across the country, and it can be complex to work out what type of ceremony is which - in a Register Office, with 2/4/10 guests, with extra choice of music/readings, in an approved venue, legal ceremony separate to the celebration etc etc. All very confusing for couples.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

One ceremony covering everything the couple wants in the location that they want - this will save them money. Couples will not be forced to use venues that are licensed - instead they can choose options that suit their budget, village halls, private homes, the local pub/social club.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Approved venues may be worried that as they are no longer "approved" by the LA, that they may lose business, however, they still have substantial expertise in delivering the wedding day, so i think this fear is groundless. Registration Services will have a reduction in income as the license fee is more than "cost recovery" in many instances. However they should recover some of this cost as only 1 officer will have to attend weddings, and without a physical register to take they will be able to book in more weddings.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Venues will be able to make the most of the entirety of their premises - outdoor areas will not require "summerhouses" to allow weddings to take place. There will be more choice for couples to have the officiant they want.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law is cumbersome and difficult to interpret, the proposals give clarity and should enable local authorities to concentrate on their core activity.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Less bureaucracy

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

4. Independent Celebrants - We would be happy to pay a registration fee to enable us to marry couples legally, the benefits to our business would be immense. We already undertake CPD and this would be recognised. Our couples would be delighted that they only need to liaise with one officiant of their choosing.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDAJ-D

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-17 15:19:32

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Registration Service

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

No - thank you

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I am a registrar and our team has continued to conduct and register marriages and CP's throughout the C-19 pandemic apart from the two lockdown periods.

Our weddings have been small and intimate always adhering to the government guidelines in terms of being covid safe.

Our team continues to received fabulous comments and feedback from couples who have been thrilled that we have been able to marry them despite any restrictions on guest numbers etc.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Residency letters are invariably written by members of the couple's family and registrars have no way of assessing them for providing true and accurate information.

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree in principle but would need to know more details about the required process.

Couples quite often attend their appointments with incorrect paperwork. This factor will without a doubt increase if the couples do not speak to a member of the registration service during the booking process.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

Unless the notice period is being abolished

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

What consideration is being given to check required documents?

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

More information is required on this matter due to the protection of data

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Happy to keep this in line with the validity period of current marriage authorities

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Totally disagree. Too labour intensive and totally not required

Consultation Question 12:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See firm NO to above question

Please share your views below:

The current system works well - please do not make changes for the sake of it.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not have enough knowledge on this matter to comment

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not have enough knowledge on this matter to comment

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I do not have enough knowledge on this matter to comment

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Clergy to comment on this matter as it concerns them and not registration staff

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Religious marriages should meet the same criteria for civil marriages. Keep the criteria simple so that the rules are followed in all cases

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

What is the reason to suggest change here? Some clergy will want to get rid of the bans process and hand it over to registration teams - others will be happy to maintain the current processes

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No change here is required. Weddings are either attended by a registrar/Ceremony Officer or a religious leader. The system works well - please do not change it.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As per current legislation

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Depends entirely on whether the schedule system has been introduced and due consideration has to be given to any health and safety issues relating to the venue and expected wedding party/guests

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Who wants to be married by an unqualified / unrecognised official? No one!

Please do not attempt to dumb down the current civil or religious roles within a marriage ceremony.

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

By expanding the list of people who can conduct a marriage ceremony you are in effect signing the redundancy notices to many registration employees.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There seems to be insufficient evidence to change the current legislation on who can conduct marriage ceremonies. Please do not try and fix a system that is not broken.

Please share your views below:

There seems to be insufficient evidence to change the current legislation on who can conduct marriage ceremonies. Please do not try and fix a system that is not broken.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I do not believe that the changes you are suggesting are required. Where is the evidence that religious and civil weddings are not being completed correctly or that they are not meeting the needs of the majority of the UK population???

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

N/A as I do not agree change here is required

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

N/A as I do not agree change here is required

Consultation Question 28:

No

Please expand on your answer:

N/A as I do not agree change here is required. Surely GRO has more than enough work already?
Please stop trying to mend a system that is not broken.

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

N/A as I do not agree change here is required

Consultation Question 30:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A as I do not agree change here is required

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The UK has a good supply of registrars, Ceremony Officers and religious officials to complete the total demand for marriage ceremonies.
I do not agree change here is required

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

By asking the previous few questions - there is already doubt in the minds of the authors of this unrequired consultation paper that the vetting, training and monitoring of "anyone" who fancies conducting a marriage ceremony will be labour intensive and the lapsing of current standards will lead to many illegal ceremonies being conducted.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

By asking the previous few questions - there is already doubt in the minds of the authors of this unrequired consultation paper that the vetting, training and monitoring of "anyone" who fancies conducting a marriage ceremony will be labour intensive and the lapsing of current standards will lead to many illegal ceremonies being conducted.

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

By asking the previous few questions - there is already doubt in the minds of the authors of this unrequired consultation paper that the vetting, training and monitoring of "anyone" who fancies conducting a marriage ceremony will be labour intensive and the lapsing of current standards will lead to many illegal ceremonies being conducted.

Consultation Question 35:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

What? Please refer to the current standards being met by the teams of registration employees - which are gold standard!
This paper is a backwards move and will lead to the dumbing down of a respected organisation - the Registration Service

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

GRO already do this to the Registration Service. There is no need to widen this team to outsiders who are untrained, unqualified and simply fancy helping their mates out on their big day.

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If this consultation paper gets it's desired result and effectively destroys the registration service, the authors of the paper will be very busy vetting, training and monitoring the new officiants.

Consultation Question 38:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

By asking the previous few questions - there is already doubt in the minds of the authors of this unrequired consultation paper that the vetting, training and monitoring of "anyone" who fancies conducting a marriage ceremony will be labour intensive and the lapsing of current standards will lead to many illegal ceremonies being conducted.

Consultation Question 39:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

By asking the previous few questions - there is already doubt in the minds of the authors of this unrequired consultation paper that the vetting, training and monitoring of "anyone" who fancies conducting a marriage ceremony will be labour intensive and the lapsing of current standards will lead to many illegal ceremonies being conducted.

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This consultation paper is ridiculous. The questions posed are ridiculous.
May I ask - how many registrars were on the panel to raise the paper? I suspect none.

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I'm running out of ways to say - please do not implement the proposed changes.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

How is this vastly different to current legislation?

Consultation Question 43:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There needs to be a degree of standardisation to ensure that all ceremonies cover the legal aspects and provide the same quality standards

Consultation Question 44:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This paper is suggesting so many reductions to the current processes and standards that it will reach a point where a marriage ceremony will be worthless in terms of legalities and status. Why should anyone marry?

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

In the main, couples choose either a religious or civil ceremony depending on their views and beliefs. Our registration team is very rarely approached with requests to include religious content.

Do you have sufficient evidence to warrant asking this question? If so, where is it?

Please share your views below:

In the main, couples choose either a religious or civil ceremony depending on their views and beliefs. Our registration team is very rarely approached with requests to include religious content.

Do you have sufficient evidence to warrant asking this question? If so, where is it?

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The current situation with the division between civil and religious ceremonies works well. If it didn't why is it that so many weddings are completed each year in the UK?

If the system was so broken that the level of change this paper proposes was actually being sought after, the media would have run with it long ago.

Consultation Question 47:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

To answer this the issue of having the option to raise an objection would have to be investigated thoroughly

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The question is too wide.

Health and safety issues would play a massive part in this matter. Who would regulate this?

Please share your views below:

My comments above referring to Health and Safety matters comes into play for this answer

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to attend a ceremony at any venue whether this be indoors or at an outside location if it has not passed certain health and safety and insurance standards

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that more outdoor locations may be desirable to couples but these must be linked to an indoor setting to accommodate for inclement weather conditions

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not a qualified health and safety officer and I do not wish to spend my working days trudging off to far flung locations to agree that the venue, field, riverbank is totally unsuitable for a ceremony.

Who holds responsibility should a child fall in a river and drown?

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Who advises approved premises currently?

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We already operate this system with our approved premises.

Please share your views below:

Please refer to the current licencing arrangements for approved premises as it works extremely well.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why not complete it at the time of the ceremony when it is a witnessed occasion?

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I have no issue with this - there may be an extra cost for dual registrations that the couple would surely meet

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The introduction of IT for wedding ceremonies seems inevitable

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I have never come up against a problem with RG's, housebound or detained weddings

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Totally disagree.

The current process is fit for purpose

Consultation Question 64:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This question rather depends on the outcome of any revisions to the current notice period.

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I believe this is happening now - many couples arrange a marriage after hearing about a terminal illness diagnosis. They do not feel that a waiver is necessary and do not meet the requirements for an RG licence.

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Housebound and detained require separate discussions.

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I would be open to debate this issue. Certainly C-19 has proved that there should be some leeway with the validity period for notices

No

Please expand on your answer:

I would like to see guidance on what constitutes an emergency situation

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This matter would require further debate but I can see merit in this being a situation for the armed forces and personnel on deployment

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not enough information provided on this matter. Health and safety matters spring to mind

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not enough information provided on this matter. Health and safety matters spring to mind

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Not enough information provided on this matter. Health and safety matters spring to mind

Who pays for the registrar to be on a cruise?

Would the ceremony have to be conducted whilst the ship is in port? Otherwise, the captain would surely take the role of official?

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would be no different than stating the name of the land based venue

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I would not want to be married by anyone other than the captain of the ship

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that captain's of vessels should provide the same quality and standard of ceremony adhering to the same legal requirements

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Goes without saying

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Not aware of any demand

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

A scanned copy could be sent to the registration service as a holding document to prove the ceremony took place.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I was under the impression that we already charge for housebound or detained notices

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Irrelevant of the reason for the marriage - fees should be standard

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The current pricing system works and should be standard throughout the UK

Consultation Question 78:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It is not the role of a registrar or other official to vet a location for health and safety

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This falls in line with the current licence rule - once licenced checks are only made to the venue at agreed intervals

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I would like to see a review into the various rates of pay for each registration district but this is no different for any job comparing its salary to the same job being performed in a different region

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The current situation seems to work well

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

An interesting concept that requires an answer once more information is known

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Being terminally ill does not mean that the person has no money to afford a marriage.

A terminal diagnosis does not mean imminent death. Why are we concentrating on the terminally ill? There are other types of illness and disability and we do not make specific rules for them

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not agree with anyone other than registration service employees or approved people within religious settings to conduct ceremonies

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I work in a large registration team that spans a large county. To my knowledge the current law is not preventing couples getting married and most of the proposals within this consultation paper are not made based on refutable evidence that major changes are required

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I agree with the standardisation of costs within each district. It is a simple and effective mechanism and understood well by the couples wanting to marry.

I do not agree that this paper was required

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Many of the proposals in this paper are not backed up with sufficient evidence that major change is required.

The number of marriages conducted per year may be reducing but this is not due to any restrictions on location or who can act as the official but more to do with the recent act passed to allow opposite sex civil partnerships. Whilst I agree on equality of legal status and rights there is no doubting that opposite sex CP's are on the rise therefore by default reducing the amount of marriages conducted

From a work volume point of view - registration services are seeing the same volumes of work - just with a different division on the types of ceremony performed

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

My team has no problem covering thousands of ceremonies per year. We have a mixed team of registrars, registration support officers and ceremony officers all covering the rota. It works well and I do not wish to see changes to it.

Many of the proposals within this paper may lead to registration service employees losing their jobs. Is this intentional? And I would like to ask at what cost? Vetting, training and monitoring other people to act as ceremony officials sounds like a very costly process and who will do this if you have decimated the registration service?

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I think your proposals will lead to many problems in terms of health and safety, pricing wars, illegal ceremonies, job losses and a general downgrading to the usual wonderful event of getting married.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have not enjoyed this exercise at all and I am saddened to realise that the role of registrar may seriously be changed for good - and not for the better

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I cannot see many benefits within the proposal

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Couples will simply be confused

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please do not change the current system. It works well

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I do not know enough about this

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I do not know enough about this

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

I cannot comment any further. Sorry

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDAM-G

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-18 11:10:14

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] County Council Registration service

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Not sure

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I was legally married in England.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Feel that it has been unfair on weddings to restrict the numbers more severely than funerals.

Most of our couples give notice well in advance of their ceremony and so have had to complete notice again for a future date. It would have been much better for them if the length of the validity of licenses was extended to a 2 year period. This would also be effective in 'normal times' to allow couples who live overseas but are British and want to marry back home. For example if they live and work in Australia but most of their family remains in the UK, they often want to marry here but it becomes restrictive due to the required period of residence before notice and then having to wait the 28 day period before a ceremony. Often they cannot afford 2 trips in one year so a longer validity on the licence would assist them.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I feel that this time restriction on residency shows that there is a commitment on the couples behalf, rather than doing this on a whim. It would also be easier for Sham couples to give notice without this restriction.

Consultation Question 5:

No

Please expand on your answer:

What would be the point of the person attending at a later date? Why would you not just see them once to complete the notice?

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

Reducing the period of notice could put more pressure on other services. For example if there is a foreign divorce that needs to be authorised by GRO this could compromise the date.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

This is a good idea, but strict guidance would need to be in place to filter out those that would require face to face appointments. The guidance should be very specific and not open to individual register office interpretation.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

As long as the same protocols are in place in the other areas then I do not see any reason for not allowing this.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The information would be easier for anyone to access rather than as it is at the minute and only displayed in our one central office. We do not have many customers visit our offices to view the notices.

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do think there could be an exception for couples who live overseas but have family here and want to come back to marry and maybe extend this to 2 years.

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I feel that this would just lead to lots of amendments before the ceremony as you cannot predict sickness/family emergencies or life emergencies. It would be best not to have this information recorded prior to the ceremony.

Consultation Question 12:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would only be necessary if you had already decided to name the officiant on the schedule before the ceremony.

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

No opinion about this.

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure what this means.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Yes I feel that this gives commitment to the ceremony in that area.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes I feel that this should continue.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes I agree.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

This would take away any difference between the religious and civil ceremonies.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We need to maintain legal status and control for marriages and this would be a way of doing so.

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Registration officers should be able to officiate at any legal ceremony.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree in a licensed venue this would work well as the venue would have staff to coordinate the guests. In a ceremony room or other location then this could prove troublesome with just one registrar trying to sort guests and the couple before the ceremony.

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as they are trained for this.

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Helps to make sure that correct procedures are followed by all.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No opinion.

Please share your views below:

No opinion.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes as long as there is appropriate training.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Essential to have a full list of officiants for legal purposes.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

To maintain a control and balance of this.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No use using anyone who is not going to follow the correct procedures and could potentially allow fraudulent ceremonies.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There needs to be checks and balances in place.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Why would any couple want a non believer to conduct a ceremony for them?

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No opinion.

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No opinion.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Otherwise why would we have any legal process in place.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

To maintain uniformity.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants should have to be authorised within a certain time after any training to make sure that they are acting according to the most up to date laws.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Should be lapsed if ongoing training records are not met.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would be best if there was some wording that could be used across all types of ceremony for this.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There should still be one uniform part for the legal terms.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Often this is a sticking point now between what each person considers to be religious and can be used in a ceremony. So removing this barrier would be a bonus.

Please share your views below:

Religious readings, music should be allowed.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why does this need to be removed?

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think certain establishments should not be allowed, eg betting shops, casinos, strip clubs.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as notice information is viewable on line then objectors could us this rather than on the day.

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Should be determined centrally.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Local register office following the same procedure used for licensing venues now.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will be more up to date.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

.

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I am not aware of any.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No just cruise ships.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

No experience of this.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDAK-E

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-18 12:20:03

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

I am a Humanist Celebrant Accredited by Humanists UK

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

When I married my husband we worked with a Humanist Celebrant, Accredited by the British Humanist Association (now Humanists UK), to create a unique, personal and meaningful ceremony. This was not a legal ceremony, so in addition, the day before, we had to take our parents as witnesses to our local Civic Centre, sign their book, and obtain our marriage certificate. But our wedding day, to which we invited our family and friends, was our Humanist ceremony, because it was unique to us.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I am a Humanist Celebrant, so not yet able to take legal weddings. So I have taken 0 ceremonies during 2020 because the number of attendees is too small to warrant a personal celebratory wedding.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have no opinion on this

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Seems reasonable

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes that seems reasonable too

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes to this too

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That is fair

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Do you mean a couple gives notice but does not set a wedding date? And that period before they do is the schedule? This is very unclear.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I am not yet fully up to speed on what is the schedule. Certainly my couples book me well in advance. But what if I were taken ill near the day? They would need to be able to transfer to another of my Humanist UK colleagues. How would this happen please?

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Definitely.

Please share your views below:

There needs to be provision for this.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no opinion on Anglican weddings

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

See above

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

See above

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

See above

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

This seems fair

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

What do you mean by "The other requirements of the ceremony"? And now I think the "schedule" means a Celebrant's register page for this wedding. Is that right?

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That makes sense

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems sensible

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think they do need to have undergone wedding training - providing this is part of their Holy Orders then yes.

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All real Humanist Celebrants are trained and Accredited by Humanists UK. So then they can be said to be nominated by Humanist UK.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I like the first half but not the second of the above sentence. We are not a dogmatic or proselytizing religion, so no "teaching of how to live in conformity with a belief system" is necessary. If you are a good person, and live as part of humanity and the universe while caring about others, you are a humanist.

Religions have to teach how to live in conformity with their belief system, because no-one is born saying "Jesus is Lord" or refusing to eat cheeseburgers! But people who care about other people don't need to be trained to do this?

Please share your views below:

Humanists UK in England and Wales is the only (to my knowledge) non-religious belief organisation.

People such as the Moonies, Scientology, etc are religious. Maybe the acid test should be - Do you have to teach adherents how to live in conformity with the belief system? If so it is a religion! ie the beliefs are so unnatural or unreal that only teaching them will get them to stick!

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Humanists UK does have some local groups who meet for philosophical discussions with secular and academic speakers. But this is hardly "worship or furtherance of our beliefs" because - as I keep saying - No teaching of how to live in conformity with a belief system is needed to be a humanist because it is natural and sensible and simply focused on caring for others.

So maybe a better wording of the first half would be: "At least 100 paid members, and a set of principles for living". This would avoid tiny "churches" of fanatics setting themselves up as a nationally recognised religion.

The second half is good, thank you.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes that seems fair. Though of course public policy on morality does change - eg in the past same-sex relationships were illegal, so maybe the possibility of what is immoral may be acknowledged that this can change?

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I can only speak as a Humanist Accredited Celebrant - Humanists UK keeps a list of us - there is no other office, we are all named individuals.

Consultation Question 28:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no opinion on this - if this is how it will work, that is fine.

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There is a plethora of self-styled bodies - training organisations, individual celebrants as trainers, and just people who create their own website and advertise themselves as a celebrant. There is no central accreditation for these people, nor any way of checking they keep to a high standard as there is with the ongoing re-accreditation, CPD and Peer Review carried out by Humanists UK Celebrants.

Individuals do not have the ability to take legal ceremonies in Scotland or NI - why try and add too much into this legislation? Who would you suggest accredits these independents and how are those people to be funded?

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Humanists UK does not accredit just anyone - if they fail the training they are not Accredited. All Accredited Humanist Celebrants are therefore fit and proper to take legal weddings.

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There is a plethora of self-styled bodies - training organisations, individual celebrants as trainers, and just people who create their own website and advertise themselves as a celebrant. There is no central accreditation for these people, nor any way of checking they keep to a high standard as there is with the ongoing re-accreditation, CPD and Peer Review carried out by Humanists UK Celebrants.

So who is to provide a standard set of mandatory training and CPD, and who is to pay for this? The number of individuals could grow exponentially - it is too costly for the country to let everyone in, so I recommend that only members of accepted groups - eg Humanists UK - be accepted as legal wedding Celebrants.

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely not! I wish you to delete all those words.

I and many of my Humanists UK Accredited colleagues entirely base our standard of living - and we are all educated professionals - on the provision of unique and personal wedding ceremonies to non-religious and thoughtful people. Our couples appreciate that unlike "your name here" style religious ceremonies - which can be 90% standard prayers, and require very little preparation time - ours take up to 30 hours of thought and creativity to put together for each and every couple.

And as I have repeatedly said - humanism does not require "teaching in the belief" because it is simple, natural and sensible - so that is why dogma does not feature in a humanist wedding, and we do not "promote humanism" as proselytizing religions promote themselves.

Those words are unnecessary and cruel. We are not salaried employees as Church priests may be, and we do need to pay our bills. We are sole traders - so yes we are all individual self-employed businesses.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Please see previous answers re the impossibility of "herding cats" in keeping every self-styled independent celebrant to a central quality standard. So do not legalise the infinitely large pool of independents.

Please also see the answer to the previous question. Every Humanists UK Accredited Celebrant charges a different fee to each other. Some provide more hours with the couple - including some counselling. Some are based in Brighton!!

So please do not try and make Humanists UK Accredited Celebrants have a standard - too low - charge, as this is impractical, impossible to police, and will demotivate us.

Please state for ALL celebrants that there should be no reasonable limit on the fee we charge for officiating at a wedding - let the market decide!

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I only agree to this if you take on board my recommendations:

Only those nominated by a recognised body should become legal celebrants.

Those celebrants should be allowed to set their own fee, providing this is at a reasonable level, in proportion to the work they put into each ceremony.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - all humanist weddings are meaningful and valued by the couple. Because they themselves have to think very hard about the wording of their own unique ceremony, I understand that the number of people divorcing after humanist weddings in Scotland is far fewer than for those who married in a "cookie cutter" religious wedding.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes please

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes that is what Humanists UK provides.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I trust this would not be needed, but of course if it is.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I am very happy with this.

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We seem to keep going for as long as we can speak well, write well, and have empathy with our couples!

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All Humanists UK Accredited Celebrants carry out measurable CPD every year.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We can all give you beautiful examples of past humanist wedding ceremonies, but they are by definition all different - there is no set ceremony. However they do all contain words - often written by the couple - where they promise that they do consent to marry each other. This can be extended to legally marrying each other, once humanist weddings become legal.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes of course

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I understand that in 2013 some legislation was half-passed which could add "Humanists in accordance with their practices" to the above Anglicans, Jews and Quakers.

Please will you follow that through - then much of the complexities of your Commission report to enable Humanist UK Accredited Celebrants to become legal marriage officiants will be unnecessary!

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no opinion on this

Please share your views below:

See above

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Let's please keep it simple!

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is logical, because a high proportion of humanist weddings take place in family gardens.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have taken wonderful ceremonies in family gardens, a dinner boat down the Thames, and the Wallace Collection! At least 70% of my ceremonies take place outdoors.

Please share your views below:

No limit so long as it is safe and meaningful to the couple.

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Is this not covered above?

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

I have already stated - if a venue has meaning for a couple and is safe then that should be the only stipulation for a venue.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - I would not go anywhere I did not feel safe.

Consultation Question 52:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I cannot "ensure" this is so. I can only agree or not agree to take a wedding at a venue. That is in no way accepting legal responsibility eg if a guest fell and broke a leg.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That is good.

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I assume this is all about Councils charging venues a lot of money to be "licensed" at present. As 90% of my humanist ceremonies over many years have all been in different venues chosen by each couple, this would not be relevant for me.

Please share your views below:

See above

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If this is the standard wording that is fine.

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no knowledge of what would happen in Wales. I suggest this is unnecessary in England?

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

You mean rather than a couple signing a register / document in the ceremony? I am not sure, I quite like that part of the ceremony.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no opinion on this

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems reasonable

Consultation Question 58:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I know nothing about anyone having to opt in to same-sex marriage. I have been holding weddings for same sex couples for years - after all my ceremonies were not legal. personally I think all people who carry out marriages should take all marriages - if they are legal the person should not be allowed to opt out! See my previous answers re the need to teach the illogicality of religions!

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

How on earth would you police this? If you cannot measure it the words are unnecessary to have in the legislation.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I assume this is all about so-called "common law" marriage. I also carry out funerals and hear first hand about all the complications when an unmarried man dies and his family, or same-sex partner, are left out of the funeral - or if he dies intestate.

The sooner this is publicised to be abolished the better.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I understand that a no-fault divorce is going to be legal, so this will no longer be needed.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Maybe we could all be issued with a Certificate to Practice by the Registrar General?

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I have not carried out these, but am very happy to do so. Is there a law about them? This needs to be publicised.

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again please keep the legislation simple - especially for such couples.

Consultation Question 64:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Now you have me on the practical details of legal marriage. I sincerely trust this will all be explained to Humanists UK, and they will I am sure carry out training for us all on the ins and outs of legal weddings.

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again I have no opinion on what is a schedule and how long it is valid - I trust this will all be in the legal marriage training.

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Sadly with COVID this is probably necessary.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again I have no opinion on this

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided it is with an Accredited wedding celebrant.

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no opinion on this.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

See above.

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I have not had any. But I have carried out a wedding in a chateau in France, so I have no doubt it will be requested in the future!

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Seems reasonable.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I charge a set fee for my ceremonies. This includes meeting the couple - maybe more than once, plus running a rehearsal. If I travel to their house that is in my fee. That is why all Humanist Celebrants' fees are different, and I do not want you to set any - too low? - fee for our ceremonies.

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I think that is up to the Celebrant and the couple. No central fees should be set - ever.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Especially for those couples who do not want any fuss.

Consultation Question 78:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As I said earlier - I can only say if I am happy or not with a venue - I cannot be held legally to "ensure" it is safe.

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not think that Councils can continue to charge venues to be "licensed". What would be the point?

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Maybe we will not need them to do so any more!

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again what are they trying to sell? And please do delete any words about Humanist Celebrants not being a self-employed business! It does seem to be double standards.

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no opinion on this

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I think that is up to the Celebrant and the couple. Though registration officers are presumably paid a salary by the Council - so who receives the fees for their presence?

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

What fee and what assessment are you now proposing? If it is just nominated Accredited Humanists UK Celebrants this should not be necessary.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Yes - if you take Scotland as a model - enabling HSS humanist celebrants to take weddings has led to an uptake of marriage which is good for the economy and people's mental health.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Anything which keeps it both simple and reasonable for couples is a good thing.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

See above.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I believe that 2021 will show a huge demand for weddings which could not happen in 2020 due to COVID. So enabling already trained and Accredited Humanists UK Celebrants to provide unique and personal legal weddings can help where otherwise Councils would be overwhelmed.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I am sure all venues will be happy to no longer need to pay for a licence.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I am sure that local authorities will still have people wanting a simple Council wedding.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no opinion on this.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have often married couples who live abroad. Could I now do this legally for them? That would need to be covered or not in the legislation.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

See above.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No opinion.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

See above.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

I have not costed this - let alone on Government's behalf! However provided we are allowed to charge our current fees, the cost to the couple should not be any more than at present.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDHz-4

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-18 16:05:58

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Throssel Hole Buddhist Abbey
Registered Charity (No. 506094)

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

A longer period may be preferred.

I represent an organization that does Buddhist Wedding blessing ceremonies - we usually talk through the ceremony at least a month before the actual date.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes, I think remote interviews can be done, as long as a thorough ID check is done, in a similar way to the ID checks banks make on addresses.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, it should be possible.

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think this is unnecessary and could expose people to unscrupulous advertising - i.e. automated web bots collecting information and using it for marketing campaigns.

In our own Buddhist order we would ask permission before publishing the fact a marriage has taken place.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with 1.

But am not sure about no 2. It would depend on the reasons. If they were purely practical i.e. dates of availability then fine, but if the person just didn't like a particular Buddhist priest then that doesn't seem right.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Good idea, and would cope with any problems mentioned in Q11.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Don't know enough to comment.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Don't know enough about the Anglican system to comment.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

It seems that they should be able to do both.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

I believe that legal weddings should be the same whatever religions the couple follow.

So there should not be a distinction made in law between Anglican and non-Anglican wedding preliminaries

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, no 1, and 2 are what we already do for Buddhist Marriage blessing ceremonies, usually some time before the actual ceremony and in person.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The requirement that registration officers have to attend our place of worship (the Abbey) for a legal wedding to take place has been quite restrictive.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, this fits in with the current structure of our Charity, and it's religious governing body, the Order of Buddhist Contemplatives.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

obviously political organisations

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I consulted with the seniors in our community and there were some misgivings about the small number of members required.

A couple of people thought that it should be more than 20.

We also think the definition of members could be redefined to include those who come once or twice a year on meditation retreats for example, and stay in touch in other ways in the meantime.

The size of membership could be proven by such things as email mailing lists, and the number of attendees at religious ceremonies and retreats.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

If an organisation promotes unlawful purposes then it would probably lose charitable status and be already committing other criminal offences, so this may be unnecessary.

However, some care may need to be taken to prevent forced marriages.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

We discussed this in our community, and we thought that all those called 'Preists' in our Buddhist Order, i.e. those certified as such, after doing 5 years minimum training in a monastery, should become officiants.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should be written into the rules of the governing body of the organisation. We already have such rules stating the minimum requirements. There are also procedures in place to remove their status as priests if rules are broken.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is important. Weddings can be very expensive.

We practice the tradition of asking for a donation - so there are no set fees.

Other religions may need to cover travel and other costs but there should also be a means of allowing complaints should fees be excessive.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, but they need to state what their fees are before any agreement is made.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It depends on what that development was.

If the law or guidelines haven't changed, it would seem unnecessary to have to attend a course for example.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I think things like the bodhisattva vows, https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bodhisattva\_vow or three Refuges (taking Refuge in the Buddha, Dharma and Sangha) could be said at a civil weddings should the couple wish.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If its a religious ceremony, the location would need to be agreed with the officient.

in the air, and/or

Please share your views below:

As before, if it's a religious ceremony, the officient could veto any venue not fitting with the spirit of the ceremony.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

No

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

May be unnecessary - the religious venue owner would have the final say on whether the property can be used.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No 3 doesn't seem to be strictly necessary and some people do not know who both thier parents are.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, but mistakes should be rectified where possible.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

We haven't had any such requests.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

It certainly discourages couples from having Buddhist marriages, as there are so few places of worship designated in this country where they can do it. So extra costs of travel and accommodation are involved.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We do know that couples and guests have had to pay a lot to stay at local hotels before coming to Throssel Hole Buddhist Abbey for a wedding. Some relatives have not been able to come because of illness etc.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Changing the law would enable local temples of the Order of Buddhist Contemplatives with trained priests, to be officiants at weddings at that place. At the moment couples have to travel to Throssel Hole Buddhist Abbey which is the only registered place of worship. We have a number of such OBC temples listed here: <https://obcon.org/temples-and-meditation-groups/uk-temple-locations/>

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDH6-Z

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-19 12:07:02

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Trinity Baptist Church, [REDACTED] [REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

We wanted to marry in a location that was meaningful to us where we had both previously lived but had moved away from. One of us had to move back into the parish to fulfil residency requirements. This seemed absurd to us.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I have not been able to attend the marriage within my extended family as numbers were restricted. I witnessed it online instead.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Perhaps there could be a looser obligation to state your connection to the place you wish to be married, hat is not to do with residence.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

No. Sham and forced marriages are too much of a danger to do this.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, I think so. We are one UK

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, online is more of a public display these days that register office noticeboards or banns. The site needs to be clear and searchable and easily found.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I don't know the background or the consequences of this

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Get rid of banns entirely.

Anglican marriages should fall in line with others and names should be published by the same system as other marriages. Anglican churches shouldn't have special privileges or be in two-tier system.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

No. Remove special privileges for Anglican weddings. Make them the same as other religious weddings and require licenses from civic authorities.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

As above, I'd remove Anglican privilege and make them the same as other religious weddings.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

All preliminaries should be the same, through civil offices.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, this is right way to go.

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It depends. A registration officer could be present at a free church wedding to sign the legal documents - do you define that as officiating?

Weddings can be conducted by multiple people and I can see the situation where a registration officer is the legal officiant but the ceremony is led by a faith leader.

I'd like to break down the barrier between a civil and religious wedding.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This happens anyway when a registrar attends our church to sign the papers when no authorized person is present.

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I am a Baptist minister and I think that would be clear within our tradition, though some would choose to opt out. I don't know if a register would have to be kept of those who qualify to be officiants but have decided they don't want to act as officiants.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Yes, though that will be difficult to do.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

What do you mean by an organization? Do you include small independent church congregations of many years standing whose membership has fallen below 20 members? Would they lose the right to hold weddings with their own minister? That doesn't seem right. And how do you define 'members'? Many churches do not have membership as such. And do you count children? This definition sounds very suspect.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

That sounds okay, but those words could be used against some groups who have beliefs out of keeping with societal norms - eg some churches who reject gay marriage. Are they "contrary to public policy"? There has to be a way of wording this that allows for conscience of religious and other groups.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Baptist churches often function with lay leadership and the regulations should allow for a lay person to be nominated the officiant just as they can now be the authorised person. that is more important than nominating people by office.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

What about retired clergy and religious ministers? I can see many of these wanting to carry on as officiants after retiring from normal duties. It could be a good source of income for a retired clergy. They are still ordained but less regulated by their denominations. Do their church groups have to be responsible for them still, or do they operate as independent officiants? If they remain under the authority of their church this will involve a lot of admin for them.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again, what about retired clergy?

And what about ministers who currently supplement their income from taking weddings? This could deprive them of income. What do you mean by "making a business?" In Baptist churches, often ministers are unpaid or bivocational (have two jobs). This could stop them doing this.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Setting up a competitive market-place? Don't know about this.

What defines a conflict of interest? Is this only pecuniary? Can an officiant still do a favour for a friend for nothing?

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As a Christian minister myself I'd be happy to have people with a spectrum of beliefs and none as officiants. The range of 'religions' and shades within them is so vast that to separate them out from the non-religious seems arbitrary.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Part of the purpose and tradition of the wedding is the public declaration of consent in front of witnesses and usually in front of family and friends. It would be a wrong step to lose this.

Consent can be given in different ways but I think it should be seen to be done and witnessed by others.

If marriage is formed before signing the documents, what happens if the documents are never signed? What is their function and purpose?

Consultation Question 43:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Does that apply without any limits or any provisions? it needs to include consent presumably, and be witnessed.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, to the first part, but as a Christian minister I would say that if there is prayer and worship then it is a 'religious' service. Why keep the distinction between the two? That is unnecessary in such wide-ranging changes.

Please share your views below:

Anything the couple chooses including prayers, laying-on of hands, taking bread and wine, singing worship hymns and songs, Bible readings, a sermon or similar talk.

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Does that mean you would prohibit a church service following a civil ceremony? How can you do that? Many couples want their civil marriage blessed in church, sometimes the same day. I wouldn't want that to be made illegal.

I suspect I don't understand this question.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I consider it in the nature of marriage that it should be public and open to witnesses, and those who might have objections.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think weddings should take place in a public place. Are we happy for officiants to marry couples in private in their own homes? I would say not.

in private homes.

Please share your views below:

As above, not in private - the venue should be public and accessible so it can be witnessed by others.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

These days many churches meet in schools and homes and public buildings (as they always used to in Biblical times). Defining a 'religious venue' is next to impossible.

Also churches should have the option to allow non-faith weddings in their buildings if they choose - why should they not be allowed to use their venues the way other public building could?

I would banish all distinction in law between religious and non-religious weddings, anyway.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But within limits, and with supervision. This is a heavy responsibility to give to an individual and will result in couple shopping around to find an officiant who will agree to the venue of their choice.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

It should be listed and monitored by local authorities.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I would retain the witnesses.

And I would require registration, so that paperwork can be produced to document a legal marriage .

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I don't know what it would be replaced with. If lack of consent can be shown, then the marriage is invalid anyway.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No, I wouldn't want this. Where cruise ships are registered is arbitrary.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No, the law should not be stretched to international waters.

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I don't agree with marriage international waters.

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The outlined proposals should make getting married easier and increase the number of marriages.

This will be of benefit to wider society and family life.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Most couples I deal with in the church setting consider the church fees to be a small proportion of the cost of the wedding which they usually calculate to include catering, the dress, the honeymoon and many other expenses.

The costs of the actual wedding ceremony are not themselves prohibitive, it is the expectations around them the ceremony that make weddings expensive.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDSF-U

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-19 14:40:15

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is an outdated requirement of little value in identifying where legal objections should be raised

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Notice should be given in person from the start and not begun on-line or by post. This interview is essential for ensuring that the person is entering into the marriage of their own free will and that they have the capacity to marry. The length of the interview gives the Registrar time to identify any safeguarding concerns. If this interview is shortened by starting the process on-line or by post, this reduces the time a Registrar has of assessing an individual for concerns or giving that individual a safe space to say they are being forced or coerced into the marriage or that they don't understand what marriage is. Individuals only get married once - or that's generally the plan. Taking 20 minutes to give notice in person is not a massive inconvenience given it's once in a lifetime, yet that time could make all the difference in protecting a vulnerable person from harm.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

I think it should be at least 14 days as a reasonable cooling off period for the individuals giving notice to really think through the decision and be sure it's the right one and a reasonable amount of time for objections to be raised. We've all done things and regretted them a week later but a fortnight's reflection seems right for a person to declare in person at notice interview that they want to marry someone else and then feel really sure it's the right decision 14 days later.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Remote interviews are a terrible idea. If a vulnerable person is being forced into a marriage then their abuser will be just off screen or the other side of the camera watching and coaching the vulnerable person's responses. Where is the safe space here? It's hard enough to identify issues in person without the abuser there. Registrars aren't social workers. How will concerns arise exactly without that private individual interview between a single party to the marriage and the Registrar? We may all have got used to tech solutions, especially during the pandemic but marriage is a serious legal commitment which should not be entered into lightly. Making things more convenient for the average couple in this way would be a gift to abusers - it's not worth the risk when all is being asked of couples is to take 20 minutes each to give notice in person. The benefit of convenience does not outweigh the risk of harm to a vulnerable person.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely - the local notice boards are outdated and ineffective. A national on-line notice board would be far more effective in these modern times.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a reasonable validity time for couples to marry within this time.

Consultation Question 11:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This is a terrible idea. What if the officiant is sick or unavailable at the last minute? A qualified person should be able to step in at the last minute without changes to the paperwork by Registrars being made - what if the wedding's on a Sunday and the officiant is sick and there's a substitute available but the Registrar's are unable to amend the schedule? Naming an officiant - especially if paperwork is valid for a year - is unnecessarily risky. Currently the venue is named and either Registrars or Vicars etc officiate. This is a good system as any number of Registrars or religious celebrants are able to use the paperwork.

Consultation Question 12:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again, even if the named officiant has a named substitute officiant this is unnecessarily limiting. So only 2 people could conduct the wedding - compare this with now where teams of multiple Registrars are able to conduct - there could be a crisis, like say a global pandemic, 10 Registrars may get knocked out but there'll still be 20+ to take over at the last minute. The flexibility of the current system in who officiates is far less risky and it works.

Please share your views below:

I think naming officiants generally is a terrible idea. The couple are marrying each other not the celebrant. If they want to get married according to certain religious rites or if they want a secular ceremony that's one thing but being able to select a specific individual actually allows for discrimination - what if they want to request a man? Or someone white? Because they want a certain 'look' for their photos. Gross.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

I personally think all couples marrying in England & Wales should have to go through the notice process with trained Registrars. The clergy can run their marriage classes but Registrars should take individual notices to ensure documents are in order and to identify any safeguarding concerns. From reading the press it certainly seems the majority of sham marriages have taken place in CofE churches and is there any wonder why when the clergy could be seen as a soft target compared to trained Registrars.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

As above - both of the couple to attend in person, individually to give notice to registrars.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This happens now and is a good working system - though it's currently 2 Registrars or a Vicar plus Authorised Person or Vicar plus Registrar. Two heads are better than one. Two people assessing a couple for signs of distress or lack of capacity is better than one person checking two people for this. Two people can work as a team when signs are seen in protecting a vulnerable person or taking the time to further assess capacity. The responsibility on two sets of shoulders is less onerous than on one person and gives each person the confidence and support to act when necessary.

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It seems a bit ridiculous that civil ceremonies can't include any religious references at all. If a couple could have a civil ceremony that includes a prayer or hymn for a departed loved one for example, that would be a mix some couples would appreciate and why shouldn't a registration officer officiate this? Registration Officers should not be able to officiate full on religious services but they should be able to conduct more mixed services than they're currently permitted to do.

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

NO. NO. NO. Two heads are better than one. Two people assessing a couple for signs of distress or lack of capacity is better than one person checking two people for this. Two people can work as a team when signs are seen in protecting a vulnerable person or taking the time to further assess capacity. The responsibility on two sets of shoulders is less onerous than on one person and gives each person the confidence and support to act when necessary.

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I do not believe representatives of non-religious belief organisations should be permitted to officiate at weddings without the support of a trained Registrar. Perhaps like now when a church doesn't hold its own register but a couple wish to marry in that church, a registrar could attend to do the legal paperwork but the non-religious belief celebrant conducts. That said, non-religious belief systems are different to religion. Registrars who do not profess that religion should not be conducting full religious ceremonies, but why not non-religious belief ceremonies? Non-religious belief systems are different - Humanism for example is essentially a secular belief system and Registrars have been providing a secular civil service since 1836 - it would be easy for them to offer a genuine humanist ceremony and for that ceremony to continue to be regulated properly. Registration officers are trained to officiate, register, look out for safeguarding concerns, are regulated by GRO and are employed by local councils. Registrars should be given more freedom to include content in their ceremonies which allows for some religious references and/or is tailored to a non-religious belief system the couple may have. Marriage is serious. It is a legal commitment for life. It has consequences for the parties involved. It is not just about the wedding but about the marriage. If a couple want a ceremony tailored to their belief system the answer is not to open up the ability to officiate to more people. The answer is to empower the people who are already offering the service to give the couple what they want within the service.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

How exactly will this be regulated? I believe it will open the floodgates for abuse. As above, I do not believe representatives of non-religious belief organisations should be permitted to officiate at weddings without the support of a trained Registrar. Perhaps like now when a church doesn't hold its own register but a couple wish to marry in that church, a registrar could attend to do the legal paperwork but the non-religious belief celebrant conducts. That said, non-religious belief systems are different to religion. Registrars who do not profess that religion should not be conducting full religious ceremonies, but why not non-religious belief ceremonies? Non-religious belief systems are different - Humanism for example is essentially a secular belief system and Registrars have been providing a secular civil service since 1836 - it would be easy for them to offer a genuine humanist ceremony and for that ceremony to continue to be regulated properly. Registration officers are trained to officiate, register, look out for safeguarding concerns, are regulated by GRO and are employed by local councils. Registrars should be given more freedom to include content in their ceremonies which allows for some religious references and/or is tailored to a non-religious belief system the couple may have. Marriage is serious. It is a legal commitment for life. It has consequences for the parties involved. It is not just about the wedding but about the marriage. If a couple want a ceremony tailored to their belief system the answer is not to open up the ability to officiate to more people. The answer is to empower the people who are already offering the service to give the couple what they want within the service.

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If the officiant is being paid directly by the couple, how can there not be a conflict of interest? Their impartiality goes out the window if there is an issue of concern because then they won't get paid.

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Open doors and public access provide the last opportunity for valid objections to be raised - taking this away denies that important opportunity.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The venue should be seemly and dignified and appropriate for the nature of the legal contract. It should be a safe place for family groups to congregate. All new areas should require risk assessment. To say couples can marry 'anywhere' is a terrible idea. They should be able to concentrate on what's happening and not battling weather conditions or noise or hazards. You wouldn't sign any other kind of legal contract on a ferris wheel or up a tree or swimming in a lake. The current system of licensed venues is a good one - their outdoor areas could be licenced with the option of moving the ceremony indoors if the weather conditions aren't fitting. Marriage is serious and should not be treated like a piece of theatre.

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Outdoor areas should be attached to an indoor venue where the ceremony can be moved if weather conditions are too poor to continue.

Water and legal documents don't mix - it belittles the nature of the legal agreement.

In the air or in private homes would be not accessible to the public for objections to be raised.

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Public access is important for raising objections

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should be regulated by Registrars / GRO

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes and no - officiant / Registrar to ensure this on the day but overall responsibility of council / Registrars / GRO

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

council as per current licensing arrangement

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Location should be on there already - licensed

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Witnesses are crucial! They also act in a semi-safeguarding capacity to ensure the parties to the marriage are willing.

Consultation Question 58:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The current law does not discourage or prevent couples from getting married but the system could be improved by giving civil Registrars the authority to tailor their services to each couple - allowing the addition of some religious or non-religious belief based content. The current rules should also be loosened to allow outdoor ceremonies when the outdoor space is attached to a licenced venue as a suitable alternative if the outdoor ceremony is unable to go ahead due to our country's changeable weather.

Registration officers are trained to officiate, register, look out for safeguarding concerns, are regulated by GRO and are employed by local councils. Give them, the experts, more freedom to include content in their ceremonies which allows for some religious references and/or is tailored to a non-religious belief system the couple may have. Marriage is serious. It is a legal commitment for life. It has consequences for the parties involved. It is not just about the wedding but about the marriage. If a couple want a ceremony tailored to their belief system the answer is not to open up the ability to officiate to more people. The answer is to empower the people who are already offering the service to give the couple what they want within the service.

Your provisional proposals fill me with fear for vulnerable people being taken advantage of by abusers to marry against their will or without their capacity to give a real consent. I have concerns that new officiants acting on their own will not be impartial because they are employed for their services by the couple.

Give Registrars who are truly independent more power to tailor the current civil offering and allow outdoor ceremonies when attached to a building and yes I believe more couples will choose to marry.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Couples can still marry for £46 at a Register Office - no-one can say that this price alone has put off some couples from marrying. Registration offices are generally open 7 days a week with availability every day dependent upon other bookings offering a range of ceremony price points depending upon the type of ceremony chosen. If couples choose to marry at an Approved Premises then of course by the exclusivity of this it will cost more, that's their choice.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDU8-F

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-19 15:31:18

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Church of England

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

n/a

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

I am currently prevented from marrying my fiancé as he is transgender, and is having to go through the lengthy process of obtaining a Gender Recognition Certificate before we can marry. The government promised to review this process and then ignored the outcome of their own consultation.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

The weddings I was due to preside at this year have all been postponed until next year.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This and the previous question should give greater flexibility to couples who choose to marry away from where they are currently living, eg. near parents or where they met.

It would also improve access for those with mobility issues.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

If lockdowns and concerns about pandemics are becoming the norm, this would be a sensible provision. It would also improve access for those with mobility issues.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

no idea on this one

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Displaying them physically is archaic and pointless.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

With the agreement of the original officiant, yes.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Banns should be abandoned entirely. As an Anglican priest I find them cumbersome and archaic, and it seems absurd to me that they continue to be a part of the legal process of marriage. It would relieve pressure on clergy and couples to abandon them and for all marriages to be authorised via a civil rather than ecclesiastical system.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I had no idea that such rules existed.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

See q.13 above - Banns should be abolished.

However if they are to be continued, they should be read in the church(es) where the couple live, and where there is an outside chance of someone hearing them actually knowing who they are.

As a [REDACTED] chaplain (with a chapel authorised for reading banns) almost all the couples I marry are [REDACTED] who rarely live in the area and are not known to my current congregation of staff and students. Reading banns is archaic and serves no purpose whatsoever in revealing impediments to marriage.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

1. I ask to see proof of identity (eg passports) but I have no training or ability to recognize a good forgery - let alone other document with which I am less familiar (eg. divorce papers). No clergy do, unless they happen to have a relevant former or second profession. This is further reason why clergy are not qualified to be determining whether or not a marriage is legal, and should not be required to be responsible for it.

2. Most clergy have sufficient pastoral sensitivity to detect if one partner is unwilling or not understanding what is taking place. If I suspected this, I would take appropriate action. In 20 years of taking weddings I have never felt the need to do so, so I think that requiring a separate meeting is unnecessary and time-consuming burden. It would probably become a token gesture, such as asking each partner to leave the room for a few moments, rather than an indepth interview.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Sounds sensible to me.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Civil preliminaries would do away with the need for clergy (with little training and no legal expertise) to be expected to manage a potentially complex and certainly important legal process. This should definitely happen.

I know clergy who have made errors that have affected the legality of the wedding they were presiding at. It's a state matter and it's absurd that we are entrusted with this.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think there should be much less of a distinction between civil and religious marriages. The legal aspect should be - indeed it always has been - a civil matter, not a religious one. The form of the service (eg. whether it's religious or not) should not dictate the legal process by which the marriage is formed.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure. Personally I would be glad to be relieved of the legal responsibilities in taking wedding services but other clergy may disagree.

Consultation Question 23:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure about this. There is no "one size fits all" for religious groups - for example, people often assume that an Imam in a mosque is the equivalent of a vicar in a church, but the roles are very different - the former is primarily a teaching role, the latter is primarily pastoral. Some religious groups have a "relevant governing authority" equivalent to a national church but others do not. If these people are being entrusted with the legal aspects of overseeing weddings it is important that they are both trained and accountable in their roles. So this proposal would need extremely careful application and would be very complex in practice.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Hmm. Any such list would inevitably be partial. I think treating organisations on a case-by-case basis would be safer.

I'd like to suggest that any group that defines itself and its aims in a way that breaches the Equality Act should not be included - such as White supremacists. However this would probably exclude many churches, including my own, on the grounds of our institutional homophobia - so it may not be practical.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Twenty seems an extremely small number to me. It would not be hard to gather twenty people who share a belief in something utterly ludicrous that could bring the system into disrepute. Furthermore, how would a group of twenty be able to train and hold accountable an officiant?

Not every fringe belief system needs to be able to conduct its own weddings - what is needed is the ability for civil celebrants to work alongside leaders of religious or non-religious belief groups to create a service that is legally valid and reflects the values and beliefs of the couple.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Well... yes. Shouldn't this go without saying?

Although I repeat the issue I raised in q24 above regarding churches and institutional homophobia - personally I would be absolutely delighted to see churches lose our exemption to the Equality Act and be required to treat people equally regardless of gender or sexual orientation, including in offering weddings. However I think it's unlikely to happen any time soon.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

This may be appropriate but would require careful monitoring, especially if a group as small as twenty is allowed to nominate an officiant. A group that small can shift and evolve in its beliefs very quickly, and change leaders rapidly. If whoever happens to be leading it at any given time is seen as an office holder and therefore has the right to be an officiant this could result in some highly unsuitable people becoming officiants.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Only if there is some means of determining their suitability, and an expectation that they are in some way trained and held accountable. Otherwise this degenerates into the situation that seems to apply in the US, where people can "get ordained on the internet" and immediately preside at a wedding.

Consultation Question 30:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not if groups as small as 20 are allowed to nominate someone. There needs to be greater accountability than such a small group.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is essential. It would have helped if you had asked this question before q.29.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It's reasonable for faith organisations to be able to cover their costs involved in supplying someone to officiate at a wedding, particularly if that officiant is a full-time employee of the organisation paid for by them (eg a church minister). But people officiating at weddings in their capacity as a representative of a faith organisation shouldn't be profiteering from that.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Sounds reasonable but I am not sure what this looks like in practice in a world in which people can already get married while dressed as characters from Star Wars.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again, this is fine with large/national organisations, but is unlikely to work in practice if a group of 20 can nominate an officiant. Some level of outside scrutiny would also be important.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is essential.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Reasonable in principle but it depends on the regularity and nature of the professional development. Is this specifically training in relation to taking weddings, or does it refer to generally seeking to remain up-to-date with good practice in relation to their calling? The latter should be sufficient if the authorising body take responsibility for ensuring that all its officiants are kept informed of any changes in relation to the law.

Some Church of England clergy take upwards of a hundred weddings a year and are naturally very well versed in the legalities of doing so. It would not be reasonable to expect them to attend a "How to take a wedding" course every year in order to avoid losing their authorisation.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This implies that, other than expressing consent in some form, there would be no required structure or pattern, and no expectation that the service should include vows. That seems unhelpful and strange to me. A wedding service should at minimum include recognition that marriage is a solemn and (in intention) life-long contract, and involve vows between the couple that express that.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Some people of faith are unable to have a religious service -for example many same-sex couples and sometimes divorcees. I believe that practicing members of any faith that refuses to marry them should be free to arrange a civil ceremony that reflects their beliefs. For that reason I think civil ceremonies should be free to include and all religious content desired by the couple.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

in the air, and/or

Please share your views below:

A wedding should be conducted with appropriate seriousness and where the situation doesn't overwhelm or overly distract from the importance of the vows being taken. It is hard to imagine a situation in midair where this would be the case - allowing it would logically permit weddings taken during a parachute jump for example.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If it has been established beforehand that there are no legal impediments to the marriage then there is no need for them to be accessible to the public.

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Yes

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1) Those responsible for religious venues should have the right to decline to accommodate a non-religious wedding. As the [REDACTED] of a pretty country church, I can well imagine couples wanting to use it as a picturesque background without having to have a religious ceremony, but churches do not exist for this purpose and it could easily be burdensome and a nuisance for some churches and clergy. However as long as this protection exists I do not think the law needs to prohibit such services. I can imagine there being pastoral reasons for agreeing to such a ceremony - for example, two people of different faiths might choose a civil wedding, but still prefer for to take place in a religious venue. As a [REDACTED] I would be willing to consider such a proposal.

2) Yes, definitely. People shouldn't be restricted in their choice of venue simply because they want to mention God in the service. Again, this could be particularly helpful to couples of different faiths.

3) It is hard to imagine why it would be necessary to prohibit this. Why would someone with a non-religious belief system choose to be married in a religious setting? But as in 1) above, as long as the venue has the right to decline to host a wedding I see no need to make it illegal.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as there is clear guidance on what constitutes an appropriate location to depersonalise the decision. If it is simply left to the officiant they could come under considerable pressure from the couple to act against their better judgement.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See 51 above.

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would simplify the process for officiants. Also, if a location applied for pre-approval and was declined, the reasons for this should be made available to officiants.

Please share your views below:

Whoever is currently responsible (I assume the GRO)? And it should work in a similar way to the current guidance with obviously a much greater range of possibilities.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No idea what this means.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Surely for 3 and 4 the knowledge of either party (rather than both) should be sufficient to render the marriage void?

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1 and 3 sound fine. I understand witnesses to be a legal requirement so it seems odd to say that a marriage is not void (ie is legal) without them. Witnesses should either be a requirement or not.

Consultation Question 58:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not understand what a "non-qualifying ceremony" means if it is different from a marriage being void.

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I really don't know what this is intended to achieve. I guess it should be possible to consider a marriage to be valid even if the couple choose to live separately. However this does seem to make life easier for people marrying solely for immigration status etc.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I had no idea that such a presumption existed or what purpose it might serve. Most couples should be able to produce documentary evidence that they have been legally married. However provision should be made for couples who are unable to prove their marital status to still be accepted as married - for example refugees/asylum seekers who were married overseas.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I have limited knowledge of the current law so cannot helpfully comment.

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As long as the person is able to meaningfully consent I don't see why they should be treated differently from anyone else wishing to be married. Also, how could a legal definition of a terminal illness be formed?

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Not certain what this means but anything that simplifies the process is likely to be good.

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I don't know what this is intended to achieve. And what is the legal definition of a terminal illness?

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I don't know what this is intended to achieve.

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The current experience of lockdown has shown that there may be extreme circumstances 3 and 4 may be necessary - but I think it should only occur in extremis and for urgent reasons. The possibility of abuse is otherwise too great - eg. it would be harder for the celebrant to be certain that both parties understood and consented to the marriage they are not physically present.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

I don't feel qualified to comment.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

It seems to me that if a religious/belief-based wedding is important to the couple then they should probably prioritise that over choosing to get married on a cruise ship, but I guess if the ship had -for example - a chapel or prayer room on board that might be a suitable venue.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Someone who is housebound or detained may also be of limited means, and should not be burdened with an additional charge for circumstances beyond their control.

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Neither. Wedding fees nationally should be set at a level that allows for such small and unusual variations to be included at no additional fee.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This should be the case for venues such as places of worship which do not intend to host weddings as a business. However venues that are seeking to make money out of hosting weddings (hotels, stately homes etc) could reasonably be expected to pay a higher fee, which might be used to offset the costs discussed in questions 75 and 76.

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

This would be a nice gesture but again I am puzzled by the legal definition of "terminally ill". If there is capacity in the system for some weddings to take place with a reduced fee or no fee at all, this should be available on a means tested basis. Some terminally ill people may be perfectly able to pay a fee, and many other couples may struggle to do so.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I don't think many couples choose not to be married because of the current law; however many, many couples are prevented from having the kind of wedding that they would choose, and this is an issue of justice that deserves addressing.

I have presided at a thanksgiving service following the civil wedding of a same sex couple who are both committed Christians. They were unable to have any reference to God in their wedding service because it was a civil wedding. I was hampered in what I was able to offer them in the thanksgiving service because of the church's institutional homophobia - eg. I have to refer to it as a "thanksgiving" and not a "blessing" because the church does not permit me to speak words of blessing over a same-sex couple.

I know of many other couples facing similar restrictions who would greatly benefit from these proposed changes.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I know little on this subject beyond the fact that the church part of a church wedding typically costs less than just about any other aspect of the day.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Anything that makes it easier to marry on a limited budget is a good thing and an issue of justice and inclusivity. However I know little about current costs and so can't make an informed comment on this.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

No thoughts on this.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Greater flexibility will benefit all involved, however I am more concerned with the couples than the venues.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No thoughts on this.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No thoughts on this.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No thoughts on this.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No thoughts on this.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No thoughts on this.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No thoughts on this.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

If churches have fewer weddings (and less income) as a result of this then as a church minister I do not see that as a problem - we should not be funding our existence off the back of wedding couples who are only coming to us because of limited alternatives. If we offer a good service, people will still want to get married in our churches.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDH7-1

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-20 12:52:30

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] County Council

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Other (please state)

If other, please state::

Registrar/Deputy Superintendent Registrar

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Not applicable

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

In addition to handling death registrations, weddings have put a great deal of pressure on the Registration Service
Couples wanting to know if their weddings will be able to take place
Venues calling to check on numbers allowed
Couples wanting to reschedule weddings for a future date - expecting us to be able to predict when "things will be back to normal"
Changing Government guidelines with minimum/no pre-warning
Checking on authorities, to ensure that they are within timescale of revised wedding dates
Re-doing Notices of Marriage that have expired, when if and where public are allowed into buildings that Register Offices share with other services
Providing Covid secure premises for public to be seen
Reducing option of weddings for terminally ill patients to take place at home, because of ensuring staff have protection needed and space required as per Covid guidance

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Should be able to give notice in any registration district - if they have the necessary proof of ID and address for checking

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This will not reduce the checking necessary when they come into a Registration office to complete the process

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

Both the above options are limiting if there are further enquiries to be made, as well as providing the service with details of the marriage ceremony that they would like. The officiant needs this information to prepare, and prior preparation may be futile if the in-person interview gives light to discrepancies
Thus delaying the ceremony, and upsetting the couple

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Remote interviews open up more possibilities of sham/forced marriages and capacity to proceed undetected for longer

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

This could be a good option, as long as the Registration service would have assurance that the notices were taken in bono fide conditions legally comparable to those agreed in England & Wales

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There is no guarantee of internet security, therefore notices should be displayed as currently. It also prevents couples being targeted by unsolicited service providers ( florists, caterers, wedding cars and celebrants etc )

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If the schedule is valid for 12 months officiants can change /be unavailable
It would be less time consuming and more practical for officiants not to be named as with current schedules

Consultation Question 12:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Current practice allows for officiants to be allocated when availability known
This practice should continue

Please share your views below:

Not clear what "other circumstances" are referred to in respect of wedding law

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If all couples attended a Register Office to complete the legal formalities this would not be an issue

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If all couples attended a Register Office to complete the legal formalities this would not be an issue

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

If all couples attended a Register Office to complete the legal formalities this would not be an issue
Couples have had to attend local Register Offices during lockdown when churches have not been open for banns to be read, or had sufficient time for them to be read
Reading of banns when churches opened has been a formality rather than having the purpose for which they were originally intended, as congregations have been limited by Covid regulations. In addition the number of people attending church services in many areas is extremely small, thus once again echoing that the practice no longer serves the intended purpose.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Agree that Anglican clergy should see/check documentary evidence and meet each of the couple separately before banns are published

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Agree - as this would be in line with current registration practice

If all notices were given at a local registration office this would reduce the need for this and make production of the certificate seamless once the registration office had been notified that the ceremony had taken place

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Agree. If all notices were given at a local registration office this would reduce the need for this and make production of the certificate seamless once the registration office had been notified that the ceremony had taken place

Also see comments for response to Question 15

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Agree that registration officers should be able to officiate at civil weddings , not religious, but as the definition of civil weddings and the environments in which they can take place may alter with the wedding law consultation paper this is appropriate

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Whilst it may seem a simple option for only one registration officer to attend to officiate at a civil wedding , if the certificate /registration is not being done at the same time as the ceremony itself, it is appropriate to have two of us to facilitate the event, Organisation of guests, bridal parties, crowd control, photographers, guests with differing physical abilities, guide dogs, wheel chairs, etc.

Venues are not all as accommodating as one might expect

Ceremonies need to be seen as efficient and flawless as possible to those in attendance and liaison, joint working between Registration and venue is paramount.

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree with definition given, but may need further expansion as identified in Question 26

Please share your views below:

Wary of lists - which need to be constantly updated, provide opportunity for organisations to invent themselves to circumvent the "rules"

Certainly agree with suggested disqualifications on page 23 of consultation paper - political parties, trade unions, sporting organisations

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Agree if religious organisations/non religious belief organisations who promote unlawful practices contrary to public policy or morality are excluded as identified in Question 26 below

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Agree with this, but concerned about the challenges that may be raised following high profile sex scandal cases that have been publicised from named religions Anglican ( Church of England) and Roman Catholic, that we are currently aware of

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

As with comments above - need to proceed with caution, may be still offer to have a registration Officer attending to ensure that legal parameters are met as currently practiced with religious venues who do not have an Approved Person

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree that General Register Office should maintain the public list/register of all nominated officiants and ensure this is "live" and linked with the DBS system, as well as training profiles

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The General Register Office should maintain the public list/register of all independent officiants and ensure this is "live" and linked with the DBS system, as well as training profiles. There should be a charge for this service to independent officiants.

However if the Government agree to broadening the venues that can be used for ceremonies and religious / non -religious belief organizations are also included, independent officiants will no longer have a place.

Consultation Question 30:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Agree - but this does need to be co-ordinated and overseen by GRO as outlined in response to Question 29 above

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Agree - as per response to Question 29

There should be a fee for being on the list, any training they undertake and an annual fee to remain on the list with proof of continuous professional development.

They should be subject to unannounced ad hoc visits by GRO inspectors as undertaken with the registration service

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Whilst I agree with this statement, it also needs to be considered alongside proposals if Government decides to expand the services that can be offered by independent officiants

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Who will determine whether there has been a conflict of interest?

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Hence the need for GRO to maintain a live register, that is constantly monitored

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No question of this - widening the possibility of venues and those who can officiate at ceremonies makes this paramount

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

And enforce strict monitoring and supervision

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In the first instance but needs to link accountability of that organisation to GRO

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Totally agree

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Fully support

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See response to Questions 29/31

Authorisation may expire if do not comply with requirements of training/DBS certification/ live registration

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as legal wording included, documentation signed and witnessed at the time of the ceremony and the officiant has the power to stop the ceremony at any point they feel it is necessary to do so

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Currently Registrars have to check civil ceremonies for religious content
Eg readings and music, which often require tracing back origins of content.
It would be great to be able to agree to whatever is reasonably practicable within a ceremony

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would no longer seem necessary, but may possibly still be a couples choice

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This has been challenging as part of lockdown when weddings were permitted with limited guest numbers

Opportunities for dissent to marriages are provided for at least 28 days before the ceremony , and the majority of challenges are handled away from the ceremony itself

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

The law should not prohibit , but the person responsible for the venue should be able to make that decision

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If the officiant is in charge of a religious venue this would need their approval
For officiants who are not responsible for locations then there should be parameters on which venues /locations should be judged
Perhaps venues/locations who wish to market their services for weddings could be requested to provide this information eg capacity, risk assessments, health and safety features , accessibility etc

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See response to Question 51 above

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Guidance to officiants and venues

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Would make it easier for officiants

Regular attendance at specific venues, allows Registrars to understand the logistics

Please share your views below:

As currently - local authority and venues working together

Regularly reviewed, with venues notifying authorities of any major alterations/changes before a review if necessary

It would be up to independent officiants if they wanted to undertake their own review of premises they have not worked in before

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This should all be completed at the time of the wedding so that all parties confirm that it is accurate

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree, although the option for Welsh only may raise an issue/ cost in the future if couples applying to a court outside Wales for a divorce

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Electronic registration already happens for civil ceremonies and those ceremonies attended by a Registrar.

Electronic registration of all Church weddings would be significant progress as currently parties apply to the Register Office ( where the church is located) for copies of marriage certificates. Often this requires referring back to the church, as the register is still in use - 20 or so years later, because there have not been sufficient weddings at that venue to fill a register.

Ceremonies registered electronically provide easier access and speedier processing of requests

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Mistakes can have serious consequences subsequently
Witnesses must be present to swear an event took place
Documents normally require signing and dating to confirm legality
Failure to Register the marriage could have serious repercussions for all parties concerned

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Parameters set which mean couple must access a Register Office to give Notice Of Marriage
Speed of processing for those who are terminally ill - often it is getting the appropriate letter from an attending doctor, rather than the response from GRO for approval
Housebound/Prison - may be a case for on line applications and processing NOM in person at a later date

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Evidence from medical practitioner needs attention to speed up and allow process to be approved

Consultation Question 64:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would seem on the surface a good idea, but RG's licences are expedited promptly and for the Registration service they provide an additional level of security/authorisation when usual formalities/ timescales can not be adhered to

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. - yes, would reduce the work load registration offices have been facing around Covid / Lockdowns and future uncertainties
- 2 - no, second stage needs to be in person for registration service assurance
3. - no , concerns for scam/ forced marriage/ capacity
4. - no to remote signatures, possible option for each to sign a different copy of schedule but would need to be carefully monitored and only in extremely exceptional circumstances

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Vessels registered in England & Wales
Approved officiant
Couples legally able to marry in England and Wales

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Insufficient knowledge to understand the demand for this

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Independent officiants need to incorporate this within their own fees and not piggy back on approval from a local authority unless they have made a financial agreement with the local authority to do so

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. Current law doesn't discourage couples from getting married, just severely limits venue choices
2. Would be welcomed by couples, by opening up choices and personal preferences

Unable to substantiate figures but aware that weddings had a peaked increase when national publicity surrounded a "divorce" that couldn't take place, due to the fact that the marriage, undertaken in a non Christian venue in the UK, was not legal and the bride was unaware of this, losing a

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. There are limited number of Register Office that offer simple weddings ( couple + 2 witnesses) Most charge for main ceremony room irrespective of number of attendees ( even pre-Covid)
2. Costs of marrying on approved premises - couples assume this fee all goes to the Registrars attending!
- 3 Costs of marrying in places of religious worship are on a par with marrying in approved premise, additional fees include verger, organist, bells etc
- 4 Costs for locations, not currently authorised need to include cost/ time and expectation of officiant plus additional cost of a civil ceremony in order to make marriage legal, which needs explanation by venue/officiant
5. Costs and necessity of separate legally recognised wedding would be outweighed if more Register Offices could offer their simple weddings, but these may well disappear if the legislation opens up as suggested in consultation document

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. Register Office weddings (2+2) should remain a choice, but more Register Offices should permit these
2. Couples would not be as torn for choice with options opened up, and would not require both ceremonies and their associated costs
3. A separate legally recognised wedding means that couples can have the choice of a "party" without the "wedding" label and all the costs that venues/suppliers load onto this label. Some couples may still prefer to have this as an option

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Unless venues have sufficient weddings booked they run the risk of not being able to continue with their wedding licence, due to cost

There are usually sufficient registration officers to attend wedding venues

We are paid 2 hours for a wedding which includes travel time

Average £10/per hour + mileage

The majority of us are employed on zero hours contracts

We are a source of revenue for the Government, which could be reduced significantly if independent officiants were given the authority to conduct legally recognised ceremonies

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. Fee for pre- approval dropped, may increase profit margin but increase their onus for addressing risks & standards in-house, possibly increasing their insurance premiums and thus negating cost benefit of not paying fees
2. Registration officers rarely unavailable for civil ceremonies, and flexible about timings - pool of staff employed county wide
3. More flexibility with additional officiants?
4. Increase in number of weddings would be welcomed by all businesses in the wedding industry as well as those on the periphery. Especially after the challenges of 2020, national/regional lockdowns and cancellations of flights/holidays abroad which offered other wedding options

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Local authorities would see a decrease in income if venues were not regulated by them.

Registration Officers may leave the service to become independent officiants if they could see better pay for a similar job and choice of clients/venues/ hours

Increased workload for Register Office handling schedules from officiants before/after ceremonies, electronically registering ceremonies and production /postage of certificates Handling remote Notices of marriage and tying in with appointments before issuing final schedules.

Dealing with complaints that cross boundaries

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Acknowledging that they have listened to customers

Offering more choices and flexibility

Opportunity to restructure pricing

Wedding business is phenomenal and local authorities should be looking at how this can work to their advantage and not lose potential sources of income/expertise

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. Current law seems to allow residents choice and a fairly simple system

2. Current law provides hurdles for couples to negotiate, but sham/forced marriages still able to work around the system. This needs addressing, tightening , with speedier response to register office concerns

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. There may be a reduction in residents travelling to other jurisdictions to get married, if the settings/scenery is available in the UK. It will not deter people who use the wedding overseas as a means of limiting the people they would really want at their wedding.

Although this has been a positive response to Covid limited numbers at weddings this year

2. Very limited experience of this happening, apart from dealings with parties becoming "residents" for what turn out to be sham/forced marriages. Negative side of making current law more flexible - really do need to focus on making preliminaries water-tight and speedy system for escalation for any concerns anywhere along the process for religious and civil

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Insufficient knowledge to comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Insufficient knowledge of ship register and maritime industry to comment

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1. Government /local authorities need to carefully consider the potential loss in revenue in comparison with the additional administrative workload

2. Businesses will be excited by the prospect of so much income potential

3. Church of England will need to be handled carefully , but they might appreciate less administrative burden due to falling number of ministers

Other religions would welcome inclusion

4 Independent officiants probably wholeheartedly support the proposals as see this, like businesses, as boost to their income and independence

5. Couple will welcome choices

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDHU-Y

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law

Submitted on 2020-11-20 16:57:10

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Registration service in [REDACTED] County Council.

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

[REDACTED]

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

As a marriage Registrar it was sometimes difficult to get Venues to research the government covid rules or weddings. Pon arriva, we were then giving wedding parties instructions that they were not prepared for. I.e.masks, number of attendees.
Guests attending Register office and venue weddings were often refusing to comply to covid rules. Many did, but others put pressures on my colleagues which was very disappointing.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Proof of residency is currently a requirement to give notice of marriage. I do not think 7 days is unreasonable.

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Uncertain how this would be achieved although, input Registration district we have experienced parties icing their notice before booking a wedding. This leads to confrontations about availability and times of weddings which should be agreed beforehand in our district.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

I foresee many problems here as staff availability to conduct a wedding needs to be planned.
It is not unusual for our registration office to conduct over 30 weddings each weekend during peak times. This entails travelling several miles between each wedding and a relatively small pool of staff.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Presently, notices of marriage should be conducted on a one to one person anyway with no other person present. This happens in our district with partner 2 seen separately.
Both are interviewed individually and in confidence.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

In my experience, this happened rarely so I am not sure if it is necessary to keep or abolish.
I took notices for many years and do not think I reached double figures for such notices.

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Possibly.
There were cases many years ago where notices were displayed outside the Register Offices. I believe this was stopped. One of the reasons being nuisance callers pestering the couple afterwards - insurance salesman etc.
In these modern days, I am see the problem being far greater.
On a plus side, more people can see the notice to object regarding sham marriage etc.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Works ok presently.

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I receive emails from my superintendent most weeks asking for urgent volunteers to officiate as staff members are suddenly unavailable. Take this year's covid pandemic for example where a whole office might have to self isolate at short notice.

Consultation Question 12:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I can only give registration experience and this happens regularly.

Staff are suddenly required to register deaths etc. and restructuring is required. (Registrar's are Registrar's of births, sets and marriages plus many other duties).

Please share your views below:

I fully encourage two attendees as law presently requires anyway.
For safety purposes, legally overseeing and cover.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

I agree, mainly for immigration and bigamy.

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes along with a colleague who can oversee legalities.

I am one of many people who cannot conduct ceremonies due to nerves, but my experience in legal weddings is considerable.

Therefore I always register weddings whilst my colleagues conduct.

I really would encourage two staff. Not for my case as I can gladly retire, but for legal accuracy and safety reasons - some weddings are intimidating on a health and safety basis.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Many laws of registration are complex and situations arise constantly at wrongs that require accurate and legally correct actions by the registrar. From my experience of officiants who are not registrar's, is one where the considerable marriage handbook rules are not known by them and would lead to big problems for the couple in the future.

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

See previous answers, but health and safety reasons alone would worry me.

Also, the legal schedule you propose needs to be accurate and stand up in a court of law possibly. This legal side need to be respected and could be the responsibility of the colleague.

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

General Register Office provide an excellent service and need to oversee lists maintained.

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

With proper training.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

They need to be accountable.

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If this is the route chosen.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I envisage couples being disappointed regarding fees and standards.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I foresee officiants receiving payment to encourage couples to use certain venues for their wedding.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would be difficult for a religious officiant to separate themselves for a non religious ceremony and rules. I cannot see how it would work in reverse due to religious qualifications.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In my experience, not all weddings would be conducted in a solemn and legal manner if we registrar's did not make sure rules are adhered to. In a subtle way of course.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants would be surprised how many rules there are and how big the current handbook guidelines are.

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be a complaint procedure to the Registrar General as well.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Organisations need to be overseen.

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If there is an upsurge in numbers then yes
If not, then the current system seems ok.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Changes are constant and need to be adhered to.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If that is the chosen route.
Presently it works ok with civil partnership ceremonies. Although the signing of the schedule in CP's is the defining moment of that ceremony.

Consultation Question 43:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure what the options are, but currently couples have a strange idea of what can be in a wedding ceremony and conflict is not unusual.

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Where do you draw the line?
Hymns, prayers?
Incidental references maybe ok but registrar's/officiants are not qualified to offer correct religious content. They may be strong non believers too.

Please share your views below:

Possible entrance music and the couples exit music. Plus readings conducted by a guest but not the officiants.

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Happens rarely now but it's more an issue for the civil venue.
I believe the religious organisation should change their rules to plow the couple to marry in a church whereby they are currently not.
A lot of religious content should ran couples should marry in a church.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

All legal objections should be allowed and access is essential.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Health and safety. Weather changes.

Please share your views below:

I am very reluctant as an experienced register.

I regularly officiate at exposed structures in outside locations and problems arise.

Weather/bees and wasps! Chairs and heels sinking on a beautiful day because it rained previous day's.

Register/ schedule preservance due to wind and rain. It's not easy protecting important documents when there is even a breeze without rain.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Public need to be able to object. Health and safety. Time consuming as need to move onto the next wedding.

We can do many weddings in one day.

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Religion should be respected.

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It needs to be an organisation like the local authority with definite guidelines and inspection.

Consultation Question 52:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Imperative but it should be done in advance by local authority approval.

I think the number of weddings we do each week is underestimated.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes via the local authorities.

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Local authority approval with national guidelines.

Please share your views below:

General Register Office guidelines nationally and implemented by local authorities.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Often asked if mother's details can be added as well as the father's.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If in Wales.

English only in England.

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

?

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Essential.

No

Please expand on your answer:

If you have a combination of the above then what kind of ceremony was it. Is there enough to record if any apply?

Consultation Question 58:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There need to be respectful compliance by the couple that the legal marriage they are entering is binding and legally understood.

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Regarding cohabiting, it seems to be a financial arrangement not marriage. Not something we as registrar's can prove.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

?

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

So leave it to local authority Registrar's.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

The current Registrar Generals licence should be the benchmark.

I have experience of a bitter family whose mother married days before to a recent acquaintance. She was terminally ill and died soon after the wedding. Only for the groom to weeks later claim the estate.

I strongly believe that the notice and registrar's involvement should be the sole system along with the Arch Bishop of Canterbury's licence.

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Very difficult due to the timescale. Presently the partner gives notice and often the terminally ill person is not strong enough and died soon after the wedding.

Couples being together a period of time should be considered with family approval?

Consultation Question 64:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See above. Depends on requirements.

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Medical success can surprise many.

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure how this would work or pros/cons.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Easier without discriminations.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Depends on wording and timescale.

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am in a landlocked county and shall leave this to coastal consultees.

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If this is the way the law is allowing then yes.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Always thought this was an archaic system but it is a deterrent to those who just do not want to attend at an office.

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

As long as backed by medical evidence. It was never easy taking money from people in such circumstances.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Popular choice.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Otherwise inflated and those concerned need to be aware e.g. online.

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

?

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Fees vary from authority to authority for the same service. Sometimes there is a significant difference. Presently I am in a poorly rewarded authority compared to neighbouring authorities.

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

?

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Often done in a house with one party lying down. Seems a little unfair for this informal but well received ceremony.

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Probably no fee but registrar's to be paid by local authority. We don't earn much.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Service to be paid for.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Most couples who approach our Register Office about marriage follow through with there wedding, even if it was not they first envisaged regarding venue.

Couples living abroad often gave up trying because of residency requirements and notices. They could add a few figures.

Couples going from our countries to marry abroad may like new options to marry here.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Marriage is now a business and I have seen over the years, fees inflate and vary greatly. I would like a national structure to bring in uniformity and fairness.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Local authorities are under funded so facilities are not always grand. However they provide a welcome choice to couples.
Very loathed to accept private homes. Large house have potential. But officiating with schedules at smaller house with pets is difficult and a risk element.
Alcohol rules need always to be considered.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

As a registration officer we send teams out to cover many weddings in one day. Alas they cannot all have the favourite timeslot. More funding for registration gives more rewards in return as we can conduct more ceremonies and not disappoint couples when already booked , often years in advance.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Need more funding and inspection staff in my opinion to view potential venues.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

More workload but they must oversee all aspects. The Registration service needs funding appropriately.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think it needs reviewing regarding couples travelling from abroad. In my experience it was UK nationals wanting to marry in England so their families could be at their wedding here. However, they were often put off by the legal preliminaries.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD8W-H

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-21 09:27:59

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Registration Service - [REDACTED] County Council

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Some venues in my district had not understood the meaning of social distancing under Covid guidelines. For example: recently a couple wanted an outside wedding under a gazebo, one which did not meet 2 metre social distancing for registrars, the couple and witnesses.

This caused the ceremony to be delayed because the venue manager wanted the gazebo to be measured in our presence, claiming an independent consultant who has contributed towards the government guidelines had said it met the requirements. The venue thought registrars came under the same bubble (n.b. the majority of [REDACTED] Registrars/Ceremony Officers are home based) and therefore did not factor in the registrars would need to be 2 metres apart. They also had not factored in that 2 metre distance between the registrars and witnesses, and witnesses with the couple.

To prevent further anguish for the couple, two alternative options were offered to the couple:

(1) The ceremony goes ahead under the gazebo, but everyone required to be under the gazebo would have to wear masks - this was declined by the couple.

(2) A mock ceremony to be conducted outside the gazebo in the presence of guests, and then the legal part of the ceremony concluded in a licensed room at the venue with just the couple, witnesses and registrars - this was the couples preferred option.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Agree. When I joined [REDACTED] registration in 2012 I was surprised to learn that couples had to be living in the registration district 7 days prior to giving notice, and wait a further 28 days. Time for change and a redesigned legislation fit for the 21st century.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree with the proposal to provide a more flexible approach for couples to be able to give notice.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

I am opened minded on this subject; timing for couples will depend on availability of an officiant and the availability and suitability of a venue.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I have mixed feelings about this. While I am an advocate for embracing technology I am concerned interviewing remotely we may miss the signs of a possible forced marriage.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

If notice to be given outside England and Wales and both are relevant nationals the following should apply:

(1) If resident in Scotland, then just a valid passport and proof of residence in the UK.

(2) If resident in a specified Commonwealth country or territory, on a naval ship at sea, then a valid passport together with two references provided from individuals living in the UK who have known the person(s) wishing to give notice for a minimum period (to be determined).

If exempt from immigration control the following should apply:

(1) They are a full time member of the home forces (HM Forces) subject to service law - regular (non-reserve)

(2) They are a reservist with HM Forces deployed or due to be deployed - this means reserve forces are only exempt at those times they are subject to service law

(3) They are a member of a Commonwealth force or a force raised under the law of:

(i) colony

(ii) protectorate

(iii) protected state, who is undergoing or due to undergo training in the UK with any body, contingent or detachment of the home forces including NATO forces

(4) Persons who are serving or posted for service in the UK as a member of a visiting force (including those referred to above)

(5) Persons who are serving or posted for service as a member of an international headquarters or defence organisation designated in the Order of Council

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree with online, but please bear in mind even though we now live in a technological age not everyone will have access to online facilities/services.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Agree

2. Partially agree. I am a strong believer that the registration officer taking the notice should not officiate the wedding. The person officiating should always be independent, to minimise the risk of a forced marriage.

Consultation Question 12:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle providing the substitute officiant is a registered officiant with the authority to officiate a wedding. Also, in line with answer given to 11.2

Please share your views below:

Depends what you mean by 'other circumstances'?

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view on this

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The assumption is that this is a law dating back to the 1940s

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No view on this

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

1. Yes

2. Separately or together, before banns are published.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle, providing the organisation are registered, the nominated officiants are allocated a unique registration number issued by the GRO or by the County/Local Authority on behalf of the GRO, and are trained and follow the requirements as stipulated in the proposed new laws.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view on this

Please share your views below:

Agree in principle, providing all registered officiants from organisations (i.e. are not non-religious organisations) and independent celebrants, are trained by GRO or by County/Local Authorities in accordance to the new laws. Every officiant to be issued a unique registration number by GRO or County/Local Authority on behalf of the GRO. Celebrants/officiants who are not registered would not be permitted to conduct civil weddings or civil partnerships.

Excluding County/Local Authorities, types of organisation that could be considered are:

Venues

The Institute of Professional Celebrants

United Kingdom Society of Celebrants

Association of Independent Celebrants

The Fellowship of Professional Celebrants

Religious faiths, excluding the Church of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, and the Roman Catholic Church.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle, providing the relevant governing authority officiants are registered and trained, and follow the requirements as laid out in the proposed new laws.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Strongly agree - religious and non-religious organisations should be excluded if they promote purposes that are unlawful or contrary to public policy or morality.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Agree providing these individuals are registered and trained according to the proposed new laws.

Consultation Question 28:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Why just religious and non-religious belief organisations? There should be a public list of all registered trained registrars/ceremony officers and celebrants/officiants, held by the GRO and/or managed by GRO or County/Local Authorities.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle, providing they are trained by GRO or at County/Local Authority level, and agree to adhere to the new laws.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Fit and proper should also include background checks (e.g. DBS Checks)

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Fit and proper should also include background checks (e.g. DBS Checks)

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle, providing they are trained by GRO or at County/Local Authority level, and agree to adhere to the new laws.

If independent officiants are allowed to register then there must be an agreed set of fees for a ceremony. This would ensure consistent pricing and protect couples from paying exorbitant fees charged by independent officiants and organisations.

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason why we should prevent officiants from being able to advertise their services independently, and as a member of an organisation. However, this should only happen providing they are registered with the GRO or County/Local Authority, and have been issued a unique registration number by the governing body.

Only one unique registration number to be issued to Officiants, and they must adhere to guidelines and maintain training set by the GRO or County/Local Authority. Any advertising of services must display their unique registration number. This would provide couples piece of mind knowing their officiant is officially registered and trained by the GRO or County/Local Authority to fulfil the duties and responsibilities required by the new laws.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

How would we determine if an organisation fulfilled these responsibilities?

Fit and proper should include background checks (e.g. DBS Checks).

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle, although I think it should be GRO and/or the County/Local Authority.

Also, if there are a number of nominated officiants over a period of time (to be determined) who have failed to comply within an organisation, then the body who nominated them should also be de-authorised.

Fit and proper should include background checks (e.g. DBS Checks).

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Why could it not be GRO and/or the County/Local Authority responsible for monitoring independent officiants?

Fit and proper should include background checks (e.g. DBS Checks).

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be a minimum of one month allowed for registration, which allows for the processing of registration documentation and DBS checks.

Also, officiants should only be allowed to officiate at a civil wedding or civil partnership once they have received confirmation of a unique registration number allocated to them by GRO or the County/Local Authority on behalf of GRO.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Within a time period e.g. 6 months

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

A reading or a piece of music should be allowed.

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Does it really matter! Surely its about what the couple want on the day.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

in the air, and/or

Please share your views below:

No sky diving weddings

No bungee weddings

No underwater weddings

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle, providing a fee can be charged by officiants to cover their travel time, admin time and mileage expenses.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Written in plain English not legal jargon

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If we are thinking of allowing couples to marry in any location a pre-approval process is irrelevant, and officiant approval should suffice.

Refer answer and additional note to question 51

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle if registering in Wales, but not sure it would work in England unless the forms are printed in both English and Welsh for the benefit of non-speaking Welsh registrars.

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle but couple must still meet with a registrar to finalise notice of marriage, which minimises the risk of a forced marriage taking place.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

1. Mistakes to be notated on the schedule or marriage document and initialled by the individual whose details need to be changed.

2. Witnesses should be present at a ceremony.

3. If a schedule has not been signed, subject to the officiant confirming the ceremony took place, a suitable time and should be agreed to sign the document in the presence of a registration officer by the person(s) required to sign the document.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

No

Please expand on your answer:

1. Agree
2. Must be with a registered officiant not with a person acting as officiant.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

None spring to mind

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle providing a registration officer can visit the person(s) with a terminal illness at the parties residence, if they are not well enough to visit a register office.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Agree

2-4. Disagree, this will not help to minimise the risk of sham or forced marriages.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There has to be some form of evidence provided, otherwise the system is open to abuse and potentially sham and forced marriages being missed.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle, but would want further clarification on 'to taking place in the territorial sea' - under what circumstances?

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Yes, weddings should be able to take place in international waters under the law of England and Wales, on board vessels other than cruise ships.

Types of vessel suggestions:

Cable Layers

Dry cargo ships – tramp freighters, bulk carriers, cargo liners, container vessels, barge carriers, Ro-Ro (Roll-on/Roll off) ships, refrigerated cargo ships, timber carriers, livestock & light vehicle carriers.

Liquid cargo ships – Oil tankers, liquefied gas carriers, chemical carriers.

Cross-channel, coastal and harbour ferries.

Special-purpose vessels – exploration, weather and research vessels, deep sea survey vessels, and icebreakers.

Luxury & cruising yachts.

Warships.

Emergency service vessels (e.g. RNLI)

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree name of ship and ship's registration number should be given at notice. But why not allow a couple to give the name of the officiant?

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Any registered officiant with GRO from a County/Local Authority, organisation, non-religious organisation or independent celebrant should be allowed to officiate on ships

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Any registered officiant with GRO from a County/Local Authority, organisation, non-religious organisation or independent celebrant should be allowed to officiate on ships

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

No view on this

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be a national fee charged for a registered officiant with GRO from any County/local Authority, organisation, non-religious organisation or independent celebrant, to ensure that the location is safe and dignified, to ensure consistency in chargeable fees.

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The fee should only be set at a national level by GRO to ensure consistency in chargeable fees.

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Agree in principle, providing there is one national standardised fee for any registrar/ceremony officer, and officiant from any organisation, non-religious organisation or independent celebrant to officiate weddings. This would ensure consistency and fairness for couples. Travel fees should be charged on a mileage basis, and alternative means of transport charged at cost.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

If the party only has hours or a few days to live - then yes there should be no fee.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. The current law does discourage some couples from getting in England and Wales; choosing to marry abroad instead. It is antiquated and long overdue a review to meet present times.

2. Difficult to forecast if new proposals would facilitate an increase in the number of couples getting legally married.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

There is a lack of consistency in costs charged to couples to get married. Fees for two registrar/ceremony officers to officiate at civil weddings vary considerably across local authorities, and registered venues charge exorbitant amounts to hire. Bookings are limited by the number of registers held available by local authorities. The current laws are antiquated and extremely restrictive.

1. Without surveying County/Local Authorities it is difficult to know availability and costs of register office weddings. However, based on the costs charged by the registration service I work for, the costs seem fair, but availability could be better for statutory weddings, which currently only take place on Monday's.

2. Couples will have to pay for giving a notice of intent to marry. A non-refundable deposit for a registrar/ceremony officers, or celebrant/officiant to attend, depending on ceremony and type of venue. The balance of ceremony fees minus non-refundable deposit. A certificate fee of £11. Also, potentially admin fees for any changes. Overall the costs can vary from approximately £130 to £700 depending on ceremony and type of venue.

Costs vary considerably at approved premises for couples wishing to hold their ceremony there. The costs cover venue hire for the day, food, drink and entertainment etc. Couples are effectively paying for a complete package. Couples can typically spend on average £6,000 for their wedding venue, with some venues charging in excess of £10,000, and an average of £4,000 for dry hire in [REDACTED], pre-Covid. This does not factor in the additional expenses they incur for giving notice of marriage, and paying for two registrars/ceremony officers to attend to officiate their ceremony, car hire, flowers etc.

3. Places of worship; the Church of England is a state church and therefore fees are set by parliament. The Roman Catholic Church are not listed as state church's, hence there is some variation in costs, but overall they are similar to CoE costs. From a budget perspective the costs could be considerably lower depending on the type of venue chosen by couples to celebrate their wedding with family and friends.

4. Difficult to know, hopefully they would fall within a similar cost range, or lower to item 2 above.

5. Weddings irrespective of faith should be legally recognised. There should not be the need for a separate legalised wedding. Costs; refer to item 2 response above

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. Agree to continue offering register office weddings as a cheap option, but officiated only by registrar/ceremony officers registered with the County/Local Authority.

Demand may drop if the proposal is passed to allow couples to marry anywhere of their choice.

2. A pre-approval process should take place, for health and safety reasons. A special license to be issued to couples opting to hold their ceremony at an alternative venue (i.e. non-approved venue), charged at a fixed rate set by the GRO.

3. Weddings irrespective of faith should be legally recognised. There should not be the need for a separate legalised wedding.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. If the proposal is to allow couples to choose the location for their ceremony, it would be unfair for venues currently registered as an approved venue to be charged a registration fee. A possible option would be to set a fee (e.g. granting a special license) for alternative venues chosen by couples, which would generate income for the GRO or County/Local Authority. Revenue could also come by charging a fee for officiants named by registered organisations and non-religious (either charged by individual or as a fixed organisational fee), and registered independent celebrants.

2. County/Local Authority registrar/ceremony officers should not be treated any differently to celebrants/officiants who are listed as independent celebrants or by registered organisation. They should also be allowed to advertise their services. There should be one uniform registration for registrar/ceremony officers/ celebrants/officiants held by the GRO, and administered by the GRO and/or County/Local Authority.

The introduction of a marriage schedule system would dispense with the need to send out two registrars/ceremony officers under the current rules. Which in turn should help contribute to reducing the amount of fees couples have to pay to get married.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. Agree it should be possible to host weddings without requiring Government pre-approval. However, there should be some form of pre-approval for health and safety reasons. This could be fulfilled by the registered registrar/ceremony officer/celebrant/officiant attending the ceremony.

2. Agree registrar/ceremony officers should continue to be available for civil weddings. Also, sessionals (i.e. casual staff) taken on by County/Local Authorities as registrar/ceremony officers should be allowed to advertise as an independent celebrant.

Taking [REDACTED] as an example: the majority of registrar/ceremony officers who officiate at weddings are employed as sessionals, employed on an 'as and when needed basis' by [REDACTED] County Council. There is no promise or guarantee of a minimum level of work. Work is allocated based on a sessionals availability. Also, sessionals do not have to accept the work that is offered to them. It would be unfair for anyone employed as a sessional to not be allowed the opportunity to advertise their service as an independent celebrant or be registered with another organisation.

3. I do not have an issue with this. After all, surely its about what the couple wants on the day?

4. If the proposal is to offer couples the freedom to choose where they wish to hold their civil wedding, and to allow registered organisations, non-religious and independent celebrants to officiate ceremonies, and choose their own catering etc., then there is going to be an increase in business opportunities. To what extent though is difficult to say.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

If the proposal to allow organisations, non-religious and independent celebrants is passed by government, County/Local Authorities may see a reduction in wedding and civil partnership bookings.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

There may be some revenue benefit if they are ask to administer and register officiants from organisations, non-religious and independent celebrants.

County/Local Authorities may be able to operate with fewer office staff from an office operational point of view. They potentially would be able to offer more slots for ceremonies. They potentially could reduce their overheads by making all registrar/ceremony officers who only conduct ceremonies, independent celebrants, and also benefit by charging a small registration fee.

Revenue could potentially be generated by charging a 'special license' fee for getting married at alternative venues. Charging a fee for pre-approval of a venue, and for the inclusion of a symbolic ritual, religious content & music, a commemorative certificate on the day etc.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. & 2. Our current laws are antiquated and to restrictive to meet the needs of today's society.

Any increase in choice would be a good thing, which hopefully would encourage more couples in the UK and from overseas to consider getting married in England and Wales.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. & 2. The money spent by couples choosing to get married in England and Wales will potentially help towards contributing to the economic growth in England and Wales.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Our current laws are antiquated and too restrictive to meet the needs of today's society.

Ships registered in the United Kingdom should be allowed to offer couples the opportunity to have a legal wedding ceremony (which might include symbolic rituals), irrespective of which international water or port they are in.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Based on recent industry analysis; a change to our current laws to provide freedom of choice to couples on where they can marry, and the potential income that could be generated by allowing cruise ships registered in the UK to offer legal binding weddings, would be a good thing for both the UK maritime industry and UK economy.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Being employed as a home based sessional registrar/ceremony officer (i.e. casual worker) I am too distant from office operations to comment on the potential costs that could be incurred. However, any new system or modified system to accommodate the new proposals for change, and training of staff, will inevitably incur costs.

Organisations, non-religious organisations and independent celebrants, if authorised by Government should be charged a fee to be authorised to officiate at weddings.

A standard set of fees should be considered, charged by all. This would ensure consistent pricing and protect couples from being charged exorbitant fees by organisations and independent celebrants to officiate the ceremony.

By set fees I mean; cost for giving notice of marriage, admin fees, issue of a marriage schedule, cost of marriage certificate etc set by GRO and administered by GRO and/or County/Local Authority. There should also be a fixed cost for a registrar/ceremony officer, celebrant/officiant to officiate a ceremony (n.b. this must factor in their time for admin duties and any other responsibilities they are expected to fulfil prior to and after the ceremony). This must be a uniform fee across all County/Local Authorities, registered organisations, registered non-religious organisations and independent celebrants to ensure couples are fairly charged. Any other costs for a symbolic ritual, religious content, music, additional ceremony script content, bound scripts etc, are additional costs charged by County/Local Authorities, registered organisations, registered non-religious organisations and registered independent celebrants.

Fees set against the above suggestion, would hopefully be cheaper for couples, than hiring an approved venue and paying for two registrars to attend a civil wedding under the present setup.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDHQ-U

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-21 19:22:49

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Christians not otherwise designated

i am an authorised person for marriage.

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

-

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

n/a

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

some couples have had to postpone their weddings which has been quite stressful. We had some that were delayed in our local church and witnessed the pressure on the persons involved and their families especially given that we believe in following the scriptural basis for marriage so we do not live together before marriage.

Also the inconvenience of the limitations of numbers when they returned home from the ceremony meant the brides parents and bridesmaid having to wait in a nearby carpark while brides married sister visited so as to avoid being over the prescribed numbers. This was unreasonable. furthermore, if the ceremony could have been at home there would be less risk of infection.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

agree

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

agree

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

we usually have 2 who can officiate, this means we are ready if anything delays one of the officiates.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

yes this is sensible if they are able to and the couple are happy and substitute officiant is happy.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

-

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

-

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

-

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

-

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The couple getting married should be able to choose their current Authorised Person officiant from their church

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

if we move to an officiant based system instead of building based, it would be good if the appointment of the officiant could be done by trustees and/or governing authority of that organisation or it's central entity rather than limiting it to just trustees to appoint.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Please share your views below:

-

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

we firmly believe in the sanctity of marriage and that the respecting this and practicing this is key to the success of the marriage.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I agree that organisations that fuel criminal or unlawful activity should be excluded.

However, genuinely held Christian beliefs that are contrary to public policy (such as same sex marriage) shouldn't be excluded

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

-

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

yes this is right, we don't charge for our services, it is not something to be making money on.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

as guidance, subject to the beliefs and values of the church

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

assuming this is for gross mis-conduct

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

assuming this is for gross mis-conduct

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Please share your views below:

-

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

agree as long as the dignity and sanctity of marriage is maintained, not all venues would be suitable. it would be good to be able to marry in the home setting.

Please share your views below:

marriage in the home setting would be good as could avoid other distractions, be more relaxed and be dignified.

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

as long as not too strict and detailed

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Please share your views below:

-

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

details could be put in before ceremony and just signed afterwards

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

-

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

-

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

-

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 77:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 78:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

-

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

-

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

i believe this new legislation could help make it easier for persons to get married which is a committal we believe in and helps stability of such relationships.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

i feel if marriage is allowed in the home setting this could be significantly simpler and save a lot of wasted costs. cost has been a deterrent to some getting married.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

-

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

-

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

-

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

-

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

-

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

it would be good to remove requirements to be resident in uk or to be here for an extended period of time before being allowed to marry in UK. some have had to have extended time off work to stay in UK before they can get married and return home. this can mean substantial loss of earnings which often is a very inappropriate time in life to sustain. Also means they have to find accommodation for that waiting time which can be costly.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

see above

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

-

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

-

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

-

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDRE-S

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-21 19:31:29

About you

What is your name?

Name:
Yasin Mohammed Din

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Barrister at Law

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Married by way of [REDACTED]

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully aware from the outset [REDACTED]

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am aware of the limitations [REDACTED] and how to address any issues that may arise due to my vocation.

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A as it was a personal choice in the knowledge of what legal rights were not being acquired.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I would have to agree with this. In the pre Covid era the world that we lived in allowed us to move freely not only from one area to another but other nations subject to immigration controls. Although freedom of movement from the European perspective is to come to an end, this does not mean that people will not move from one country to another. Relationships in the digital age are not limited to any particular locations, the use of dating Apps and websites means that people have a broadened spectrum from which they may find a partner.

The residency requirement is an anarchic feature of the era which no longer exists and, in the world, where a person identity, address and more importantly nationality can be easily identified there is no requirement for them to have lived at a particular place for a particular time in order to be eligible for marriage. Marriage is recognised by the state at a national level, not a local level and the residence requirement does not materially impact upon the formalities of marriage.

If the proposal was not to be implemented, the question that needs to be answered would be what purpose of requirement in a world where a person can be identified digitally? From a historical point having residency allowed a degree of certainty to be established as to who the parties were, but that was in a non-digital era. The residency requirement in the digital world will become more of a hinderance to those who have developed their relationships via modern means of communication and reside in different locations, or even countries.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would agree with the proposal and a party should be able to start the notice period either online, by post or in person. I would not advocate that at this stage that the giving of the notice should be wholly online as it would not cater for those who do not have the means to use any online process due to any limitations or disability. Even if there is a further pandemic or national emergency one should not move to a full online platform until all of the UK is covered by superfast broadband or 4G which is not the case as of yet.
(https://www.ofcom.org.uk/\_\_data/assets/pdf\_file/0017/202571/connected-nations-summer-update-2020.pdf).

Giving notice via an online platform or by post should have added layers to verify the person identity, so it should include ID/passport, address verifications and an email and address for each party as part of the process. Any online or postal process ought to incorporate a notice akin to statutory notice that information is being provided by the relevant party themselves as opposed to a third party. This is to address the issue of consent from the outset as if a person is being forced etc.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

This should be tailored by the circumstances, there can be a standard 3 days period, but even this must be subject to a variance when dealing with those who are terminally ill where time may be of the essence. So where there is a need the period can and should be shorter.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I would agree that interviews should move towards an online platform allowing for remote interviews to take place, but I would not advocate that a wholly remote based system.

The issue with a full remote system is that a person could be perceived to be alone in the room and visually that may be the case, but it could be the case that the person who is subject to the interview may be either being recorded by a third party or being watched via another phone or tablet or being asked to read from a cue card etc all which would be outside the view of the interviewer. If this was to occur, then it would place a party in a situation of being monitored or controlled which would not be evident and could lead to marriages arising where there is a lack of consent or capacity in the absence of any concerns raised which could lead to an in-person interview. Hence, if the interviewer has no concerns pre the interview then those who are being forced or lack capacity may slip through. The comfort of direct human interaction could lead to information being volunteered when seeking to establish if a person has been forced or not or if they have capacity.

I accept that the way forward is remote for many things including marriage but as part of the process any guidelines or a code of practice should use a sliding scale as to when it would be appropriate for an in-person interview to take place in the absence of any concerns or flags being raised. In terms of a sham marriage, one may be in a position to extract information from the age, location or nationalities of the parties, but this would not be as easy when it comes to capacity or consent especially where the parties seem to be of a similar age and nationality. In terms of consent and capacity.

So how could one filter the genuine from the sham, the one who is consenting and the one who is not or who has the capacity to consent? I would propose that a matrix based upon the persons age, any known disabilities, cultural background, any request not to publish details of the notice of marriage and level of education be used as opposed to any form ethnicity grouping which may be seen as profiling. I would suggest a table based upon the following grouping to be used to determine that it would be more appropriate to interview in person where the ages and the nationalities are similar, equally where they are different it could be used to increase the risk of the marriage lacking consent, capacity or it being a sham.

1. Very High risk aged 16-18
2. High Risk aged 18-25
3. Medium Risk aged 25-30
4. Low Risk aged 30 plus

Hence in the notice being given sufficient data should be captured to allow any concerns to be flagged up and a decision then to be made whether it should be in-person interview as opposed to a remote interview.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes this should be accommodated as we now live in a digital world where relationship can arise between parties who live in different parts of the UK or even abroad provided they are exempt from immigration control. This would also assist those who are working overseas either as Crown employees or otherwise.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I would agree with this in order to address the issues of forced marriages, sham marriages and those who lack capacity as it could allow others to come forward with information to challenge the validity of the marriage application. Thus, any request not to publish the information should be followed up with a request for further information with a view to holding an in-person interview if the elements at Q7 also appear.

In terms of the 'star crossed lovers' they may be marrying against the wishes of other, be it family, or others should not be published to protect them. The question is how can this be done without the system being abused by other, in other words how can one balance the competing interests? I would suggest that where a party seeks to withhold the information being displayed publicly, then it should trigger further enquiries to establish whether there is a need for an interview to take place with the parties to address the risks they face if the information is displayed publicly and to provide evidence from other organisations such as the Police, Social Services, Refuges etc which shows or will corroborate any risk to the parties as well as what I have said at Q7. This may filter out those seeking to abuse the system and allow those who have face a genuine risk to remain anonymous.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As the Covid 19 situation has highlighted there can be external factors which can affect any timelines the parties have and the period of 12 months is reasonable.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I would agree with the proposal of 11.1, but I would also advocate that the place which employs the Officiant should also be noted on the schedule. This would give notice to those who are intending to marry that the Officiant is linked to an organisation which would allow the parties the room to check to ensure that by using this Officiant they would end up being legally married. It would also allow for greater flexibility of who could officiate should the need arise which I will address at Q12.

It may be easier and more beneficial when one considers 11.2 for the power to provide an alternative officiant to the organisation which the officiant is a part of. This would allow for a less administrative route to obtaining an amended schedule as the organisation who would be more familiar with the process would apply as opposed to the parties who one assumes would have less experience in having a schedule amended.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I do agree and in order for this to be an effective proposal one should have regard to either

(a) Nominating two Officiants, the second being the substitute.

(b) Nominating the organisation as the Officiant who could then select the relevant person to officiate on the day, thus, allowing for greater freedom should an issue arise. This would assist in having to find a new Officiant at the last minute.

(c) Create a power that would allow an organisation to delegate the responsibility of officiating the marriage especially in the case of issues arising on the day of the marriage, in the absence of having the power to delegate the role to another would more likely than not cause a delay in the marriage taking place.

Please share your views below:

In any of the circumstances the insertion of a substitute would need to be justified in circumstances other than death or sudden illness, as these both could be corroborated, but where there is a delay or there are other circumstances which mean the officiant was no longer available, then it should not be a matter of just swapping one with another. As firstly one has to establish the reasonableness of a substitute being used, how long is the officiant delayed, how ill are they, can they participate via a phone or tablet etc. furthermore, one has to approach any change by factoring in the matrix I suggested at Q7 in order to address if there any issues over consent, capacity and knowledge of the status of the marriage which have caused the 'delay' or 'illness' etc.

Should there be a valid reasons for the delay which could be corroborated then any substitute should be required to confirm that they are satisfied that (a) the parties have capacity, (b) they are consenting and (c) they are aware of the implications of status that would arise from the ceremony. Any late withdrawal in the absence of reasons identified would need to be considered carefully, just in case the officiant withdrew due to concerns which have not been aired.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view on this

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view on this

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No view on this

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

No strong views on this but it would address the issues of capacity and consent

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes, this should be case, but the parties should be given the choice separately if they wish to make the declaration independently, this being an opportunity for them to raise any issues as to consent etc

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

This would do away from the distinction between a religious and non religious marriage and perhaps the address the issues of the current legislation being discriminatory in nature as highlighted by Harrison & Ors, R (On the Application of) v Secretary of State for Justice [2020] EWHC 2096 (Admin) (31 July 2020) . This area I will address in Q85.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I would agree with the proposal of the Officiant being subject to legal duties , the obligation upon any officiant must go beyond being a mere observer, the parties who appear before such a person relying on the Officiant to start the process of altering their status from one of being in relationship to one of being recognised by the state as being an union which then brings the trappings of being recognised as being married. If the role is merely to observe, then they serve no real purpose in them attending in person and the role could be undertaken remotely.

1. In terms of consent this is an issue that should be revisited at this stage as it may be the case that between the period of the notice being given and the actually wedding a party has had a change of heart and is now being in placed in a situation where either emotionally they are compelled or other circumstances are compelling them to enter the marriage and again the importance of human interaction may bring to the surface the issues, thus, they should go through all elements to ensure that the person does consent.

2. One of the issues that has arisen particularly when it comes to faith-based marriages is that they have fallen foul of the formalities of the 1949 Act meaning that parties found themselves in the situation of the law taking the view that they entered into a non-qualifying ceremony which would be afforded no protection. This led to the courts seeking to infer intention as per via Hudson v Leigh [2009] EWHC 1306 1306 (Fam) and MA v JA [2012] EWHC 2219 (Fam)I will address this issue more at Q58. By placing a legal obligation upon the officiant, it will mean;

a. There would be a duty to explain to the parties the effect of the ceremony which in the case of an Islamic or other faith-based ceremony would mean that the parties would understand the difference between the legal and religious marriage, allowing them to consider their positions.

b. By the above becoming part of the process, it will also mean this issues of marriage will be discussed much earlier giving more scope to address any issues relating to the limping marriages.

c. In the case of where an Islamic marriage is concerned, the Officiant would be in a position to inform the parties that the marriage may be a non-qualifying ceremony if they did not incorporate certain elements it would not be recognised so it would (in part) address the issue of a party entering into a religious based marriage in ignorance.

3. By discharging this requirement, it would mean that there would be a higher chance of the marriage being regarded as complying with the formalities of marriage.

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No strong view on this

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be much easier

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view on this

Consultation Question 23:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Whilst this may operate well for religious organisations that have a nominated body that can regulate such, it would not apply to all, especially Muslims. The Muslim Council of Mosques ( <https://mcb.org.uk/about/>) refers to having 500 members of which some are Mosques but statistics from 2015 onwards show that there far more than 500 mosques, there being 1242 in 2015(Getting Married; Law Commission Scoping Paper, 17th December 2015, Figure 10, page 49, http://www.lawcom.gov.uk/app/uploads/2015/12/Getting\_Married\_scoping\_paper.pdf ), 1975 (Naqshbandi, Mehmood( 2017) UK Mosque Statistic/Masjid Statists 16th September 2017, Muslims in Britain http://www.muslimsinbritain.org/resources/masjid\_report.pdf in 2017 and the Commission paper noting that only 298 are registered (Paragraph 2;139 - Law Commission Paper; Getting Married: A Consultation Paper on Weddings Law 3rd September 2020 page 60). What this highlights is that there are many places of worship which can not only marry Muslims but also provide the Imams to carry out the marriage and the lack of any cohesive structure when it comes to regulating them does not exist. So one of the issues would be how to devise or define what an organisation would be who could then nominate the Officials .

2. There seems not to be the cohesion for an national organisation for all Muslims mosques from which a pool of Officials can be derived, but on a local level there are numerous mosques who act in concert with others in their localities subject to the Bareilvi- Deobandi-Wahabi matrix may be in a position to act, this could apply to other faiths as well. In light of this if the proposal is to be followed one, should seek to use the system of an authorised person that is already in place by the 1949 Act which would mean that Mosques and other faith-based organisations would need to register in order for them to nominate an Official. This may result in lowering the risk of a non-qualifying ceremony arising.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No strong view on this

Please share your views below:

No view on this

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, it should be the case as otherwise it could give rise to them being treated differently, the fact that they do not wish to follow any of the old religions should not be a bar to them being married as ultimately the state since its interception in the arena of marriage by way of the 1533 Ecclesiastical Licences Act (Chapter 21 25 HEN) has slowly moved the concept of marriage of one being governed by the church to one by the state and this resulted in the recognition of qualifying ceremonies which did not have to adhere to the Abrahamic pillars of belief and marriage today no longer recognises that faith has to be a prerequisite and it seems we have long moved on from the views of Lord Penzance in 1 Hyde v Hyde and Woodmansee 1866 [LR] 1.P.D.130 that "Marriage as understood in Christendom is the voluntary union for life of one man & one woman, to the exclusion of all others" when this is read in light of The Civil Partnership Act 2004, The Gender Recognition Act 2004, The Marriage (Same sex Couples) Act and The Civil Partnership, Marriages and Deaths (Registration etc) Act 2019, then what one sees is although the Abrahamic faiths outlawed such, they are recognised by the state. This highlights the move away from an adherent belief in the laws of God as being the precursor to having a belief of a power or being which recognises the marriage of any and all persons regardless of sex.

In regard to meeting for services, these should be extended from the limitations of meeting in person and should be extended to remote attendances which could be corroborated by way of a booking in or a login process.

In terms of a 20-member rule, I would agree to this, as it need not be a universal belief. In terms about beliefs about marriage, one has to note that the definition of a civil partnership as per section 1 Civil Partnership Act 2004 does not import a belief requirement, nor does it refer to any relationship having to be formed on a particular ground, it merely recognises that a union between two parties can arise. There is a distinction between a marriage which is often rooted in the faith system and a union which is more modern term but both in essence serving the same purpose, that being society and the state recognising them as having a valid entitlement to be recognised as a single unit as opposed to two entities. I see issues by hinging reliance on the word marriage.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

There are difficulties with this proposal when it comes to faiths which have differing views. Looking at from the Islamic perspective and where a Mosque either employs or wishes to employ an imam who has operated or has lived in another country where the laws of that country have allowed marriages which are perceived to be against public policy or morality. For example, if the Imam has conducted marriages of those under the age of 16 or conducted polygamous marriages would it be fair to exclude the religious organisation? Whilst both of these acts which I have highlighted are not permissible in this country, first one by the 1949 Act and the second one by the 1973 Act, but where they have occurred overseas and the parties to the marriage were not domiciled in this country then they would be both recognised subject to the lex loci celebrationis principles (Hashmi v Hashmi [1972] Fam, 36 (1970)). Polygamy which has occurred overseas is subject to Section 5 of the Private International Law (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1995 and would be recognised but Section 2(2) Immigration Act 1988 only grants one wife a right to abode in this country. Even if the marriage not palatable to our societal norms as in the case of Alhaji Mohammed v Knott 1969 1 QB 1 where the marriage had taken place with a child (which eventually led to a change in the Immigration Rules as to what age was deemed appropriate for marriage as per Appendix FM Rule E-ECP.2.3 – Immigration Rules). or legal it does not mean it would not be recognised the principles of lex loci celebrationis and international law.

Hence if the Imam (or any other) had not broken any laws, then would it really be fair to exclude such. Any exclusion would have to be based upon respecting international law so that a religion or a group would not be discriminated against or be seen to. If it was the case that a Mosque employed such a person then they could fall foul of this provision as what is seen as moral and palatable in this country does not mean others hold the same views.

To exclude on this basis could give rise to discrimination, therefore any definition of what is unlawful or contrary to public policy would have to factor in the laws of other countries before seeking to exclude any organisation on this basis.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes I would agree as it could be used to address the issues that were raised in Q12

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes as this would allow for a person prior to any marriage to be able to check if the officiant is actually who they say they are as well to increase the chances of a valid marriage arising.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, this would allow for others who have the requisite skills to officiate. This would be of assistance in terms of marriages within the Muslim community the Nikah ceremony is usually conducted by the Imam of the local mosque that either the parties attend or which their families attend. In the case where the parties are seeking to marry against the wishes of their families, they would be able to turn to others who would be independent of a Mosque or even a community to have the ceremony conducted which could follow the formalities of the Marriage Act 1949 giving rise to a valid marriage, otherwise they may be pushed into the arena of only having a religious marriage which would be a non-qualifying ceremony. So to avoid

One also has to have regard to inadvertently creating a cartel system where the officiants only come from a set pool which may become a hinderance to those who do not comply to an 'imposed values' meaning that those who go against the views of a community-based organisation could be excluded.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I would agree that this should be the case but this cannot be one size fits all as consideration must be given to the status of the person, in the sense what is their immigration status and also regard will need to be had to the effects of international law as well.

Where the officiant is either a British citizen either by birth, by descent or by way of naturalisation then a fit and proper test will be reasonably straightforward as DBS based checks can take place as well as the reliance on reference etc.

Where the individual that has been employed by an organisation and who has a precarious immigration status this is a factor which may need to be added into in the assessment as to whether the person is required to go through a full test or an abridged version of being a 'fit and proper person'. The Supreme court noted that any person who has anything less than an indefinite right to remain in this country then they are to be treated as being in a precarious position as per para 44 "that everyone who, not being a UK citizen, is present in the UK and who has leave to reside here other than to do so indefinitely has a precarious immigration status for the purposes of section 117B(5)"( Rhuppiah v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2018] UKSC 58 (14 November 2018)). Hence anyone employed from overseas would in the absence of holding indefinite leave to remain would fall into this group. The effect of having a precarious immigration status is that these persons are subject to the rigours of immigration control and this issue would be relevant when considering the position of the likes of Imam etc who have entered the country as ministers of religion or religious workers who are be nominated as officiants. Looking at this issue from the Islamic organisations which are primarily mosques, they tend to sponsor overseas Imam meaning that those they employ to conduct marriage services are subjects to the rigours of Tier 2 and Tier 5 of the current Immigration rules. Rule 245HB (a) for Tier 2 and for Tier 5 to meet rule 245ZO (a) requires them to show that the general grounds of refusal do not apply to them. Meaning at the point of entry they have to show that they are suitable as per Paragraph's 320(2) (a to d) (https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment\_data/file/673999/GGFR-Section-2-v29.0EXT.PDF) so that they are free of criminal convictions, and that there are no reason for them to be excluded for the public good under paragraph 320(6). At the point of any extension they have to show that they are still suitable as per paragraph 322( https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment\_data/file/674001/GGFR-Section-4-v29.0EXT.PDF). (These rules are to be updated by the new points based system).

The fact they need to comply with such requirements would show that the Secretary of State has already addressed this particular issue and where the officiant position is a precarious one, then regard must be had to their immigration status to determine if they are fit and proper when it comes to character and if they are free of any incumbrancers then then they may not have to go through the same rigours given that they are monitored on a periodic basis by the secretary of state who can curtail their leave, remove or deport them via the immigration powers.

The fit and proper persons test when it comes to any proposes officiant having come through the Immigration routes should also be read in light of international law. For example If an Imam had originated from Pakistan where subject to complying with Section 6 of The Muslim Family Laws Ordinance 1961

(<http://punjablaws.gov.pk/laws/777a.html>) as updated (24th March 2015 <http://www.punjablaws.gov.pk/index3.html> ) which allows a person in Pakistan to have a second wife and that Imam had officiant over it should not be a bar given that Section 5 Private International Law (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1995 and the lex loci celebrationis (Awuku v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2017] EWCA Civ 178 (23 March 2017) Para 15 ) would recognise such an act, hence any test should not refer to the acts which if permissible by the law of the land from which they originated conflicted with the law of the land here. Thus, any test should not seek to exclude them on the basis of public policy or morality alone.

In terms of further developments as in CPD the commission should have regard to the fact the English that is required for a Minister of Religion to enter is B1 Common Reference Level (<https://www.coe.int/en/web/common-european-framework-reference-languages/table-1-cefr-3.3-common-reference-levels-global-scale>) in the absence of coming from an English speaking nation or holding a requisite qualification to show that they are proficient. Thus, any test for CPD should be tailored to a level of English not above B1.

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

31.1 Yes, they should be

31.2 Yes to ensure that can explain the effects upon the parties

31.3 In regards to this I would refer to the points I have made re the issue of English at Q30.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I do as it could encourage officiants to turn this into a vocation where the main concerns if monetary value as opposed to remaining vigilant when it comes to consent and capacity. In essence it would create competing interests of discharging a duty and financial remuneration.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would agree

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No strong views on this

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should be the case when it comes to all parties and beliefs to ensure marriage is given the weight it should be. One also has to have regard spiritual obligations which occur in most faith based marriages and this is of importance when it comes to potential Muslim officiants who have to uphold the dignity and solemnity of a marriage to ensure that a valid contract of marriage arises. Islamic marriages are based in contracts as per Verses 2;228 "O ye who believe! When ye deal with each other, in transactions involving future obligations in a fixed period of time, reduce them to writing. Let a scribe write down faithfully as between the parties...& get two witnesses, out of your own men, & if there are not two men, then a man & two women, such as ye choose, for witnesses, so that if one of them errs, the other can remind her..." and Verse 24;33 "And let those who find not the means to marry be abstinent till God enriches them of His bounty. Those your right hands own who seek emancipation, contract with them ". Therefore, a Muslim officiant is there to ensure that what is required by their vertical relationship with God occurs to ensure that a contract arises which is fair to the woman as this was the reason why marriages were moved to contractually based agreements to redress the balance (Khadduri 1978, Khadduri, M. (1978). Marriage in Islamic Law: The Modernist Viewpoints. The American Journal of Comparative Law, 26(2), 213-218. doi:10.2307/839669). Islamically a marriage is not just seen as benefit of the two parties but is a benefit to society as a whole (Haifaa 1998, Jawad, Haifaa, (1998) The Rights of Women in Islam, An Authentic Approach Macmillan Press Ltd UK). Hence a marriage from an Islamic view is based upon a contractual agreement between the parties which is subject to the laws of God which are woven into it and any Imam is already obliged to adhere to both the dignity and solemnity of marriage, so it would be prudent to ensure that those who wish to be officiants are aware of their obligations by engaging it as a direct responsibility so that they act where it is needed to ensure that a woman is not about to sign a contract which is on unfavourable terms or which is not recognised as a valid marriage.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should occur provided the guidance is mindful of the belief systems of the parties and does not create a conflict.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes I do, but there must be an overarching mechanism in place as well in the case of where there is a persistent failure on part of the organisation that are monitoring the officiants. As if the organisations are wholly independent without any oversight then it could lead to failures not being addressed. I would recommend that there be periodic audits to ensure compliance or evidence to be provided to show that they have the systems in place to ensure compliance.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I do, I refer you to my responses at Q37, 39 that there should be some form of compliance checking to be introduced by way of Audits or evidence of compliance

The General Register Office should also be given the power to suspend the Officiant pending the resolution of any issues depending upon the circumstances. The General Register Office should also have the power to request evidence of compliance from any organisation where there are a number of officiants who have either failed the fit and proper persons standards or other duties.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have already touched on these issues in the previous answers. The General Register Office where organisations fail to act should be given the power to investigate, this would mean the setting upon an investigatory arm, as well as a panel to determine the matter as well as an appeal mechanism to ensure that there is compliance with the principles of natural justice. To limit such and to promote greater compliance by the organisations and auditing process would help to focus minds not only ensuring compliance but also to address the issue without the General Register Office having to get involved.

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No, as there should be a proscribed period to ensure that those who are given the role are not placed in a position of power which cannot be removed unless they are found not to be fit and proper. It should be a cyclic period of 5 years.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes in principle I agree with what is being proposed, but there are issues when it comes to this. Firstly, there is no definition of a CPD in the consultation paper, but I will work on the premises that it would be similar to what lawyers are required to undertake and if this is the case, I see issues.

The major issue would be how would one define what form of CPD requirement should exist especially where the officiant is person of a religious order who has followed the requisite format of their religious order to be recognised in a particular role? So, the question is what form of CPD is being proposed? Is it in relation to their understanding of their roles or they have maintained their religious studying? If it is in terms of religious studying then this would be problematic as how would you define what religious training a Priest or Imam required, even if you could identify religious training, then how would that apply to Humanists or other beliefs who do not follow the paths of an established existence of an entity etc. In my view to ensure parity between those officiants who come from a religious background and those who do not, then any form of CPD would be based upon how they can ensure a valid marriage arises, training on identifying marriages where there is force or a lack of consent or how to identify a vulnerable person who lacks capacity etc. If the CPD was to be religious based, then it would create a layer of complexity which may not be easy to reconcile.

Consideration would need to be given to a provider of the CPD, one would assume they would have to be accredited etc to provide any training that is required.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

1.a Yes, they should be required to express consent. The requirement for expressing consent has to always take place in order for a valid nikah contract to arise as Islam has not and does not promote marriages against one's will as per verse 4:24 of the Qu'ran which states "Other women are lawful to you, long as you seek them in marriage, with gifts from your property, looking for wedlock". "The importance of consent is evidenced by the hadith relating to Khansa' bint Khidam who was married against her will resulting in the Prophet cancelling her marriage (Sahih al-Bukhari, Vol. 9, Book of Tricks, Hadith 99). Islamically consent need not be oral it can be inferred as noted in the hadith of "A'isha (Allah be pleased with her) reported: I asked Allah's Messenger ﷺ about a virgin whose marriage is solemnised by her guardian, whether it was necessary or not to consult her. Allah's Messenger ﷺ said: Yes, she must be consulted. 'A'isha reported: I told him that she feels shy, whereupon Allah's Messenger ﷺ said: Her silence implies her consent" (Sahih Muslim, Vol. 3, Book of Marriage, Hadith 3305 ). However, silence does not equate to consent in all circumstances; silence will be deemed consent in the context of shyness as opposed to any other emotion that may exist for remaining silent. Accordingly, the expression of consent should be widened to allow non-verbal forms to be acceptable depending upon any religious views as any disabilities or illness that may limit the use of verbal communication. It is important to address this issue at the point of the ceremony in the presence of others to establish consent, which also would address the issue of capacity in part. I would agree with the proposal, the only additional requirement I suggest that it is done in a publicly accessible space or in the presence of two witnesses.

1.b In terms of the issue of the impediment, this is a grey area, if the period between the giving of the notice and then the ceremony it is short, then the likelihood of an impediment arising is very small, so in such circumstances it could be discounted. In the case where the notice is given, a schedule is issued, and parties wait up to the 12th month then an impediment could have arisen in the intervening window.

Accordingly, I would suggest that if the ceremony takes place within a short period of the notice being given i.e., 28days then the requirement for the impediment should be removed, but if it goes beyond this period then it should take place.

42.2 I would agree with this, consent according to belief can arise in different guises, therefore it should not be limited. Using an Islamic marriage as a guide this would arise by way of the Imam who is conducting the ceremony is required to establish consent by asking in the presence of witnesses that the parties' consent which is then to be recorded in the nikah contract. The nikah contract itself would address both the issue of marriage and as well as the issue of polygamy which would be regarded as an impediment.

42.3 I would agree with this as this would allow for non-verbal consent to be used as noted above.

42.4 I would agree with this, but it should be noted that any Islamic marriage would only become effective once the contract had been created which contained a provision for a dowry being incorporated, although this is subject to the differing views of the schools.

Consultation Question 43:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I would agree with this as this provided the form or ceremony did not cause offence to the majority of those who may follow a particular faith. Looking at this from an Islamic perspective there are two issues that I see that could cause offence if there was absolute freedom. The first being that same sex marriages between Muslims are not recognised as Islam only recognises heterosexual marriages, there is unanimity on this point by all the schools (Rehman, J & Polymenopoulou, E (2013), Is Green a Part of the Rainbow? Sharia, Homosexuality & LGBT Rights in the Muslim- Fordham International Law Journal, Volume 37, Issue 1, 2013, Article 7). Given that this is the position then the officiant should be given the right to agree or disagree as to the form of the ceremony which could impinge upon the validity of the religious aspect of any marriage where such a marriage is not going to be recognised as in the case of a same sex Islamic marriage. In other words, the commission should consider the issue of any ceremony transgressing the beliefs of others and where such may occur, there should be a provision for Officiant to interject where the issue of offence may arise.

If the wedding form and ceremony is likely to result in non-compliance of then the Officiant should be able to object, especially where the form may result in not being able to discharge any legal obligation that are implemented.

Following on from this there is the issue does the proposed form or ceremony place a party at a disadvantage and should this be brought to the attention of the parties by the Officiant. Again, looking at the matter from an Islamic perspective it is fact that any marriage which complies with the formalities of the 1949 Act gives rise to a valid marriage which can be terminated, but the termination does not extend to the religious marriage giving rise to the 'limping marriage', a point which needs to be addressed. The 2018 Review advocated that in terms the 'limping marriage' that this issue could be resolved by amending section 10A MCA 1973 to cover Muslims. As I noted in my thesis "Even if this was to be adopted then it would not resolve the issue as if the husband refused to engage in the Talaq process, be it a valid or void marriage, then the woman would still have to find a route out of the Nikah be it via the Sharia council or otherwise to show the religious marriage had ended. Therefore, this would have the converse effect of the current 'limping marriage' issue as until the woman is released from the Nikah, she would not be able to obtain a legal divorce, potentially placing a woman in limbo again." The commission has proceeded not to consider this point, but it is a relevant issue as if the power is given to the officiant to merely agree to the form and ceremony knowing from that any termination would only give rise to a potential for a limping marriage. The Officiant when agreeing to the form and ceremony should be given the power to inform the parties that the incorporation of any religious ceremony would need to be addressed as a discrete point should the marriage come to an end, this is to ensure all parties are aware of the implication of entering the marriage in the form and ceremony that they have chosen to correct any imbalance that may arise. Equally this could apply to other faiths as well, merely following the law does not mean that the law will terminate a religious part of the ceremony.

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view on this

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Although, it would do away with the difference as noted in Harrison v Secretary of State for Justice [2020] EWHC 2096 (Admin) where it was possible, this does not mean it can be applied universally. The extent of what religious content should be allowed and at what point would be addressed as there is a potential for the creation of a hybrid religious-civic marriage formula being created which may not be sufficient to meet the religious requirements but would meet the legal requirements and creating a legally valid marriage but not a valid religious marriage. In terms of an Islamic marriage if the Nikah contract was to be excluded from the civil ceremony process, then even if it had the appearance of an Islamic wedding it would not be recognised as a religious marriage in the absence of the nikah contract being entered into and this could apply to other faiths.

Please share your views below:

Mixing of secular and religious aspects could give rise to the hybridisation of religious acts and being used by others without understanding what offence, if any, they are causing to another's beliefs. The two should remain separate and distinct forms where a conflict could arise.

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No, as the parties to a civil ceremony ought to have the right to follow it with a religious ceremony as a matter of personal choice. Here the state would be interfering in the right of a party to enter into a religious marriage/service in contravention of Article 12 ECHR. The state should remain at arm's length and allow parties to celebrate their marriage in accordance with their beliefs. The reason I say this is that if the law was repealed and the civil ceremonies as per Q45 remained in place, then the parties would need to have a religious ceremony pre the civil and this could result in compliance with their religious views and possibly place the civil wedding on a back foot, resulting in less engagement which could lead to a valid marriage.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No, as one has to have regard to the issue of both consent and capacity of the parties and as noted in the response to Q7 this should remain in place, more so where the parties are younger, to hold behind closed doors may lead to undue influence not only on the participants, but also the Officiant.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provisionally I agree with the proposal as one of the reasons a ceremony which does not occur at the registrar's office can become a non-qualifying ceremony under the 1949 Act is that the ceremony has not taken place on approved premises and by allowing marriages to take place anywhere would remove this obstacle. So to reduce the risk I can see the merits of this proposal.

From a Muslims perspective very often Islamic marriage ceremonies will be conducted at home or a wedding hall which increases the risk of a potential non-compliance with the current provisions. Even where the ceremonies are actually taking place at Mosques it does not mean that these Mosques are registered to conduct ceremonies. The 2015 Law Commissions Scoping Paper noted that there were 1242 mosques, of which 270 were registered (Getting Married; Law Commission Scoping Paper, 17th December 2015, Figure 10, page 49, http://www.lawcom.gov.uk/app/uploads/2015/12/Getting\_Married\_scoping\_paper.pdf), by 2017 there were 1975 places of worship in the United Kingdom (Naqshbandi, Mehmood (2017) UK Mosque Statistics/Masjid Statistics 16th September 2017, Muslims in Britain http://www.muslimsinbritain.org/resources/masjid\_report.pdf), of which 10% were registered (Uddin, Islam. (2018). Nikah-only Marriages: Causes, Motivations, and Their Impact on Dispute Resolution and Islamic Divorce Proceedings in England and Wales. Oxford Journal of Law & Religion. 7. 401-426. 10.1093/ojlr/rwy051.). The Commission noting that 298 Mosques were registered (Paragraph 2; 139 - Law Commission Paper; Getting Married: A Consultation Paper on Weddings Law 3rd September 2020 page 60) given these figures it is likely the majority of Mosques are not registered, thus, increasing the risk of a non-qualifying ceremony arising. The proposal of allowing marriages to take place at any place would reduce the risk for those Muslims who were seeking to following the gateway provided by the 1949 Act.

Provisionally I would agree with the proposal as one of the reasons a marriage which does not occur at the registrar's office can become a non-qualifying ceremony under the 1949 Act is that the ceremony has not taken place on approved premises. By allowing marriages to take place anywhere this would remove this particular formality obstacle. So, to reduce the risk of non-compliance I can see the merits of this proposal especially from a Muslims perspective especially as very often Islamic marriage ceremonies will be conducted at home or at a wedding halls which increases the risk of a potential non-compliance with the current provisions. The Commission noted at para 7.37 and 7.89 that marriages can take place at locations other than the Mosque but makes no reference to the use of wedding halls which has become a feature given the number of Muslim banqueting halls that have come into existence. Even where the ceremonies are actually taking place at Mosques it does not mean that these Mosques are registered to conduct ceremonies as noted in Q23 and at para 7,37. The proposal of allowing marriages to take place at any place would reduce the risk for those Muslims who were seeking to following the gateway provided by the 1949 Act and it could also assist other faiths as well.

Whilst I support the position that a marriage should be allowed to take place anywhere, I have to remind myself of the issue of capacity and consent which may become veiled should the ceremony take place in a private home or other place away from prying eyes where a party may lack consent or capacity. In order to reduce the risk to this group as part of the initial process where the parties fall into the categories identified at Q7, then they must be asked in private by the Officiant to confirm they consent in the preliminary stage and be assessed as to capacity at this point. Even if at the preliminary stage there is no issue, one would still have to revisit the issue as to consent and capacity as part of the ceremony when dealing with the anyone falling into the higher risk grouping. This would require this exercise to be repeated by the Officiant as part of the ceremony and all Officiants should be trained in these areas and be part of the CPD as suggested at Q41.

Although the change will be helpful, it needs to be a balanced approach.

Please share your views below:

No strong view on this to the issue of any risk to any party deemed vulnerable or at risk has been addressed as above.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided the open doors rule applies

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

One must respect the sanctity of another faith and beliefs.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Although, the location is a choice of the parties, it should not be the case that the parties chose a location which may cause offence or slight to others as noted in Q43 .

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is something which they can comment upon as they can assess whether there is to be any offence caused to others, or which violate the beliefs of others to ensure that all are mindful of the right of others as well.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would allow for understanding of the views and beliefs of others,

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view on the matter

Please share your views below:

As above

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No, I would not agree as this could allow the completion of the marriage's documents retrospectively and where this was not within a reasonable period of time it could lead to errors etc. Any marriage documents should contain the information that is referred to at points 1-3 which is what is normally recorded in an Islamic nikah contract. There is no reason why it cannot be completed by the Officiant at the time of the ceremony whether the Officiant is physically or remotely and all the information to be recorded.

Allowing for such to be completed could add a layer of unnecessary complexities as in what if a name is spelt wrong or the details of the parents have been recorded wrongly. These then would need to be corrected causing administrative costs to all. The documents should be completed at the time especially in the light of the technology that we have to record information instantly. Generally, when it comes to Islamic marriages this information is recorded in the contracts that are signed giving rise to the marriage.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No strong view

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes I would agree that this should occur as we now effectively live in a digital society and more so since the start of the Covid 19 pandemic which has accelerated the use of technology in just about every sphere of life and moving to a remote base form of working and interacting is becoming normal. So, it would be a logical step to move towards electronic registration, but any framework should also seek to identify those who lack capacity and consent as well as filtering out sham marriages.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

57.1 I would not agree to this as one has to take into account the factor that one party may have informed the other that notice had been given but in reality, it had not been, or there was a genuine omission of giving the notice ie the notice was given online and due to a technical glitch it was not received, the same being case where the notice was posted, but said not have been received.

Taking the point that one party failed to notify the other party especially when it comes Islamic marriages where there is evidence that some who have entered them have done so in ignorance as noted by Vishal Vora (2020 The Continuing Muslim Marriage Conundrum: The Law of England and Wales on Religious Marriage and Non-Marriage in the United Kingdom, Journal of Muslim Minority Affairs, 40:1, 148-162) who noted that "Within this group, a minority (28%) were unaware of their lack of status... Instead, most respondents only having a nikah marriage, 66% were actively aware of their lack of status". So, some do enter through ignorance, but it also shows that Islamic marriages are taking place through choice as well as it cannot be put down to a "resurgence of fundamentalism", a point made by the Southall Black Sisters and One Law for All to the commission at para 10.174, page 303). In regard to the comments made by Southall Black Sisters and One Law for All I would say they seem to be suggesting that Islam has sought to limit the rights of women which goes against use of the marriage contracts as well as the verses of the Qur'an, (especially Surah Al-Nisa) and the Sunnah. Secondly to equate fundamentalism with marriage has no basis, the two are not interlinked and there seems to be no evidence to support the two especially in the light of there being an active choice to use Islamic marriages as a way of sanctifying the marriage (Uddin, Islam. (2018). Nikah-only Marriages: Causes, Motivations, and Their Impact on Dispute Resolution and Islamic Divorce Proceedings in England and Wales. Oxford Journal of Law and Religion. 7. 401-426. 10.1093/ojlr/rwy051.). The reality is any system can be abused by those who wish to circumvent it but the views expressed by the two organisations in my opinion have no basis, unless they have the requisite evidence to show the link.

However, the real issue should the bad faith of one the parties to the marriage be enough to negate the validity of the marriage? As the law stands an intention to marry does not give rise to an enforceable contractual right where one person can be forced to marry another given the effects of Section 1(1) Law Reform (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1970, so where a person has acted in bad faith and informed the other party that they have given notice and reliance is placed on that, then this should be factored into the equation to address the issues of the marriage becoming a non-qualifying ceremony which I will address at Q 58. As it stands bad faith cannot be relied upon as per the ruling in Her Majesty's Attorney General (Appellant) v Nasreen Akhter & Mohammed Shabaz Khan (Respondents) & Fatima Southall Black Sisters (Interveners) [2020] EWCA Civ 122, but if section 49 Marriage Act 1949 remains unammended then the door is still to argue that bad faith should not be always be the factor and we will head back to the Hudson v Leigh matrix.

In order for a valid marriage to arise it should be the failure of both parties to give notice, therefore, as part of the preliminaries both parties should be made aware of the obligation and a failure thereafter should give rise to the marriage being void. The alternative being that any notice given must be given by both parties to start the process to limit any risks and where there is any such issue at the point of the ceremony make it the duty of the Officiant to inform the parties of the defect, so that it may be rectified.

57.2 I would agree to this as the time frame provided is adequate and a failure to comply with the time frame brings the authority to an end and therefore any marriage post this date cannot and should be regard as being compliant.

57.3 I would agree to this as there is clear knowledge and intent on part of the parties not to follow the formalities, hence it is a choice which should not lead to a valid marriage.

57.4 I would agree to this, especially in light of the Islamic view on same sex marriages which I have addressed at Q43.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1. Provided the mistake is not a fundamental and the parties can be identified even with the mistakes being present then the marriage should remain as being valid, as opposed to void.

2. In terms of absence of witness this cannot be viewed in the whole, regards has to be had to the circumstances. The role of the witness is in essence to provide evidence of the marriage taking place as well as having to sign the register. The issue that needs to be addressed is what would the effect of absence on the witness be on the ceremony. The 1753 Act was introduced to address the issue of secret marriages and having witnesses present was to ensure this. Although we do not suffer from this form of marriage in today's society, the issue is would it lead to this arising again? I appreciate the issue of the star-crossed lovers who may have no one to support them as per Q9 who could seek to have the marriage notice concealed and then marry without witnesses and in such circumstances I would agree the absence of witness should not render the marriage void as the parties have disclosed the reasons for having to chose this path.

In terms of marriages where there is no risk to the parties, nor has one been raised as part of the preliminary stages then I would advocate that there should be witness present and the absence of such should render the marriage void. There is no reason why in the digital age that a witness cannot be present remotely even if they are unable to physically attend. The removal of the witnesses as noted above could lead to the rise of the secret marriages of which some may be due to force or a lack of capacity. Even where in the preliminary stages the issues of capacity and consent have been addressed and are not an issue then one could argue the need for a witness can be discarded, but consent is not a fixed variable it can change and in the absence of a witness a party may not speak up. In addition, where the officiant notes no issues the witness may.

Whilst it seems a good idea, it is not without issues. The commission should consider that witnesses need not to be physically present as an option and by that, I mean that you could have witnesses present by way of modern means of communication by way of smart phones etc and they could play the same role as if they were present and the officiant could record their virtual presence and sign the register to that effect. This may resolve the issues.

In terms of any Islamic marriage which was seeking to use the gateway or not, the Nikah contract has to be signed by the witnesses regardless of any change proposed

3. In terms of the schedule not being signed, provided the error is a genuine error on the part of the officiant and this then recorded post the ceremony by the officiant as having occurred and that the reason that the schedule has not been signed is not due to a refusal but an error then it should not affect the validity.

Consultation Question 58:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

58.1 I see issues in this which have looked at in Q57, the issues being if Section 49 MA 1949 is to remain in place then it would need to be shown the parties "knowingly and wilfully breach" section 49 MA 1949 by not giving notice of the intended marriage For a marriage to be void section 49 requires that a person both knowingly and wilfully seek to marry and views of the court are expressed in paragraph 102 of the judgement in MA v JA [2012] EWHC

2219 (Fam) “The next question is whether the marriage is in fact valid or is void. Applying the approach which has been maintained since the beginning of the 19th century, a marriage will only be held to be void if this is expressly provided by the statute. The relevant provision is section 49 of the 1949 Act. Because the parties did not knowingly and wilfully marry in breach of the requirements of the Act as specified in section 49 (essentially notice and certificate) the marriage is not void”. A issue which arises in Islamic marriage is the one of the parties entering into the marriage in ignorance and although we have clarity from the court of appeal in Her Majesty’s Attorney General (Appellant) v Nasreen Akhter & Mohammed Shabaz Khan (Respondents) & Fatima Southall Black Sisters (Intervenors) [2020] EWCA Civ 122 that a ceremony which does not adhere to the formalities will be a non-qualifying ceremony. But what if the failure was not wilful or deliberate on part of one of the parties as I have noted Q57.1 , does this then reopen the door to the formalities being implied back as in the case of near miss MA v JA [2012] and does it not resurrect the test of intention as per via Hudson v Leigh [2009] EWHC 1306 1306 (Fam which was considered as a subsidiary point in my view in Khan when the court addressed the issue of the husbands bad behaviour ruling it could not be factored into the matrix on the basis it was a future promise, but the point is that if one parties believes the other will give notice, but fails to do so but does not inform the other party, then the failure is by one party and did the party who placed reliance upon the offending party wilfully and knowingly breach Section 49? The answer would have to be no, a party unaware of an act cannot be responsible for that act in the absence of joint enterprise, but equally cannot rely on what was said to enforce what was said given Section 1(1) Law Reform (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1970 “An agreement between two persons to marry one another shall not under the law of England and Wales have effect as a contract giving rise to legal rights and no action shall lie in England and Wales for breach of such an agreement, whatever the law applicable to the agreement - <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/1970/33>”. From this point one party could seek to argue compliance on the basis of intent and lead us back to the path which the commission is seeking to address. In my view to avoid this becoming a spectre regard has to be had to a joint notice being issued or notice being issued by both parties to the marriage to show that there was a failure on part of both parties. This is unless the commission seek to repeal section 49 or amend it so test is downgraded from “knowing and wilfully” to just failing to give notice.

In regards to Q58(I)(b)(i) the requirement for knowledge would raise similar issues as to any intent to deliberately avoid the requirements of the 1949 Act and as noted by Vishal Vora 2020 (The Continuing Muslim Marriage Conundrum: The Law of England and Wales on Religious Marriage and Non-Marriage in the United Kingdom, Journal of Muslim Minority Affairs, 40:1, 148-162) there is a group of women (17%) when it comes to Islamic marriages who have entered the marriage ignorance believing that it in fact was valid and using this as a bench, then will not give rise to subjective test being created as what each party knew especially where the issue of whether it was or was not a qualifying ceremony, in my view it would. By importing the subjective aspect, it could be problematic. The better wording maybe “both parties being present were aware that the officiant was not authorised”.

58.2 The issue of express consent has to be defined as taking into account the physical and mental attributes may give rise to expressing consent in more than a verbal or written manner, so it requires a formal definition. Both parties should express consent, but if the above features are not present, then should the lack of an express statement of consent in circumstances where s12 MAC 1973 does not and could not apply would seem harsh. Accordingly, a further subsection would need to be included to address this aspect which could read as follows” Should either party fail to express consent orally, in writing or in another manner which was acceptable to the authorised officiant and all other formalities having been met and consent is evidenced by a deed post the ceremony, then that ceremony would be a qualifying ceremony”. The issue in terms of Islamic marriages is less likely to encounter this form of scenario as one the perquisites is consent and that is evidenced by the signing of a written contract.

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No view on this matter

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No strong view on this

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

1. Yes, I would agree given the implications of any marriage and the ceremony concerned , it is of the utmost importance that a party be made aware of the effects of the ceremony and where a party has placed reliance on a person, that person should be held accountable to ensure there is no repetition of the act.

In term of Islamic marriages there has been a duty on the parties to ensure that they act in line with the social justice that is envisaged and that the terms of any agreement is fair on both parties, but this often does not occur as some enter into the ceremonies in ignorance. This failure is already having an impact on some who enter in ignorance believing it is valid as well as those who are entering a valid marriage without being given an escape route which often leads to the limping marriage scenario where the Sharia councils are brought in to resolve the issue. By making it a legal requirement the officiant would have explain that any Islamic marriage which forms the marriage and which via the 1949 Act gives rise to a valid marriage does not give rise to the power to dissolve the religious marriage by the state. Explaining the effect would mean have to explain to the parties that the terminating the legal marriage would not terminate the religious, thus, allowing for a party especially the woman to consider her position and give consideration to having a Talaq al Tawhid ( female right to divorce) incorporated into the contract pre giving consent.

2. I would agree to this as well for the reasons set out above, parties should be aware of the implications or the lack of such so that they can make an informed choice prior to any marriage taking place.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

No view on this point

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that a notice should be given but I do not agree that it would be necessary to interview in all circumstances. One has to factor in the time period of the life expectancy and the availability of a person to be able to interview them, as well as the ability of the person who is terminally ill to undergo an interview.

Where the life expectancy is extremely short as in it is expected that the person will pass away in 72hours then a notice still should be given but provided medical evidence is provided that the person still has the capacity to consent to the marriage then a schedule should be issued post the registration officers speaking to the medical staff as opposed to interviewing the person. In exceptional cases where life is expected to end at times when the registrar's office is closed and there is the provision to give notice by phone and subject to the Register being satisfied post speaking to the medical staff that the person has capacity to consent but due to the severity of the illness is unable to be interviewed, then a schedule should be issued so that a marriage takes place as soon as possible.

Where the life expectancy of a terminally ill is longer than a period of 72hours and provided it does not cover a weekend then notice should be given and any interview can be held remotely to expedite the issuing of the schedule.

What would assist in these circumstances is for the process to move to a remote platform where an interview could take place not only with the parties but also the relevant medical staff who could address all the issues and allow for an expedited schedule to be issued.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No strong views on this

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would agree on this as this would give the parties sufficient time to address any issues that have arisen or may arise. The only hesitation that I would express is that with any terminal illness there is going to be decline in the health and here the issue of consent and capacity will need to be addressed and I would propose there should be a need for medical evidence to be provided before the ceremony taking place.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would agree to this proposal.

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

1. Given what has occurred with the issue of Covid 19, it would make sense to have such a system in place as a back up should there need arise
2. I would agree to this subject to addressing the concerns of a sham marriage or where there is a lack of capacity or consent.
3. I would agree provided the officiant is satisfied that there are no issues relating to consent and capacity.
4. I would agree to this, but consideration should be given to the use of electronic signatures by way of screen sharing or via email to try and have them recorded on one document as opposed to multiple ones.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would agree subject to addressing the issue of capacity and consent.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would agree to this subject to a proper definition being established. The question as it is framed now could be read in a wide manner as how does one define who is at risk of death? One hand it could be those who are ill, but equally it could be those are serving in the military and are about to engage in a military operation and it could be pushed to cover the emergency services who are acting in their duties if they face as risk and as Covid 19 front line NHS staff have worked in areas where there is a contagious disease thus being exposed to death.

I would propose that in the case of a national emergency then all persons who are in engaged in what the national emergency designates as a high-risk role should be afforded the extension proposed.

In terms of any patients who are ill, provided the risk is one of life again this could be extended to cover them, but one would have to have some evidence of the risk which would require some form of evidence even if it is the subjective view of a Doctor.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No strong views on this

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No strong views on this

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No strong views on this

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No strong views on this

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No strong views on this

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No strong views on this

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

No strong views on this

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would have to depend upon the information provided in the preliminary stages of the application as if the marriage is to take place as part of around the world trip or any other lengthy journey which cross international waters then having a fixed time to file them would be an issue. That being said we have ships today that have the technology to file the schedules electronically and given the potential issues I would propose the following;

1. An electronic copy of the schedule to be filed within 7 days where the journey is 14days or more
2. A hard copy to be filed 7 days post returning to the country in the case of a journey of 14 days or more.
3. For journeys less than 14days, a hard copy to be filed only within 7 days of returning to the UK.

The issue with as soon as reasonable as possible is that unless it is defined, it can mean different things to different people.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, if the incapacity is through no fault of the party, then there should be no fee, if it is the converse then there should be.

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

One, has to have regard to the circumstances of the person concerned.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The option should be made available as location where marriages can take place.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As they are going to be aware of any local issues or planning matters that may have a bearing on the costs etc.

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As Q78

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems to be a reasonable proposal to cover any additional costs

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems to be a reasonable proposal

Consultation Question 82:

No

Please expand on your answer:

One, has to have regard to the circumstances of the person concerned.

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

One, has to have regard to the fact the person has a limited time left and what they have may not be much, or that they wish to leave to others as reminder.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems to be a reasonable proposal

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. The law does not discourage or prevent parties to marry as it provides a route all forms of marriages to take place and this includes other faiths and beliefs as well as recognising same sex unions and partnership. That being said the law as it stands can be viewed as discriminatory, a point I will address later. The law has widened the classical definition of marriage as per Lord Penzance in 1866 "Marriage as understood in Christendom is the voluntary union for life of one man & one woman, to the exclusion of all others" (Hyde v Hyde and Woodmansee 1866 [LR] 1.P.D.130 ) as this has to be read in the light of The Civil Partnership Act 2004, The Gender Recognition Act 2004, The Marriage (Same sex Couples) Act and The Civil Partnership, Marriages and Deaths (Registration etc) Act 2019. Whilst there may be issues as recently noted by the courts the law does not discourage or prevent marriage.

The 1949 Act will recognise any ceremony which can include a religious one as a qualifying ceremony (Section 45 MA 1949) which can become legal & valid provided the a certificate has been issued by a registrar under section 26(1) (a), the marriage takes place on approved premises in the registration area (section 26(1) (bb)) and the trustees or the governing body of the premises have nominated an 'authorised person section 43(1) & 43B(1) MA 1949) which means that any person who is registered can carry out the ceremony in any form (section 44(1) MA 1949) in a place with open doors in the presence of 2 witnesses (section 44(2) MA 1949) & as part of the ceremony the parties make a declaration under Section 44(3) MA 1949 or under Section 44(3A) MA 1949. This then allows for most to be caught by these provisions and one has to say the law encourages the marriages by way of recognising them provided the formalities are adhered to. Should they not be followed then the courts have sought to import it in via the test of intention as developed by Hudson v Leigh [2009] EWHC 1306 1306 (Fam) as well as the near miss test when it comes to wilfully breaching the 1949 Act as per the ruling in MA v JA [2012] EWHC 2219 (Fam). The issues of the law as it standing when it comes to the issue of formality last being considered in Her Majesty's Attorney General (Appellant) v Nasreen Akhter & Mohammed Shabaz Khan (Respondents) & Fatima d Southall Black Sisters (Interveners) [2020] EWCA Civ 122 which settled the issue. Whilst marriage is a matter of individual choice as a person is free to marry in accordance with Article 12 ECHR, which has meant that the state has not impose its will on this issue. Provided there is compliance with the current law the status of the parties will move from being single to one of being legally married. If the person choses a method other than following the 1949 Act, then the status will not alter & the courts will treat this marriage as a non-qualifying ceremony.

One has to have regard to whether the law as it stands can be seen as being is discriminatory in its application. This issue of discrimination was considered in Harrison v Secretary of State for Justice [2020] EWHC 2096 (Admin) where the Court took the view that if a Humanist was to be treated differently on the basis of their beliefs when compared to a recognised religious person then it would give rise to discrimination provided there was compliance with the 1949 Act). From this perspective it would discourage parties from having a religious marriage as they are only given the opportunity for a civil marriage, hence why it is seen as being discriminatory in its application. The same issues that were raised in Harrison v Secretary of State for Justice [2020] EWHC 2096 (Admin) could be applied to Islamic marriages as it belongs to the Abrahamic family of religions and to only provide the civil route is to treat them differently, the same could be said of other faiths and as noted by the commission at para 1.49, page 14.

The current law when it comes to Muslims wanting to marry is that the starting point is the parties will want to observe their religious obligations and the parties will want to have an Islamic marriage which is in essence a contract (Khadduri, M. (1978). Marriage in Islamic Law: The Modernist Viewpoints. The American Journal of Comparative Law, 26(2), 213-218. doi:10.2307/839669). Muslims believe that a marriage should be in accordance with the laws of God, thus to follow this route is to sanctify the marriage (Uddin, Islam. (2018). Nikah-only Marriages: Causes, Motivations, and Their Impact on Dispute Resolution and Islamic Divorce Proceedings in England and Wales. Oxford Journal of Law and Religion. 7. 401-426. 10.1093/ojlr/rwy051.). In essence a Muslims will marry on the basis of their vertical relationship with God which based upon covenants made and then the covenants made will be applied on a horizontal basis to humans. This means that they cannot just follow the civil route which currently prohibits the use of religious wording but can in the alternative follow the gate way provided for a ceremony instead, this is where the issue arises when it comes to the number of registered mosques being a reflection of the number of registered persons who can officiate a marriage and given the trend for Muslim marriages to take place at home or wedding halls adds to the issue. A majority of Islamic marriages as Akhtar 2018 (Akhtar, Rajnaara, Modern Traditional in Muslims Marriage, Practice, Exploring English Narrative, Oxford Journal of Law & Religion, 2018, 427-454.) notes will take place in unregistered premises resulting in non-compliance with the 1949 Act given the lack of registered mosques. Hence, the law may not discourage Muslims, it does not certainly encourage them to use the 1949 Act.

As it stands provided there is compliance with the law all forms of ceremonies can be recognised as a path to a valid marriage, this was an issue that I addressed in my thesis and I will quote from that "The MA 1949 is wide enough to allow ceremonies of all faiths to be recognised as valid marriages, provided they follow the formalities, if they do not, they will not be recognised. This requirement does not apply to overseas marriages as they will be covered by the lex loci celebrationis principle unless it is known that the overseas marriage was not a qualifying marriage, and which required a registry marriage to make it legally recognised (Hudson v Leigh). For the lex loci celebrationis principle to apply, the marriage must be recognised and registered in the foreign country, in other words the courts and the law require both formality and certainty (Bantekas, Ilias 2013), Transnational Talq (Divorce) in English Courts; Law Meets Culture Pages 43-44-) when it comes to a marriage, intention is not enough". Provided the marriage is recognised in the country in which it takes place then it will be recognised and the position was set out by LJ Lloyd Jones in Awuku v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2017] EWCA Civ 178 (23 March 2017) Para 15 "In the law of England and Wales the general rule is that the formal validity of a marriage is governed by the law of the country where the marriage was celebrated ('the lex loci celebrationis') (Dicey, Morris and Collins on the Conflicts of Laws, 15th Ed., (2012), Rule 73). The editors of Dicey, Morris and Collins explain (at 17-004) that a marriage celebrated in the mode or according to the rites or ceremonies required by the law of the country where the marriage takes place is, as far as formal requisites go, valid. In general the law of a country where a marriage is solemnised must alone decide all questions relating to the validity of the ceremony by which the marriage is alleged to have been constituted. (Sottomayor v De Barros (No.1) (1877) 3 P.D. 1, 5 (CA)) A marriage by proxy will be treated as valid in England if recognised by the local law, even if one of the parties is domiciled and resident in England and the power of attorney authorising the proxy to act is executed in England. The transaction is not contrary to public policy (Dicey, Morris and Collins 17-012). In Apt v Apt [1948] P. 83 the Court of Appeal upheld the decision of Lord Merriman P. at first instance ([1947] P. 127) where he stated (at p. 147): "The celebration of marriage by proxy is a matter of the form of the ceremony or proceeding, and not an essential of the marriage; that there is nothing abhorrent to Christian ideas in the adoption of that form; and that, in the absence of legislation to the contrary, there is no doctrine of public policy which entitles me to hold that the ceremony, valid where it was performed, is not effective in this country to constitute a valid marriage."

In my view the law caters for religious groups, when I say religious groups, those who have a belief in a supreme being which covers the Christian, Jewish and Quaker faiths other beliefs have to follow the route of a qualifying ceremony, one where a civil registry wedding can take place and the second is where there is a qualifying ceremony and applying the position in Harrison v Secretary of State for Justice [2020] EWHC 2096 (Admin) then it is arguable that other beliefs are being placed in a different position and being treated differently, but it does not encourage all marriages to be valid by the formalities that need to be complied with.

In terms of those who are overseas resident who want to marry in England and Wales they need to comply with Appendix V of the Immigration Rules and be able to show as part of an application under Appendix V that arrangements have been put in place with the registrar's office as notice has been given, confirmation of any bookings of a venue and consideration will be given by the Entry Clearance Officer as to whether the intended relationship is genuine, so evidence of this will need to be provided. Provided the immigration rules are complied with meaning the person is over 18, they have means to support themselves and intend to enter for the purposes of marriage, then they will be given Entry Clearance for the purpose of marriage.

2. It will and it will not, this will depend on where the parties sit when it comes to how the law views them, those who marry are automatically eligible for recognition ie Christian, Jews, same sex couples, etc then for these it would do so. Looking at the issue from an Islamic marriage and other faith based marriages it would not occur in the same manner as the formalities still have to be complied with to give rise to a valid marriage and as I noted in my thesis "The proposals would simplify this process but formalities would remain and they would not put the Nikah on an equal footing but could increase voidable marriages arising as opposed to them being non-qualifying which would allow for financial relief as per sections 22 to 25 The Matrimonial Causes Act 1973, Administration of Estates Act 1925, section 46; Inheritance (Provision for Family and Dependents) Act 1975, section 1(1)(a).) but still leaves the potential for the 'limping marriage'. The starting point for Muslims is the Islamic marriage which will be the requirement is that the premises as well as the person performing the marriage is to be registered in addition to the notice being given, then the position for Muslims remains as it was before, the only added layer of compensation being that it could give rise to more voidable marriages. This equally would apply to other faith-based marriages as well, as one would have to look to see how many places of worship were registered etc in the same way as considering the issue for Muslims. What it would give rise to is the potential for more voidable marriages arising

However, there is likely to be little impact given that Muslim marriages are not automatically recognised, but provided the gateway provided was followed the Islamic marriage would be recognised.

In conclusion I will rely on what I noted in my Thesis "The position adopted by the previous reviews and what is proposed by the 2020 Law Commission do not provide any real solution; streamlining the process only means some Nikahs will become voidable but if the main formalities are not complied with they will still give rise to a non-qualifying ceremony (Law Commission (2020) Getting Married: A Consultation Paper on Weddings Law (Law Com paper No 247), OGL, 3rd September 2020, paragraph 10;191- page 307) as they may be in the "interest of the state" (Law Commission (2020) Getting Married: A Consultation Paper on Weddings Law (Law Com paper No 247), OGL, 3rd September 2020 at paragraphs 10;2page 263) . In regards to the streamlined process there is a point to note that in the absence of a change in the law which would require all places who wish to conduct a ceremony to be registered, to have an authorised (officiant) person and be able to give notice as to the marriage then it would not increase the number of valid marriages. But in the absence of the change in the law, it could give rise to more voidable marriages where one of the parties held a belief that the ceremony was being conducted by an authorised person. In my view the 2020 proposals provide no real solution given there is already a gateway and individuals are entering Nikahs not only through ignorance but also through choice and in the case of the latter, is the streamlined process going to dissuade them? Even if it does and more follow this process, giving rise to valid marriages, there is still the issue that a Nikah itself cannot be terminated by the State. Even if one day the law does recognise Muslim marriages, the State would not be able end them without creating a mechanism of Sharia based courts who would have the power to bring them to an end”.

In terms of those who were wanting to marry in England and Wales have to comply with Appendix V of the Immigration Rules and be able to show as part of an application under Appendix V that arrangement have been put in place with the registrar’s office as notice has been given, confirmation of any bookings of a venues and consideration will be given by the Entry Clearance Officer as to whether the intended relationship is genuine, so evidence of this will need to be provided. Provided the immigration rules are complied with meaning the person is over 18, they have means to support themselves and intend to enter for the purposes of marriage.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No views on this

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No views on this

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

No views on this

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

No views on this

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No views on this

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No views on this

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. There is no impact upon them provided there is compliance with the law of the land in which they intend to marry and provided that have followed the laws that are required then the marriage will be recognised in this country. The MA 1949 is wide enough to allow ceremonies of all faiths to be recognised as valid marriages, provided they follow the formalities, if they do not, they will not be recognised. This requirement does not apply to overseas marriages as they will be covered by the lex loci celebrationis principle unless it is known that the overseas marriage was not a qualifying marriage, and which required a registry marriage to make it legally recognised (Hudson v Leigh). For the lex loci celebrationis principle to apply, the marriage must be recognised and registered in the foreign country, in other words the courts and the law require both formality and certainty (Bantekas, Ilias 2013) , Transnational Talq (Divorce) in English Courts; Law Meets Culture Pages 43-44-) when it comes to a marriage, intention is not enough”. Provided the marriage is recognised in the country in which it takes places then it will be recognised and the position was set out LJ Lloyd Jones in Awuku v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2017] EWCA Civ 178 (23 March 2017) Para 15 “In the law of England and Wales the general rule is that the formal validity of a marriage is governed by the law of the country where the marriage was celebrated (“the lex loci celebrationis”) (Dicey, Morris and Collins on the Conflicts of Laws, 15th Ed., (2012), Rule 73). The editors of Dicey, Morris and Collins explain (at 17-004) that a marriage celebrated in the mode or according to the rites or ceremonies required by the law of the country where the marriage takes place is, as far as formal requisites go, valid. In general the law of a country where a marriage is solemnised must alone decide all questions relating to the validity of the ceremony by which the marriage is alleged to have been constituted. (Sottomayor v De Barros (No.1) (1877) 3 P.D. 1, 5 (CA)) A marriage by proxy will be treated as valid in England if recognised by the local law, even if one of the parties is domiciled and resident in England and the power of attorney authorising the proxy to act is executed in England. The transaction is not contrary to public policy (Dicey, Morris and Collins 17-012). In Apt v Apt [1948] P. 83 the Court of Appeal upheld the decision of Lord Merriman P. at first instance ([1947] P. 127) where he stated (at p. 147): "The celebration of marriage by proxy is a matter of the form of the ceremony or proceeding, and not an essential of the marriage; that there is nothing abhorrent to Christian ideas in the adoption of that form; and that, in the absence of legislation to the contrary, there is no doctrine of public policy which entitles me to hold that the ceremony, valid where it was performed, is not effective in this country to constitute a valid marriage." Thus, there is no impact apart from the marriage being recognised on the basis of international law and whatever the form they have used, provided it complied with the law of that country, then their status as being married validly will be recognised.

2. In terms of those who were wanting to marry in England and Wales have to comply with Appendix V of the Immigration Rules and be able to show as part of an application under Appendix V that arrangements have been put in place with the registrar's office as notice has been given, confirmation of any bookings of a venue and consideration will be given by the Entry Clearance Officer as to whether the intended relationship is genuine, so evidence of this will need to be provided. Provided the immigration rules are complied with meaning the person is over 18, they have means to support themselves and intend to enter for the purposes of marriage.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Whilst the Commission seeks to streamline the process to make England and Wales more attractive for the purposes of marriage, one has to have regard to the impact of the Immigration rules in particular Appendix V which has been updated and the online process which follows. In addition to this one has to have regard to the 'hostile environment' that has developed resulting in the refusal of visas under this section. In order to make the countries more appealing to overseas nationals wanting to marry, then the immigration rules need to be revisited as currently any party who wishes to marry has to cross a number of hurdles to satisfy an Entry Clearance Officer that the parties' intentions are not to remain in the England and Wales post the marriage as well as showing they have sufficient ties to their own countries as well as being able to prove that the relationship is actually genuine.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No views on this

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No views on this

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

No views on this

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDHJ-M

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-22 11:59:31

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren Christian Church

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think interviews could take place remotely via an online video conference,

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

i feel there should be provision for wedding ceremonies to take place in the home setting.

in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDXX-J

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-22 12:28:54

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Personal response

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Not confidential

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

My wife and I were handfasted in England [REDACTED] in 2008. This was our formal, religious, wedding involving family and friends. We were aware at the time that it was not legally recognised. Therefore, we arranged another handfasting in Scotland, in front of the required witnesses and registered celebrant, in 2009, where the ceremony is legally recognised.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As above

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We chose to have a handfasting as the most relevant form of ceremony in our faith (Paganism). It gave us the freedom to design the ceremony and our vows to suit us. We wrote the entire ceremony. The ceremony was conducted by friends, including a priest and priestess from the local coven. We also did not want to be married in a registry as they are generally dismal places, and much preferred an outside setting. We used the garden of a B&B, giving us a backup location in case of bad weather. As pagans, an outside venue is of particular importance to us.

In the case of our legal handfasting in Scotland, we were able to use an ancient site as our venue.

No

Please expand on your answer:

No, because we had a second, legal handfasting in Scotland.

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

As above our preference was for a handfasting outdoors. Current law in England & Wales does not recognise outdoor venues, nor handfasting as a ceremony (I believe). So we got married using our chosen venue and ceremony anyway. But then took the opportunity of Scottish law to get married legally at a later date.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

No experience

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think it is sensible to allow people more freedom. It also provides for couples that prefer to be married close to the family and/or where they were brought up but reside elsewhere. The only downside is that some locations may find themselves inundated with weddings.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree, as this is the process we had to follow in order to be married in Scotland. My wife and I made all arrangements by telephone, completed the relevant forms and returned them by post and had a short in-person meeting at the registry office before the wedding date.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

When we were married in Scotland we picked up the relevant paperwork from the registrar one or two days prior to the wedding. I cannot see anything to be gained by a minimum time frame. It should factor around the couples availability and wedding date. However, perhaps a maximum time limit should be given after which the paperwork expires if the wedding has not taken place.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

If the relevant paperwork needs to be collected from the official registrar's office it makes sense that an in-person interview takes place at the same time. It makes sense for a 'check' to be in place - whereby the couple have to be seen by the registrar (or celebrant) in advance to ensure consent, check ID etc.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

If the aim is to make the ability to give notice more flexible it makes sense to retain this provision.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That is sensible, as long as the exemption in case of a risk of harm is applied.

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If the process (as above) is to be simplified and access to the paperwork ('schedule') simplified then 12 months seems excessive. But I have no strong views on the subject.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems perfectly sensible.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems perfectly sensible.

Please share your views below:

No opinion.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No opinion

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems perfectly sensible.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

The 'notice of weddings' is proposed to be made public online, which I support. This should be the same for every wedding whether secular or non-secular.

If the church wishes to also publish 'banns' that should be the decision of the church in question.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Surely, every celebrant should have the power to check the evidence and be required to meet with the couple before the wedding but preferably before the notice of marriage is published. Ideally, the registrars' office should be responsible for checking the required documentation before publishing the notice of marriage or schedule.

If the intent is to broaden the scope of the marriage legislation then these powers should not be limited to any one religious group. Everyone should be treated equally.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

As above, everyone should be treated equally. If this requirement is needed, and it makes sense that it is, then it should be included in all marriages.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

It makes sense to include the required 'civil' preliminaries in all weddings whether secular or non-secular. The process needs to be applied equally to all.

Any additional requirements based on the faith (or not) of the couple and/or their chosen wedding ceremony, can be added based on the faith (or not) to which the couple subscribe.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems sensible. However, what do you mean by the term 'officiant'. Is this another 'officer' separate from the celebrants. By celebrants, I mean the religious ceremony leader(s) (priest/priestess) or non-religious leader of the ceremony. For simplicity, it makes sense that the recognised celebrant should take on the role of the officiant and ensure that items 1-3 above are conducted. The only exception might be where the couple conduct the ceremony without celebrants (or they themselves are trained celebrants), in which case another person should probably be appointed as an independent officiant.

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If the registrars trained to conduct weddings in one or more faiths then surely they could do so. If not then, civil only.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed.

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Assuming that clerk is the same as clergy in this context, then yes assuming they also have the relevant training (see below)

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes in theory that makes sense. However, it would have been more useful to give the description itself rather than the reference to the precedent.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems a fair proposal. The reforms suggested should be applied equally regardless of the nature of one's belief system.

Please share your views below:

No opinion

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems sensible.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

It seems sensible to exclude organisations that promote purposes that are unlawful etc. But note that the list of exclusions should be regularly reviewed, as what is considered contrary to public morality changes over time, for example, same-sex marriage, homosexuality etc.

I presume that the concept of 'public morality' is part of legal practice. But perhaps it should be clearly defined, in line with international standards (e.g. human rights) rather than just 'national' definitions.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

It is proposed that couples and celebrants meet before the wedding, which is a one-to-one, in-person meeting. It is the 'person' that officiates or conducts the ceremony, not an 'office', although they may hold an official title. Officiants (celebrants) are individuals and should therefore be named. Also, not all religious and non-religious organisations are hierarchical, with any defined 'office', or 'clergy'.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It makes sense to use an existing system rather than invent something new.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Will, there be any 'checks' or 'requirements' made on 'independent' officiants in line with those made by nominating organisations.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems sensible. But there should be national guidance as to what a 'fit and proper person' means, as in q31 below. Membership of a religious body or the holding of a religious office is no guarantee in itself, and any criteria should be applied equally.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That makes sense. But 'mandatory training' should be defined and applied equally to all 'officiants' whether independent or nominated by a religious or non-religious body.

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Registrars are paid to officiate at weddings. While they have other duties I presume they make their living this way. Wedding planners can make a living by organising weddings. It seems unfair to exclude 'nominated officiants' from this possibility.

My wife and I have officiated a few handfastings. This is part of our service to our spiritual community and we only ask expenses in return. However, the ceremony can take several days over several weeks to write and organise, as well as travel and the day itself. I know that others charge more for their time and preparation but it is still a supplement to living expenses rather than a business. But others do consider 'celebrancy' an important part of the income as well as an important part of their service to their spiritual community. If the aim is to ensure a supply of suitably trained (see Q31) celebrants then remuneration must be considered, if not only to pay for training. The training is expensive (ca £750+/course) and many take out career development loans in order to pay for the training.

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This makes no sense. What does 'conflict of interest' actually mean?

Why should independent celebrants be able to charge but 'nominated officiants' not? You cannot assume that all religious and non-religious organisation have the funds to pay for the work of the officiants they nominate. The 'church' pays its clergy but is that true of other religious organisations? Hopefully, the aim is to provide a level playing field for all officiants, while not inflating the market and, hence, the cost for couples and their family.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The intent is to provide more flexibility so this makes sense. But it suggests some confusion regarding the 'nominated officiants' and 'independent officiants'. Within paganism, for example, all priest/priestesses are independent, although they may belong to one or more pagan (religious) organisations or none, may be nominated celebrants (e.g. in Scotland) or provide celebrancy services independently.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is an important part of the officiant/celebrant/priest/priestesses role. Marriage is a serious commitment and should be seen as such. But it should not mean that the couple cannot enjoy their wedding day and wedding ceremony. Again it would help if the terms 'dignity' and 'solemnity' were defined in the context of marriage.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as it is well researched and takes into account the different religious and non-religious beliefs and practices at weddings.

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

That makes sense, but also with the Registrars Office.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That makes sense

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That makes sense but see the answer to q34

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That makes sense

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes as long as the relevant CPD is clearly defined. And again (see q34) why is this requirement only for independent officiants and not nominated officiants. Surely, relevant clergy are required to undertake relevant CPD. This rule should be applied equally.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Perhaps 1b should be expressed as 'no legal requirement' in case the relevant belief system does have that requirement, and/or the couple wish to make that statement.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems in the spirit of the proposed reforms.

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This clause seems to suggest that there will be special rules on the form of weddings in other beliefs. Again, I'd prefer the rules or lack of rules to be applied equally.

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems in the spirit of the proposed reforms, i.e. flexibility. does this also mean that the term marriage will also apply to civil ceremonies? I believe it should.

Please share your views below:

I believe it should be agreed between the couple and the officiant/registrar. If the officiant/registrar does not feel they have the relevant expertise to conduct a wedding with the couples preferred content then another officiant can be found. But perhaps there will need to be a balance. If a couple desires a significant amount of religious content then they should have a religious ceremony. The registrar/officiant should provide relevant advice/guidance.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems sensible

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This makes sense

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Assuming it is safe to do so.

Please share your views below:

As long as the formal requirement can be met, the officiant and couple agree, and it is safe to do so, with relevant risk assessments etc.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is in keeping with q48

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In each case, the owner/operator of the religious or non-religious venue or business venue (hotel etc.) should have the right to refuse or agree. Otherwise, you may create a situation where a venue is forced to conduct a ceremony with which they disagree due to their own beliefs and result in unnecessary conflict.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Mainly yes. Ultimately it is the couple's decision. But the officiant should provide sensible advice on the suitability of the venue for the ceremony. If the venue is unsafe (e.g. mountain top) for the couple or guests ( experienced mountaineers may be an exception in this example), or if the venue is too loud for the ceremony to be heard/witnessed etc. The officiant should discuss the logistics and safety of the ceremony with the couple to identify and agree the ideal and/or practical venue. If the officiant does not feel the venue is suitable but cannot agree with the couple then the officiant must have the right to decline the ceremony.

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

See answer to q51. But what does 'dignified' mean. It requires definition. Nudity (skyclad) may be part of a pagan ceremony and considered perfectly 'dignified'. Many faiths may include singing and dancing as part of the ceremony. A wedding is a couples 'special' day and it is right that they 'enjoy' and remember that day. As long as the couple understand and embrace the commitment they are making to one another then that is the most important requirement.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Guidance is good as long as it covers a wide variety of religious and non-religious practice.

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It makes sense to maintain a register of approved locations and venues to help couples chose a venue suitable for their day, as long as venue and locations are not limited to the approved list.

Please share your views below:

It makes sense that the registrar's office should maintain and publish a national list online. It should be made available to other organisations if required, although if it is online it would not be needed.

Presumably, the current religious and non-religious organisations and independent celebrants (and their associations) would be able to provide lists of existing venues or location currently in use and add to the list over time. Perhaps the officiants could rank venues/locations based on their experience.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Should this also include 'legal guardians' and/or 'adoptive parents' where one or more biological parents are unknown?

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Does this mean 'in England and Wales' the regions or in 'English and Welsh' the languages? If the later then why not add our other native tongue 'Cornish', or the myriad other languages that are currently spoken in the UK as options.

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Seems sensible, as long as oversight and checking are part of the process.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1-3 make sense. No comment on 4 as I do not understand why that requires a special dispensation.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It makes sense that failure to follow the legal procedures would void the process.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Part 1 is similar to q57. Part 2, it is essential that both parties give consent.

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We cannot assume that co-habitation is always possible.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems sensible.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems fair.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It makes sense to protect the post of 'officiant' to ensure that only those willing and able to undertake relevant training are regarded as 'officiants'.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

No opinion

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The process should be the same as for all other except where the illness affects mobility, or their ability to communicate, in which case the registrar should go to the applicant rather than expect the applicant to come to them.

Consultation Question 64:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Does this mean that the distinction between a civil ceremony and a marriage is removed? If so, this would be a good idea.

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It might be sensible to give a time limit but the nature of the illness should be taken into account. The 12-month limit should be a guidance value, not a prerequisite.

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No opinion

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems sensible but the conditions for the emergency provisions should be specified.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems fair.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, it will depend on the nature of the illness.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, as long as it is safe to do so.

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Why not.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Shipping designed for passengers, e.g. passenger ferries might be suitable, assuming the duration of the ferry crossing is long enough to accommodate the ceremony in full (without rushing it). Common sense guidance should be provided.

There are safety issues associated with cargo and other vessels that would require common sense guidance.

Also, vessels may need to be registered as 'venues' to ensure they satisfy the 'UK registration' requirements.

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Why the change in procedure. If couples need to state the venue and officiant on land they should do so at sea. If the couple intends to be married by a Captain, then the Captain would have been a trained/registered 'officiant'. Alternatively, the couple would need to organise an officiant to accompany them at sea. Either way, the 'officiant' could be named.

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as the 'officers' in question require all the requirements/training of independent officiants outlined in earlier questions.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As q72

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As q72 and 73

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

No opinion

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Care should be taken that weddings in international waters create a loophole in the marriage procedures. Perhaps this is a situation where the couple should be expected to return the schedule remotely with a slightly longer time period than usual but be expected to then submit the written versions as soon as reasonably possible but no longer than, say 6 months.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems sensible as long as it is set nationally on a cost-recovery basis and is 'affordable'.

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The proposals above seem to suggest that marriage can be a religious and non-religious ceremony, with the required civil elements to make the ceremony legally recognised. Therefore, what would be the difference or benefit of a 'civil ceremony'. If there is a benefit, then it should be retained.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That is sensible. But please refer to comments above about how 'dignified' is defined.

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That is sensible.

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That is sensible

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That is sensible

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That is sensible

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

My preference would be for option 2 but understand the need for option 1.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That is sensible, as long as it is applied equally to all religious and non-religious organisations, and independent officiants, and that an affordability test is included when the fee is set.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The current law prevented my wife and I from having a legal marriage in England & Wales. We held our religious ceremony anyway and were married in our eyes. Subsequently, we had to travel from Devon to Scotland to hold a second, legally recognised, wedding. We were able to afford to travel and hold two weddings. Many others may not have been able to afford to do so or may have not been physically capable or well enough to do so.

The proposals suggested in this consultation would probably result in more couples being legally married.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The increased number of venues/locations available to weddings may increase competition and drive down prices. But it might also allow some to try to exploit the situation and open more but less suitable venues to weddings. It is difficult to predict the effect on costs but there will need to be more oversight to licensed venues by the registrar's office and officiants.

Re point 5, if the new provisions recognise religious and non-religious ceremonies (that include the relevant legal requirements) then the need for a separate legal wedding will be removed.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As above

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

No opinion

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

No opinion

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No opinion

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No opinion

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It could remove the need to travel to Scotland to get legally married (see q85). It might not make a difference to overseas jurisdictions if the main reason for travel is the scenery.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As above, see q85.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The ship registry would need to be a) up to date and b) readily available for independent scrutiny. Hopefully, it already is.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

The proposed changes should not be used as a means of creating a larger market and making money. Any fees should be cost-recovery based and subject to an affordability test, and where practicable (and ideally) set nationally.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDH4-X

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-22 15:44:07

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren Christian Church

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

As an Authorized Person for marriages, we have recently had marriages from Europe and Australia, i feel the new proposals would simplify things much more and would enable more flexibility particularly if couples choose to perform the ceremony at home.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I would have thought that if the wedding was booked via a portal then the 7 days would not be necessary.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Simplicity is key in my opinion.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

agree with this.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

in our church we have 2 persons that can officiate, this is helpful if the proposed officiant is unwell or unable to officiate.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDH3-W

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-23 15:30:09

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Other (please state)

If other, please state::

Personal opinions reflect my position as an independent celebrant

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

n/a

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

None of my ceremonies are recognised by law.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All of my couples verbally confirm to me in our face to face meetings that they understand the ceremony is not legally binding.

I do not refer to my ceremonies as being a wedding and instead use ceremony or celebration of marriage.

On all my quotes I include the link to the gov.uk website that describes the legalities and fees associated with legal weddings as well as civil ceremonies.

<https://www.gov.uk/marriages-civil-partnerships>

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Many tell me that it is difficult to secure the date they want or they are not able to get married in their choice of location (the majority of my ceremonies are in barns, woodlands or other outdoor spaces).

Couples often tell me that they are not given the full price list of services they are offered and usually are quoted one fee for going out to a licensed venue or another fee for a registry office wedding, they are rarely quoted for the 2x£46 ceremony and restrict access to this service if they are transparent about it i.e the couple is only offered one Wednesday a month for this type of service.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Several couples cite the access to pensions and marital rights as the reason for getting married legally over having a ceremony not recognised by law. The majority of my couples always intend to have their marriage legally solemnised but it have encountered problems due to getting the dates they were after or being able to have a ceremony in a non licensed venue.

two of my couples had issues with legal name changes - one was waiting for a divorce to become absolute and another was changing their name by deed-poll and it was important to them to be able to use their chosen name over their legal one.

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

My couple come to me because of the following;

- A short time line or change of date the registrar can't accommodate
- Location - want to marry in a non licensed venue (the majority of my ceremonies are in barns, woodlands and outside venues)
- There is an issue with using a chosen name due to divorce or change in deed poll
- There is a desire to include a prayer or song that means would not be allowed in a legal wedding.
- There is a theme to the wedding that means it may not be viewed as solemn or dignified enough (I've had matching football kits, Game of Thrones, Vikings & Flower Fairies to one couple who ran a hedgehog sanctuary being dressed as hedgehogs!)

I never refer to my ceremonies as a wedding, service or a marriage, using instead choosing ceremony or celebration of marriage.

Although I use vows I never use the legally binding phrases or pronounce my couple as husband and wife, choosing to announce them or introduce them as Mr&MRs ???

I want to be able to offer the option to offer a legal ceremony to my couples that can incorporate all of the elements that are important to them, no matter the location, theme, religious or cultural significance within them.

I do not think it is right or fair that one group of people may be allowed to do this (Humanists) in a way that is still restrictive, when there are others (Independents) who outnumber their counterparts significantly.

I do believe there should be an industry standard with risk assessments for times like these and types of venues; where everyone is trained appropriately and have to adhere to a code of conduct but are allowed to be creative, personalise ceremonies and operate in locations that would not have previously been considered.

Everyone should be a member of a representative group such as the WCC, have Liability Insurance and if required pay a member ship fee so that their couples can have a right to complain if they do not feel standards have been met or professionalism/integrity is upheld.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

This year has almost destroyed my celebrant business, I have only been able to conduct one ceremony but have earned no income as it was paid for two years ago when planned.

If I didn't also have a full time job I would have earned £590 this year and had more of that go out in marketing and professional membership fees.

I am not able to claim financial aid due to not having enough self employed history for a grant and my husband earning too much to allow me to claim for Universal Credit, so I have had to look to the future with the knowledge that I may only be conducting ceremonies and earning an income from the people that were booked for this year and have rescheduled to next.

This year has meant that my couples have gone from no wedding to 30 people to 15 to 6. As a celebrant we were recognised in one update, classed as part of a reception in another and then forced to read between the lines as a 'non belief based ceremony'.

Couples who hold love at the centre of their reason to marry do not have an issue adapting and for the most part vendors have been able to move people around.

There are some couples that get married so everyone can see them and it becomes about the spectacle and for these people Covid has really stopped them having the grand affairs they may have always visualised and this has shattered numerous dreams.

Some businesses have chosen to apply a fee to all those who have rescheduled couples into next year otherwise they would make no money for a second year but to the outside looking in this can seem unscrupulous. I have relocated all my couples for free and will do so again if need be, money is not why I got into being a celebrant.

The biggest frustrations I have encountered is that you could have 140 people in a socially distanced pub or restaurant but as soon as you put a Bride and Groom amongst them the number reduced to 30/15/6. There is no logical decision to shut down events where precautions can be taken to socially distance yet allow herds of people in supermarkets, movie theatres or museums, especially given the income that the weddings and events industries generate for the Government.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The reality is that nowadays people migrate.

There are as many couples who want to get married in the UK who have been resident overseas as there are the other way round.

One of my couples had to live with their elderly nan for a month before their wedding because it was really important that she was at the event yet she would have been too frail to travel elsewhere.

Couples should be able to give notice of their intention to marry which could be posted on one centralised data base rather than having restrictions based on their Parish/County/Country etc

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In a world where everything has an online portal and where you can renew your passport and driving licence online, why should you not be able to do that when it comes to marriages?

I do fully agree that there is still a need to check the legalities in a face to face though incase of abuse/sham marriages

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

I think there should be time to check the evidence of documentation where required.

I also feel there should be special dispensation for those that may have a terminal illness so ceremonies can be performed with a very short turn around where required.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Agree - Covid has taught us that we need to embrace technology.

If we are to facilitate the opportunity for people to be married from overseas in the UK whether needing to be resident first then this has to be an option.

If a wedding is being undertaken a short notice due to terminal illness, then it should be possible for the doctor to confirm the identity of their patient (NHS Number, Name and Date of Birth verified by a drivers licence or passport should be sufficient) and they can also judge capacity to consent.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Agree.

Why shouldn't people from outside the UK be allowed to marry here if they are both Non-UK/Commonwealth Residents?

It maybe that the lead times are longer but I have significant number of American friends who want the Downton wedding or to theme it based on The Crown.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I can check the VIN on my car and understand its history online - why should I not be to do this with my prospective Husband/Wife?

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I'm not sure why this needs to be limited so have no over riding opinion.

Consultation Question 11:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

For those of us who belong to a membership body and have local colleagues then we should be able to agree a substitute officiant where required.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No View

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No View

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I would imagine there can be a centralised electronic record for this too???

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Religious bodies should follow the same regulations as everyone else

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

agree

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It sometimes feels as if the registration service is trying to play the best of both worlds and be legally binding registrars but also offer celebrant services along side. There needs to be a distinction that either everyone can do everything or a clear divide between the legal/non-legal options.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think that if Independent Celebrants are allowed to complete legal weddings they should be able to nominate someone who is part of that professional body, where there is evidence that they have membership of that group, adequate insurance and adherence to the agreed codes of conduct. All of this could be evidenced online.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again, there would need to be a clear differentiation between what these non-religious belief systems are allowed to do as part of their ceremonies and how this differs from an independent celebrant. For example - it seems massively hypocritical to present oneself as 'non-religious' and then allow for religious elements to be brought into the ceremony. At this current moment in time you are not able to introduce a religious element into a registry office wedding so why should that be different in this case. The benefit of having an independent celebrant is that we are able to offer all elements to a couple whether there is a religious or cultural element or not. Equally, if only Humanist, for example, are allowed to conduct the legal ceremonies in the future, everyone should be given the opportunity to register themselves as Humanist, currently you can only be a Humanist Celebrant if you trained with them.

Please share your views below:

I do believe that officiants should be part of a membership group but not necessarily that they should be separated between

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This question is not clear.....

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I think there has to be a complaints process, possibly an ombudsman. No group or independent celebrant should be allowed to promote illegal activity and having a clear set of operating standards would mean we all followed the same guidance protecting both the service provider and the wedding party. Morality will need a clear definition.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

If 'by office' you mean someone with a specific title then I can only think that this would exist more in a religious organisation than non. If you are referring to 'by office' as about location then this makes sense, however there needs to be scope that if the style of wedding is to be considered i.e. Steampunk, there are only certain celebrants that would conduct this style of wedding, therefore if it is location based nomination this may be difficult as there may be no-one available in Essex but Birmingham might have someone therefore couples should be free to find someone who fits with the style and not be tethered by geography.

Consultation Question 28:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There needs to be a central registration point. We need to be sure that this list is accessible to all to view (probably online) as I would have concerns other transparency and whether celebrants (religious or otherwise) would be given as much exposure as registrars or Humanists. Currently there are databases where people can search for celebrants in a geographical area, worldwide, that does not differentiate between Humanist and Non-Humanists (The Celebrant Directory) and a profile of each celebrant is available which leads to contact pages and websites etc

You can pay for higher rankings in the situation however most couples contact numerous celebrants within that area to ascertain price points, personalities and points of difference - it is this I would want to see from a public list of all nominated officiants

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Or to whomever holds this list.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There should be clear pricing and this should be the same for all officiants, religious or not. However there does need to be some consideration of geographical differences and also that if a particular officiant travelled between these geographical differences then the difference in rate should be agreed with the couple.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There should be clear pricing and this should be the same for all officiants, religious or not. However there does need to be some consideration of geographical differences and also that if a particular officiant travelled between these geographical differences then the difference in rate should be agreed with the couple.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Your category and the code of conduct you follow should be clear for people to see and understand. I feel we need a 'Sale of Goods Act' mentality when differentiating the cans and can not's and the officiant should be as described on the tin!!

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Within a clear definition/code of practice
Consideration should be given to themes, costume and styling.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again there needs to be scope to be able to personalise a ceremony and include religious/cultural elements.
A working Framework is key, especially if there is to be an introduction of a right to complain.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would expect that if my conduct or the standard of my service met with a complaint there would be an independent review of this complaint based on evidence presented.

If there was a clear case to answer and it could be proven that I had breached the guidance within an operating framework/code of practice then I would be removed from the register OR there would be a need for retraining.

There is no reason why complaints should not be able to be publicised online, lots of companies have a TrustPilot survey linked to them, there should be no reason why officials are not able to have the same, currently we all rely on Google reviews and testimonials on our websites to help us promote our businesses.

I work in a clinical environment so am familiar with the GDC/GMC/GOC and would be happy if I had to pay for membership to a body like this that would recognise my qualifications, CPD, Indemnity and would maintain the code of conduct and standard operating procedures as well as investigating complaints made by the public.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

either the GRO or some other governing body as per my example with the clinical bodies

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

either the GRO or some other governing body as per my example with the clinical bodies

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

as per my example with the clinical bodies

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As stated previously, I do not believe that weddings should be differentiated as religious or non-religious.

Please share your views below:

I feel that prayers should be allowed to be introduced and readings/songs that include religious/cultural references.

I have conducted ceremonies alongside people of faith and members of clergy and all of this has gone to create a really individual ceremony that meets the need and desires of those being married. It is a shame that any restriction should be put on those people to be able to participate to - aren't we trying to be a more inclusive society not more restrictive?

If we go down the path of religious versus non-religious/non-belief then there should be no crossing of these boundaries, it is too confusing for people and there has to be a clear point of difference.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

There should be no restrictions as long as it is safe for the officiant, couple and guests to be in that location and this can be assessed in conjunction with a clear working framework then anything should be acceptable.

There may need to be a consideration for consecrated ground - I have had a request for a Halloween wedding in an old graveyard before....

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

As previous, I think it should not be religious vs Non, I think it more important to be inclusive.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Safety first.

It could be that further down the line a registry of locations could be compiled but in the short term it should be the officiants decision based on a safety risk assessment

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

dignified needs a definition and framework.

Again consideration should be given to themes and styles of ceremony.

Is it undignified for two tightrope walkers to state their vows on a high wire or trapeze if they are trained?

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There should be an agreement between the officiant and the location owner that the venue is safe and all possible considerations have been made in line with the standard risk assessments, this could extend to social distancing and the wearing of face masks and can be provided by councils, private land owners etc

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would be so much easier for the officiant and be fully visible and in the public domain.
I don't think there should be a charge for this like a licence carries now.

Please share your views below:

A venue could do an assessment against a risk assessment to ensure compliance and either ask a registered officiant to review it or an officiant can conduct a risk assessment and ahead of a ceremony and if there is a wish from the landowner to have their property used again for ceremonies then it can be submitted to the registration service/governing body for approval and publication.
One of the criteria should be that Public Liability Insurance is in place as all the risk should not fall to the officiant.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I envisage a database such as that held by the HMRC for tax returns where information can be uploaded securely in relation to this information and then photos or scans of the documents such as the schedule, consent, certificate etc can be uploaded.
This will be held centrally should there be a need to review this for divorce/annulment and also for historical record such as birth/death & marriage certificates are held now .

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

both languages where required.

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I envisage a database such as that held by the HMRC for tax returns where information can be uploaded securely in relation to this information and then photos or scans of the documents such as the schedule, consent, certificate etc can be uploaded.
This will be held centrally should there be a need to review this for divorce/annulment and also for historical record such as birth/death & marriage certificates are held now .

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think it needs to be ascertained what notice is to be given, how this will be displayed and how long this is valid for. Equally, what time line is to be placed on this authority being granted?

On the consent paperwork it should either state that they are aware they are having a ceremony conducted by a registered officiant and therefore the marriage would be legally binding or vice versa and this should be signed off by the couple with an evidenced signature to verify it from a passport or driving licence. This can then be uploaded to the central database or retained for inspection by the officiant.

I think that officiants should state their opt-in for same sex marriage on their registration and venues that wish to be considered for use in future should also declare this as part of their risk assessment.

A marriage should not be nullified if an officiant/venue fails to opt out of same sex marriage, I think the emphasis should be placed on inclusivity not exclusion.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Elopements are becoming evermore popular and witnesses sometimes muddy the waters.

I do believe that notice should be given of marriage (to check there is not already a marriage in place) and that a document should be signed to give consent, acknowledge the legal status of the ceremony they are to undertake and a risk assessment as to the safety of the venue, I don't know that anything else needs to be in evidence.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I do believe in the 'common law marriage' and that it should carry certain rights such as pension contributions from the 'spouse', child care entitlements etc.

However, if we are making marriage easier and cost effective then people should feel able to have a paper based service which means they are entitled to these rights without an assumption being made - what if people have cohabited for a long period of time due to economic factors or under duress?

If a couple were able to give notice on line, evidence their right to marry/citizenship etc, have a face to face evidentiary meeting and sign a document to say they are giving consent and they understand they are to be legally married then that would give be sufficient, they should not even need to have a ceremony or witnesses to complete this.

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I'm not sure if we are saying that the time limit is to be removed, shortened or extended?

Should there not be a right to appeal?

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Fully agree that this is what I would be stating if I were to be allowed to become a registered officiant bound by a code of practice.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Notice periods are problematic.

If someone is given a matter of days or weeks to live then notice to marry that has to be given for two weeks is not helpful.

If people who are ill have been deemed to have sufficient capacity to consent and are able to provide a signature or mark that would authenticate their wishes then this should be sufficient.

If someone is not able to sign their consent for themselves there could be an element built in by proxy where the doctor might be able to sign on their behalf if it has been made clear to them the wishes of the patient.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In principle this would be ideal but there would need to be officiants available to be able to attend medical facilities at quite short notice and the emphasis would be that the couple would be in a position to evidence their right to marry etc.

I think there would need to be some very explicit guidance around this.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Would this expand to people who might be looking to claim Asylum i.e does residence need to be considered?

Asylum seekers can claim they or their family would be put to death if they continued to reside in their home country. If their Spouse to be already lived in the U.K could they legally marry under this proposition and then claim residence in the U.K?

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Until I watched the consultation videos I had not given this a thought and my imagination is struggling to think of scenarios under this question. However, If someone had an accident at sea and therefore fell under 'being at risk of death' then this could apply to fishing vessels and private yachts the same.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should be easy enough given that booking would be required, depending on timelines required for notice.

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I have never experienced this.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Perhaps the onus should be on the officiant, could they not upload a schedule, consent, risk assessment and copies either via photographs or scans if ID Docs such as passports rather than relying on the couple.

All of this could be done on line and sent to the registrar general or uploaded onto a central database and would mean that cases would be closed in a timely manner.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I charge my couples a fee if they are outside of a certain geographical area to do a face to face meeting, run through at a venue and the ceremony itself; it is reasonable for this to be standardised across all officiants.

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

I think we should keep things the same across the board, however If it were me I would heavily discount the ceremony fee for a terminal patient or waive it all together so it would still be reasonable that only my costs are met such as travel

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

if all officiants are confirming the same criteria then this fee should be payable to all who provide this service.

This is why a central database of those venues that have been previously approved is important otherwise they could end up having to pay a fee for every ceremony and this could cause a massive financial impact to some venues.

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No different than applying for a licence now.

Would this approval need to be reviewed on a regular basis - if a structural change was made to the venue or it was damaged by fire or flood etc safety would need to be reassessed?

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think most officiants/celebrants already apply this consideration in their quotes, especially if they officiate more than one event a day otherwise they could not schedule their time effectively

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think this should be clear and applied to all allowed to officiate ceremonies i.e I might choose to offer a free certificate of the ceremony where as some others may choose to charge however I have seen people charge anything between £5 and £45 for this certificate.

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Again, I think all pricing for registered officiants should have clear, visible pricing and if they choose to discount their rates they should make this clear, I don't think it is fair to say all terminal illness cases should be free but there are certain guidelines that a lot of us follow (such as not charging for funerals if the deceased is under 16), however if I get three of those in a month I risk no income and for an independent or someone working out of a registry office this could result in caps or quotas being applied and from my perspective, I am hoping this reform will allow me to do more not restrict what work I choose to undertake.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I do not feel that the proposals would result in more people getting married as all of my couples I have ever held a ceremony for in the last four years have completed the legal ceremony very close in time to my ceremony, the only exception to this would vow renewals conducted for couples on their anniversary dates or UK ceremonies for those who had the the legal wedding overseas.

I don't believe the current law discourages or prevents people getting married but I do believe it makes it more complicated than it needs to be and also leaves it open to financial impropriety because of a lack of transparency and regulation.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. I do not believe that the registry offices provide clear pricing for couples and they do not actively promote the cheaper options.
2. The cost of marrying on approved premises seems to vary so much location to location, depending on which registry office is providing the service and what day of the week it falls on. I think this is wrong and people have the right to be able to know what they are paying, why and be able to calculate this themselves by having visibility in either material provided by the registration service, venue or online.
- 3,4&5. I regularly review the Church of England costs when pricing my services. I believe I do more than they do when it comes to creating a ceremony and working with other vendors but I feel it right that my couple is not disadvantaged for choosing me. Equally, I currently consider the going rate of a registrar attending a licensed venue to perform a wedding versus my fee plus a 2x£46 legal marriage so that the couple can choose one or the either and again not be financially disadvantaged either way and can see where the fees come from via my website and the gov.uk web page. The costs for hiring somewhere not licensed for a wedding is for the most part cheaper but there are venues that price themselves based on their features compared to someone else that offers a similar package (i.e accommodation and catering may be considered). I believe that a couple should be able to shop around for their venue and suppliers based on their budget and if the officiant decides to offer a discount because they were recommended via a friend or via another supplier etc then they should. Wedding costs are rising year on year and it has to have some reasonable limits applied to it.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Throughout these proposals, what has remained central to me is inclusivity.

People should have the right to get married where they like - private or public venue, outdoors or indoors, religious setting or non as long as all are safe for those in attendance, paid or otherwise.

People should be able to choose who they want to officiate their ceremony based on a personality that fits with their style/theme and should have a clear understanding of what service the officiant is able to provide i.e legal or not and the associated costs in terms of ceremony fees and travel costs plus any 'optional extras' such as certificates etc

People should be able to conduct ceremonies if they have evidenced their knowledge of the legal requirements and CPD plus membership of a approved organisation whether they are religious or non-religious or contain elements of both.

I feel it would be discriminatory to allow one population to be able to conduct ceremonies under these terms and not others if they are able to adhere to a registration/approval process and follow a clear code of conduct & practice.

1. Register office weddings should become cheaper as the officiants will be more readily available as they will not need to attend so many venues to conduct ceremonies as they will not be the only service providers.
2. The saving for pre-approval could be to the venue on not having to get a licence or there may not need to be a fee applied here if the venue has already been pre-approved - I do feel this needs some real clarity
3. It is fair to say that some couples are having to pay an enhanced registry office fee and the fee of their celebrant which is financially disadvantaging those who have done their research or been fully informed by their registry office of clear pricing. It is also a cost to the couple that they may need to have additional days away from employment for themselves or their witnesses, additional clothing, a secondary reception, enhanced photographer coverage etc etc as well as it being a logistical challenge that a couple needs to have 2 separate events rather than being able to be provided with a one stop shop when it comes to selecting their officiant.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. I work with a small barn in Colchester that is not currently able to apply for a licence without having renovation works completed in order to provide accessible toilets, this could be thousands of pounds of cost. [REDACTED]

There are some venues I work with that has some licensed areas but there are other opportunities outside at the venue that are not covered by the licence, provided they are able to offer accessibility and safe seating etc there should be nothing that stops this venue being able to extend its services under its current approval status. [REDACTED]

2. There should be greater availability of registration officers as there will be less pull on their resources due to a greater number of available service providers.

I see no reason why there shouldn't be a set ceremony fee i.e £500 with travel outside of 15 miles being payable at 45p per mile which is how I bill, there is no reason why this should be broken down for time on the road, it is a risk all mobile services incur.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

My feeling is that venues can not loose, even local councils could benefit if they could have certain locations approved without there needing to be an excessive fee for example, I have been asked to hold a ceremony at Beachy Head which would be amazing for a couple to be able to have their legal ceremony at this external location and local businesses would benefit from being able to cater for them, provide a venue for a reception or accommodation for anyone who attended.

The weddings and events business is estimated to be worth £47million income annually as we are currently. I can only see this being able to grow as capacity can increase, a simple matter of supply and demand in economic terms and as local councils and smaller venues see their estate become a possibility under new legislation, the possibilities continue to grow.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The impacts I can foresee is that there will be a greater need for transparency within their registration services and possibly a knock onto their planning/permits/licencing departments as they have less need to be granting licences for premises to hold weddings although there may be an increase in applications to be able to dispense alcohol in venues & locations that didn't have a need for it before.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The impacts I can foresee is that there will be a greater need for transparency within their registration services and possibly a knock onto their planning/permits/licencing departments as they have less need to be granting licences for premises to hold weddings although there may be an increase in applications to be able to dispense alcohol in venues & locations that didn't have a need for it before.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Currently it is expensive to travel to a location to be a resident for a period of time just to give notice.

It is difficult when you live overseas to be able to get visas and attend face to face meetings with registration services/ religious organisations and where you both have to be present makes this more difficult.

The hoops people have to jump through seem very restrictive. If a lot of this could be done on line and then verified a short while before the ceremony is due to go ahead would facilitate this in the future.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I see this as a real benefit to tourism income in the UK.

There would need to be some consideration given to the amount of attendees at some sites for example Sible Hedingham village is almost closed down at between 1pm and 4pm most weekends where numerous vehicles descend on the village on the way to Castle Hedingham where regular weekend weddings and events are held. Local authorities may look at imposing local park and ride services to these events.

Some venues that rely on National Trust contributions to be able to survive may have another avenue for revenue - country house ruins and gardens of estates.

I'm sure there is a parallel that can be drawn from tourism information in France, Italy, Spain, the Dominican Republic, Greece etc of people who travel specifically to those countries to be able to get married on a beach. The travel companies who offer packages designed for wedding parties to attend locations specifically for a wedding such as the Sandals resorts in Mauritius. Although we do not always have the weather I can imagine Harry Potter fans wanting to get married as the Hogwarts express chugs over the viaduct in Scotland used in the film, Downton fans can get married at Highclere castle now for £20,000 plus so why not have a tourist company that arranges these? or an arranger who works for the local authority if they are looking to use a publicly owned building such as Hylands House in Chelmsford.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no knowledge of this

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no knowledge of this

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

The weddings and events business is estimated to be worth £47million income annually as we are currently.

I can only see this being able to grow as capacity can increase, a simple matter of supply and demand in economic terms and as local councils and smaller venues see their estate become a possibility under new legislation, the possibilities continue to grow.

Government will benefit through greater income tax opportunities via HMRC

Local Authorities may see a reduction in registration office ceremonies but an increase in locations looking for alcohol licenses to hold receptions or additional permits for parking, firework displays, entertainment licences etc.

Business that support the wedding industry should grow. Each venue I work at has a preferred supplier list, if each new venue had its own list there could be a real boom in people required to supply seating, venue dressing, mobile toilets etc that without the catering, entertainment and drinks required with a reception.

We know that 2020 has meant a huge amount of weddings have not been able to go ahead and that many of those who would have started their plans this year are holding back to see how the effects of the pandemic pan out. With more supply of people able to conduct non/religious ceremonies then there should be more income into these groups. The area of concern would be to the quality of delivery.

I think Couples will see greater transparency in price points and therefore will achieve greater choice and benefit from reduced costs and archaic law that stops them being able to achieve their dreams. The biggest win in all of this consultation is for the couple.

The greatest risk is to an independent. Potentially they will need to pay membership to an organisation, make sure they have Public Liability insurance, pay for training to deliver legalities and pay to a local authority to have a licence/permit/registration to operate. If they get a complaint that is upheld this means they will lose their permit to conduct legal ceremonies and there will be less need for someone to conduct a non legal ceremony (unless they stick to naming ceremonies or funerals only and given the network Funeral Directors have) which could mean their livelihoods are curtailed over night.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDNA-H

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-23 21:04:35

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren Christian Church

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

[REDACTED]

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

A number of couple that I know of have had to postpone their marriage, with the consequent disruption and frustration.

The facility to have a simple ceremony in a household setting would be a useful provision, helping to reduce spread of infection in times of a pandemic.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be beneficial for a person coming to England to get married, reducing demands on times and consequent costs.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be a more time efficient method of giving notice, particularly for those coming into England to marry.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

I consider this to be an adequate period of time.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes - this would be convenient and sufficient for the majority of circumstances.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes - this provision should be retained for convenience.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

More readily accessible to any interested parties.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Important to have an alternative appointed person available in case of ill-health or unexpected circumstances.

Please share your views below:

Yes - point as above

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree with all three points.

Parties should be able to choose the officiant from their church.

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If the buildings based system is changed, then it would be good for the governing body of the organization to nominate appointed persons.

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is in line with our current expectations

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes - any organization promoting criminal or unlawful practices should be excluded from nominating officiants. However, organizations having genuine Christian beliefs that may not align with generally accepted norms of the day ,or current government policy (such as same sex marriage) should not be limited or hindered in nominating appointed persons.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No longer necessary

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The need for opened doors would be eliminated by the process of checking impediments prior to the marriage.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Providing the location would be conducive to the dignity and respect for the occasion being maintained.

in private homes.

Please share your views below:

The setting of a private house would facilitate the ceremony in a relaxed family setting.

This provision would be useful in any future pandemic situation.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant should however also consider the couple's preferences on this point.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The environment should be secure and conducive to respect for the ceremony taking place.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - as long as the directives are not too narrow - for example excluding private dwellings.

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Could the names and occupations be included when drafting the document rather than added afterwards?

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Any improvement to legislation that results in the increase couples being legally married is to be welcomed.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Marrying in a suitable home environment would reduce expenditure for many who may find the cost of hiring a location prohibitive.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

For persons travelling to England to get married, the notice period can prove onerous. There would be benefit in reducing or removing this period and enabling the preliminaries to be completed online.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

If marriage ceremonies could take place in the home, the expense of opening up a large building for a short ceremony could in many cases be avoided.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDHX-2

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-23 23:05:57

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren Christian Church

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

We are happy that you use my responses as appropriate to the purpose of this exercise.

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

My wife and I are in a marriage recognised by law, which was celebrated in a religious ceremony

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Two of my daughters got married this year. One was due to get married in April and received her banns certificate which had unfortunately been delayed in the post, on the day that full lockdown was announced in March. This meant that she was unable to get married as planned and had to wait for a further three months before she could do so.

She and her husband-to-be found the forced delay and inability to see each other when they had been expecting to be enjoying their long awaited life together very trying indeed, especially when there was no end date of lockdown in sight. Our daughter had to cancel many arrangements just ten days before her forthcoming nuptials. She had terminated her employment in view of marriage, and her belongings were all packed up, and this left her (and us) in a state of limbo, not knowing when the marriage ban would be lifted.

So anxious was this time that we even contacted [REDACTED] our local MP, who kindly spoke to the Justice Secretary about our plight and she sent a reply expressing her sympathy. We received her letter just after our daughter was thankfully able to at last get married in July, as soon as the ban was lifted. It was a very happy occasion held at our Covid-secure registered meeting room albeit a very much downscaled ceremony, attended only by her husband's immediate family and our own, and the two officiants - a total of 12 persons.

Although three months does not seem long now, the uncertainty and disappointment and even occasional despair at being prevented from being together, was very intense while they were going through it. My son in law actually spent a day or two in bed unable to eat or drink so upset was he at the turn of events. His mother was very worried about his mental health at the time, but thankfully he managed to get over it. He is a very sensitive young man, a deep thinker and he almost took personal responsibility for the circumstances that were causing such pain to them as a couple. My daughter was also physically affected, by having sleepless nights with worry and her hair started falling out with the stress.

The second marriage in the family took place in October having been delayed two months by the impact of lockdown. This was our eldest daughter was 28 who had long looked forward to the happy day of her marriage, having watched her younger siblings beat her to the winning post. She was almost traumatised by having watched her sister suffer through her own experiences of enforced delay and was dreading she too would be caught by another lockdown. She took measures such as collecting her certificates in person, rather than having them posted out and bought a ring 'off the shelf' as her sister had gone through a lot of worry as her ring was still being made at the time we went into lockdown and she had many misgivings not knowing if the bespoke independent jeweler would go into administration because of lockdown meaning her fiancé would lose his £2000 investment in her ring. Our eldest also spent very little on her wedding dress and flowers, knowing that her sister had lost out financially due to the delays. Her wedding also took place at our meeting room, with only the witnesses and officiants, and her married sister and brother in law present at the ceremony according to the latest guidance which had just changed again. We had to attend with masks and observed strict Covid-secure safety rules such as hand sanitization and touchpoint cleanliness. Thereafter we had to abide by the rule of six, and had to curtail the reception activities. Even her own sister could not attend the rest of the day at our home which caused much sorrow. The new rules came in too late for us to arrange a reception in an alternative venue as they came days before her wedding, but as we had planned a very simple family meal at home we went ahead with this plan but limited it to direct family and maximum of six persons. Although we had the peace of mind that we were obeying the law at all times, and day was happy, the joy of the occasion was dampened by the stress surrounding the unusual circumstances of the day. Both weddings were sober occasions with no partying - very much as a result of what the couples had been through. It has not been an easy year!

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

There should not be more time needed than this in this electronic age of efficiency.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes, this would do away with necessity of someone from abroad having to come over to the UK prematurely, to attend interviews in person, when this means accommodation needs to be found, at cost, and time wasted.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, agree. It does not seem that attendance in person should be necessary in such cases.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, this would seem fairer and give opportunity for a wider audience to be able to observe intended notices of marriage than just those in the immediate vicinity of residence of the intended celebrant.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It gave us peace of mind to know that we had 12 months validity on my daughter's application/approval when we went into lockdown and did not know when it would end.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We would appreciate the right for the organisation and or/couple to approve the officiant to perform their marriage ceremony.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would seem prudent so that should anything happen to prevent the officiant overseeing the marriage ceremony, it would not impede the marriage taking place on the appointed date. Once again, the substitute would be best approved by the celebrants and/or the organisation.

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant would be the current Authorised Person. The persons getting married should be able to choose their officiant from their own church, if applicable.

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

At the moment the celebrant is selected by trustees of the registered building eg our meeting room. If we move away from the building to an officiant-based nominee, it would be excellent if the governing body of that organisation could specify who they wished to perform the ceremony as they would understand and be sympathetic to their celebrant's desires for their marriage format.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I do not have a problem with this proposition since we hold sincerely held beliefs on marriage. The sanctity of marriage is very highly regarded in our community and we hold dear the principle of waiting until the marriage is performed before living together.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Agree, some organisations should be excluded, particularly ones that promulgate unlawful or criminal practices. However, organisations that have genuinely held Christian beliefs that might allow things contrary to public policy should not be excluded. An example of this might be same sex marriage, despite this being something which I personally disagree with.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree.

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems to be a good suggestion. However, it did not apply to our situation as we were not charged for by the officiant for our wedding ceremony.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The setting of standards expressed in clarity and simplicity are vital to achieving 100% compliance with the law.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

That seems to make sense.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would no longer be needed?

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would seem the law as it stands is not suited to the dangers of modern times, and the new procedure of checking that there is no impediment to a marriage prior to the event, should negate the need for having open doors. It would be safer to ensure the wedding can take place with no risk to the participants eg terrorist intrusion or theft from personal belongings that may accessed by allowing anyone from the public arena on site. Should the law change to allow ceremonies in houses the same principles of security and safety, and also the practicality of ensuring warmth for the participants - especially during the wintry seasons - should apply.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree in principle but feel that some places suggested by celebrants may not be advisable. For example, getting married in a hot air balloon would not uphold the dignity proper to a marriage ceremony. The venue should meet health and safety norms, and not preclude all ages of participants eg very young and very old. It should be held in high regard and with due respect as one of the most important events in life's journey.

on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or

Please share your views below:

We feel that some places suggested by celebrants may not be advisable. For example, getting married in a hot air balloon would not uphold the dignity proper to a marriage ceremony. The venue should meet health and safety norms, and not preclude all ages of participants eg very young and very old. It should be held in high regard and with due respect as one of the most important events in life's journey. However, some may feel that they would like to marry outdoors and that would be a personal decision and provided that it met certain criteria such as safety and so forth, it would not be unreasonable. We have relatives in Australia who have been married at home recently, and they said it made the occasion very simple, relaxed and inexpensive and they would not have wished it any other way at all. For many of us, home is a safe haven and has special memories of togetherness, good times and love, and this would be more meaningful a venue than (as experienced by our daughters this year) a wedding ceremony in a rather musty foyer of a church that had been closed up since March. We dared not put the airconditioning on for fear of risk of Legionella disease as it had not been used for so long. A marriage at our church also meant we had to hire a marquee at great expense for our third daughter who married in 2017. It was difficult to prepare food away from the conveniences of cookers and refrigerators and it made it a lot of effort to transport the wedding dainties in cool bags etc. It would have so more practical and hygienic to hold it at home and I think it would be an excellent idea to allow for marriages to take place in homes. Furthermore, it would be easier for the bride to look her best without having to get in a car and as happened with both my daughters contend with the vagaries of the English climate. It poured with rain on them as they ventured to the car and again as we emerged from the meeting room! Another source of anxiety was the M6 came to a standstill while we were travelling [REDACTED] to our meeting room, and we were worried we would be late for appointed time of the ceremony. If we had had the marriage at home, it would have removed this uncertainty. The daughter who had to put her wedding off for three months because she could not hold the ceremony in our meeting room because of Covid restrictions, may have been able to hold a simple ceremony at home had this been allowed. We have also heard of some couples who were unable to get married in their preferred meeting room i.e. the one closest to their home, as it had not yet been registered as a marriage venue. This resulted in inconvenience to the participants and using a home would have been a good solution. Our meeting room does not provide much scope for attractive photo backgrounds. The daughter who got married in October had to have her photos edited as they had lorries heading for the M6 passing by behind her, interspersed with lamp posts and adjacent houses and a block paved carpark to contend with too! Fortunately, the autumn leaved tree in the border saved the day! Home gardens would have provided better photo opportunities. These rules allowing wedding at home and at other venues already apply in our neighbouring Scotland and Ireland, so these laws have precedent and are not an unreasonable ask.

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant should be cognisant of desires of the celebrants and sensitive to their wishes.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is critical that the venue should be safe for both the couple getting married and those attending the ceremony. There should be no risk or inconvenience that would detract from the happiness and solemnity of the occasion. By minimizing distractions and disruptions and practical difficulties it would make it a less stressful experience for both the parents and their offspring!

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is reasonable so long as it does not become over-prescriptive with regards to weddings taking place in houses as whilst it would be important for the general public to respect any guidelines and particularly observe any requirements of the law, this respect needs to be reciprocal as regards observing personal privacy in our homes.

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It would be more helpful if the above information could be documented before the occasion. We found it quite a strain for the newly married couple to have to wait around for the information to be written up when they were nervously waiting for the ceremony to take place! Likewise, having just got married to have so much paperwork to do, diverted from the joy of the moment. Simplification of the process would be good, although we appreciate that the signing and witnessing has to take place to formalise the proceeding.

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

We are unaware of the detail of this.

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 77:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 78:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

We welcome the proposal by the government which we first came across when researching Covid guidelines earlier this year. Our only disappointment was that the new rules would not come in in time to help us cope with the difficulties that 2020 and the accompanying pandemic presented prior to and on the day of the marriages of our daughters. It was hard enough to have them marrying within six months of each other, but by reason of the ban on weddings earlier in the year there was only three months between their marriages, in the end. This made life rather pressurised to get things ready in time for the second marriage of the year and the family got pretty stressed out in between the joyful moments! It is the continual altering of guidelines and rules in response to the pandemic and the uncertainty thereof, that was the hardest. The simple solution of being allowed to have a small ceremony at home would have been so much better.

We believe that the changes would help not only those who may not have been able to get married heretofore, by reason of Covid, or other restrictions, but also those who came from abroad and were thus prevented from getting married within a certain time frame, because of onerous laws.

We believe in not living together before marriage, and it was very hard for my daughter and her husband-to-be who had to wait a further three months before they could consummate their marriage. For this reason, while the changes would not make a material difference to the number of marriages in the Brethren community because we hold the sanctity of marriage highly, it would likely result in more marriages overall. We believe this would be good because there is little that is more important in encouraging stable, prosperous and caring communities, than encouraging stable, loving whole family units.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We do not have to pay to have our ceremony at the meeting room, but there were costs and inconveniences with having to hold the ceremony there both during the pandemic and prior to the pandemic for different reasons. eg In 2017 when we held the reception at the meeting room we had to pay for a marquee and caterers, whereas had we been at home this would have not been necessary and would have entailed less risk in transporting wedding food and preparing it with the most basic of facilities and no cookers or refrigerators to hand. In the pandemic we could not hold the reception at the meeting room or at home in the case of the last marriage, meaning we could only have a very simple family meal with the couple who had a long journey to get to their final home and we felt it was not right to send them off without eating anything as they had missed breakfast and lunch already being a bundle of nerves about the day!

We stuck to the rule of six and had a simple meal delivered to the door by a kind friend as with so few of us, and being required to be present for photos, meant my wife could not cook. My wife and I had to go and park in a public car park to allow the friend to deliver the meal to the door, and to allow the bride's married sister to have two photographs with her. She and her husband had to miss the wedding reception because of the rule of six and this was very hard for us to have to leave them out. It made the day very disjointed and rather stressful, but the couple themselves were blissfully happy and probably did not notice the many hours we spent researching the rules and trying to make sure we were compliant. No alternative venue would have been desirable given the risks of Covid abroad at the moment and we simply did not have time to even find out whether such a venue would have been available at such short notice. It would have also been costly. Any adjustments to the law should make sure that simplicity of execution and clarity of instruction is key to getting the new rules right.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

For all three weddings we might have saved the organisation i.e. Brethren meeting room trustees and attendees, the cost of having to pay for the maintenance of the hedgerows and clearing the grounds for photos, also the cost of having to put on light and heating for the event. We are aware of some meeting rooms who had to test for Legionella risk because of the length of time that the meeting rooms cooling systems had been standing unused. This was an added expense, no doubt.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

N/A

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law is restrictive for persons travelling from overseas to get married in England or Wales. We have an English relative who has been through several delays with regards to his marriage to a New Zealand girl who is also known to us. We have experienced first-hand how many difficulties have to be overcome with regards to practical decision-making prior to setting up home and the exorbitant costs of buying and furnishing a house at this time, and observed that the sooner the couples could formalise their marriage and be able to live together and make decisions together the better. We are aware in the case of the overseas prospective bride the added strain of having to say goodbye to her family in New Zealand many weeks before she and her husband-to-be could be married and live together, was a hard waiting time for her.

She lived with her sister and family who was living nearby, but some other brides might have to pay for hotel accommodation and waiting unduly would be very expensive. A solution would be to abolish the current 28 day period required since the speed of communication is much faster nowadays. Also the ability to do the preliminaries online from abroad rather than have to do it in person in the UK (i.e. the need for residence in the UK) be abolished, would greatly simplify the process.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It would be simpler if the bride or bridegroom from abroad or further afield could fill in the preliminaries from wherever they resided online, but of course subject to agreeing to attend an in person interview at an mutually appointed time, if it was felt that this was required. It would also help if the notification of intent of marriage period could be reduced from 28 days till say, 3 days.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

M/A

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Marriage at home would save money for couple and family.

Not having to open up the large meeting room for a small ceremony would save cost of electricity for the organisation.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDNW-7

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-24 15:59:49

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren Christian Church (PBCC)

www.plymouthbrethrenchristianchurch.org
togetherwearebrethren.com.au

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Many marriages across England and Wales have had to be put on hold during the pandemic which has caused distress and hardship to those couples who had dates booked. This is while contemporaries in Scotland and Northern Ireland were able to continue with weddings where lockdown measures permitted, in the houses, which was perceived to be unfair.

There were also situations with buildings registered for less than a year, where the registrars needed to be in attendance, and the registrar office had closed prior to lockdown. As they held all the paperwork, there was no opportunity for these to continue, but at that time there was no restrictive lockdown and the marriage could have gone ahead if the building had been registered for more than a year. Because the wedding was registered at the building it could not proceed.

The PBCC have strongly held Biblical beliefs in the sanctity of marriage and do not live together prior to marriage (Scriptural References:- Genesis 2 v 24: Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh; Ephesians 5 v 31: For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two shall be one flesh. KJV).

In these cases, not being able to have the wedding ceremony meant that the couple continued to live separate lives with their own parents/families, when they were expecting and preparing for a new life together. It is therefore of all importance to us that there should be provision for a simpler ceremony held in our houses that would have minimal infection risk.

Furthermore, there were situations where couples wanted to marry prior to lockdown but did not have their certificates issued. This happened both where the couple were resident and where one was foreign.

The PBCC encourage all couples considering marriage to approach this in earnest and thoughtful consideration, as it is truly held to be 'the union of a man and a woman to the exclusion of all others, voluntarily entered into for life'. As such, once the couple have made the committal to be wed, often there is no reason for delay in continuing so they can pursue their chosen life together. For this reason it would be beneficial if the obstructions to a prompt wedding date could be removed: namely if the 28 day notice period were abolished or reduced; the preliminaries could be done online; and the residence requirement could be abolished.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We would agree with this proposal: It makes it easier for persons coming to England or Wales to get married, especially during the current restrictions but also outside of them.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with this. If persons are wanting to marry in England it will make it easier for them to start the notice period online. This makes complete sense in a digital age.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Three days would be adequate and speed up the process.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

We agree with this proposal: This seems to be a sensible suggestion as long as there are safeguards against sham marriages.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Happy with this proposal. In practice most of our couples marry in a much shorter time frame, but the 12 month period has never caused us a problem, and may be useful in some situations.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We are happy with this proposal: We would normally have two officiants registered and available to ensure that there is no delay if the first officiant is unable to attend through illness, traffic delays or other reason.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We are happy with this proposal: We would normally have two officiants registered and available to ensure that there is no delay if the first officiant is unable to attend through illness, traffic delays or other reason.

Please share your views below:

Yes, if they are available and happy, and the couple request it. We would normally have two officiants registered and if they were available and happy to conduct the ceremony, would respect the wishes of the couple to choose the officiant.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with this proposal and that the persons getting married should be able to choose their officiant from their church if applicable.

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with this proposal. At present the authorised person is nominated by the trustees of the registered building which has worked well. However, if it is proposed that we move away from a buildings based system to an officiant based system (which we support) then it would be good for the governing authority of that organisation to nominate the officiants.

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We don't have an issue with this proposal. PBCC do have sincerely held beliefs on marriage. The sanctity of marriage is paramount in our community and persons do not live together prior to marriage. Genesis 2. V 24, Ephesians 5. V 31 "For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two shall be one flesh" KJV.

"As to the obligation of marriage, it cannot be held too highly; instituted in paradise, and confirmed by the Lord Himself, its sanctity is the providential bond of all moral order in the world" J N Darby Collected Writings Vol 18 p 111.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

It is clear that organisations that promote unlawful or criminal practices should be excluded. However there may be organisations that have genuinely held Christian beliefs that are contrary to public policy (such as same sex marriage). These should not be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This commends itself to us.

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This makes sense although it would not apply to PBCC as the officiants would never charge for their services.

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We hold the dignity of the marriage in the highest honour and therefore strongly agree that the officiant should be responsible to uphold the dignity and solemnity of marriage. it should not be treated frivolously in any way.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is sensible to uphold the dignity of the occasion.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It commends itself to us that religious (or other) organisations should be responsible for ensuring that the persons they nominate as officiants are “fit and proper” persons, as we do currently.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a fair and equitable way to proceed.

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would no longer be necessary

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We support the repeal of the requirement for a wedding to take place with open doors. The new process of checking impediments prior to the wedding would eliminate the need to have open doors.

It would also be desirable that if a simple wedding was taking place in a private home, the open doors policy would not apply. This could have to do with the safety of those present, if anyone were able to enter the property.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We would agree with this in principle. PBCC would want to ensure that the dignity of the ceremony is maintained and therefore we would select venues with care.

We strongly agree with the proposal that weddings could take place in homes.

in private homes.

Please share your views below:

We welcome the proposal that weddings should be able to take place in private homes.

There are many persons that would find it meaningful to have their wedding in their own home (normally the bride's home) where the simplicity, dignity, and solemnity of the occasion can be fully experienced without other distractions.

Other countries where there are PBCC communities do have the provision for marriages to take place in houses such as Scotland, Northern Ireland, Australia, New Zealand, to name a few, and it would be most welcome if the same could apply in England and Wales.

Moving from a buildings based system to an officiant based system will greatly facilitate this for us.

We also feel that a wedding ceremony in the home environment can be more relaxed and facilitate the serving of any food or drink that may be provided. Likewise it provides a safe, dignified, environment for the couple to have photographs taken following the ceremony.

Having the facility to conduct a wedding in the home would have helped numerous situations in the COVID pandemic, and could well facilitate a situation where someone becomes incapacitated at short notice, e.g. breaking a leg.

It will also help in situations where there is a new church building that may not yet be registered. During COVID there were situations with newly registered buildings where the officiant was able to attend, but the local registrar office was not, and the wedding could not go ahead.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with this proposal. The officiant would normally be sensitive to the couples' desire as to where they are married, but they should also be comfortable that the proposed location is suitable, safe and dignified as befits the occasion.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We strongly support the proposal that the location should be both safe and dignified.

The safety of not only the couple but all attendees is paramount that they are not put at any risk or inconvenience in any way that would distract from the marriage occasion which is of great import to them.

We hold the dignity of the marriage in the highest honour and therefore strongly agree that the location should be dignified as is befitting to the solemnity as well as the joy of the occasion.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is reasonable as long as it doesn't become over prescriptive with regards to weddings taking place in houses.

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We support this proposal, and also feel that it would help to streamline the process if these details could be added before the wedding ceremony. Our preferred procedure would be that on the arrival at the venue of all parties, and confirmation that they want to proceed with the marriage, all formalities (filling in date, location, etc) apart from the signing of the schedule should be carried out, followed by the ceremony, and then the signing. This would save undue time after the ceremony.

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with this logical and sensible proposal.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We have no strong thoughts on the subject of fees except that it is important that the fee can be waived as PBCC officiants would not charge for our services.

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

We are fundamentally in agreement with most of the proposals and feel it would facilitate marriages practically and still uphold the sanctity of marriage. We commend and support the government's efforts to bring this up to date and meaningful. We do not feel that the current laws would discourage or prevent members of the PBCC from getting married, however we are also mindful of other churches and communities and can well see that this might have that effect in some situations. We would refer back to the many situations we encountered during COVID where persons were unable to get married, and our fundamental belief in not living together before marriage. The effect on couples unable to marry was that they did not live together until they could get married. Again, we can see that for others the proposals could well lead to an increase in the number of persons legally married, which we would welcome.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We have covered our thoughts on costs for the parties involved in Question 91

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We feel that the government's proposals will set a good precedent for other jurisdictions if they are more restricted than the proposals. They may also encourage couples to get married in England or Wales rather than another jurisdiction.

There would be great benefit for residents of overseas jurisdictions travelling to England and Wales to get married if: -

- a) the notice period were abolished or reduced from the current 28 days
- b) the preliminaries could be done online
- c) the residence requirement could be abolished.

We commend the move to make the process simpler and more expedient.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Our belief is that a wedding is a simple but dignified occasion, and we respect the wishes of couples that want this to be a hassle free and inexpensive procedure. The true meaning of marriage is in the act of marrying, not the reception or extensive celebrations surrounding this. We strongly support the proposals that make it simpler and less expensive for couples to marry.

We can also see the benefit for the religious organisation, where a large building is registered and needs to be heated/cooled etc for the purposes of what might be a very small ceremony, in performing the ceremony in a house. Many of our churches go to extra expenditure to create a conducive environment both to the ceremony, the reception, and an area for photography.

Moreover the whole streamlining of the process both of registration and the ceremony itself, and the benefits of moving online where possible rather than the somewhat archaic processes at present, will have significant impact on the government and local authorities in the removal of unnecessary red tape.

It will be of significant impact to the PBCC Officials in labour and cost saving, including time and travel saving for marriages in homes. Often officials will make personal expenditure (which they are more than happy to do, much as the PBCC would be happy to reimburse) in the procurement of supplies including high end fountain pens and other stationery.

We welcome the benefits to all these parties.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDNB-J

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-24 20:51:46

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren ( Authorised Person )

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Many marriages have had to be put on hold, which has caused a lot of added pressure to the couple getting married and the parents of the couple when the date that was originally fixed had to be changed with no fixed date in mind.

It would be a very helpful provision if the ceremony could be held in the house, which would also cut down the extra risk of infection, and keep the ceremony much simpler.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would make it simpler for persons coming to England to get married.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

same as question 4

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

We would agree with this proposal

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

We would agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We generally have two officiants registered and normally available to ensure there are no delays just in case of illness or if there was an issue at work or with traffic delays etc.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

If the couple requests it.
If they are available and also happy.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The couple getting married should be able to choose their officiant from their church if this is applicable.
The officiant would be the current Authorised person.

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

At present, the authorized person is nominated by the trustees of the registered building.
If we move away from a building based system to an officiant based system, then it would be good for the governing authority of that organization to nominate the officiants.
This could still be the trustees of the registered building or other more centralized entity.

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We do have sincerely held beliefs on marriage.
The sanctity of marriage is absolutely paramount in our community.
Persons do not live together prior to marriage.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

We do agree that some organizations should be excluded.

Organizations that promote unlawful or criminal practices should be excluded.
Organizations that have genuinely held Christian beliefs that are contrary to public policy ( such as same-sex marriage ) should not be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This makes sense.

It would not apply to us as we do not charge for our services.

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would no longer be necessary.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We support the repeal of the requirement for a wedding to take place with open doors.

The new process of checking impediments prior to the wedding would eliminate the need to have open doors.

Ceremonies performed in the house should not require the private dwelling to have open doors.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Broadly we would agree with this.

This would allow and facilitate for weddings in the house.

We would not approve some of the places that have been suggested.

The dignity of the ceremony needs to be upheld and maintained.

in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Many couples would find it meaningful to have the wedding in their own house.

The whole occasion can be performed in a simple way in the family setting.

This would have been very helpful during the covid pandemic.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant would be sensitive as to the couple's desire, as to where they are to be married.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The location should be safe and dignified.

The safety of the couple and all attendees is paramount.

No risk or inconvenience that would distract from the marriage occasion.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is reasonable as long as it doesn't become over-prescriptive with regards to weddings taking place in houses.

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would be helpful if all these details could be added before the wedding ceremony.

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

We welcome the government's proposals.

Some persons may have been able to get married because of Covid, and other restrictions, and overseas marriages.

We believe in not living together before marriage.

The proposals would facilitate marriage, while it would not impact on the number of our marriages, it may overall, and this would be good.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Marriages in the could save money for the couple and for the family.

Not having to open up the meeting room for a small ceremony could save money for the organization.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law is restrictive for persons travelling from overseas to get married in England or Wales.

It would help if the notice period was reduced from 28 days or abolished.

The residence requirement could be abolished.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Not having to open up the large meeting room for a small ceremony would save money for the organization.
Marriage in the home could save money for the couple getting married and the family.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDNT-4

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-24 21:45:26

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Appointed Person for the Solemnization of Marriages at a Registered Building

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

[REDACTED]

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

In my capacity as an AP for the past 16 years, I have recently, this year (2020), had the most challenges in the role, witnessing the trauma and stress of couples wishing to get married by but hindered through:

1. the closure of registered buildings March-July and again in November due to COVID-19 lockdown measures.
2. the closure of Register Offices March-July/August and the subsequent delays for couples getting appointments to give notice.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Not that accurate ascertainment of persons isn't important and similarly their current legal status but in the current day, such information about persons should be much more widely and broadly accessible and if notice was published on-line, the exposure of the notice would be much wider too.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As with my answer to Q5, nowadays more personal information is available prior to any application and additional checks can be made later, as required.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

The period of time shouldn't make any difference so the shortest period should be applied. It could always be extended if needs be

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I agree that these interviews could take place remotely. Currently, like never before, we are proving the effectiveness of carrying out much important business remotely, albeit initially through force of circumstance, the positive benefits in terms of time and cost saving, as well as protection of health, are immense.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, there is no need to change this.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I fully agree. Being married is a publicly evident situation so the preliminaries to marriage must be too. No genuine couple would object to this, unless where there is a legally valid reason not to, as regards to personal safety.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There is no need to change this time period.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, and I would recommend also the Assistant AP being identified too, so as to cover for possible illness, travel delays, etc on the day of the ceremony

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, as with my answer to Q11.

Please share your views below:

Yes, if they are available to act, are happy to do so and the couple request it.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The Officiant would be the existing Appointed Person. Also, the couple should be able to choose from their church , if applicable.

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, similar to the current arrangement for Registered Buildings where the governing body/Trustees of the building appoint the APs, the governing body of the organisation should be able to appoint the officiants.

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, agree. Marriage is a sincerely held belief and the provision for carrying out marriage, highly regarded.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely agree that organisations that promote and practice unlawful activities should be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, it is important for a centrally controlled public list to be held.

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, absolutely. This has always the case. Such persons must be competent for the role.

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I have never made any charge, nor have thought to do so. It is a service to the community, especially the couple.

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, in accord with holding marriage and the service of officiating with sincere beliefs.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Guidance only. Churches should be free to conduct the wedding according to the form and rites of the particular church and beliefs.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, as per existing

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If, in situations where reasonable efforts have been made to improve but have failed.

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In accordance with any reasonable request.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, as with the existing provisions

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, this is important

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There would not be any reason for this

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I support this repeal. With a new process for preliminaries, this would no longer be necessary. Similarly, open doors should not be necessary for ceremonies held in a house

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

in the main, yes. However it is important for the dignity and bearing of the ceremony to be maintained.

Please share your views below:

I would welcome the proposal for weddings to take place in private homes. This would be very meaningful to couples where the home would mean so much. There would not be any distractions from the dignity and bearing of the occasion and would allow for simplicity with the family without the need to rise to a 'grand' occasion. The time would be more relaxed and would more simply facilitate refreshment after the occasion. This arrangement would have worked very well during national lockdown restrictions. It would help where physical disabilities are present too.

Weddings in homes are already allowed in NI and Scotland and other developed Western countries where laws are based on the British system have already modernised their marriage law. The current UK law carries wide disparities regarding where marriages can be held.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant should be responsible along with being sensitive to the couples wishes and desires as to where to marry.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As existing, where APs take responsibility, the location needs to be safe and dignified. Safety for all attendees is important and there should not be any inconvenience or distraction from the occasion.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, subject to any guidance being reasonable and overly descriptive against marriage in homes.

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In principle although from experience, it would be more helpful and convenient for this information to be added beforehand

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, absolutely. The present arrangement is quite unnecessarily laborious!

I have observed at an electronically registered marriage in another country, as a member of the congregation and was impressed with the simplicity but without in any way detracting from the dignity. it seemed to be more relaxing for the couple.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, it remains important to includes these.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, essentially, the marriage itself is the exchange of vows to each other

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, it is important to have these conditions

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I welcome and support the proposals

Some persons have been unable to marry because of COVID restrictions and other travel related restrictions.

I believe in, and support, not living together before marriage and marriage being the bedrock of stability on society so any provisions to simplify the whole process and make it less onerous and more attractive to all is welcome

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Enabling marriages in homes would save cost for couples and their families.

It would also save cost for church organisations where a church building would not have been opened up and used for the occasion. It would also provide a more greater level of protection from risk of infection, in situations similar to what we are currently in.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current marriage law is restrictive for persons travelling from overseas to get married in England & Wales. Reducing (or even abolishing) long notice periods (including residence) would help, albeit with the necessary control measures implemented through more technological means based on prior information, etc, if completing preliminaries on-line, remotely were made possible.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Cost savings for couples and their families

Cost savings for church organisations through not having to open up large church buildings for relatively small wedding parties.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDHC-D

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 06:14:25

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

A number of marriages within our community had to be put on hold during the COVID lockdown earlier this year, one of these being the son of a close friend of mine where the approved place of worship was a new hall recently registered for marriage, and there was a requirement for a Registrar to attend along with the Celebrant. This caused additional delay as the couple not only had to wait until lockdown was lifted but also to wait until an available Registrar could attend. This caused considerable stress to the couple and their families, particularly as it was not an option for the couple to live together prior to their marriage as this would have breached the sanctity of marriage which is firmly held as a core Christian principle according to Holy Scripture.(Genesis 2 v 24)

It would be a welcome change to the law if a simpler ceremony could be conducted in the home setting with minimal infection risk and with a quicker and easier process securing Certificates prior to the marriage.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal because it would make it easier for persons coming to England to get married.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal because it would make it easier for persons coming to England to get married.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Three days is adequate in my view.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would normally ensure that a substitute officiant is available to conduct the ceremony should the first officiant be unavailable due to illness or other reasons, or even delayed due to traffic, or any other reason.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would agree with this proposal.

Please share your views below:

I would agree with the proposal providing the substitute officiant was agreeable to this, or if the couple requested it.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The Officiant would be the current Authorised Person

The persons getting married should be able to choose their officiant from their church if applicable.

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

- At present the authorised person is nominated by the trustees of the registered building
- If we move away from a buildings based system to an officiant based system then it would be good for the governing authority of that organisation to nominate the officiants.
- This could still be the trustees of the registered building or other more centralised entity.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I don't have an issue with this proposal.

- We do have sincerely held beliefs on marriage.
- The sanctity of marriage is paramount in our community
- Persons do not live together prior to marriage.

.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I agree that some organisations should be excluded

- Organisations that promote unlawful or criminal practices should be excluded.
- Organisations that have genuinely held Christian beliefs that are contrary to public policy (such as same sex marriage) should not be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

- This makes sense
- it would not apply to us as we do not charge for services

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

- This would no longer be necessary.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

- We support the repeal of the requirement for a wedding to take place with open doors.
- The new process of checking impediments prior to the wedding would eliminate the need to have open doors.
- Ceremonies performed in the house should not require the private dwelling to have open doors.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- Broadly I would agree with this
- This would allow for weddings in the house
- I would not approve some of the places that have been suggested.
- The dignity of the ceremony needs to be maintained.

Please share your views below:

We welcome the proposal that weddings should be able to take place in private houses.

- Many would find it meaningful to have their wedding in their own home
- The dignity and solemnity of the occasion can be fully experienced without other distractions.
- The occasion can be performed in simplicity in the family setting
- The occasion can be more relaxed
- Facilitate any food/ drink that may be had after the ceremony
- Facilitate the taking of photos
- Would have helped during COVID
- There may be other restricted circumstances where this would help
- This would overcome situations where new church buildings have not been able to be used – either not registered or no availability of the registrars to attend.
- Already the case in Scotland and NI

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

- The officiant would be sensitive to the couples' desire as to where they are married.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- The location should be both safe and dignified.
- The safety of not only the couple but all attendees is paramount
- No risk or inconvenience that would distract from the marriage occasion

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is reasonable as long as it doesn't become over prescriptive with regards to weddings taking place in houses.

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- It would be helpful if these details could be added before the wedding ceremony.

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 77:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 78:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I welcome the government's proposals,

- Some persons may have been unable to get married because of COVID / other restrictions /overseas marriages
- I believe in not living together before marriage
- The proposals would facilitate marriage, while it would not impact on the number of our marriages, it may overall and this would be good.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

- Marriage in the home could save money for the couple and family
- Not opening up a large meeting room for a small ceremony could save money for the organisation.
- The overall effect of the Government's proposals will encourage persons to enter into marriage safely, efficiently and with sufficient flexibility to suit the varied circumstances surrounding the couples concerned.
- Marriage is an institution of God, therefore to encourage and facilitate it will promote right relationships that will enhance the family concept which will in turn strengthen our economies nationally and worldwide.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

N/A

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law is restrictive for persons travelling from overseas to get married in England and Wales

- It would help if the notice period were abolished or reduced from the current 28 days;
- the preliminaries could be done online;
- the residence requirement could be abolished.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

- Marriage in the home could save money for the couple and family
- Not opening up a large meeting room for a small ceremony could save money for the organisation

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDN4-4

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 09:35:23

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Member of the public

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No. It is not much to ask that couples have lived locally for seven days prior to giving such notice.

Consultation Question 5:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No. It seems more appropriate that the process starts in person, rather than online or by post.

Consultation Question 6:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

No. I do not favour interviews being done remotely. This seems to be “change for changes sake” It is not much to ask that an in-person interview be scheduled in all cases.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I do not support change from the status quo on this.

Consultation Question 9:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There is always an issue about whether it is sensible to publish a person’s details online. In any event, I agree with the statement in paragraph 4.78 that “There is however a powerful argument that the requirement of publicity underlines the idea of marriage as a public, rather than private, matter.”

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I am not convinced about the need to require that banns to authorise an Anglican wedding should be published only in the church where the wedding is to take place.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

I see no reason to depart from the status quo re either (1) or (2). In particular, the suggestion in (2) would seem to represent unnecessary micro-management.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

I see no reason to depart from the status quo with this, as the suggested change would seem to represent unnecessary micro-management.

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I agree to (1) but do not agree to (2). I am not convinced that consultation document has made an adequate case for change to the status quo. It is stated in paragraph 1.3 that "Weddings law in England and Wales is in desperate need of reform." Having read and carefully considered this consultation document it does not seem to me that weddings law in England and Wales is actually in desperate need of reform. It is always possible to focus in on potentially negative aspects of any regime, but that does not mean that changing things is appropriate. From my own experience (I am married and have attended weddings of both the religious and non-religious type) the current system works OK. I am not opposed to change or reform, sometimes radical change, in certain areas of our national life, where justified. For example, leaving the EU seems thoroughly sensible.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an "officiant" system.

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The existing system works satisfactorily.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an "officiant" system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an "officiant" system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Irrespective of whether an “officiant” approach is favoured or not it seems sensible that the law should expressly exclude religious organisations and (if enabled by Government to officiate at weddings) non-religious belief organisations from nominating officiants if the organisations promotes purposes that are unlawful or contrary to public policy or morality.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 28:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo

Consultation Question 30:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Irrespective of whether an “officiant” approach is favoured or not it seems sensible that (if enabled by Government to officiate at weddings) independent officiants applying to be authorised should be required to demonstrate that they are “fit and proper” persons.

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Irrespective of whether an “officiant” approach is favoured or not it seems sensible that (if enabled by Government to officiate at weddings) independent officiants applying to be authorised should be required to demonstrate that they are “fit and proper” persons as set out in this question.

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Irrespective of whether an “officiant” approach is favoured or not it is appropriate that organisations should be prohibited from making a business of officiating at weddings, by elevating the making of profits above the expression of their beliefs.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Irrespective of whether an “officiant” approach is favoured or not it is appropriate that there should be a prohibition on acting with a conflict of interest.

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Irrespective of whether an “officiant” approach is favoured or not it is very important to uphold the dignity and solemnity of marriage

Consultation Question 36:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced about this, which could be regarded as unnecessary micro-management.

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 38:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 41:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an “officiant” system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason to depart from the status quo.

Consultation Question 43:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason to depart from the status quo.

Consultation Question 44:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason to depart from the status quo.

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason to depart from the status quo.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason to depart from the status quo.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

On balance, the existing approach is satisfactory.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Earlier in this consultation document (paragraph 5.193) it is indicated that solemnity is important in the context of wedding arrangements. The existing arrangements ensure this and moving away from this to a “no holds barred” approach would not. Marriage is between the couple for life and it should be entered into seriously.

Please share your views below:

The status quo provides for adequate seriousness in the wedding ceremony. In contrast the above suggestions would unsatisfactorily dumb down and trivialise the marriage institution. No change to the status quo is justified.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The existing approach is satisfactory.

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

The existing approach is satisfactory. What is proposed is change for changes sake.

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an "officiant" system. I favour retaining the status quo.

Consultation Question 52:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not convinced of the need to move to an "officiant" system. I favour retaining the status quo. The status quo already ensures that the wedding location is safe and dignified.

No

Please expand on your answer:

I favour retaining the status quo. The status quo already ensures that the wedding location is safe and dignified.

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No. I am not convinced by the need for a pre-approval process. If the status quo is retained the issue would not arise.

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I do not see the need to change from the status quo.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I do not favour of an electronic dimension being added. It is not asking much that the registration process for such an important event in peoples lives is to be handled face to face. Also, in paragraph 8.22 reference is made to "paper documents being lost, stolen or damaged." However, hackers could easily destroy electronic records. Arguably an electronic system is less secure than a paper-based system.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

On balance, I am not convinced about this.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

I do not favour weddings being able to take place in international waters.

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Getting married is a very important event in a persons life. The decision is a serious one and not to be taken lightly. In my view the main point is that the couple are sufficiently committed about getting married. If they are sufficiently committed they will be determined enough to go through the process of getting married. I have carefully read and considered the content of the consultation document as it describes both (i) the status quo regarding the marriage process and (ii) the changed process outlined within the document. I am doubtful if the current law discourages or prevents couples from getting married. Equally, I would be surprised if the provisional proposals led to an increase in the number of couples who are legally married.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDNF-P

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 10:47:00

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

One Spirit Interfaith Foundation

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Not necessary

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable to me

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable to me

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable to me

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Not applicable to me

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I have an established practice in Northern Ireland as an officiant of legal marriage. I have been authorised to conduct legal marriages since 2012.

During the pandemic nearly all of my weddings have been postponed into 2021 with the exception of a few, one which involved a terminally ill lady and others which slotted into the July relaxation of the rules.

Many of my weddings have now been postponed twice or three times.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

At least one month or 28 days. There really should be a longer time in my personal opinion because as a former divorce lawyer it has been my experience that people rush into marriage without consideration of the consequences or commitment involved.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think it's more important than ever to have face to face interviews save that whilst the pandemic is on this is difficult. However once it is dealt with then face to face enables people to get a proper feeling for the couple, which is preferable.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Notice and Registration should in my opinion take place in the region where the wedding will take place. For couples outside the jurisdiction then notice can be given by emailed documents and scanned ID, however a face to face meeting prior to the wedding is essential.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

When you speak of the Schedule do you mean the document which is signed at the marriage? If so a year is too long. In Northern Ireland the schedule is only valid for the stated date of the wedding. In the Republic of Ireland it is valid for 6 months. It should be no longer than 6 months.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

It would depend on the circumstances. Usually the reasons you have listed above would be enough. Actually this is a solemn process and too much laxity around celebrants being switched at the last minute for no particular good reason would be counterproductive to engagement with the whole process. I work with my couples and build up a relationship with them usually over the course of a year. This is an important part of the process for a minister and the couple.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I really don't know. To be honest the question is not very informative or clear.

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am afraid I don't know anything about Anglican weddings.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am an interfaith minister, we hold a wide remit in that we are accepting of all faiths and none. Therefore we also conduct non religious ceremonies although as we are religious officiants the wedding is deemed to be religious. In Northern Ireland humanists are now authorised to conduct humanist legal ceremonies and the way this is done is that for the day on which the wedding takes place, they assume the temporary mantle of a registrar.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Of course any body responsible for nominating officiants must have a protocol in place to ensure its nominees are fit and proper persons for the office.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I cannot comment on which organisations should be proscribed, however, any organisation claiming to authorise persons to officiate MUST have a strict governance framework and be held accountable for the actions of its officiants

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

20 is a very small number. I would suggest a larger number, an historical traceable lineage and training, accountability and governance procedures transparently available for scrutiny.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes I agree that the law should expressly exclude any organisation promoting unlawful or contrary to public policy or morality purposes.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Again this question is unclear. What do you mean by office? Officiants must have undergone a formal training and accreditation with their organisation. Whatever office they hold is irrelevant if they meet the criteria.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is currently the position in Northern Ireland and I think also in Scotland and it works well.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Subject to certain criteria i.e.

Accountability

Training

Insurance

Declared standards or code of ethics

Continuous professional development

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, as stated in my response to question 29

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that no conflict of interest should be allowed.

Fees should be reasonable only'

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No, my personal beliefs encompass both religious and non religious positions. It is sad that I cannot practice as both a religious and a humanist but they (the humanists) won't allow me to train with them as I will conduct ceremonies for people who want religious input. This is regrettable.

However if you are nominated by a religious organisation, you clearly can not operate independently in direct conflict with the beliefs of the organisation of which you are a member.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As with a driving license, officiants should have to have periodic checks on their continuing suitability.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

CPD is essential in order to be appraised of and comply with the constantly changing face of public policy.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The declaration of consent verbally during the ceremony is an essential part of the ceremony. If the parties are for example, non speaking due to disability allowance can be made for this but not otherwise. We are in danger of making marriage into a push button exercise if we lose all of the contents of traditional ceremonies.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Subject to all the appropriate preliminaries and requirements being present.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely. So many couples have said to me that they wanted a civil ceremony but the fact that no reference at all was to be made in a poem or song which had some spiritual content had made that impossible.

Please share your views below:

This is far too wide an area to comment on. It should be up the to the couple and the officiant .

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or

Please share your views below:

There has to be an element of dignity and solemnity in such a ceremony. It must also be safe for the purposes of health and safety.

Marriages in homes where one party is terminally ill are essential. Not sure about marriages in the air

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

Other

Please expand on your answer:

You'd have to get permission from the religious owners.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is the case in Northern Ireland.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes there is a risk that modern celebrants will have an 'anything goes' approach. This is why training, insurance and CPD is important.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

The venue should operate its own.

The officiant should operate their own.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is to avoid falsified documents

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All three

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided always that there is a face to face meeting as well.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

All elements should be in place.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Only where a marriage takes place where one of the parties is terminally ill

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Are we going into the realms of cohabitation law here?

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This as far as I was aware was a consultation on the registration of officiants. The question is a legal one.

If a marriage is properly conducted then consent is declared as part of it unless it can be shown to be otherwise.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Not to my knowledge

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Sometimes haste is important and technicalities can be dealt with by email skype, etc,

Consultation Question 64:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No idea

Consultation Question 65:

No

Please expand on your answer:

6 months

Consultation Question 66:

No

Please expand on your answer:

6 months

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But only in times of national emergency

No

Please expand on your answer:

Evidence should always be provided as this otherwise might provide a loophole for others to abuse.

Consultation Question 68:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Can see no reason to support this.

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No opinion

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I am sure there are

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think this needs to be circumscribed and there needs to be evidence provided to confirm any reasons.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Possibly

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Organisations authorising officiants should not need to pay a fee

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

People will pay for what they want

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It is always good to enable weddings to take place as per the wishes of the couple

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

This is not something I am familiar with so cannot comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Good idea

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None none

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It would take some of the pressure off Registrars

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Really don't know. People will always travel to their desired destination to get married with friends and family.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

People will always travel to their desired destination to get married with friends and family.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No comment.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

No comment.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD88-J

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 11:59:51

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

The Church of England

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

No, we do not require this information to be kept confidential.

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not relevant

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

The Church of England shared the upset and disappointment of couples whose wedding plans were disrupted by lockdown etc but our priority was maximising the public health impact throughout. We worked pastorally with couples to ensure that, as far as possible, their wedding could be rearranged to meet their needs.

Our healthcare chaplains worked hard, while already under unprecedented pressures, to enable weddings of NHS staff to take place in hospital chapels.

A particular difficulty was felt by couples who adhered to a traditional view of the church's teaching on sexuality which proscribed sexual intimacy before marriage. This affected some Anglicans, but was felt more in some independent and other Christian churches and was paralleled among members of some other faith communities. There were identifiable mental health implications of delaying weddings for such couples and we attempted to minister pastorally to them.

At national level, we looked afresh at our understanding of the essential aspects of the wedding ceremony, concluding that the ceremony was, in essence, a public expression of a marriage and that it was therefore impossible to conceive of a wedding taking place remotely or with only the couple and celebrant present - as a minimum, there should be the couple, the celebrant and two witnesses to meet the basic requirement that a wedding take place in public, although others could, of course, join remotely.

We also concluded that there was nothing in Anglican doctrine (as opposed to the law as it currently stands) to prevent a wedding taking place outdoors within the curtilage of the parish church. In mediaeval times, most weddings took place in or outside the church porch. Had the government thought it helpful to change the law to allow this, we would have worked to make it possible.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We believe that the present requirement is important in establishing two things - that the couple are who they say they are (by locating themselves geographically, even for a relatively short time, they provide a context within which enquiries could be made if necessary), and that marriage is a public institution and not a private arrangement, one which is about the couple's relationship in relation to the communities around them and not just between themselves.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No system of giving notice is perfect, but this is probably the most likely to work.

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

This has to be a pragmatic decision, balancing the need to be flexible around a couple's personal circumstances with the need to move the process along in a timely way.

Seven days seems like a reasonable compromise. We would be comfortable with a little longer if practicalities were felt to require it. But the period should be as short as reasonably possible.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

We believe that interviews should be face to face except in extraordinary circumstances. Research since lock down began demonstrates how much is lost in terms of human insight when meetings are held remotely. As an important reason for an interview is to establish the identities of the couple and the absence of coercion, it would be strange if the interview was conducted in a way which actively hindered the transmission of non-verbal signals.

Because it is as well to be prepared for the unexpected, it would be sensible to make provision for remote interviews in situations where face to face meetings are legally impossible - in other words, making face to face the default position, and making compliance with the law the only reason for breaching this principle.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, we believe that this should continue to be possible. It is an expression of our common identity in a United Kingdom and Commonwealth.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is reasonable to make use of the extended reach of on line forms of notice, since the objective is to give public notice of an impending marriage.

We do wonder whether the incidence of genuine risk of harm is overstated - the report lacks hard quantified evidence. Exceptions to the rule should be minimised, or the rule is pointless, and the importance of public notice of a public event such as marriage should not be underestimated or diminished by creating too many exceptions. We suggest that evidence for making an exception should be brought to support a couple's claim to be at risk rather than relying on what may be unfounded or irrelevant anxieties.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again, this seems a reasonable period.

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This ignores the way some churches (and doubtless other faith organisations) work where there is a team of clergy who are celebrants. Many - even most - couples who seek a church wedding are committed to the venue not a particular celebrant, and the team of clergy may need to change their rota commitments for many reasons. Although this does not happen often in the case of weddings, it is absolutely necessary to leave provision for a change of celebrant where emergencies or changed priorities (eg funerals which arise at short notice clashing with weddings set months in advance). Because the proposed shift from a premises based system to a celebrant based system does not accord with the wishes of most couples seeking an Anglican wedding, this proposal adds unnecessary complications which will make it harder for the Anglican churches to meet a couple's needs.

In smaller parishes where similar pressures can apply, it is necessary to leave flexibility for another Anglican cleric to step in, perhaps at short notice. See below:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - but by naming the celebrant in the first place (if the previous proposal were to be implemented) an unnecessary expectation is created.

The whole proposal of naming a celebrant in advance appears designed to accommodate the commercial celebrants and to ignore the ways in which Anglican weddings, most other religious or belief weddings - and, most importantly, the expectations of the couple - often operate,

Please share your views below:

This question is obscure. What "other circumstances" are envisaged? As noted above, our objective is to retain sufficient flexibility around celebrants who are clergy to enable them to do their multi-faceted jobs effectively, delivering the best service to both wedding couples and the others who have legitimate demands on their time, without imposing bureaucratic straightjackets.

Consultation Question 13:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This seems an unnecessary restriction on couples. The rationale is obscure, since the Anglican churches in England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland all recognise each other's orders etc.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is an outdated regulation (one hopes!) and it is not clear to us whether some analogue is needed to make provision for other cases where a church building may be unavailable or inaccessible due to emergencies. On balance, we think that this is a matter best enabled through local flexibility.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

We believe there is some merit in retaining the current system.

Many couples enjoy coming to hear their Banns called, but it may be more convenient in one church than in another. The calling of Banns in the churches to which both couples are related by geography helps maintain the principle that the wedding is a public commitment and that the communities of which they are a part are part of that public witnessing to the marriage.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

1. The clergy of the Church of England are not of one mind on this. Whilst recognising their duty to ensure that all weddings are freely entered into by both partners and that the wedding is conducted in accordance with the law, the question of documentary evidence was first raised in the context of immigration law and the proposals at that time appeared to subpoena the clergy to act as a branch of the Immigration Service - a move that brought considerable push-back from the clergy.

There is a balance to be struck here between requiring the clergy to seek documentary evidence for the things for which, as celebrants, they are responsible, and acting in proxy to other interests.

2. This feels like a sledgehammer to crack a nut. The vast majority of wedding raise no questions at all about coercion, inappropriate relationships or other law breaking. Where a suspicion may enter a cleric's mind, they may (and should be actively encouraged) to meet the individuals again separately. It is not usually difficult to create a pretext for so doing. The tiny number of problems that might arise by leaving this to the cleric's discretion seem disproportionate to the time involved and (more importantly) the implication of lack of trust in the couple) entailed.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

See above - the same considerations apply.

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales; or

Please expand on your answer:

Although there are some within the Church of England who argue for the second option (mainly on doctrinal rather than legal or pragmatic grounds) we believe that the current system has served the nation well for centuries and that, whilst it has obvious limitations in an increasingly mobile society, those limitations have not been demonstrably overcome in any alternative system.

Tradition is very important to the wedding plans of many couples, especially those who seek a church wedding. We therefore believe that the case for abolishing the present system has not been made.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This reflects the basic understanding of the celebrant's role which the Church of England has always supported.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Our understanding is that registration officers support the principle that they should not be involved in presiding at religious celebrations of marriage, and we support them in that.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As a single cleric can officiate at a church wedding, so we believe that one civil registrar is sufficient to officiate at a civil wedding.

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Any change to this arrangement would seriously impede the Church of England's duty to marry all those who seek to avail themselves of its services and who live within its parish system. This duty is integral to the Established nature of the Church of England. Any questions about the future of that Established status must be addressed directly on the issues and not at one remove by changing minor parts of the relevant structure in law.

Consultation Question 23:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It is not for the Church of England to comment on this in detail, but we believe the proposal reflects the preference of our sister churches.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is an established definition which is a good starting point, but in our view is not sufficiently rigorous (see the next answer).

Please share your views below:

We would propose that an organisation is judged not only by what it professes but how it behaves. There are secular groups who claim the status of belief organisations whose beliefs, as evidenced by their practice, consist predominantly in opposing religious beliefs and seem to have no substantive content evident in their public profile. They are, to all intents and purposes, single issue pressure groups (for avoidance of doubt, we do not count Humanism in this category). Should such groups be permitted to officiate officially at weddings it would (a) give state sanction to pressure group politics, and (b) risk damaging the dignity of weddings in general by sanctioning a ceremony defined by its public decrying of other people's belief systems. Church and other religious weddings are not shaped to mock other belief systems, but a wedding conducted by a group known only for aggressive secularism might.

So we believe a groups' public activities should be considered before opening to them the opportunity for officiating formally at weddings.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This definition is derived from a completely irrelevant precedent. The precedent comes from the law around buildings which, by definition are extremely localised. The proposal extends the "Rule of 20" to potentially national organisations for whom a membership of 20 in total is nugatory.

This would immediately open the door to official recognition of weddings conducted by all manner of sects, pressure groups, cults and groups formed for the purpose of decrying the public goods of marriage. We are particularly concerned that the definition potentially includes groups who defy basic human rights such as the right to change one's religion.

We have said more about this proposal in the narrative response from the Church of England, but we propose as an absolute minimum, that any group calling itself a religious body must demonstrate its public commitment (by actions as well as words) to the basic expressions of human rights in regard to the freedom of religion and belief.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes - although we believe that the concept of "unlawful" is too rigid and the concept of "contrary to public policy or morality" too catch-all to be workable. We see nothing in the other proposals in this Consultation that would create a framework for making this proposal workable.

More work is urgently needed here to distinguish between established religious (and belief) traditions and the potentially darker side of cultic organisations. This is an area where the Church of England has much experience of advising public bodies without doing so from a position of self interest, and this advice would be available to the Law Commission if required.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

This sounds sensible, although - if Anglican clergy remain officiants by virtue of their orders - it is not of direct relevance to the Church of England. It would, however, help make the differences between churches less conspicuous whilst continuing to express the Established status of the Church of England (and, residually in respect to marriage law, of the Church in Wales).

Consultation Question 28:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It is clear from the Consultation Document (although not from the question itself) that this provision would not include Anglican clergy .

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It depends what is meant by "independent". As we have argued in our narrative response, the reality on the ground is that the group referred to are essentially commercial celebrants who may or may not be "independent".

Whilst we recognise that commercial celebrants offer a service that some couple want, we do not believe that incorporating this commercial principle into the law and practice surrounding marriage and weddings is appropriate to the public nature, and dignity of the occasion.

Consultation Question 30:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would work well - as it already does - for established religious and belief groups.

If the other proposals about loosely defining "religious groups" by having 20 members, and incorporating commercial interests into the provision of wedding ceremonies were proceeded with, this kind of self-regulation would be inadequate.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is the minimum requirement. But, as in our earlier answers, we are reluctant to see commercial interests involved in the legal solemnisation of matrimony and, for some groups who may wish to be involved, much more rigorous checks would be needed.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with this principle but see no way in which it could be enforced. The concepts are simply too vague and too easy to circumvent.

We see no way in which the concept of profit could be defined to make this idea workable. It would therefore be immediately open to abuse.

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Only by limiting fees can commercial celebrants be prevented from making a business of officiating at weddings. There are no adequate measures proposed to moderate the profit motive and we believe the proposals about commercial celebrants are - whether by accident or design - destined to create a competitive free market in wedding provision which would be hugely detrimental to the dignity of the institution of marriage, and inadvertently create a climate of competition for sectors of the wedding market, thereby pushing up costs to couples in contravention of the expressed aim of the Commission.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The way in which religious and non-religious belief groups are both defined in law and operate in practice makes the two categories mutually exclusive. No one operating as an officiant for a religious or non-religious belief organisation could - by definition - be independent. No one seeking to be authorised as both a religious and non-religious officiant could be acting in good faith or be capable of working honestly with a couple to represent their beliefs in the wedding ceremony..

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, the dignity of the wedding and the importance of marriage as an institution (not just the wedding) are not defined and raise interesting difficulties of definition.

It is precisely because we agree with this proposition that we disagree strongly with some of the foregoing propositions which risk undermining the dignity of both marriage and the wedding ceremony.

Unless the proposals can give some "teeth" to the defense of dignity in weddings, it is fruitless to propose a responsibility on officiants without guidelines on how to deliver that responsibility.

This is another area where a great deal more work needs to be done and where the proposals are inadequately thought through.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Guidance can, however, only cover the basic functions. Unless more work is done on what may be meant by the dignity of the ceremony, guidance is sure to fall short of preserving this essential virtue.

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We believe that this responsibility must be shared between the organisation concerned and the GRO. Only by having some common criteria, centrally imposed and monitored, will it be possible to prevent a complete free for all of standards. The GRO has shown itself able to work in partnership with religious and secular bodies on aspect so marriage law and we believe this relationship can be strengthened so that the responsibility lies both with the organisation and natioanlly.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is the natural follow-on from our answer above.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, to do this effectively, the GRO will need clear standards of professional practice for celebrants, which are unlikely to be feasible if a commercial free-for-all is the result of some of the other proposals being canvassed.

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We cannot see how such a time limit would be manageable in practice.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be normal practice for church officiants and applies even more acutely in the case of genuinely independent celebrants who may be unconnected to any professional body to enforce current practice.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This appears to meet all the necessary requirements whilst remaining flexible enough to accommodate different religious traditions.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

For many officiants, especially those from religious traditions, the form of ceremony will be set already, although there may be scope for optional or bespoke features in the ceremony. It is therefore right that the form of service should be a matter for negotiation and agreement between the couple and the officiant and not simply a consumerist requirement to provide whatever a couple demand.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This preserves the right balance of religious liberty.

It should be remembered that the Established position of the Church of England means that many aspects of its life and practice are regulated by Canon Law which is part of the law of the land and for many purposes subject to Parliamentary approval. So the distinction between the scope of the law and the practice of the Church of England is not quite so simple as the question implies.

However, the proposal makes no effective alteration to the status quo in this respect, which we welcome.

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This proposal, as it stands, is too vague. The nature of "religious content" needs to be defined more clearly.

The reason for this is to preserve the liberty of civil registrars who must not be required to use religious content in the course of their duties in order to preserve their rights of conscience. It is also essential that (for example) prayers invoking the blessing of God or otherwise pronouncing on religious matters, should be spoken by someone who professes the relevant beliefs for the sake of authenticity.

A clear distinction therefore needs to be made between religious content which involves the active participation of civil registrars and the expression of religious sentiments in the course of peripheral aspects of the ceremony.

We are comfortable with some relaxation of the current stringent rule prohibiting all religious content. This can be enforced in a such a draconian manner that (eg) readings from the common treasury of literature which refer, directly or poetically, to a divinity are banned, and this is too rigid. However, we oppose the introduction of religious material into civil weddings if the overall impression given would be that the ceremony itself was religious in character, and we wish to avoid a situation where any public servant is required to act or speak in ways contrary to their conscience.

The Consultation document rightly emphasises the problem of some registrars who interpret the rules with a degree of strictness that defies common sense. We believe, however, that this is best dealt with through the proper professional training of registrars and not through a complete deregulatory approach.

We note, yet again, that the Consultation document asserts as fact an opinion about the role of law in relation to weddings and marriage, viz: (6.106) "The law should not prevent couples from crafting a wedding service that is meaningful to them". If the only criterion for the form of a wedding is that the couple find it "meaningful", then there can be no limitation on the form it takes, whether with regard to religious content, "dignity" or the State's (or society's) understanding of marriage.

Please share your views below:

This implies some kind of list of permitted texts and would, we think, be unworkable as individual decisions to include or exclude material would be disputed.

A better approach would be to offer guidelines on the points in a ceremony where material chosen by the couple, religious or otherwise, could be inserted and the manner in which such material was deployed (ie who may speak words with religious content).

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

From a Church of England perspective, this provision seems redundant but harmless.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We believe that the Open Door principle is integral to expressing the public nature of marriage. The Consultation Report itself speaks of the "powerful arguments" for the public nature of a wedding (4.78)

The argument that some couples are anxious about disruption is offered with no statistical basis and our experience of weddings is that the incidence of such cases is vanishingly small and can be managed with careful attention to security (as wedding ushers already do in most cases).

This proposal - like other aspects of the Law Commission report - seems to result from the failure to link the wedding to the institution of marriage, for which the ceremony is, so to speak, the portal. Marriage is a public institution (why else would the State have an interest in it?) whereas holding a wedding behind closed doors sends a clear message that it is a private affair. This is a fundamental flaw of reasoning in the Consultation Document.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Elsewhere, the concept of dignity has been introduced (as in Q.52) as a desirable or essential factor in a wedding ceremony. Yet no attempt is made to define the parameters which would protect or promote dignity and, in conversation, members of the Commission have declared that they see no way to do so. This is a classic case of willing the ends but not the means.

Instead, by abdicating any responsibility for enabling weddings to remain dignified, this proposal opens the door to frivolous, attention-seeking and farcical behaviours which could seriously undermine any notion that a wedding is a dignified and serious occasion in which both the State and the public have an interest. It is only necessary to see what has happened to the "dignity" of weddings in jurisdictions that make no requirements limiting locations to see that a kind of competitive absurdity is likely to develop among a small minority of attention-seeking couples trying to outdo each other in outlandish wedding locations.

Please share your views below:

There should be clear limits in law to where a wedding may take place for the reasons expressed above.

If the current premises-based system were abandoned (which we do not support) we would not be against some flexibility short of a commercial free-for-all.

In particular, we support the flexibility that would enable weddings to take place in exceptional conditions - such as the present pandemic or when a person is severely mobility-impaired. But these should be exceptions to meet particular needs and not the norm.

As noted earlier, we are in favour of retaining the Open Door principle, and this would guide our thinking about appropriate flexibility of venue. That principle would exclude weddings in the air (by definition a closed door situation). It would, of course, be outrageous if a public open space were effectively privatised for the duration of a wedding, so here the Open Door principle would have to apply anyway.

In this proposal, the Law Commission has simply abdicated from any notion that a wedding is a public occasion in which the State has an interest in favour of an unregulated free market approach. Whilst we would be open to further flexibility if a premises-based system was abandoned, it would not be on this laissez faire principle.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Again, this contradicts the important principle that a wedding is a matter of public interest - a principle which reinforces the public necessity of establishing the identity and consent of the parties.

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is important to maintain the clear distinction between religious organisations, non-religious belief organisations and the State. They are separate categories. Weddings are not "Mix and Match" affairs where couples can take a venue from here, a text from there and a celebrant from somewhere else.

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If a premises based system is abandoned, we believe that there should be central authorisation of wedding venues so that celebrants, wedding venues and couples know exactly where they stand.

If all restrictions on locations for weddings are lifted, we agree that the onus for approving the venue should be with the officiant.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, see our comments above about the difficulty of defining dignity. We prefer that the responsibility here should lie with the officiant rather than the couple, but without clear guidance, the burden of ensuring a dignified ceremony will be both difficult for all officiants and will lead to conflicts of interest, especially among commercial celebrants, who will be caught between a couple's wishes and their own assessment of dignity.

Safety does not mean making provision for every conceivable thing that might go wrong, and damaging the fundamental meaning of a wedding for the sake of a hypothetical or extremely rare risk is unacceptable.

We submit that much more thought needs to go into the question of dignified and safe weddings.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Although note our comments above. This simply shifts an impossible responsibility onto the GRO.

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be a helpful safeguard, if a general laissez faire approach were adopted - but we do not believe it should be optional or compliance would be, at best, sporadic.

Please share your views below:

As we do not agree with the laissez faire approach which would necessitate such provision, we do not regard it as our job to say how it should work. If a laissez faire system is introduced, such provision would be necessary, although we believe it would inevitably be caught on the contradictions (eg around dignity) that we have highlighted elsewhere.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This accords with the measure that the Bishop of St Albans and the then Second Church Estates Commissioner piloted through Parliament in 2018.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The Church of England has been in discussions with the General Register Office to work together toward this outcome.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Whilst we broadly agree with this proposal, the requirement in 3 and 4. that BOTH parties have knowledge of the circumstances is perplexing and not fully dealt with in the Consultation Document.

Intuitively, if one party is aware that the celebrant is not authorised (or that the relevant opt in had not taken place) the possibility - or even likelihood - that some deception is being practiced must arise. The implication of the proposal is that, if one party is not aware that the celebrant is not authorised, the marriage would not be void. We fail to see the logic of requiring both couples to be so aware when the awareness of one party strongly implies deception.

No

Please expand on your answer:

We agree that 1. and 3. should not render a marriage void.

We believe that 2. is wrong - an absence of witnesses is hardly something that could happen by mistake. As we stress throughout this consultation, marriage is a public and not a private matter and the wedding ceremony must reflect this. If a couple and a celebrant knowingly conduct a marriage without witnesses, they are subverting the public nature of the ceremony and this should be included among the factors that can render a marriage void.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with this but suggest that the requirement in (i) and (ii) that both parties must be aware of the fault may be too weak. It would allow a case where one party has been deliberately kept in ignorance of the arrangements by the other to be nonetheless regarded as qualifying. Since such lack of transparency between the couple might be grounds for suspecting coercion, we would suggest that the rule would be considerably strengthened, and cohere better with the requirement that no coercion be involved, if the marriage was to be non-qualifying if only one party was aware of the relevant factors.

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This provision preserves the principle of making the couple responsible for those aspects of the process that are within their control, but not making the presumption of validity dependent upon actions of a third party over whom the couple has no direct control.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The Consultation report is correct to propose that the beliefs of others are irrelevant to the presence of facts that can be tested.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with this proposal on balance.

Against it, a couple who have lived together as man and wife for a significant period of time (and 3 years seems reasonable to us) will have normally established a relationship that looks like marriage (to them and to others) and, had it been a legal marriage, would usually be ended by divorce. This reflects our view that "being married" is much more than having gone through a wedding ceremony and that a marriage is something created over time by the couple themselves. It is axiomatic in Anglican theology that the officiant does not marry the couple, they marry one another. Retaining the time limit would demonstrate that the fact of a null ceremony was not in itself sufficient to overturn a marriage formed by the practice of living in the understanding that the couple was in fact married.

However, we are cognizant of the cases -- mostly originating overseas and with one party being very young -- noted in the report, where over three years may have elapsed before it is humanly possible for the party seeking a nullity to take action.

On balance, we believe that making room in law for such cases is worth including.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Such actions would constitute cruelty of a high degree. Strong penalties should accompany such actions.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

We know of no such problems.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There have been enough cases of people using false claims to have a terminal illness for the purposes of fraud to know that the claim can be used manipulatively and that this possibility in regard to weddings should not be ruled out. The Consultation Document also raises the important point that people with terminal illnesses may be more vulnerable to coercion. Whilst the vast majority of such cases will be legitimate and should be approached with the deepest pastoral care, an interview with a registration office is entirely appropriate both as a safeguard and as a way of supporting the parties discreetly.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree that the necessity of obtaining a licence rapidly in cases involving terminal illness means that the process should be streamlined as far as possible. We do not regard the speculative argument put forward in the Consultation Document (that MPs in 1970 regarded the Registrar General as somehow the equivalent of the Archbishop of Canterbury) as persuasive. The objective should be to provide for rapid issuing of licences in a way commensurate with consistent decision-making.

If the principle of consistency can be secured through the involvement of the GRO as proposed in the Consultation Document, we believe that the authority to marry can safely be left in the hands of registration officers.

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

People with terminal illnesses will want to enjoy the maximum time together as a married couple as possible, but terminal illnesses do not all follow a single trajectory and flexibility is important. For instance, where the illness requires substantial and unpredictable periods of palliative care, setting the date of the wedding may not be straightforward. This proposal is both humane and necessary.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is consistent with the general thrust of the wider proposals.

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with all these provisions except 3. Whilst national emergencies are likely to introduce unexpected constraints, no emergency is likely to be of such seriousness that it overrides the necessity for a wedding to be a public act with due safeguards against personation and coercion. If every stage of the process could be done remotely, then those safeguards would be entirely absent. At minimum, we believe that the ceremony itself must be attended in person by the couple and the celebrant with (if necessary) remote witnesses ("remote" in this context, meaning linked visually as well as aurally). Absent this requirement, the risk remains of fraudulent weddings taking advantage of a national emergency without the basic safeguard of a third party being physically proximate to the couple (or even the couple being together at the time).

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Our experience during the Covid19 crisis showed a real demand from front line (especially NHS) staff for whom the risk of infection and possible death was real, to marry as expeditiously as possible. We believe that this is an entirely valid category of people for whom provision should be made.

Consultation Question 68:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As noted in the Consultation Document, this would be incompatible with the "Open Doors" principle which we continue to uphold. It appears from 11.106 that one motive for promoting the idea of weddings at sea is the commercial one that it would incentivise the registration of cruise ships to UK ports. We submit that this is an entirely inappropriate consideration in the context of a matter of such social significance as weddings and marriage.

Consultation Question 69:

No

Please expand on your answer:

For the reasons above.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

We do not believe that the definition of a cruise ship is robust enough to limit the provision to cruise ships only.

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As we do not support the overall proposition, detail at this level is irrelevant.

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As above

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Were this proposal to be enacted, which we oppose, this is the minimum standard necessary.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

We know of no such demand.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Were this proposal to be enacted, and despite the vagueness of the word "reasonable", this provision would be useful in view of the wide variety of circumstances in which a wedding at sea may take place.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a fair balance between the need to recover additional costs and the problem of calculating every cost separately.

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Terminal illnesses affect rich and poor alike. Compassion is best expressed in the quality and sensitivity of the service that the couple receive.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This, the most basic wedding provision, should continue to be available to any who wish to avail themselves of it.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is not appropriate for Local Authorities to, in effect, subsidise commercial wedding venues. The LA should be able to charge for the service they offer.

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above.

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above.

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Distinguishing cases which "deserve" a reduction or waiver would be almost impossible in practice.

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

We agree that the fee level, which has remained unchanged for many years, should not rise and that the cost of administration may more than negate the fee. The best option, in our view is to waive the fee entirely.

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We believe that, in the case of legitimate religious bodies (see our previous answers) and established belief bodies, officiating at weddings is offered as a public service and not for profit. For such bodies which perform many weddings and have a considerable number of officiants on their books, such a fee could be a deterrent to offering this service and thereby curtail the freedom of couples to celebrate their wedding according to their religious or belief commitment.

The matter is sometimes different for commercial celebrants and we have noted elsewhere that the proposed constraints on officiating at weddings for profit are likely to be unworkable in practice.

We believe that where the celebrant offers their services for profit, a fee would be appropriate, otherwise the State would be subsidising those who perform State functions for gain.

The difficulty that would ensue from making this distinction points to the problems inherent in the Law Commission's overall deregulatory approach which is certain to throw up a number of such (unintended?) anomalies.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

We have no evidence that the present law discourages couples from marrying. In our extensive engagement with couples over weddings (almost 30,000 per annum), we see two quite different factors at work in restraining couples from marrying -- uncertainty about making life-long commitments and the perceived cost of a wedding with "all the trimmings". The only respect in which the law concerning weddings and marriage is a deterrent, in our experience, is among the few couples who object on principle to what they understand to be the social meaning of marriage and for whom a civil partnership is the new legal option (which often comes with all the same trappings as a wedding in terms of the social event surrounding it).

In our extensive experience, a couple's decision to marry is driven to a great extent by the social significance of marriage conferred by a wedding which conforms to the requirements of the law. It is precisely because the ceremony has a legal aspect, symbolised in the legal requirements, that the wedding itself, as opposed to the subsequent social event, is a matter of deep personal significance. That is not to say that some couples do not find aspects of the present law unintelligible, but most do recognise in the regulations the symbolic significance of the "majesty of the law" in which they are participating.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

For the vast majority of couples who marry in Anglican churches, the fee for the wedding is a small proportion of the amount being spent on the wedding festivities and trappings. As the fees for civil weddings are commensurate, we imagine the same is true in the majority of such cases. We cannot speak about the fees in commercial wedding venues.

In cases where the fees are likely to cause genuine difficulty, most churches have ways of supporting the couple in order to enable the wedding to go ahead without financial embarrassment - but such cases are few and far between.

In view of the very large amounts of money spent on the average wedding celebration, we do not believe that the fees for the legal aspects of the wedding are at all disproportionate nor a deterrent to marriage.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We challenge the assumption that any savings involved will be significant enough to offer worthwhile benefits. As a proportion on the average spend on the whole "wedding event" the fees are small and for those who are seriously impecunious, a "no frills" option is available at reasonable cost. As noted, many churches offer weddings at the minimum cost possible.

We have no evidence that the scale of the fees is a deterrent to any couple wishing to get married or that they would benefit more than marginally by the proposed changes.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

The proposals have no impact on the practice of church weddings in the Anglican tradition in respect of the venue itself except, as noted, that we would be open to consideration of weddings taking place within the curtilage of the church building.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

See our answers above for our views on this suite of issues.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Not applicable.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We do not believe that the current law creates any more, or more significant, impacts than the proposals put forward by the Law Commission.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We are disturbed that the arguments in the Consultation report turn primarily on a desire to create a lucrative "weddings market" in England and Wales. In our view, this is a wholly inappropriate consideration in relation to the interests of the law and the State in marriage.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We believe that this commercial consideration is wholly inappropriate to any consideration of marriage law.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We believe that this commercial consideration is wholly inappropriate to any consideration of marriage law.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

We believe that the proposals will be essentially cost-neutral to the Anglican churches.

We would be very concerned if any fee levied on the registration of officiants added new and significant costs to other religious or belief organisations.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDNC-K

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 12:40:36

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

of the United Kingdom

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

The Bahá'í community does not have specific offices for conducting Bahá'í marriages as this is usually overseen by an elected administrative body. However, in Scotland and Northern Ireland Marriage Officers have been appointed by the National Assembly to act as legal marriage officiants. This could be adopted in England and Wales too. By recognising this office these individuals could be reviewed and possibly changed by the National Assembly without generating additional administrative activities should a name need to be updated.

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes. For Bahá'í weddings this would be a duty carried out by the responsible institution, either the Local Spiritual Assembly or the National Spiritual Assembly, depending on the location, in consultation with the couple. There is no objection to this consultation to also include the responsible officiant if required by Law.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - This would be acceptable from a legal perspective, but from a Bahá'í administrative perspective the couple are not married until they have both individually said the Bahá'í marriage vow in front of two approved witnesses.

Consultation Question 43:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, providing the location is safe for all those involved in the wedding.

Please share your views below:

All locations are potentially acceptable, providing the location is safe for all those involved in the wedding.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes. For Bahá'í weddings this would be a duty carried out by the responsible institution, either the Local Spiritual Assembly or the National Spiritual Assembly, depending on the location, in consultation with the couple. There is no objection to this consultation to also include the responsible officiant if required by Law.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

The Bahá'í community does not see any particular demand for this for Bahá'í marriages.

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

As marriage has a particular significance in the Bahá'í Faith it is not felt that the current law would discourage couples. However, the proposed changes would make the process considerably easier for them and more spiritually significant. In addition, as Bahá'ís are currently obliged to hold a separate civil ceremony a single ceremony would prove less costly.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDNJ-T

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 13:02:41

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Ceremonies

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDM7-6

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 14:17:33

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Celebrant

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think as we are all being forced to do so much online in line with Covid 19 restrictions, this makes sense.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDNK-U

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 14:26:23

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] [REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

[REDACTED]

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

None.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Zero.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Society travel has changed, couples have special places they wish to marry in, by insisting on the seven day rule, they can not always comply, or it is just something you do to comply with legal requirements and creates an expense for no real reason.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Check on documents, and legal requirements to marry.

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Gives time to check out details of the couple.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think remote interviews will lead to fraud and sham marriages. As one party could be in a different country and the whole arranged.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I see no problem with continuing.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Rather than stop the planned event, which the first officiant will have checked everything is in order, I see no problem with someone else taking over. At the first interview photographs could be taken and attached to the paperwork, ensuring the correct people attend.

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Agree it is the way to proceed.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Calling for document swill help to ensure the legal side of things match up.

Meeting the couple separately will help to reduce sham marriages and forced marriage.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Again this will help to prevent sham marriages.

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Celebrants should be trained and able to perform civil weddings, Celebrants are more about the couple and their ideal wedding, rather than just performing a legal requirement.

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Providing they have had official training, there could be many types of organisation or beliefs.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Makes the wedding celebrants work open to many people, small organisations could be unable to carry out the work legally.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Providing they have had the correct training.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

By being independent and not tied to an area or office, couples will have greater freedom over where they get married.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Without proper training the standards will fall.

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Costs must covered, and a living wage.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Celebrants are bringing a couples dream wedding, such as location or time, theme weddings also take place. Must be completely free.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Blessings are very popular. Psalms are often requested.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Out of date, we now have the opportunity to bring weddings up to date and give the choices back to the couple getting married.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided permission is granted by the owner of the land or premises.

Please share your views below:

Allowing couples to have their marriage in their chosen venue is paramount in creating dream weddings.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Couples may like to use their garden. Or to share with a club they are members of.

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants will not go to dangerous or unsuitable locations.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We already do that as celebrants.

No

Please expand on your answer:

We are trained in risk assessment.

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

All the risk assessment and suitability will have taken place, officiants will be able to make a decision as to whether they are happy with the location and suitability.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Provided both parties are agreeing, except for prison, prison sentences are a punishment and withhold civil liberties.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

To many vessels to categorise, in general yes.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided they have had proper training.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I have no idea.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant should be free to set there own fee's, as there maybe circumstances that they decide to give a reduced fee or not charge at all.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Couples are not able to design their wedding or the location due to the current situation.

We need a more flexible approach to weddings so that the couple can have their dream wedding without all the current red tape.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current regulations are too restrictive.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It's not all about savings, it's about the choice to design your own wedding and location.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Availability of current officiers is very restrictive which is driving couples abroad for their weddings, ie they can get married on a beach setting.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Often venues can only have one wedding a day as they are restricted as to which room and officiant is available, by allowing | celebrants to perform weddings in any legal location will open the wedding market.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

My own wedding was very restrictive and the time and location dictated by the registrar.
It was not my wedding, it was for her convenience.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

They could open up locations and attractions for wedding use, bringing in much needed money.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Restrictive.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Open up a whole new industry.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

There should be no costs, all costs will be passed on.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDMP-Y

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 17:38:07

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

N/A

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not currently married, recently divorced, but planning on remarrying in the future.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The requirement is outdated and only imposes pointless restrictions on wedding locations, in a more modern society, where there are more options for marriages.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Using online procedures are much more in line with the century.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

If all the paperwork is in order, why could they not get married immediately afterwards?

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Seems a sensible precaution.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Once again, it fits with a more modern society.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why is there a need to specify at that stage?

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Obviously a substitute would have to be permitted.

Please share your views below:

Yes of course, the couple should be able to change officiant right up until the last moment.

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Scotland and Northern Ireland are separate and have their own marital laws, so they should be treated separately.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

I have no real interest in how religious weddings are conducted.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

See answer for question 16

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

See previous answer

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

not bothered about religious weddings

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely.

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with the second point, but consider 20 members too low for the first item.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

of course

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

potentially yes. depends on the office.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Although, what determines fit and proper, when conducting a wedding?

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I personally believe that fees for weddings are getting out of hand and that an upper level should be set.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as it is at no cost to the officiant.

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In the first instance yes, but there must be oversight by the GRO

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Religion should not enter the legal civil ceremony at all - if one wants religious aspects, then get married under the auspices of that religion.

Please share your views below:

None whatsoever.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Within reason and with appropriate permissions.

Please share your views below:

Marriage is a solemn and serious undertaking and the venue should not denigrate that sense at all

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There needs to be consistency with approval for venues, so a governing body will need to set the standards, otherwise couples can just pick officiants with no particular standards.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

There needs to be set guidelines, that have no room for ambiguity. Any officiant in theory would be able to do so following the guidelines, but one would recommend an independent party be tasked with authorising venues.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Not as far as i am aware, however, weddings for those serving a custodial sentence should not be permitted

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

No weddings for those in prison.

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No - cruise ships only.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Also by another passenger who happens to be a registered officiant.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Should be able to be conducted by a registered officiant (non religious)

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

No idea

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should still be a fixed time, but maybe extended.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Same fee

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No extra fees.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

off course the fee should be the same for everyone - equality!!!

Consultation Question 84:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Conducting weddings should not be about making money, I am afraid constant addition of fees are unacceptable.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The current law limits options and needs to change to give couples greater freedom of choice.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Costs for weddings are ridiculous, the cost of getting a registrar to an approved venue is prohibitive and is all about money making - fees should be reduced to the bare minimum.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

no response

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

the costs attributed to registration officers attending approved premises are ridiculous and should be dramatically reduced to a more reasonable level

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

No response.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

no response.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Local authorities will not want the monopoly of civil ceremonies leaving their grasp. It is a money maker for them and they will not want it shared with competent, fun, qualified , independent officiants.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No response

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No response

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Am not bothered by maritime weddings.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Those currently legally permitted to perform weddings will not want independent officiants to be able to conduct legally binding ceremonies, as it will take power and money away from them.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDHY-3

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 21:19:44

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren PBCC

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

I am a householder of children of marriageable age and also an authorised person for the organisation.

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Its been a hard time for everyone but what has made it even harder is that couples that have put everything into getting married have not been able to proceed because of restrictions in any gatherings. This has put a lot of extra stress and anxiety on families. In our case as a household its even affected employment.

As a father that firmly believes on the Holy bible and seek to run our lives in accordance with it, our daughters are both waiting to get married, have houses to go to but we do not agree with living together prior to marriage.

I feel that currently its a very complicated process to arrange a marriage so simplier registration of marriages and ceremonies in our houses would be far more suitable and currently would be the answer during the pandemic to stop the stread of the virus.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have been close to some couples that have married someone from overseas and it has been a very complicated process so this would certainly be more straight forward.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See answer above

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Interviews remotely is a good idea but I certainly agree that any concerns should be looked into by an in-person interview.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I agree with this

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

2 registered marriage officers would be required in the case one was not available for whatever reason.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Yes they should as long as the couple are happy with it and request it.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree if the officiant is the authorised person and the couple should be able to choose from their church if they so desire.

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Currently the trustees of our organisation would nominate the officiants, however it should still be the organisation that nominates them even if they were allowed to be carried out in the homes.

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We hold sincere beliefs about marriage as taught in the Holy Bible. We do not live together until we are married.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Any organisation with a genuine Christian belief , but may be different to public policies, eg. same sex marriages, should not be excluded.
Any organisation that is encouraging unlawful or criminal practises should be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes certainly agree as we don't have to pay for the service.

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If marriage can take place in the house then it should not be a requirement to have open doors. All checks would be done prior to the marriage.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree with this in view of allowing them to take place in the house but there would be some places that aren't suitable. The dignity of marriage still needs to be preserved.

Please share your views below:

I firmly believe that weddings should be able to take place in private homes. This would mean the whole occasion would be simpler, more relaxed and in the family setting. The family/household setting is very valuable to us as it's based on the Holy Scriptures.

Also there have been times when a marriage couldn't proceed when requested as the meeting halls had not been registered in time.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The couple should be free to suggest the location but in our organisation the officiant would take responsibility to ensure it was suitable.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It's very important that the location is safe & dignified and the officiants should be responsible for this.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Guidance should be available but it mustn't hinder weddings taking place in private houses

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Could these be added before the wedding ceremony? It would be better if they could.

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

We feel that the proposal would make marriage more attractive and easier so therefore may result in more couples that are legally married.

I have witnessed a good number of couples that have had long delays in getting married due to the current restrictions, some still waiting today. This has led to greater anxiety and stress. As an organisation we uphold scripture and we do not live together before marriage.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Marriages in the home would save a lot of money for the family & couple and also save a lot money for the organisation in not having to open up & heat our meeting halls to facilitate the ceremony.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

See above answers

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I know of someone who has who spend nearly a year & a lot of money trying to get married to someone overseas due to the restrictions in the current law. It would be much better if it could be applied for online and the current notice period was reduced. Also the residence requirement should be abolished.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Many ways this would save costs:

- 1) Marriage in the home would save a lot of costs for the family & couples.
- 2) Marriage in the homes would save the organisation costs in not having to prepare the meeting halls.
- 3) Save costs for the government with a lot more done online.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDM6-5

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-25 21:59:44

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren Christian Church

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am legally married according to the English law and have Christian faith

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

- Many marriages have had to be put on hold during the pandemic
- My daughter had to substantially delay her marriage
- it brought a lot of unnecessary stress on the couple and our family
- The couple were unable to get married therefore do not start their new life together (see below)
- As a family we have strongly held Biblical beliefs in the sanctity of marriage and do not live together prior to marriage (Ref:- Genesis 2 v 24; Ephesians 5 v 31).
- Importance of provision for a simpler ceremony held in our houses - minimal infection risk.
- It is important that there is a simpler and quicker process before marriage to secure certificates

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I would agree with this proposal

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I would agree with this proposal

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- If they are available and happy
- If the couple request it

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- The persons getting married should be able to choose their officiant from their church if applicable.

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- We do have sincerely held beliefs on marriage.
- The sanctity of marriage is paramount in our community
- Persons do not live together prior to marriage.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I agree that some organisations should be excluded

- Organisations that promote unlawful or criminal practices should be excluded.
- Organisations that have genuinely held Christian beliefs that are contrary to public policy (such as same sex marriage) should not be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or

Please share your views below:

I welcome the proposal that weddings should be able to take place in private houses.

- Many would find it meaningful to have their wedding in their own home including my daughter
- The dignity and solemnity of the occasion can be fully experienced without other distractions.
- The occasion can be performed in simplicity in the family setting
- The occasion can be more relaxed
- Facilitate any food/ drink that may be had after the ceremony
- Facilitate the taking of photos
- Would have helped during COVID
- There may be other restricted circumstances where this would help
- This would overcome situations where new church buildings have not been able to be used – either not registered or no availability of the registrars to attend.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- The officiant would be sensitive to the couples' desire as to where they are married.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- It would be helpful if these details could be added before the wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I welcome the government's proposals

- Some persons may have been unable to get married because of COVID / other restrictions /overseas marriages
- I believe in not living together before marriage
- The proposals would facilitate marriage, while it would not impact on the number of our marriages, it may overall and this would be good.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

- Marriage in the home could save money for the couple and family
- Not opening up a large meeting room for a small ceremony could save money for the organisation

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

N/A

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

- It would help if the notice period were abolished or reduced from the current 28 days;
- the preliminaries could be done online;
- the residence requirement could be abolished.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

- Marriage in the home could save money for the couple and family
- Not opening up a large meeting room for a small ceremony could save money for the organisation

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDMT-3

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-26 04:27:09

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Trained celebrants too

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDMV-5

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-26 08:35:39

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think remote interviews are a good idea and would support that.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I would continue with that.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I don't understand this question

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am a fully qualified civil wedding celebrant. Under the current statutes I cannot legally marry anyone. This can currently only be carried out by a registrar or a religious cleric. I believe this is a unfinancial monopoly for registrars and clerics.

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As above, a qualified civil wedding celebrant should be legally allowed to marry people.

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Only if a qualified civil wedding celebrant can also legally marry people.

Consultation Question 23:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As above only if a qualified civil wedding celebrant can also legally marry people.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It is unfair that Humanists can marry people but not a qualified civil wedding celebrant who professes neither religious nor humanist beliefs.

Please share your views below:

Qualified civil wedding celebrant should definitely be on that list.

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again, I believe this is an unfair financial monopoly for religious groups. So, only if a qualified civil wedding celebrant can also legally marry people.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I agree that "unlawful or contrary to public policy or morality" officiants and groups should be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Again, I believe this is an unfair financial monopoly for religious groups. So, only if a qualified civil wedding celebrant can also legally marry people.

Consultation Question 28:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Only if a qualified civil wedding celebrant can also legally marry people.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is essential for independent civil wedding celebrants to be able to legally marry people and hence make a living like registrars and clerics.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

They must be qualified wedding celebrants.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I completely agree

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As a fully trained and qualified celebrant I am entitled to make a reasonable living in the same way that registrars and clerics are. My training course was very expensive!

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I am also a funeral celebrant and the standard fee is the same as a minister's fee. The wedding fees should be the same for registrars, celebrants and clerics.

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It should be up to the wedding couple who they want to marry them.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This should be the responsibility of the celebrant's professional association.

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This should be the responsibility of the celebrant's professional association.

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Essential for their protection

Consultation Question 64:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The registrars already have too much power. Independent civil celebrants who are fully qualified should be able to do this.

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDY4-F

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-26 10:49:52

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] County Council

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

I don't need it to be treated confidentially

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am divorced

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Weddings have gone ahead as best as possible in the circumstances - we have kept everyone safe, have given them a call before the day to explain fully the processes and everyone has been grateful that we have been able to let them get married despite the extenuating circumstances of a worldwide pandemic.

Some people have wanted a full on normal wedding with 100+ guests and we have had to postpone many to next year because of this. But others just want to be married and are very happy with the service they have been given

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The only concerns are with regards to safeguarding. It would be worrying if people are shipped in to the country for the purpose of having a sham marriage and are given little choice

Consultation Question 5:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is most concerning as the people involved would not be given the opportunity to say whether they are going in to the marriage of their own free will and could be coerced in to completing an online application. By the time of the in person interview they may think it is too late to do anything. I am also concerned that we would not know whether it is the same people completing the form online as attend the interview. It opens up the system to lots of different types of fraud

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

it needs to be more than 7 days. As I said before the person who may be being coerced into getting married will think it is too late to do anything if the ceremony and all the processes are already in place. This could be a major safeguarding issue

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

All interviews should be in person and separately. If interviews are done remotely then there is no opportunity for the person to say whether they are being forced in to the marriage. If it is done remotely then how on earth would you have concerns over whether it is a forced or sham marriage. The person in question is already a good actor and they are never going to say anything where they are probably in the same room as the person who is forcing them. It is not a safe process at all.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

yes this is fine as long as they are done in person

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I'm not sure about this as it could be giving fraudsters the opportunity to gather detailed information about someone in order to commit crime. GDPR standards must be adhered to.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is a ridiculous idea. People get ill all the time and things change. If the couple are giving notice 12 months in advance of their wedding they might not know themselves who is going to officiate at their wedding. There needs to be leeway to allow for changes. The registration service could be changing the document multiple times over the course of the year which takes time and therefore costs money to do.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But I don't agree that you should name the officiant in the first place. There is no point in doing this

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

they need to be done in all the churches involved in the wedding to allow for opportunities to object to the marriage

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

I totally agree with this. Everyone should have to provide evidence and everyone should be seen separately so they have an opportunity to discuss any issues of being forced in to the marriage

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

yes I agree with this

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

it would make much more sense if everyone who gets married follows the same procedures. I have done a lot of training with the clergy as many do so few weddings each year that they are not experienced in how to take banns or what documents they need to see. Most of the training they get is word of mouth from the person who precedes them and is a bit like Chinese whispers!

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is vitally important that these are adhered to

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Registration officers have training in place to ensure that they know exactly what the legal requirements are and what they need to do

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This depends on where the wedding will take place. From a safeguarding point of view for the registration officer then the venue needs to be a licenced venue with staff that are available to help if necessary.

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As long as they are given training on what they need to do

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

These people need to be trained and cannot just be nominated. Many of the religious organisations do not want the responsibility

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

All civil weddings are non religious at present. I do not understand what benefits anyone is going to get from having a non religious belief wedding and what they can offer that we can't offer already

Please share your views below:

What can they offer that isn't offered already?

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If people want a religious wedding at their usual place of worship then that is fine. But if it is a non religious ceremony that they want then how will this differ to the civil ceremonies that are already available?

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I agree with this

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

This seems like a reasonable view

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

if this is going to be the case then there needs to be a clear list of people who are authorised to complete weddings and all the associated paperwork

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

How do we know that these people are genuine, are not promoting forced marriage and have the appropriate training and knowledge to ensure that a marriage is legal?

Consultation Question 30:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

No

Please expand on your answer:

there could still be massive safeguarding issues. Local authorities have a wealth of experience in dealing with weddings and all the paperwork involved. If this is opened up to anyone then there could be issues where the independent celebrant could be sick and unable to complete the ceremony. They could be complicit in organising sham marriages too. People who help organise sham marriages are always looking for the next easy way to beat the system and this would be the easiest way possible for anyone

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

They need to be regulated by an independent organisation

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

They need to prove that they are having regular training and are keeping their knowledge up to date

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that they should be required to express their consent during the ceremony but I also think there should be an opportunity for the attendees to express if there are any impediments to marriage.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Most people who have a civil ceremony do not want any religious content but occasionally they would like a religious song playing or a reading that has some religious content and it would be nice to be able to offer this

Please share your views below:

Music
Readings

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

People need to choose what type of ceremony they want. If they want a religious blessing after the civil ceremony then that is fine

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should always be possible for people to make legal objections on the day to stop a wedding if necessary

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This literally opens up the arena for people to want to get married anywhere. surely this is supposed to be a dignified occasion? Also, what about the health and safety aspects for the officiants? Having to go out to each venue before the wedding to check that it is acceptable and meets health and safety requirements just adds to the cost of the wedding. I understand that the outline of this document was to make weddings more available to people at a cheaper price.

What happens when people have chosen to get married outside in a public space and it rains all day? How are you supposed to have a dignified wedding in those circumstances and how do you keep the paperwork dry?

Although I think it would be lovely to be able to offer weddings outside on a sunny day there needs to be options available with an inside space for signing the documents.

Please share your views below:

Outdoors is fine as long as there is an indoor space for signing documents and in case of inclement weather

On water is perhaps ok as long as the health and safety aspect has been checked

In the air -- not for me thanks. This would cost a fortune to arrange and the officiant would need special insurance surely

In private homes - I have concerns about the health and safety aspects of this. Having to go out and inspect a home before the day to ensure it meets guidelines would add to the cost of the ceremony and I personally would feel unhappy attending a persons private home on my own.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think they should be accessible to the public to allow for objections if necessary.

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Each venue should not feel that they have to offer any other ceremony other than the ones that they want to offer. Allowing a civil ceremony in a church doesn't really make sense

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I feel it should be down to a specific person who knows fully the information with regards to risk assessments and health and safety. Officiants could be putting themselves in danger if they don't know the procedures to follow

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

After it has already been approved. Making extra visits each time adds to the costs

Other

Please expand on your answer:

And who would they ask if they weren't sure that it met all the requirements? Would they be ultimately responsible if anything went wrong?

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think that all premises should be pre-approved. You cannot turn up on the day expecting everything to be in order. What happens if you turn up and it doesn't meet the health and safety requirements? You would then be causing uproar to cancel the wedding on the actual day. And without seeing how they are going to set up the premises on the day it is not easy to see whether it will meet the requirements.

Please share your views below:

The local authority should do it on behalf of GRO

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It would be a much better process if these were pre-populated before the day as per CP schedules but then everything can be checked again on the day and any amendments made

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Electronic registration is fine as long as the technology works and the people using the system are trained appropriately to use it. If officiants are only going to be using it on an ad-hoc basis then there are likely to be more mistakes

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If there are no witnesses and the marriage documents has not been signed then how can you know it is a legal marriage. You might as well get rid of witnesses all together if this is what you propose.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There should be no timescale

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

The law for RG's weddings at present works (generally) but the fee of £15 is ridiculously low for the amount of work that goes in to organising a wedding of this kind. It is also quite difficult at times to get the GP to write a letter that has all of the correct information. If there could be a simpler way of doing this (perhaps electronically) then it would be good.

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I'm undecided about this. Although I think it is important to find out that the terminally ill person is entering the marriage of their own free will, I think if that person was to give notice then this could extend the time taken before a ceremony could be performed. And in some cases there really isn't time to be waiting any longer

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is fine as long as the systems work and the timescales work in the same way ie that you can reduce the waiting period and organise a wedding at short notice for terminally ill patients.

Consultation Question 65:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If the person is terminally ill then there is no need to have the schedule valid for 12 months.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With the current covid restrictions it has meant that people in prison have to give notice again as their wedding cannot go ahead within the 3 months.

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is open to fraud as anyone could be signing the documents. It means there would be more forced marriages as there is no way of knowing on the day whether each party is entering the marriage of their own free will if you are doing it remotely.

I believe the opportunity for sham marriages and forced marriages would increase dramatically if this was to be brought in.

If everyone is signing a different schedule then how can you be sure that they are all signing the same thing? There may be amendments due on the documents that you would then rely on the couple or the witnesses to make without any proper guidance. The chances for things to go wrong only increase when everyone has different copies of the same schedule.

Which version would be entered on to RON?

No

Please expand on your answer:

I don't agree with the provisions at all.

No

Please expand on your answer:

How do we determine whether someone might be at risk of death? Again, it is opening up the system and giving people the opportunity to commit fraud. All you would need to do is get one person to lie in bed pretending to be ill just so that they can get married quickly .

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

How far is adjacent?

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no view on this really

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

If you open this up then everyone will be arguing about what constitutes a legitimate vessel for a marriage.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If you are going to allow people to get married on ships then really the only people who should be conducting the marriages are authorised officiants but seeing as I don't believe that there should be independent officiants unless there is strict scrutiny, then I don't really believe that there is a good way to do this

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Everyone needs to be working to the same rules

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I've never been asked yet and I've been in registration for 15 years

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There needs to be the same rules for everyone.

I feel that certain qualified people should be responsible for the schedules otherwise there will be lots of misunderstanding, people will think that is their marriage certificate and won't return it at all and therefore the marriage will not be registered. Schedules will get lost, damaged and will be incomplete if the system is open to anyone to become a officiant

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

When there are housebound or detained notices it would usually take about 2 hours of a registrars time - and if housebound then we would usually send 2 people to ensure the safety of the individuals. This time allows for travel, access to the establishment (especially if in prison as this can take quite some time to have entry permitted/approved) and the time taken to take the notice manually and ensure it is correct.

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I think the fee should be the same as other cases where a registration officer has to travel. Just because someone is terminally ill it doesn't mean that they are unable to pay the same as others.

Consultation Question 77:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Surely the fees should be set by the registration authority depending on the service that the couple are wanting and the amount of time allocated to the ceremony?

Some people want short and sweet basic ceremonies whilst others want readings, music, extra vows etc and this takes more time and organisation which should be paid for.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

in different areas the costs for travel and time for travel can be very different. The fee needs to be set by the local authority who know the time/costs of their area.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It needs to be on a cost recovery basis and depends on how much time it takes to do each ceremony

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

I think the fee should actually cover costs. Just because people are terminally ill doesn't mean that they can't afford to pay.

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

How are they going to authorise an officiant without meeting them? I'm assuming that it would all be done on paperwork but how can you be sure that they will be genuine. I just feel that after bringing in stricter regulations recently and reducing the number of sham marriages this is just going to open the doors for sham marriages to start again.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The current law does not prevent couples from getting married at all. I do not understand why you would think that. Civil marriages are available for all - from a short and sweet basic ceremony to a top of the range ceremony with lots of personal additions. There are also options for religious ceremonies at most registered buildings with a range of different religions. As I said, I have been a registrar for 15 years and the only thing that stops people getting married is that they don't want to. With the introduction of civil partnerships for opposite sex couples we have seen an increase in people taking this up as they want to be in a legal partnership for financial reasons but they don't want the pomp and ceremony of a wedding ceremony. At present we are covering all bases.

The only people who are having non legal marriages tend to be couples who go through an islamic marriage and they are aware that they are married according to the law of their religion - but also realise that they are not legally married according to the law of this country. Most of those couples will then come to the register office and have a simple ceremony so that they can have a marriage certificate and make their marriage legal.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Register office weddings are available every day. There are a range of costs and types of ceremony to suit all budgets.

The cost of marrying in an approved premise is minimal compared to what they tend to be spending on their day. Paying £400 for their personalised ceremony is little compared to everything else they have spent. In all my years I have rarely been questioned as to how much we charge for the ceremony. Couples are happy to pay the fees involved.

Most people do not get married in places that are not authorised for weddings. There are probably less than a 1000 per year which compared to the total number of weddings is insignificant. I cannot understand why you would want to change the whole process and open up the system for fraud, increased sham and forced marriages to cater for a small few that want to get married in places that are currently not authorised for weddings. For those few who do want to get married in unregistered places they generally do not mind having a separate legal wedding and the added costs are minimal.

There are approximately 250,000 weddings in England and Wales. This is reducing because people do not see the benefit of getting married like they used to and do not see themselves in a relationship that will last until they die. Divorce rates are high and therefore the idea of marriage is not as attractive as it used to be. Also having children when unmarried is acceptable when years ago it wasn't. Even our prime minister has children outside of marriage.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Everyone has different choices to make as to how they want their wedding day to be. Some want small and simple and others want large and glamorous. Register office weddings are currently available every day so I don't understand how there could be savings there. It costs us a lot of money and time to administer every wedding, especially with the current covid restrictions, as we have to contact every couple again to ensure they understand the processes in place. Prices are set on a cost recovery basis only.

I personally would not want to go to a venue or private home where there hasn't been any risk assessment or health and safety process and I wouldn't feel happy sending any of our staff out to a place that hasn't been approved either. How do we know that the venue or private home is suitable for a ceremony or is safe for an employee to attend? If visits have to be made prior to a wedding taking place and a risk assessment done then this will add to the cost of a wedding and not make it cheaper.

There needs to be a process of ensuring a venue is safe and adheres to health and safety standards. This means the costs for a wedding would be higher if venues are only going to be used once as you would need to do a separate visit to ensure it is safe each time.

Most people who want to have a ceremony in a non approved premise have to pay only a small amount more (£46) to have a separate legal ceremony. In some venues we offer a longer time slot on the wedding day so that they can have a legal wedding inside the venue and then another ceremony outside where they can exchange rings and vows. This is a good compromise at present. It would be nice for couples to be married outside if they want but there does need to be some guidelines or weddings will become like a game show and not the dignified experience they are supposed to be.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

There is a fee currently to licence a premise for weddings and civil partnerships which can be prohibitive for some smaller venues. Also, the licence has to state every room that wishes to be licenced and for some hotels this can be difficult as they move things around a bit so it would be better to have a licence that covers the whole venue including the grounds so that weddings could be performed outside if the weather is nice.

There are very few people who want to marry at unlicensed premises as far as I am aware. And having a licensed premise ensures standards are met and that the venue has access for people with disabilities too.

Availability of registration officers is not normally an issue - with the current system it tends to be the availability of registers as we only have a set number of registers. When the schedule system is introduced it will make the process much easier.

There are a few venues in our area that specialise in just weddings and opening up so that people could get married anywhere could mean their businesses falter which would be a worry for them.

The costs of getting married in an approved venue is not prohibitive to couples and opening it up so that anyone can be an officiant will not reduce the prices. If you look at the prices charged currently by humanists they are very similar to those charged by the registration service. We have many years of experience, a training officer to ensure regulations are always adhered to and a team of people who assess our officiants on a regular basis. I would be very concerned if anyone could become an officiant without any training, without any continual assessment and without any regard to the legislation.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I do not believe that changing the law with regards to weddings will result in more marriages taking place. If people want to get married then they will get married now as has been shown during lockdown.

I also don't believe that many people will want a religious officiant at a venue. People who want religious wedding ceremonies usually want them at a specific church that they or their family have links to.

There may be a small number of venues that could profit from not having government approval but this will be at the detriment of those that are already providing weddings rather than in addition to them.

The cost of a wedding ceremony is the cheapest part of a wedding day. The thing that puts people off weddings is the cost of everything else - clothing, flowers, cars, reception etc. Where is the proof that changing the processes will result in more people getting married? My experience of speaking to thousands of couples over the years has shown me that most people are ok with the current system. If anything they would like the 28 days waiting period to be reduced or not to have to take time off work to do the notice of marriage (but with the new reforms this wouldn't change as there would still have to be an interview in person).

The impact on the registration service would be massive. We would be expected to input all the data from the wedding schedules that are returned to us and would not get any monetary benefit for the work completed. We would be there to sort out issues with paperwork and advise couples and officiants and would get no recompense. With less money coming in to the service and with current financial difficulties in all councils throughout the country I can only see that redundancies would be announced and the levels of service that we currently are able to offer would be reduced drastically with lead times increasing massively for appointment availability across all sectors of registration. Currently we are a cost neutral registration service - meaning that we cover our costs allowing us to complete all statutory duties without costing the tax payer any money.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law may need a few reforms - having schedules rather than marriage registers makes sense moving forwards, having the ability to marry people outside in a safe environment would also be nice as long as there is an inside area to keep paperwork dry if the weather turns.

The current way of taking a notice of marriage ensures that we are highlighting any issues with regards to sham or forced marriages as soon as possible. We can refer these to the relevant authorities if needed and allows time for investigation. If notices were done remotely or just by completing paperwork and posting then this would not allow time for this especially if the interview with the couple could be less than a week before their ceremony. I have personally been involved with cases where a sham marriage was arranged and if I hadn't met them at the initial interview, reported them, discussed with the police so that they could investigate etc then they would probably have got married as there would not have been time before the ceremony to do all this. It was only when I met them in person that I realised that the couple were not as it all seemed. My evidence ensured that they both went to prison and were extradited after their sentence. They had been arrested on their planned wedding day.

By separating the process of giving notice in to 2 separate sections (the initial interview over Skype/phone and then an in person interview) is doubling the work of the registration service and costing more as it will take more time to complete both sections of the process.

There have been a few occasions where couples have wanted to get married outside. We are lucky to have a few venues with licensed outdoor pagodas etc in our area so we are able to facilitate this on most occasions. However, it would be nice to be able to do a wedding in the grounds of a venue if the weather is kind. There does need to be some rules as to where people can get married or they may choose the middle of a forest, or a swimming pool or anywhere else that could be considered undignified. We also need to ensure there is a suitable inside alternative available if it rains

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I can see very few benefits of the new proposed scheme apart from the ability to marry couples outside should they wish to.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law means that couples have to be resident in the district for 7 clear days before they can give notice to marry. Sometimes this can cause problems when couples live abroad and want to come back to the UK to marry. However, the 28 day waiting period can also cause issues in this case. Seeing people over video link and then not having an in person interview until maybe 3 days before the ceremony means that any issues with documents (decree absolutes, death certs to show they are free to marry) are all last minute and if the couple need to send off for genuine copies of their documents it could mean that they are not received back and checked before the due date of the marriage. This would cause upset to the couple and could cost a lot of money of the wedding has to be delayed.

The issues of couples wanting to get married abroad will probably stay the same as the couple have to satisfy the authorities in the country they are getting married in.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As I mentioned above, couples coming from abroad to marry here (when they are UK citizens) sometimes complain as they have to be resident for 7 days before giving notice and then there is another 28 days waiting period which can be longer than they want to wait. However, it depends on where the couple are and the technology available as to whether the proposed system of taking a notice over video would work. We are then always going to have to wait for them to arrive in the country to ensure the paperwork is correct and that we are seeing originals of the documents. The computer system (RON) would have to be modified to ensure there are ways to indicate that the couple have been seen and that all their documents were seen (and genuine) before the authority to allow them to marry can be issued. This adds greatly to the processes within the registration office

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I don't have any knowledge of this so cannot comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no knowledge so cannot comment

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

The costs to government and local authorities will be massive. We will end up spending more time sorting issues, entering details on to the computer system and organising visits to 'new' venues for risk assessments and health and safety checks with little recompense.

At present the registration service does not charge the customer for registering births and deaths and this costs the service a lot of money. Organising the return of schedules from couples and entering the details on to RON will also be a time consuming task as we already see when asking for returns on a quarterly basis from the clergy.

Many businesses rely on revenue from weddings and with more competition they will lose revenue. These businesses spend money creating safe environments, catering for people with disabilities and other less scrupulous businesses may come in without the same safe environment and offer cheaper weddings. As I have said before, I do not think the number of weddings will increase as people will still get married or have a civil partnership now if they want to.

The only religious or non-religious belief organisations that will benefit from these proposals are the humanists and there is nothing that they can offer in their ceremonies that we cannot offer currently.

Independent officiants may see an increase in business as they may be more inclined to do weddings in peoples houses and back gardens without going through any of the safety checks that larger organisations insist on. They do not have the overheads of larger businesses so can offer cheaper fees possibly. However, they will only be doing the ceremony and all the other paperwork will still be down to the registration service to complete.

Couples may like the options of being able to get married anywhere. Where does this stop? Skydiving? In a swimming pool underwater? The most popular part of the reform is to allow couples to marry outside or in their own houses which I think will be popular amongst couples but this opens up other cans of worms as already described above. The costs of getting married will not be reduced by enough to make a difference to couples so won't encourage them to get married.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDY6-H

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-26 11:16:21

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Myself and my partner both have earth-based spiritual beliefs and practices. We would want to be married outdoors, in a place of our choosing, and ideally not have to have, in effect, two weddings in order for that ceremony to have legal status.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

This makes sense for so many reasons in this day and age, and would render the process more accessible for everyone from folks travelling for work through to people who are housebound for any reason. I do think an in-person interview should be required if concerns around a forced marriage are present.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Based on so many people's experiences this year, I wonder about making the validity of the schedule even longer - or at least having a clause around extending it in the event of extenuating circumstances beyond the couple's control (eg bereavement or a global pandemic!)

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I support a process that is the same for everyone, regardless of religious affiliation.

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I support a secular process that is the same for everyone, regardless of religious affiliation. It is no longer sensible, appropriate, or fair for one religious group to have access to different legal rights to other groups. If a couple wishes to put up banns, that should be a purely socioreligious choice, with no impact on the legality of the process.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

As above, I support a secular process that is the same for everyone, regardless of religious affiliation. It is no longer sensible, appropriate, or fair for one religious group to have access to different legal rights to other groups. The process for people of the Anglican faith should be the same as it is for everyone else. What the clergy then choose to do as part of the religious requirements of their ceremonies should be up to them.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

As above.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

I support a secular process that is the same for everyone, regardless of religious affiliation. It is no longer appropriate, or reflective of our society, for one religious group to have access to different legal rights to other groups.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think this is a really interesting and potentially effective way of making the legal process of marriage fairer and more accessible. As an interfaith minister, I would hope that this would ultimately lead to me being able to officiate legal ceremonies - and the duties above could be easily integrated into the (non-legally binding) ceremonies I officiate at present.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Only if members of other faiths and interfaith organisations also have a path to being recognised as officiants. Even then, I think officiants of any faith path should all need to undergo a piece of training that is the same across the board when it comes to the legalities of officiating a legally-binding ceremony.

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems eminently appropriate, in combination with universal training on the legal aspect of officiating.

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As an interfaith minister, my role is to cater to all faiths and none, rather than encourage my clients and congregations to conform to a particular belief. While I work under a code of ethics, these apply to how I comport myself in service to others, rather than offering an explanation of the nature of humanity/the universe. Our work is both valuable and necessary in an increasingly diversifying society. The definition above needs to be widened to include organisations that seek to serve the welfare of humanity in an ethical manner, without prescribing a particular belief system for those they serve.

Please share your views below:

As above - interfaith organisations, and perhaps also organisations seeking to serve the needs of minorities whose needs or identities often fall outside prescribed religious routes.

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again, this doesn't necessarily fit those officiants who seek to serve people of diverse faiths and backgrounds simultaneously. Officiant training organisations need to be included in this, such as the OneSpirit Interfaith Organisation that trained me.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Maybe. I think you would have to be very careful about what you include within those purposes, and that definition would need to arise from a diverse focus group - ideally one including representatives from communities that have been subject to public discrimination in recent years.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I can see how this might be practical for some organisations, though doing things on a case-by-case basis is always safer. Again, as long as there was a universal piece of training/requirement that everyone had to pass through, this could potentially work, but it incurs greater risks I suspect.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is long-overdue, and so important!

Consultation Question 30:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - and I would suggest that everyone also have to undergo a process like the one described below for independent officiants, with a view to limiting nepotism etc.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I am so looking forward to this being an option for myself and my colleagues!

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think the same guidelines should apply for everyone - perhaps a price bracket/spectrum within which any officiant must choose their fee, that is adjusted annually in line with inflation.

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

See above - the rules should be the same for everyone.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

And you'd need to be clear about what that meant in terms of any additional labour required etc

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It might be worth having some criteria that are recommended to all organisations for this, regardless of religious affiliation?

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again, being crystal clear about the requirements and the process here will be very important.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again, being crystal clear about the requirements and the process here will be very important.

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

And it may be worth having a short review process on a semi-regular basis.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This feels long overdue. A wedding is such a precious and meaningful day in so many people's living and loving, a day that so often ends up constricted by sociopolitical factors. It's high time the people entering into the commitment to be wed had more choice over how the form of that commitment expresses their beliefs, wishes, and ultimately, the unique love that they share.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Hopefully with the proposals above this will become defunct.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely. It's high time people had more choice about where their ceremony takes place - in accordance with everything from their beliefs to their means. Hopefully thorough preliminaries will mean there's no need for open doors through which someone could disrupt proceedings.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is both more appropriate to the deeply personal nature of these ceremonies and the diversity of faiths in this country, and also makes having a ceremony so much more accessible.

Please share your views below:

No - it's high time several of the above were possible (outdoors and in private homes), and I see no reason why the others should not be.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

'Safe' is a term that can be clearly defined based on health and safety requirements.

'Dignified', on the other hand, is much more subjective, and I think legislators should think long and hard about whether it is within their remit to define the qualitative aspects of a wedding in terms of its character or feel. I've facilitated commitment ceremonies that would probably not be described as dignified - because "dignified" was not on the list of qualities pertaining to the couple or their love or their community, all of which the ceremony was designed to respect and reflect. If legislators do take it upon themselves to impose an arbitrary quality on millions of people's ceremonies, they should have a clear definition of what they mean; after all, is the intention to punish ceremonies that are not "dignified", but are reflective of and appropriate to the relationship in question?

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As above.

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This sounds like unnecessary additional bureaucracy on top of a decision that should be between the couple and the officiant.

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As a celebrant primarily serving the LGBTQ+ community, I know all too well that there are many instances where any inclusion of family of origin in a ceremony would be completely inappropriate, even unsafe, for one or both of the couple. For example, if one partner's family of origin rejected them for their identity years ago, or is opposed to the union due to prejudice, the couple should not be forced to include their family of origin in any way on the day - including on the documentation. As such, I think point three should only apply to wedding where one or more of the parties is aged 16-18.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If a same-sex couple can find a licensed officiant, either of their own faith or interfaith, who is willing to marry them, no external authority should be able to impede that. Leaving that provision in place supports discrimination.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There may be instances where witnesses should still be required, eg marriages between younger adults, or where there is a reason for concern re sham marriage.

Consultation Question 58:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, with the exception of item b ii, as per my answer to question 57

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It is high time there was more legal recognition and rights for long-term cohabiting partners.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consent is a complex capacity, impacted by sociopolitical factors as well as personal circumstances and experience. For many people, their capacity to access and express consent is a life-long process, and it is certainly an area that can be impacted and impeded by other people. It may take longer than three years for someone to recognise consent was not in fact present for one or both parties.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again, I wonder whether some provisions to allow for some flexibility could be included in the schedule - for example if one of the couple has a relapse that causes the wedding to be postponed past the cut off date.

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As above, and having seen so many weddings postponed in this last year due to "unforeseeable circumstances", it would be good if there were some allowances for flexibility included.

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

And there should be a provision that the interviewer for the civil preliminaries can ask for an additional in-person interview if they have reason to believe that, for example, one or both of the parties may not in fact be fully consenting.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Naval ships come to mind - for example if the couple are members of the crew?

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other independent officiants could also be authorised for this role, as this would benefit both their own industry, and any burgeoning wedding industry aboard ships, by offering those getting married a wider choice of officiant alongside their choice to be married at sea.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other independent officiants should also be permitted to conduct ceremonies aboard ship.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Considering the overlap between financial instability and the situations in question, I do not think this fee should be charged to the person seeking to marry. It is effectively discriminatory towards people who, eg, for health reasons beyond their control cannot travel to the registry office.

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Perhaps provision for a voluntary donation equivalent to the usual fee could be put in place, for those instances where money is not an obstacle for the couple in question?

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

As an interfaith minister in this country, I can currently officiate the ceremonial side of a wedding, but not the legal side. This effectively means that couples who wish to make their commitment to one another in a ceremony of the sort I officiate have two separate decisions to make: Do they want to make their commitment to one another in a ceremonial context? AND/OR Do they want to be legally married? If one of the outcomes of this survey was the approval of independent officiants providing the legal aspect of weddings as well as the ceremonial, I do believe more people would decide to do both, rather than consider doing just one or the other.

I also anticipate that a change in the law in terms of where couples can be married will lead to more of those couples who, for religious/spiritual, and/or financial, reasons, wish to be married outside, at a private residence, or in another place that is not a church or a vastly expensive wedding venue, getting married legally as well as having private ceremonies.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As above - I do think all of these present a barrier to legal marriage, for reasons both financial and spiritual, and also because of the limits these place on a ceremony that should reflect the love it is consecrating and celebrating - which is often as unique as the people who share that love.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

All of these savings will support not only more couples being able to contemplate legal marriage - but also more couples being married in a way that truly celebrates their love, and that they can look back on happily. This may seem like a small thing, but it does contribute to marital happiness and stability. The savings in both time and money suggested herein will take out some of the stress from a process that should be joyful, and serve to further bind the people partaking in it together.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

The suggested changes will have a huge, and hugely positive, impact on venues across the country. If the Government does enable independent officiants to officiate legal weddings, this will positively impact the lives and vocations of an entire profession. In short, this must be a good thing for the wedding industry, for potential couples, and for the economy more widely.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I foresee benefits to both sides - and in turn benefits to our tourism industry. My fellow celebrants in Scotland spend most of their professional lives catering to couples from overseas who come to get married, or receive a blessing, in beautiful natural locations in Scotland. I see no reason why that should not extend to England with these changes in place.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

One potential cost will be to those businesses who have been able to afford to maintain a licence for legal weddings to take place on their premises, and have been charging extortionate fees to couples for the privilege. However, if they do not have to pay those fees in order to maintain a license, and if they have a little more healthy competition, perhaps some of the costs to couples will come down, which I sense is of greater benefit to public interest, and may in turn contribute to more weddings taking place.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDM3-2

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-26 11:24:08

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] County Council Registration Service

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

n/a

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Very challenging time for Registration staff and for couples extending dates on marriage authorities would have helped workloads instead of booking more legal notice of marriage appointments

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

need to carefully control overseas residents being able to freely to book a wedding to keep sham forced marriages from taking place in UK and not doing residency

Consultation Question 5:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Very difficult to manage timelines and resources under existing staffing levels

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

practicality of workloads and timescales especially if given on a Friday and Register Office is closed at weekend or Bank Holiday at least 2 weeks needed

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

only for ill health reasons under the supervision of a hospital/hospice or GP at a patients home

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

yes under the correct regulated procedure

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Existing system can be improved maybe display in all local council offices in more prominent places

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

very difficult to know staffing details 12 months beforehand it should be generic for the whole team to be permitted and name shown closer to date of ceremony it does limit flexibility if staff member named is ill on day of ceremony

Consultation Question 12:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Again very difficult to administer

Please share your views below:

no as I don't agree with the idea

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

depends on how devolved nations independence rules change

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

should be circulated further afield

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

there should be controls in place yes

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

yes to prevent a forced religious wedding

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

there has to be a system in place for civil preliminaries to prevent fraud and forced marriages

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

for security reasons and for work involved 2 registrars should be present for remote weddings and 1 registrar for registration offices as is the case for civil partnership formations

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

especially relevant for relatives of nominated officiants who want a church wedding

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

don't understand question

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

need to understand why 20 members limit set in question

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

agree

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

it should be kept generic

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

need to be monitored and observed and regulated

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

need experience/competency check

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

there should be a professional code of practice

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

need reviews on competencies every few years especially if wedding levels low over several years

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

hymns

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

subject to health and safety

Please share your views below:

not every officiant would be comfortable in every setting ie fear of heights health issues etc

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

ie family farms etc

Consultation Question 50:

No

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

A higher body

Consultation Question 52:

No

Please expand on your answer:

should come under another role

Other

Please expand on your answer:

yes but still another role

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

approved colleague to specialise in this area

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

too open to fraud

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDME-M

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-26 11:25:32

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Parent , recent marriage of my daughter has prompted me to respond to this consultation.

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

UK

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am personally in a marriage recognized by the law.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It was my choice given my Christian belief to have a legally binding marriage.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

My daughter was married between the two lockdowns during the current COVID 19 pandemic. According to my daughter's biblical belief's she (as we do) strongly uphold the sanctity of marriage and the couple do not live together ahead of marriage (Ephesians 5 v31).

Her marriage was very stressful during this time with not knowing when she would get married (was initially planned for May time). The proposal to change the laws is therefore hugely supported by us as a family. With simple online procedures for registration and provision for marriage in the home(as you have proposed), this would have been a huge benefit to us, saved a lot of stress and would have allowed the marriage to go ahead without any risk of infection.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree, makes it more workable for different situations

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes , agree. Whilst we certainly hope for no more pandemic's we can't assume. In our case this would have been a huge help.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes agree with this proposal. In line with modern methods of communication.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Agree with this

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It makes logical sense to have a second officiant in the event of , illness etc

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant in my view needs to be an authorized person as agreed by the couple and chosen from the church if necessary. I agree with the proposal to being able to hold the ceremony in the home if desired and then the couple reserve the right to choose an authorized person.

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The sanctity of marriage is paramount and should be respected and upheld in every way. See Hebrews 13v4 "Let marriage be held every way in honour" and 1 Corinthians 7v 39 "A wife is bound for whatever time her husband lives"

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Some organizations should be excluded- anything unlawful must be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Covered in previous comments

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The persons should be fit and proper in that they are authorized by the holding organization and have the couples consent too

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Given that houses and other venues will be authorized, control of this should be via the couple and/or religious organization.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Broadly speaking yes, whilst upholding the sanctity of marriage. Marriage is a bond entered into for life and therefore a serious occasion although happy! in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Be able to hold a marriage ceremony in homes would have had a significant benefit in my own case as stated at the start of this consultation. It would have helped with making for a more streamlined event and elimination of any COVID related risks. I can also think of numerous other situations where this would have an advantage. eg in the case of a disabled person. It would also overcome any venue related issues eg where a venue is not registered, or potentially bad weather conditions preventing travel or making it awkward for the bride.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agree, needs to be a level of control

Consultation Question 52:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Needs transparency and the dignity of marriage to be upheld at all times

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I would welcome some of these changes as per prior writings. COVID prevented my daughter from getting married and these proposals would have made it possible. The wait caused a lot of stress and created complications from a job perspective. It also made it very unsettling for the entire household.

The proposals would facilitate consideration for all circumstances and in our case would have certainly made it much more workable.

My moral belief is that couples should not live together ahead of marriage and therefore the law should allow for those who want to get married in a way that suites their moral standing.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Reduction of the 28 day notice period would have helped greatly in our case.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Its clear that the proposed changes will mean costs can be saved by the government, organizations and the couple. I look forward to hearing about the positive changes!

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDM2-1

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-26 13:32:14

About you

What is your name?

Name:

Rev. [REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]
Register of One Spirit Interfaith Ministers
Association of Independent Celebrants

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

Greater London

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am not married

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I was in a cohabiting relationship when I had my children. Upon our separation I was not treated fairly by the Child Support Agency/Child Maintenance System over a 20 year period despite my efforts to seek justice all the way to the Independent Case Examiner which allowed my ex-partner to get away with unpaid child maintenance of over £70,000.

Also I was unable to receive support from the Surviving Economic Abuse organisation as an unmarried mother.

I have therefore been forced to bring my children up in a level of poverty described by the Joseph Rowntree Foundation as 'severe poverty' and my time out of the workforce spent parenting alone has left me unable to secure employment as a woman 'returner' despite having gained a first class honours degree, being the recipient of Fellowships from the prestigious Winston Churchill Memorial Trust and the Royal Society of Arts and having a solid Curriculum Vitae demonstrating many further trainings and continued professional development.

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

There were no legal barriers in the 1990s - however the culture at that time made co-habiting appear to be without stigma and gave me to understand that I had rights as a common law wife. This turned out not to be the case.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Not applicable

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

No preference

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Perhaps also more widely in local press and online

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes to both

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Registration officers should restrict their duties to purely civil/secular weddings with no belief content

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Wedding officiants from the Church of England and the Church in Wales should be ordained

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Independent celebrants are highly trained officiants who serve the vast majority of civil wedding ceremonies that cater for couples with no affiliation to organised religion yet who do require some spiritual content in their ceremonies.

Similarly, Interfaith Ministers serve couples who may be of different faiths, have no faith, or who subscribe to aspects of several faiths ie whose faith and beliefs are highly individualised.

Therefore, I think that any non-religious organisations that the Government enables to officiate at weddings should not be defined to mirror the definition of a religion, but should definitely have a high standard of training in celebrancy, ceremonies as well as the socio-political and religious historical context of marriage.

Please share your views below:

(Strangely construed question?!)

There should be a list of types of organisations for the purpose of officiating at weddings that are not religious belief organisations ie

Register of One Spirit Interfaith Ministers

Association of Independent Celebrants

Both of which are professional bodies that offer rigorous training, conditional membership, insurance and codes of practice as well as supervision and continued professional development.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Contemporary society is now so highly individualised and post-modern that people who don't attend organised religions often describe themselves as 'spiritual-but-not-religious' and everyone has their own personal beliefs about marriage that can't be put into any cultural box. Couples nowadays want to tailor their own ceremonies, 'cherry picking' from aspects of many traditional religions as well as creating meaningful ritual actions of their own.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Any organisation that promotes purposes that are unlawful or contrary to public policy or morality should be expressly excluded from having any civic responsibilities.

This also raises questions around the Church of England and the Catholic church's notorious histories of paedophilia and forced adoptions and their subsequent cover-ups...

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

One would hope that all organisations whether religious or non-religious belief organisations would have comparable standards by which individuals achieve a position of office and one would hope that would prove sufficient eligibility for becoming an officiant ... however, this needs independent scrutiny and a level playing field that would be better served by external examination eg an RQF NOCN Level Diploma.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Professionally qualified independent civil celebrants and ordained interfaith ministers should be able to be authorised and included on the public list of officiants.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Definitely - and they should also have completed recognised training.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Belief organisations whether religious or non-religious pay their officers a salary and therefore they should be prohibited from making a business of officiating at weddings.

Independent civil celebrants and interfaith ministers are self-employed and vocational so they should be allowed to continue to make a business serving the wedding industry. Both of these categories elevate the expression of the beliefs of the couples they are marrying rather than representing or promoting any religious or non-religious belief system and serve a valid market need. Therefore, in order to operate their business, they must make profits to survive.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I'm not sure where a conflict of interest would arise, and I agree that there should be no limits on the fees that independent officiants can charge for officiating at a wedding. There is already an established marketplace with a wide variety of independent celebrants catering to a wide variety of clients from budget to high-end. There should be no legislation to restrict the operation of their businesses and market competition is normal and desirable for couples who want choice and quality in planning their wedding ceremonies. An independent celebrant is a supplier in just the same way as a caterer, florist, photographer or wedding dress supplier and should be free to operate their business unimpeded.

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It should not be possible for the same person to be nominated by both a religious and a non-religious belief organisation - that is a contradiction.

However, it depends how organisations are classified as to whether an independent officiant is representing the couple's beliefs or whether they were acting in the capacity of representing the religious/non-religious belief organisation.

ie - Humanist celebrants are definitely representing the non-religious belief organisation Humanists UK and should therefore be treated in the same way as religious belief organisations such as the Church of England. It should be impossible for the same person to be nominated by both Humanist UK and the Church of England.

But One Spirit Interfaith Ministers, although they have received ordination as Non-Conformist Ministers, do not represent any single religious belief - indeed they represent those of no belief and all beliefs - and so should be treated in the same way as independent civil celebrants and therefore be able to be both authorised as an independent officiant as well as nominated by One Spirit Interfaith Foundation.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, with the caveat that this should be guidance only, as couples should retain the freedom to receive the ceremony that they desire on their special day and officiants should be free to utilise their creativity in including any ritual or symbolic actions that the couple desire.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Any

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Anywhere

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Safe - yes. Dignified - not necessarily. Couples may want any location. As long as the ceremony itself is conducted in a dignified manner, the location need not be restricted.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Guidance only

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The name of the officiant should be given and the legalities should be the same as territorial weddings.

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Any independent officiant

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Any independent officiant

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

There is a growing demand for destination weddings which may also include on board ships

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No set fees - officiants must be free to set their own fees.

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Performing the legal minimum requirements only. No ceremony.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Registration officers should be restricted to operating minimum legalities within the confines of the register office.

Civil weddings outside the register office should be officiated by independent celebrants at free market rates and include ceremonials as well as legalities.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Nominating bodies should assess the application before sending to Registrar General for approval. There should be no costs incurred by the Registrar General and the nominating bodies should include the authorisation fee along with the awarding process after training. ie authorisation should be included in successful completion of training and membership of a nominating body/professional organisation eg Association of Independent Celebrants

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. Yes
2. Yes

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law is restrictive and costly

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Yes, there would be savings if the laws were changed according to your proposals, especially if independent celebrants were given the mandate to perform the legalities in line with what already happens in Scotland, Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

All businesses including venues would have a rise in opportunity if there were an increase in the number of weddings and if there were more freedoms for independent officiants to perform the legalities rather than as per the current restrictive and outdated system.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

As an independent celebrant I look forward to progressive change in the marriage laws, however I am concerned that there will be cost implications for me in the process of obtaining official recognition/authority to become a listed officiant.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDM1-Z

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-26 15:52:50

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Plymouth Brethren Christian Church

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Several marriages have had to be put on hold due to the pandemic.

There are three such situations in my knowledge from the local branch of our church (I am an Appointed Person.)

We have strongly held beliefs - biblical - as to the sanctity of marriage; we do not live together prior to marriage. These beliefs are based on Genesis chapter 2 verse 24 and Ephesians chapter 5 verse 31. This has, in some measure, caused unnecessary stress for the couples involved, also their families. I see the importance of being able to hold a simpler ceremony in our houses - which would ensure low infection risks.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would make it more straight forward for persons coming into England for marriage.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would simplify the pre-marriage process, reducing the need for at least one Registry Office visit.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

I would see three days as adequate.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I would agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I would again agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would agree with this proposal, the convenience of not having to visit a Registry Office to see the bands would be beneficial. I have had the personal experience of needing to regularly visit a Registry Office whilst on the look out for a particular notice to appear.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage is a huge step in life; due to any unforeseen incidents that could arise, it is necessary for an extended period of time to be allowed.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There are two officiants at our local church; any delays are therefore nullified if one is not able to attend through sickness or any other reason.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Same answer as at Question 11

Please share your views below:

I would agree with this proposal, mainly should the couple request it.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant would be the Authorised Person or the Assistant Authorised Person from their church; the choice should be able to be taken by the couple.

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The current nomination of authorised persons is handled by the trustees of the registered building; I see this method of control as necessary to be continued.

I believe that this method of nomination would need to be kept in place should there be a move away from the current building based system.

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This proposal confirms our strongly held beliefs on marriage.

Persons do not live together before marriage.

The sanctity of the marriage bond is fundamental to our church.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Churches or organisations that hold genuinely based Christian beliefs should not be excluded from nominating their officiants, even if these beliefs are contrary to public policy or morality.

I believe that organisations that promote unlawful practices should be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I see this as a necessary control measure.

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again I see this as a necessary measure for the control of our beliefs and views on marriage.

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As a church, we do not charge for our weddings or any services.

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

These proposals largely reflect the current practices of our church.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again, this is current practice.

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The checking of impediments prior to the marriage ceremony would eliminate the need to conduct the service with open doors. Should ceremonies be performed in private houses, there should be no requirement for open doors.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Whilst the dignity of the ceremony needs to be recognised, I would broadly agree with this proposal. This would allow for the needed change for marriages to be conducted in the house.

Please share your views below:

I sincerely welcome the proposal to allow for weddings to take place in private homes. Whilst retaining the dignity and solemn character of the occasion, the ceremony can be performed in the more relaxed, family setting, without other distractions. This would help facilitate the serving and enjoyment of refreshments taken after the ceremony, also any photography. It would have helped during COVID, also other restrictive circumstances could be better carried through. It would be more meaningful for many couples to be able to be married in their own home.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As well as preserving the solemnity and dignity of the marriage, the officiant needs to be sensitive to the couple's desire as to the venue.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

According to our strongly held biblical beliefs, the dignity of the venue needs to be upheld in line with the ceremony.
Also, the couple and all who attend the wedding should be safe and in no way distracted from the occasion by any inconveniences.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I view this proposal as reasonable just so long as the criteria for home weddings doesn't become too prescriptive.

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Could these details be considered for being added before the ceremony?

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree to keeping up with the times, not knowing what lies ahead...

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Common sense submission to our held beliefs confirms these factors.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Christian beliefs.

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Common sense, time efficiency measure.

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I would welcome the proposals being put forward.

With our beliefs surrounding marriage in place, (we don't cohabit pre-marriage) I believe that the proposals would largely facilitate marriage.

Whilst not greatly impacting on our own church's number of marriages I can see that the proposals for the wider community could be a benefit for all.

Some persons have not been able to marry due to COVID is an example (marry from home.)

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Marrying from a private home could save money for the couple and family concerned.

Not opening up a large meeting hall for a small marriage ceremony (such as we carry out) would save money for the church.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law is restrictive for persons travelling from overseas to get married in England and Wales.

It would be of benefit if the current 28 days notice period rule could be reduced or abolished.

It would help if the preliminaries could be carried out online.

It would be of benefit if the residence rule were to be abolished.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Costs to local authorities and government could well be reduced by moving the whole marriage application and procedure forward on an 'on-line' footing.

Marriage in private homes would save money for couple and their families, thereby encouraging increased numbers of marriages.

Opening up large meeting halls for a small ceremony would be a cost saving measure if current legislation were altered.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDND-M

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-26 16:13:58

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

OneSpirit Interfaith Foundation

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

[REDACTED]

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think it is fine for interviews to take place remotely as long as there are strict guidelines in place to identify the possibility of forced marriage.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I don't have a particular opinion on this.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely. A wedding is an important thing for the couple, as well as sometimes involving a lot of money. It is essential that a substitute officiant should be able to officiate if necessary.

Please share your views below:

I think this should be allowed. It may be that a couple realise after a period of time that they cannot work with the officiant they originally chose. They should be able to choose another officiant if they feel the need.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

No comment.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No comment.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

No comment.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

No comment

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think this process would truly update the marriage process and make it more relevant and easy for modern couples and how they would like to be married.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Only one religious officer is required to officiate at a religious wedding, so it makes sense that only one registration office should need to officiate at a civil wedding.

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As far as I am concerned, that is a matter for the church to decide.

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is what is already happening in Scotland and Northern Ireland. It is time for Wales and England to come into line with the rest of the UK.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This provides some solemnity and gravitas to the officiant role.

Please share your views below:

I think there could be such a list. At the moment, I cannot think of which types of organisations could be included.

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It depends what is meant by 20 members who meet regularly. Would this mean that the 20 members have to meet up in the same group, or that at least 20 members meet up in smaller groups throughout England and Wales.

I agree that a sincerely held belief about marriage is important but, as couples like to have a great deal of input into the content of their wedding ceremony, a standard wedding service would not be helpful or appropriate.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes I agree with this.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I think named individuals only.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is important for ensuring compliance.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as the independent officiants are properly trained by a registered training body, then I would agree with this.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think this is very important.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I do not agree with this. Officiants need to make a living whether they are nominated by religious or non-religious belief organisations in the same way that independent officiants need to make a living. It would be better to put a cap on what the former are allowed to charge rather than saying that they are required to work as volunteers which is what this implies. It is a hours of work, preparing a couple for marriage, writing their ceremony and then travelling to the place where the marriage will take place and leading the ceremony. I do not think that many religious/non-religious officiants would be happy about having to do that work for nothing.

A priest gets paid for his/her work, which includes conducting weddings, so, indirectly, they are being paid for conducting weddings. I do not see why officiants, who may well not be paid by their religious body, should be expected to conduct weddings without being paid for it.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Referring to my answer above, either all officiants should be limited on what they can charge for officiating at a wedding, or none of them should be limited.

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am not sure that I see that this would be a problem but maybe I am missing something.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely. This is really important.

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this to some extent as long as the guidance is clear about the ensuring the wedding is legal but not prescriptive on any other area of the ceremony.

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes. As long as the organisation has clear protocols for doing this and has been made fully aware of its responsibilities in this area.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I don't really understand this question.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No. No limitations as long as the choice of venue shows proper respect for the marriage ceremony.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Other

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think it is up to the leaders of the religion or non religious belief organisation that owns the religious or non religious venues to have their own rules regarding the above. I don't think it is a matter that needs to be laid down in law.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Maybe locations that hold lots of weddings could apply for approval and be given a certificate showing that they are approved. I imagine this could be managed much as the approval of locations for weddings happens at the moment.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with 1. and 2. Not sure about 3. as so many people do not have both parents or even one parent and what does the occupation of parents have to do with their children's marriage??

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

No

Please expand on your answer:

In the case of forced marriage I think this time limit should remain.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If someone has a terminal illness, they may only have a few days to live so they should not have to waste time on giving notice and being interviewed before the schedule is issued.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I don't think the current law discourages couples from getting married. If they really want to they will. I think being given more choice will make couples getting married easier and more satisfying for them.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I think it is difficult for couples to have to effectively pay for two weddings when they want to have a wedding led by an officiant which is their "wedding from the heart" but in order to be legally married they also have to pay for a registry office wedding. It seems to remove some of the meaning of the wedding for them.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Weddings are expensive and anything that helps to reduce the cost for couples, I think, must be a good thing.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDMN-W

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-27 12:17:59

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With couples free to marry all over the country, it seems an unnecessary and costly requirement.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Due to time constraints, the seven days minimum period is a fair period of time to carry out a thorough interview

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

With the increase of online conferencing, people understand better how to conduct an interview online. However, the possibility for an in-person interview to be available if there were concerns should also be included.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

In certain circumstances as indicated above notice should be given to if one of the couples is outside England and Wales

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

If the officiant has used social media to voice views that may not be appropriate or are opposite to the views or beliefs of the couple

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

The information should be available online

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

They should also have additional training to ensure they carry out all the legal requirements. To be recognised just by virtue of their office should not be enough

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As celebrants are involved in every aspect of the wedding ceremony, they should be able to apply to the General Register Office to be authorised. They should be able to show they have completed a recognised qualification which would make them very qualified to be included in the public list of officiants.

Consultation Question 30:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There need to be more safeguards in place rather than the nominating person declaring they are 'fit and proper.'

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All organisations should be transparent in their financial gains from officiating and should be prevented from active marketing.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Independent officiants should declare any conflict of interests when officiating and be free to market their business in a commercial sense.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should be in their declaration

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There should be a standards committee or ombudsman to ensure that officiants follow the same set of standards and couples have a body to complain who will act impartially.

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If there is to be an increase in officiants, there needs to be a body to ensure standards are maintained and the public are protected if an officiant does not carry out their responsibilities in a fair and legal way

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It should be a body separate from the General Register Office to ensure impartiality.

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Maybe this should be reviewed periodically

Consultation Question 41:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think that should be standard with all officiant's so they all have access to the same personal development and it is consistent throughout England and Wales

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think this is an important point and that some religious content should be allowed if the couples request it.

Please share your views below:

The use of prayers, psalms and hymns should be permitted as some couples of faith can't have a church wedding due to availability or cost

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would help those who wish to get married at a place that is special to them but still has a legal significance. It would also help those couples on a limited budget outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Venues which provide minimal space for witnesses or participants should be avoided, especially as the wedding is a legal process. Private home, outdoor space and waterways would be fine with tight regulation.

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am not sure why public access should be available if the officiant is following the correct legal process.

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Religious venues should not be seen as a 'venue' so I agree the law should prohibit the mixed-use of religious venues and weddings.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The officiant would be able to advise, and if the couple were unhappy they could seek a different officiant

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There would need to be clear guidance on what is defined as 'dignified.'

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Management of wedding locations can change, and a pre-approved process may overlook when locations fall below standards.

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The security of electronic registration should be thoroughly checked before this is proceeded with

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

They should undergo training and be governed by the standards of officiants

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I think there should be the option to include some religious element to the ceremony if requested.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think the fee should be set regionally as travel costs vary throughout the country

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

I think there is a discussion about whether any fee should be charged if a person is terminally ill.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would need to be fair and commercially competitive for the pre-approved location and the locations not pre-approved

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

A charge should be made but not convinced it should be standardised nationally.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The current law discourages many couples from getting married as the process is lengthy, and the system of registrars and churches currently able to officiate legal marriages has resulted in the decline of marriages.

Celebrants are now a popular choice for couples, the majority have completed a detailed training course that in some cases results in a recognised qualification. They are not however permitted currently to complete the legal part of the ceremony which is disappointing to the couple and can be an additional expense in terms of money and time to complete.

By broadening the number of officiants able to facilitate a legal marriage in the location and officiant of their choice will greater increase legal and happy marriages.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current is outdated and costly.

Approval of licenced venues is confusing and has contributed to the escalating cost of getting married by these venues.

The current law also reflects by many couples having to finance two ceremonies, the legal marriage and the wedding ceremony afterwards.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDHG-H

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-27 16:27:39

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Milton Keynes Council

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

NA

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

NA – however many couples believe they can marry again in England after having a religious ceremony in their country of origin that was legally binding in that country. There seems to be a demand for a UK marriage certificate so this should be explored as part of any reviews.

No

Please expand on your answer:

We find that some faiths and independent celebrants do not always explain their services are not legal. Therefore better regulation should be in place so that couples could pursue damages if this was not explained/it causes issues at a later date for either party to the non legal ceremony.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

NA

No

Please expand on your answer:

NA

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

None shared by customers

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

We found couples fell into 2 groups - those that being married was the priority and therefore they wanted to go ahead with just witnesses, and where possible the minimum of guests and with no extras around the marriage; and those that the celebration with the wider family and the big day was more important and these couples have postponed to future years in the main.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - The duration should not be the qualification; it is more about proof of address as registration districts can only take notices for residents within their area currently. If this gets opened up to allow registration where the couple wants this should be open to births and deaths also. May need better fraud checks.

Consultation Question 5:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree the first stage should be electronic where possible so a central system should be available so identity can be checked in a different way going forward and links made. In this day and age post and paper forms should be the last resort. The only issue with "any" district would be why would anyone give notice out of area/surrounding area without good reason? It may overwhelm smaller districts if people can go anywhere if the same model of notice is in place as now with such reliance on outdated paper based systems and systems that require multiple data input. Fraud or sham checks need to be in place to ensure checks are in place at each stage (access to national rather than just local records to flag multiple notice applications/marriages etc).

In person appointments are the check the person giving notice is the same person and their declaration that they are free and willing to marry. This is often when immigration/visa issues, fraud or sham is suspected and reported.

This makes the process 2 part and therefore may have cost implication for provision to accept/approve first part and then hold the face to face element. So this needs to be costed and charged for so that local tax payers are not subsidising this service.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

This depends on the legal basis/purpose of the wait period.

The wait period is for objections so there would need to be a better system of display/raising an objection in place.

3-7 days is such a short period and would mean if there are any issues with divorces or other documents the marriage will not be able to go ahead. This will lead to much disappointment and stress for the couple. It is not easy to move a ceremony!

It would also lead to peak demand close to ceremonies and register offices may struggle during peak periods.

Most couples do not understand the wait period so it needs to be much clearer.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

With the right measures in place this could be possible, but as a legal process it carries risks, and we would want the local authority to be covered for these.

If electronic signatures are required how would these be captured. Technology is lacking and so it may become a postcode lottery if some districts can offer and others cannot.

Spotting forced/sham/fraud and capacity issues is not always straight forward so the risk is it may be missed until the point of remote interview/completely or being missed is a possibility.

There would need to be strict criteria to be followed to justify which couples must attend an office to give notice or again it would differ in different areas/be open to discrimination claims.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

We need a straight forward process that applies to all couples.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - Agree there should be a national display system that requires no interaction from the local registration service once the notice is completed. This would remove an administration task/cost for the register office

How would proof of at risk/harm be qualified? What evidence would couple need to provide?

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Why is there a date for this to expire? Surely if we are giving a couple choice they can give notice as far in advance as they wish? Many couples book their wedding 2 years (or more ahead). Or if the proposal is to have very short wait period between notice and authority should this actually be a shorter period too? So 3 months maybe ... with a fee to extend/or renew maybe to cover costs?

The purpose of notice is to check the person is willing and free to marry. Covid has shown the expiry date is problematic and has caused many extra expense and stress (couples and local authorities).

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We agree the qualification of the officiant should be checked to ensure a legal marriage can take place but naming them maybe problematic at anytime other than on the day. This would mean there being an authorised list of officiants to pick from to be entered on the schedule. This would be problematic to get all these names added to the notice system and to be kept up to date (as it is now with authorize places of marriage etc).

The local authority costs for issuing replacements would need to be covered.

The person conducting the marriage should be able to add their name and print the schedule ahead of performing the ceremony so all officiants would require access to this system.

Should we be looking at something other than a signed piece of paper to confirm a marriage took place?

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be a requirement for sure as we are never able to confirm who will carry out a ceremony until some months before but this does often change.

This assumes only one person will be at a marriage in future so legislation would be needed to change this from the 2 required now for a marriage.

Will there be a possibility to co-opt someone not on the officiant list to perform a ceremony in extreme circumstances?

Please share your views below:

What other circumstances would the substitute be needed?

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All couples should be treated the same regardless of religion

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

These should be published online along with notices if we are to have banns and notice going forward

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

These should be published online along with notices if we are to have banns and notice going forward

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

The same process should be followed and system used for notice/banns so a national record is maintained for all couples marrying/CP. This should include the same checks of identity and other criteria.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

As this is a personal declaration both should attend in person/make the personal declaration in an online format is possible – again the same process should be followed by all.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

To make the system simple and fair to all the same process should be followed by all.
This ensures a simple process ALL couples follow to reduce issues and reduce possible sham etc

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes however:

- 1 – is this a second check of freedom to marry as now for marriage?
- 2 – who will set these requirements/check they are included?
- 3 – will wet signatures be required still? Many contract signings are electronic these days so could this be on a hand held device?

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

So will the approval by the RG include the sector one may work in?
In order to be fair to all should all be able to officiate at any type of wedding?
If this is to open opportunity for couples should they be able to choose what type of ceremony they wish and who to deliver it?

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but requires legislation change and then means lone working needs to be considered (additional cost of any training/lone working devices etc)

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

So there would be more than one list of who can officiate at a wedding? Really there should be one list.

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This conflicts with the RG fee for approving officials who can perform a wedding.

If various different organisations are nominating will they charge a fee/how will they manage quality etc?

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

To give couples true choice they should be able to pick the celebrant service they want whether it be faith/non faith or a mixture of both.

Please share your views below:

This was covered under a separate review and comments provided to Panel.

However anything that is contra to any legal requirement or that of moral or good nature.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Above needs to have more clarity around how long the body has been in existence and and to match requirements of faith groups

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes - certain groups should be excluded and the list would need to be updated/amended

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

As individual names are needed this would not work for checking the officiant is qualified to perform a ceremony.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The RG should keep a list of all officants and this should include faith/non-faith and civil.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There needs to be one list managed centrally with regulations to be complied with by all (and be monitored)

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All should be fit and proper and an assurance that is regularly reviewed should be in place – what is fit and proper must be detailed in regulations

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, as above, but needs to apply to all.

Who is providing training and monitoring CPD? How will this be funded and costs recouped?

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Needs to apply to all performing ceremonies so not just faith/non faith groups.

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

What would constitute a conflict of interest?

If the purpose of this law review is to make marriage simpler and cost more transparent then there will need to be publish fee's for all types of ceremony.

The costs of a registration office/religious premise are likely to be much more than a small independent and we need to ensure a more level playing field for all offerings so how will this be funded.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is the case now for religious/civil provision

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Definitely

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This must contain elements that must be included - so more than guidance.

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Yes and no – someone needs to monitor that checks and reviews are in place. If this is left to organisations bad practice might not be spotted or acted on.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There needs to be oversight.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Oversight and checks are a must.

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No; at least an annual review should be needed with a fit and proper check

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But must apply to all and not just independent officants.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This needs to be laid in regulations – will marriage become a written contract in future so if a couple choses they can read and sign any/all declarations and then move on to whatever else they wish the ceremony to include?

If the notice covers the impediment then it would not be needed – the actual ceremony might be a simple yes if all but consent is removed.

This depends on the legal standing of marriage – if brought inline with CP it could be a written declaration with confirmation (wet signature or electronic confirmation)

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes so long as it includes all mandatory elements and nothing undignified.

Who will check this is the case?

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If the changes proposed are around making marriage simple, and fairness and equality then there should be some standard form of words to be read/said and agreed?

Otherwise we will have variations still and legality could be called into question.

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes – how would it be decided what makes it identifiable? Examples are always helpful but would need to be set nationally to prevent individual interpretation.

Please share your views below:

As above.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes as a couple should not need both in the future if the religious person conducting is licenced

Consultation Question 47:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This would mean the only objection possible would be at notice stage so this needs to have a wider circulation; otherwise agreed

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed so long as H&S can be assured and options for bad weather (wet/heat/cold/light) are also available.

Guidance on location to enter at notice/schedule needed (esp if in the air/open water/outside).

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Some form of approval from the place the marriage is to take place – for example we have many places in Milton Keynes that would provide a lovely backdrop to get married in or at (park/bandstand/garden) – but this may not have the approval of the land/building owner. So how would that be managed and insured against risk?

How would fire safety be managed in private houses?

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed – but there needs to be easy and safe and agreed access for the celebrant

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If the venue allows any type of ceremony it should be permitted - otherwise couples do not have free choice of venue as many religious and belief groups may use shared buildings/grounds suitable for marriage

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It should be the officiant or officiants governing body that decide - but to do so a visit may be needed so can this be charged for? It may have to change on the day due to bad weather or other issues at the site.

However is fire safety/overcrowding an issue if there are no statutory requirements in place?

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes – but nothing about having approval to use the site is in above

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes – also a risk assessment format needed/approval to use should be in place and reportable if any issues are to occur at a later date

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but would be same approval – but a choice of one off inspection for a specific date or for a specific period/number of ceremonies before a further check needed maybe

Please share your views below:

The officiants or their governing body

A formal risk assessment and approval should be gained with maybe some fire risk approval - for large events it may need council approval too

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes – but would this detail not already be on the document from notice or before the ceremony?

No witnesses or officiant details?

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes in Wales - if in England the choice should be both or English

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but that should be at the same time as these changes to ensure better security and completion of records – why would a delay be needed? The savings would come from electronic processes and many legal processes are electronic these days.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Well if the following are not made good the marriage should be void – as the record cannot be registered otherwise – or are we saying the verbal contract stands regardless of documentation? How would this work in a court of law?

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This is about the legal definition and what would void a marriage. It may be a marker for fraud if the marriage was to circumvent tax or access to benefits such as pensions.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It may come to light many years later - like bigamy - and therefore there should be no time limit

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

None other than fees as these should not be subsidised by local authority tax payers; potential for tax avoidance/immigration etc

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All should follow same process

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Should be the same as any marriage if for the same fee

The location may change so 12 months maybe too long – or can the location change to any place?

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Should be standard but depends on rules around address and place of marriage

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes – this would have helped this time round
Yes – but measures would be needed maybe?
Yes – as above
Yes or have electronic signing

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes so long as immigration rules brought in line

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but at the same fee as any other notice/ceremony - also we need to ensure deaths are prioritised so may need more clarity around what this means or we could end up doing 100's of marriages for those who may die and not have capacity to deal with the dying.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Down to legislation and being able to add address to schedule

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

As above - if people can get married anywhere then it should be any vessel so long as it is safe and fit to do so

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Who will marry them? Surely the officiant would need to be on the official list and it is the place that can change rather than the officiant?

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes - anyone who meets the criteria to be an officiant and is registered

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

All must meet same criteria

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As all other weddings

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

We cannot comment

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No, there must be a time limit even for these to ensure they are returned ASAP – if electronic would alleviate this issue.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This could only be an in district visit. If couples can give notice anywhere this would be problematic as it could be many miles away. So if it's a statutory fee travel time and mileage must be added to the statutory fee to enable us to recover costs.

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

The same statutory fee should be charged in order to be fair to all couples and the tax payer should not be expected to subsidise. Couples would be happy to pay the fee and are surprised at the cost now. Travel time and costs vary and so this needs to be recoverable.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

So long as the fee covers all costs of provision. How long would the event be timed at?

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But if that is the case why would the ceremony fee not be on a cost recovery basis too? Plus any travel/mileage costs.

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

So are we suggesting GRO set fees on our behalf or is another Government body to do. Why would it be different to above – maybe the check lasts for a period of time and therefore would last for venues hosting more than one ceremony? So maybe a one off check or multiple use option both costed as appropriate.

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As different areas pay different pay grades/allowances for weekday, weekends and bank holidays staff maybe unwilling to work for a fixed amount as costs for service provision will need to be taken out of any national fee set. Any fee needs to include the service provision and this varies from district to district and celebrant to celebrant so how would the averaged time/cost be worked out. Some districts have over an hours drive to some ceremonies and allow longer for the ceremony than others.

Consultation Question 81:

No

Please expand on your answer:

To ensure fairness this would need to apply to all organisations who officiate at ceremonies or provide additional services such as faith organisations or independent celebrants.

Most celebrants seek to make a profit to cover costs/make a living.

Consultation Question 82:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No – often these take longer so it would be better to allow an additional charge for any time going over the agreed time allowance.

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Neither - I understand the service this provides as a last wish by many couples however the cost should not be borne by other couples or the tax payer. If we can only cost recover on other services how is this type of ceremony covered?

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Would this fee be payable by all officiants – faith groups, independent celebrants, register office staff etc?

Will the local register office have any role in administering this for the RG? If so these costs must also be covered and paid to the local authority.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1. we do not believe this to be the case
2. There are sufficient options now to allow all couples to get married or form a civil partnership. We do not believe the changes will lead to a massive increase in marriages/CPs.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. If all costs can be recovered these may be more available
2. The biggest cost is usually the venue so the cost for the registrar/celebrant is not a big deciding factor
3. As above
4. Celebrant fees are often inline or more than the fees payable to registrars
5. This separate wedding tends to be a statutory ceremony so for £46 is not a big cost and unsure why it is a concern

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. This only applies to a few couples; couples that want a big ceremony will still have a big ceremony and not want a statutory ceremony and a celebration
2. It may reduce venue costs for those couples wishing to use a back garden or cheaper venues (so those who do not wish to use a hotel etc)
3. Cost need to be recovered and so by that very nature those wanting the big day will be paying for the big day as more than the statutory charge will be paid; those that want the statutory element only will do that and not have a separate ceremony so costs are not the barrier.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. The current costs are spread across ceremonies and for most larger venues is not an issue.
2. Supplying staff to cover ceremonies has not been an issue except for all couples wanting the 2 pm slot.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1. smaller venues or household can provide a service. A risk and fire assessment would be needed to ensure the venue is safe and therefore not all costs can be removed.
2. this may be an issue if all want the 2pm slot; staff need to be able to work a full day where possible or alot more staff would be needed is they are all booked for the popular time and depending on location travel time may cause issues too. It is unclear how we would match resource to these various proposed venues especially if travelling times varied.
3. venues would not have an issue so long as it meets with their beliefs and terms of business. Being able to hold a ceremony anywhere does open up opportunities for smaller and other types of venues so it will reduce the incomes of the traditional licensed venues in future.
4. Opening up to other types of celebrant would allow more 2pm slots but this may then dilute the market and reduce incomes for all – doing one ceremony a day rather than 4. This assumes there would be more ceremonies rather than the same decreasing amount but spread over the different types. We do not believe it will lead to a large increase in business but maybe more requests for a bespoke location, popular date and time and therefore it will just spread the work meaning less opportunity

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current system works but needs simplifying and costs to be clear and cover all costs of provision.

We need to cover the costs of the service and a better way to do this – if we are expected to issue/amend and then input schedules for all/chase/deal with any issues these costs need to be covered.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

If more people are able to be a celebrant it is likely to reduce LA incomes and this may then not be a viable offering or a reduced one for many smaller authorities therefore it dilutes the market.

Having one person to officiate at a wedding will reduce marriage costs.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We are not sure current law impacts couples that much once the process is understood. Any removal of steps/or simpler processes across the whole of the UK would assist all of the above.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

One system for all will aid understanding and offer more choice of venue.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1. The local authority costs for any online checks/2 part process/face to face appointments/re-issue or update and issue/registration or other time be covered in costs that may be recouped.
2. No change - hotels and wedding venues may lose income
3. No change - but follow same process as civil
4. No change - most bodies charge a fee to be licensed
5. Simpler process maybe and wider choice of content/venue for those that want this

As different areas have different pay and cost basis this is hard to cover fairly.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDVV-E

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-28 12:16:38

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Brethren

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

I am responding as an Authorised Person for marriages

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

No reason

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am legally married

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

n/a

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Since the start of COVID-19, I have conducted two marriages. In both cases, it was clear that the unusual circumstances of the pandemic put the couple and their families under unnecessary strain. I believe that, had they been able to hold the ceremony in the bride's home, much of this pressure could have been avoided.

I would also like to speak on behalf of Christian couples who follow the teaching of Ephesians 5:31 and do not cohabit before marriage. Such couples also deeply respect the 'solemn and binding nature' of the marriage ceremony, and this is reflected in the simplicity of their preparations not detracting from this.

On a third occasion, a wedding has had to be postponed due to restrictions imposed for the second lockdown. In this instance, the bride – a British citizen who had emigrated with her family to New Zealand a few years ago – had returned to the UK long in advance of the wedding to fulfil the legal notice requirements.

The aforementioned legal process was not completed until two days after the commencement of the second lockdown, and now the wedding will have to be rescheduled. Until the marriage can proceed, the bride will be separated from her family by several thousand miles, relying on friends for accommodation, and without a source of income.

Their decision to maintain their Christian principles in the face of such trying circumstances and not resort to cohabitation is clear evidence of the strength of their faith, but this situation would have been avoided if

a) The bride had been permitted to give notice from her home in New Zealand, or

b) The notice period and issuing of certificates had been shorter and simpler, or

c) Lockdown restrictions on marriages could have been more lenient (I am certain that the ceremony could be conducted with lesser risk than a visit to the supermarket by implementing restrictions on attendance, social distancing measures and the use of masks and sanitising gel)

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I can find no record of why this was introduced in the first place and no benefit in continuing it.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would be more practical

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

I think that three days should be sufficient. If the interviewer is satisfied that the applicants are genuine, what advantage would there be in further delay?

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think this is a sound suggestion. COVID-19 has opened our eyes to the potential of video platforms such as Zoom, not only to prevent the spread of infection but also to reduce unnecessary travel.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I agree

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It makes them more accessible to the general public.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This allows for delays due to factors beyond the couple's control e.g. coronavirus lockdown.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No further comment

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree. It would be unfair on a couple for their marriage to be postponed at the last minute because there is not such a provision.

Please share your views below:

I think that a substitute officiant should be allowed to act if the couple specifically request this, and if the substitute officiant is agreeable to the request.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As I am not an Anglican I don't feel that I should be giving my opinion on this

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As I am not an Anglican I don't feel that I should be giving my opinion on this

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

As I am not an Anglican I don't feel that I should be giving my opinion on this

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

As I am not an Anglican I don't feel that I should be giving my opinion on this

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

As I am not an Anglican I don't feel that I should be giving my opinion on this

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

As I am not an Anglican I don't feel that I should be giving my opinion on this

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I also suggest that while the officiant would often be the Authorised Person for the venue, the couple should be free to choose any Authorised Person as officiant.

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that the relevant governing authority of the organisation should be responsible for nominating officiants, both in the current situation where it is the building that is registered and also in the event of this changing to the officiant being registered. The organisation must be able to sure that it is represented appropriately by its choice of officiant.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Please share your views below:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a matter for the organisation, not for another outside body or person

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I cautiously agree with this. There certainly needs to be a provision to exclude organisations that are detrimental to general public safety and morality, but I would also want to be sure that the definition of 'contrary to public policy or morality' cannot be used to unfairly exclude religious organisations with genuinely held Christian beliefs that can be upheld by Scripture, even if these do not always reflect the opinions of the general public.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Records should be kept and the GRO is the most suitable body to do this

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The choice, and the onus of its responsibility, should belong to the organisation.

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This could potentially create a financial barrier to marriage.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No further comments

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think this is obvious.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I think guidance is acceptable but this should not become mandatory or restrictive.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The organisation should be responsible for all decisions regarding officiants

Consultation Question 38:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 39:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No further comment

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No further comment

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Please share your views below:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have no further comments

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If notice is made freely available online prior to the wedding, there is no reason for open doors.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In principle, I agree with this proposal, which reflects the existing provisions in Northern Ireland and Scotland.

There are many advantages, including:

- using a location that carries some significance for the couple – for example, in the bride's childhood home
- providing an alternative location if the original location is unavailable due to other events, building works or government restrictions on gathering at public venues (such as during COVID-19)
- creating a more relaxed and private ambience for the ceremony and any following activities such as refreshments and photography

I would not be in favour of allowing weddings to take place at a location or under circumstances that would detract from the dignity of the ceremony or the significance and solemnity of the vows being made.

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or

Please share your views below:

I would not be in favour of allowing weddings to take place at a location or under circumstances that would detract from the dignity of the ceremony or the significance and solemnity of the vows being made.

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I believe that the officiant should give due consideration to any suggestions made by the couple but should make the ultimate decision.

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I agree, but with caution regarding the aspect of safety. I do not think that the officiant should fill the role of a health and safety consultant and be expected to carry out a formal risk assessment or be held liable if any injury or worse should occur during the wedding.

The final responsibility for the safety of the location should rest on the persons who arrange the venue (for example the couple or the family). If the location is a private dwelling, this should be the homeowner. For any other location, those arranging the wedding should discuss this with the owners of the location.

I completely agree that the officiant should be able to satisfy themselves that the location maintains the dignity of the occasion.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think that guidelines would be helpful, providing they are only advisory and not enforceable.

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Please share your views below:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think that this is a good idea, but I would personally prefer to see all details entered before the ceremony begins. Filling out all the paperwork while the wedding attendees are present is stressful for the officiant.

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will potentially simplify the process and aid persons who have difficulty in attending an office to register during normal opening hours.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

These are all necessary checks and balances

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have no further comment

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have no further comment

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage should be a matter of law, not presumption.

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Couples should be able to implicitly trust in the status, knowledge and conduct of an officiant.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I have no additional comments

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 77:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 78:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Couples have been prevented or discouraged from getting married by cumbersome, outdated processes. This is particularly apparent if the circumstances are slightly unusual, for example, if one of the persons is living overseas. Exceptional circumstances such as the current COVID-19 crisis further exacerbate this situation.

The cost of wedding arrangements is also a barrier to some couples getting legally married. Allowing marriages to be conducted in the home would enable couples to choose a simpler and less expensive ceremony.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As I mentioned earlier a simple, low-key marriage in the home would bring significant savings to the couple and family as there would be no costs of hiring a venue, employing a catering company, etc.

There would also be savings for the organisation, who wouldn't have to open up and provide heating/lighting/air conditioning to a registered building for a short ceremony.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have researched the subject of residence requirement and while there is plenty of confirmation that it exists, I have been unable to find out the reason for its existence. I can only conclude that this has long since been lost in the mists of time and bears no relevance to marriage today. Global travel and communications now increase the likelihood of relationships developing between persons from different countries, but our current marriage laws hinder them from entering into a legal marriage.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

We could make significant improvements to this situation by allowing couples to apply for marriage online, abolishing the archaic residence requirement and either eradicating or reducing the length of the current 28-day notice period. This would mean that the process could begin in advance of any overseas travel so that the wedding could go ahead as soon as the couple were present.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I do not wish to comment on this matter

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

The only additional costs I can foresee for government and local authorities are those associated with registering and handling returns from a potentially larger number of officiants rather than the limited number of registered buildings. They will not incur additional costs relating to inspecting and approving venues if the onus of this falls on officiants.

Organisations are likely to see a reduction in costs as they will no longer be required to make a registered building available for wedding ceremonies or pay the additional costs of power, heat and lighting during ceremonies.

Officiants are likely to experience increased costs if they have to travel greater distances to proposed venues and visit these venues twice, firstly to assess them for suitability and secondly to perform the ceremony.

As I mentioned earlier, couples will potentially save money by being able to choose their venue. Their costs will of course increase if they decide on a more elaborate location, but this will be entirely their choice.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDV9-H

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-28 16:10:06

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] [REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

[REDACTED]

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

We established our business as Civil celebrants in 2019 having invested several thousand pounds in NOCN Level 3 training, we have several wedding ceremonies booked with us which should have taken place this year but all have had to be postponed due to the pandemic, which has impacted hugely on our plans for the business.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think this is a reasonable approach

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Yes - it should be made relatively easy for couples to change their officiant - weddings are often booked a couple of years in advance and relationships with officiants can change, officiants business may fail or personal circumstances may change. If a couple wish/need to change their officiant for any reason they should be able to do this by giving notice to the registrars office

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There are many people who fall outside the compass of recognised religious or humanist belief systems and there will also inevitably be couples whose own views differ in this regard. Therefore in order to meet this significant need it would be sensible to follow the lead of other Nations and enable independent officiants to deliver a legal and meaningful ceremony.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is important that anyone who is recognised as an officiant by the registrar General meets the same standards (or equivalent) in terms of mandatory training and CPD etc - there should not be different standards set for officiants of different backgrounds or beliefs - any officiant has to be able to deliver their duties in respect of performing a legally binding marriage regardless of beliefs

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would make sense to change the role of the Registration Service in relation to weddings from one of delivering to one of monitoring officiants and ensuring standards are maintained in much the same way that Environmental Health Officers ensure public safety through their monitoring, guidance etc

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a reasonable standard that ALL officiants should be expected to uphold - not just Independent Officiants

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Many couples do not have a belief system which they feel is represented by any organised religion but do wish to include a religious element - for example a hymn, prayer, piece of music or a reading. This is often requested in order to ensure other family members are fully engaged with the ceremony and is of great importance to some couples.

Please share your views below:

There should not be any restrictions imposed on this other than the reasonable statement that the ceremony should be identifiable as a civil ceremony

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Weddings should be permitted in any venue which the couples choose providing the officiant is satisfied there is no undue or unreasonable risk of harm by virtue of the location to themselves or anyone attending the wedding

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There needs to be the same rigour around ensuring capacity to take part in a legally binding wedding service etc - timing of notice may need to be reviewed or exceptions allowed in these circumstances

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Officiant should still be named to ensure standards are maintained and that couples/unauthorised officiants do not use this as a loop hole

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The same time limit should be enforced - couples can scan their schedule and send electronically/by registered post etc if they have no other reasonable way of submitting the schedule

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is reasonable - as Registrars are currently also able to perform civil weddings in external, approved venues it would seem reasonable that independent officiants will also be able to deliver civil weddings in a registrar office if a couple wish that and nominate them as their approved officiant - appropriate fees for the hire of the register office should be charged as in any venue hired by a couple for the purposes of a wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The ability to be married in a private home must inevitably ensure a saving in costs for couples wanting to get married and encourage greater numbers of couples to have a legal wedding.

As Civil Celebrants we are often asked to preform ceremonies for couples in their own home or in other venues that are not approved for legal weddings - for example outdoor sites - as it is the setting and personal nature of the ceremony and the commitment which is important - however we believe that many of these couples would extend the ceremony to a legal wedding within the same setting and with the same degree of personalisation if this were possible.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

inevitably, once the current monopoly is broken, the former monopolists will not be able to charge the premium they have hitherto been able to. However, smaller venues, pubs, community centres, cafes etc will be able to enter this market and the increase in competition must inevitably bring prices down and facilitate a wider sharing of the market gains and greater public satisfaction as they have greater choice.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDV7-F

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-28 19:30:37

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

PBCC

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

Choose a State

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

As an Authorised Person for a building (Brethren's Meeting Hall), I know of many persons within both the immediate congregation I meet with and throughout the UK, who have not been able to get married during COVID-19.

This has been very stressful and distressing for them and their families; it has prevented them from marrying and starting their planned life together. There were also several couples I know, who had to have their marriages solemnised in a very hurried and stressful manner to beat the deadlines for incoming restrictions, which would have prevented the marriage from taking place.

I conducted a marriage ceremony during the COVID-19 restrictions, within the prevailing government limitations imposed on numbers present, etc. Both the couple and their families wanted the law to allow for a simpler ceremony held in a house, to provide a safe environment with minimal risk of infection.

There is also a lot that could be done to make the preliminaries to marriage much simpler for the couple.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This current requirement makes it difficult for persons coming from outside England or Wales to get married.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This makes it easier for persons coming to England or Wales to get married.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

This proposal makes good sense.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Yes, this proposal makes sense, if the couple getting married request it.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

At present, it the Trustees of the registered building that nominate Authorised Person(s).

If there was a move away from a system based on registered buildings, then it would be good for the governing authority of the organisation that uses the buildings, or the trustees of those buildings to nominate the officiants.

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Members of our Christian church have sincerely held beliefs on marriage and the sanctity of marriage. Persons from our community would not live together prior to marriage.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

It would be right to exclude organisations that engage in or promote unlawful or criminal activities and practices.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Our Christian church organisation does not charge for services, so this proposal makes sense.

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There should be no requirement for open doors where ceremonies are performed in a private house. Adequate checks at the preliminary stage should take away the need for open doors at any venue.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I believe it would be advantageous that weddings should be able to take place in private houses.

It would provide a very meaningful setting for the family; it would allow for the dignity and solemnity of the occasion to be enjoyed without distractions; the occasion can be more relaxed when performed in simplicity in the family setting; it would have helped during COVID

Allowing weddings to take place anywhere would help in situations where new church buildings have not yet been registered or there are no appointed celebrants available to attend.

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree provided the officiant is sensitive to the desires of the couple as to where they wish to be married.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this - the safety of all at the wedding location is of prime importance and nothing should distract from the dignity of the occasion either.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree provided the guidance is not too detailed or prescriptive in regard to private homes being used for a marriage ceremony.

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, but it would be far better to have these details added before the ceremony.

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I would welcome your proposals as the current law has prevented several couples that I know of from being able to get married during COVID restrictions. Current law also makes overseas marriages difficult. Any proposals that increase the number of legally married couples is a good thing.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Marriage in private houses would reduce costs for the couple. It would also save an organisation the cost of opening and running a venue for a marriage ceremony - many such organisations are entirely funded by donations from their members.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Under the current law, it is problematic for persons travelling from overseas to get married in England and Wales. To help, the residence requirement could be abolished; the notice period could be abolished or reduced from the current 28 days; and the preliminaries could be done online.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The requirement for overseas residents to be at an address in England or Wales for a fixed period of time prior to marriage means them taking time away from their work or occupation and paying for accommodation. There is an obvious benefit to them not having this disruption or cost.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Marriage in private houses would reduce costs for the couple. It would also save an organisation the cost of opening and running a venue for a marriage ceremony - many such organisations are entirely funded by donations from their members.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDSG-V

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-28 21:12:33

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Independent Celebrant

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Not applicable

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Not applicable

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

All wedding celebrations booked from March 2020 to end 2020 were postponed to 2021 or beyond.

Conducted one intimate service with 30 guests in September 2020.

Scheduled October wedding celebration cancelled due to only 15 guests - reverted to simple registration service ceremony at licensed premise instead.... full celebration with renewal of vows to be arranged Oct 21.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Advances in information technology & increased mobility of the population makes requirement antiquated and barrier to wishes of couple.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

If simple straight forward couple from within England & Wales ... three days should be plenty. Efficient systems should be able to check accuracy / history of applicants from passport / national insurance/ from initial electronic application and be subject to confirmation at personal visit. Could should leave in person interview with licence/ authority to marry.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Agreed. Straight forward couples ... social media would suffice. Checks / balances require any suspect arrangements may require face to face investigation. With advances in IT ... tablet & phones ... able to record digital finger prints for ID / security purposes ... not unreasonable to have this option available.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes agreed. Providing confirmation data is readily available to England & Wales authorities. Eg Passport , military ID, NI .. or equivalent.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Far more relevant to modern society ... in reality who reads published notices displayed in RO ... an archaic system long replaced by information technology.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

12 months provides provision for element of control. Reapplication necessary if not fulfilled.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Yes ... there will be rare occasions when such action is necessary ... and unfair on clients to spoil such an important & special day. Obviously replacement officiant should be duly authorised, insured etc.

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No longer relevant / necessary with modern technology.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Now irrelevant.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Logical. Option for couple to have traditional banns or equivalent read / published in other parties parish if it's important or relevant to their own values / beliefs / wishes.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes and yes if wished in traditional way. Yet retain option of obtaining a 'license' direct from RO or new authority to streamline the system and standardise record keeping.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Not particularly relevant in modern society. Majority of couples are already living together before marriage.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

It would centralise all the various options under one central system .. and streamline the church process... cleric acts on authority of licence issued by RO.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical requirement to ensure credit ability & integrity of system.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical & economic

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed - subject to suitable training included in training programs.. not just by default.

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Sound concept but majority of independent officiants are just that. Independent! So an independent agent eg Registrar system will need to be all encompassing to prevent exclusion or bias. Many independents are members of professional associations / training organisations but there are many operating without such associations or even training. There is currently no statutory regulatory body representing of said independent celebrants / officiants ... although perhaps some seek to speak for the industry eg 'Wedding Celebrants Commission' or 'Association of Independent Celebrants'.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Humanists UK only represent a very small proportion of active working celebrants / officiants within England & Wales ..... and it is acknowledged they have extensive financial support and supporters at high level in government . Any such definition should not exclude any other group of professionals providing high quality bespoke ceremonies for clients.

Please share your views below:

There are many Independent officiants that provide non-religious ceremonies through personal choice in accordance with their personal beliefs and life styles. Equally there are many fully independent officiants who will include elements of religious, spiritual, faith , rituals or belief systems reflecting the wishes of the couple. This is increasingly so with the growing variety of cross - cultural relationships. There is a middle ground of semi religious 'organisations' that seem to get squeezed out due to the propensity to classify organisations - either 'religious' or 'non-religious'. Humanists UK now permit 'religious' elements providing their officiants does not engage in 'an act of worship'. Many traditional Humanists will not still not permit religious elements likewise many independents will also not permit any religious elements!

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But consideration needs to be given to professional 'independent' celebrants who may not be members of an organisation or community body eg self employed.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Agreed .. would undermine sanctity of marriage.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Where appropriate and relevant. Again allowances need to be made for unattached 'independents' celebrants or 'officiants'.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Very important ....100%!

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But still needs to be a centrally administered standard registration eg GRO. Not all organisations / associations have the means or access to vouch for the character / integrity of individuals. Most existing bodies are linked to commercial training providers and frequently suitability as a celebrant is based on ability / willingness to pay training or membership fees.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Essential.

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Sound in principle but many 'officiants' .. make their professional living by writing & conducting bespoke celebrations ... even the church makes money from holding wedding celebrations!

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed .... for majority outside registration service .. no conflict.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical .. even essential.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Essential

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But only in relation to matters of legal registration & related terminology to be included.

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Debatable ..... despite claims by some bodies - most celebrant associations do not have a formal discipline system in place or aptitude to supervise / punish members. Ideally needs to be a neutral authority eg Registration service or some future celebrants licensing authority.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In absence of an independent celebrants / officiants statutory licensing body!

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above 38.

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Open ended registration could lead to inaccuracies and ultimately poor standards ... if a celebrant only conducts one ceremony in several years.

Perhaps renewal every three years .... rather than annual registration.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Minimum standards of CPD required eg 8 hours per year & requirement to register / update individual development record. Responsibility on individual to update own record on central records data base ... access via password protected application. Facility to upload Training Certificate / CPD certificate.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Perfect!

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Reflecting wishes of couple as a right.

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Couples deserve to recognise their own wishes / beliefs or none / traditions as they wish.
This will be reflected in personal choice of celebrant by clients.

Please share your views below:

Should be left to discretion of couple - prayers / readings / poems / music relevant to couples wishes & beliefs. Should not be directed by the faith / beliefs of celebrant or officiant. One should expect that if the officiant is uncomfortable with such inclusion- a true professional would decline the booking / commitment.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Situation shouldn't arise if change implemented.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With loosening of location restrictions - would be impractical to allow 'general public' attendance in private locations like private gardens / residences etc.
Totally impractical to police.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Essential

Please share your views below:

Should be No limit on location - providing due attention to health & safety / risk assessments.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Essential if genuine choice of location is to be allowed.

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Totally irrelevant restrictions if couples are to have freedom of choice.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Important if freedom of choice is to be honoured.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Common sense for both celebrant & couple and of course guests / staff.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed ... necessary but to be tinged with common sense ... a simple structured standard 'risk assessment' form for each location/ceremony which will become a routine part of initial briefing process and filed for future reference in case of investigation / complaints or insurance claims.

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical and reasonable for many existing licensed premises.

Please share your views below:

If requirement for registered premises ceases ... will need to fall to the celebrant to ensure compliance. Celebrant would normally work in harmony with venues.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logically both to ensure personal choice / tradition.

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Long overdue .... logical that government departments system should be able to communicate / cross check data ... National Insurance no, NHS number, HMRC references, driving licence, passport office etc etc. Long overdue national ID card .... but that's another subject.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Option 4 ... may be controversial with some sections of the community / church authorities!

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

An authorised 'certifying' witness ie the celebrant should be sufficient in most cases. One other independent witness present may provide additional reassurance / robustness in system.

May need some compulsion to formally register marriage ie the officiant as part of legal duties.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Unnecessary requirement.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Overdue.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Archaic.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Important.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Not aware of particular challenges here. Special arrangements can be made .. subject to flexibility re special licences.

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Some form of formal notice needs to be given for recording purposes .. allowing for modern technology should not be a problem. An effective online or virtual application process should negate need to personal interview.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical ... cut beaurocracy and time wasting .

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Agreed

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Strongly supported in view of experience of current pandemic and gross inefficiencies of registration service in some areas.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Logical

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provides flexibility for a wide range of circumstances .

.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Overdue ...

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes over due in comparison to present international law favouring & recognised by overseas authorities - when ships masters operating within this districts / registration area.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Yes ... Should be open ended depending on wishes of clients ... subject to health and safety considerations in each event. Would include private yachts, ferries, fishing vessels, RNLI lifeboats etc etc. Why restrict ..... unlikely to be a huge demand but requirements would remain with licensed officiants to ensure compliance with marriage law.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Re identifying vessel ..... less likely to change than name of officiant .

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes to both ... but would wish to ensure the inclusion of appointing an independent celebrant - not connected / employed by the ship - chosen by clients. Restriction of personal choice.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Only fair.

No

Please expand on your answer:

See 72. Restrictive practice.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Probably yes .... most cruise lines offer a civil ceremony only inline with civil registration authority appertaining to the licensing body. le civil ceremony only in accordance with laid down words depending on port of ships yregistration.

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Still need a time limit otherwise records will never be accurate. Use of satellite and personal IT around the world should make formal confirmation relatively easily. Emphasis will remain with the officiant who is unlikely to be unable to confirm marriage took place ... even if clients on world cruise lasting many months!

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes if actual need for face t. Virtual meetings have become the norm in current pandemic . Real need for face to face meetings is dwindling especially if joined up government slow cross checking of various data bases.

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Virtual interview & Electronic notice avoids such need to travel.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

On a cost only basis ... not funding stream for local or national governments.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Definitely on cost recovery basis only .. no income stream.

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Once registrar has done an assessment at a 'regular' venue that should stand unless there are any major structural changes ..... suggests reintroduction of 'licensed premise' status again by local authority. Independent officiants not connected with venue will be expected to undertake an initial risk assessment for each contract as the norm. Back to repeat funding stream for local authorities!

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Academic as most registrars operate in their own local area and travel is currently included in charges for registrar( s)to attend the ceremony venue. No additional fee required.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Again on cost recovery basis only ... not as imposed funding stream for local authorities. Any such charges to be openly advertised along with terms & conditions appertaining to these 'additional' services!

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Fair & logical provided on cost recovery basis only.

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Cost recovery basis but discretion ie no fee if circumstances dictate eg low income, universal credit or other benefits.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

An expected requirement common in most countries. Definitely reflecting cost recovery basis but allowing for costs re administering / dealing with complaints / removal of authorisation including potential litigation. If fees are set to low it will encourage many potentially frivolous applications just because they can or want to do a one off event for a friend or relative (popular in USA) .... likewise to high it will penalise some very competent and professional celebrants who may not perform many ceremonies a year.

There will be many celebrants who will not seek 'authorisation' who are content with concentrating on non wedding business.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Not aware of current law actually discouraging or preventing couples getting married if they wish to do so .... frustration for many couples is not being able to marry as / how they would wish to do so ... or having to pay twice over for the privilege - even if statutory registration and then ceremony of their choice & location.

Proposals would certainly encourage couples to have the type / style / location for their bespoke celebrations.

Existing inflexible arrangements do keep relatively tight control on accuracy of national marriage records.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Civil & CofE services are expensive and clearly a method of income generation. Registration service claims millions each year from both provision of attendance at licensed venues yet also take income from licensed venues for a three year license. Venues then charge for venue use in addition. Client pay three times for same service! Church fees are set at national level for marriage across England although fees go to local and area church authorities.

If clients want a personal service / location for bespoke service - they then have to pay again for legal registration - before or after - even if basic statutory ceremony.

Existing arrangements are discriminatory, expensive & restrictive.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

My local authority only provides one central location in county for statutory marriage registration services - [REDACTED] - between 0930 & 1030 on a Monday morning. Any other locations / times will incur additional charges! Stat ceremonies should be available across registrars premises during routine office hours for those who want this type of registration.

Removal of outmoded controls / restrictions would enable more personal unfettered choice for couples. Removal of licensed premises fee should reduce costs the venue passes on to clients. Removal of requirement for premise to be licensed and impose license on celebrants will open up personal opportunities to all.

Removal or requirement for two separate ceremonies will save money for both couple and the local authority. Couples who still wish to be legally married & celebrate their wedding on same day at same location .. are effectively paying three times for their ceremony ... registrars, celebrant & venue ceremony room hire costs.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

The costs imposed on venues c £1700 I believe for a three year period brings with it specific restrictions that can be manipulated by some registration services to retain their control over whether or not the venues retain said licence. There is hearsay evidence of some RO insisting independents may not be present or take part in same ceremony at same venue or discouraging venues from using independents. Removal of licensing of venues would remove & prevent these unfair practices. Venues would then be able to work with the client to deliver the celebration of their dreams.

The opening up of the celebrants market to open & fair competition with celebrants being licensed .. would remove the reliance on marriages being conducted at the convenience and availability of the registrar rather than the wishes of the clients. Existing marriage registration appears to evolve around the registration service rather than wishes or preferences of those paying the bill for those services.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Greater flexibility for both venue and client. Win win.

Registration staff would be released for statutory registration at register offices in short term.

Allowing licensed religious officiants to operate 'anywhere' - would open up options for all couples especially cross cultural couples.

I anticipate the open market would encourage more weddings to take place at unlicensed or previously unsuitable venues to be licensed ... previously excluding by default .. those who wanted legal ceremony at same / time location.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

There will be a financial impact on income levels for local authorities ... fees earned far exceed the cost recovery of running the local registration service. Following downsizing of registration staffing last decade ... many officiants are employed part time - particularly at weekends to cover ceremonies (the Gig economy) (a number of p/t staff are also independent celebrants in own right as well although some counties frown on option)

In parallel many register offices have closed / been sold off or with much reduced hours for registration of births, deaths and marriages. Removal of licensed premises admin / inspection / collecting fees would release staff to concentrate on registration duties.

Administration of licensing / monitoring of independent celebrants across the industry would provide replacement employment .....alongside fees from issuing of marriage 'licenses' and then formal entry on national register / issue of marriage certificates would still need staffing / management.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

See 88 above.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Current law is very restrictive on overseas visitors in England and Wales.

Overseas visitors frequently run in to issues of having to be in UK for minimum of two weeks before can legally marry here ... placing couples under additional pressure to extend their visit/ stay. I have lost clients from overseas who were disappointed with the registration service requirements in order for them to marry here.

Couples travelling overseas invariably have to rely on the requirements in the jurisdiction of the country they visit. I am aware of couples who have had stat registration here before or after they travel ... and have an independent celebrant in the county of their choose. Some overseas ceremonies in certain countries are still not recognised in law in England and Wales.

There must be future scope to have an internationally recognised marriage license that could be honoured/ auctioned in any recognised country by a licensed officiant and then returned to country of issue for registration.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

See 89 above.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Current requirements do restrict options in UK waters. Many ships are registered in British dependencies not just for tax purposes but to enable masters to marry couples as 'licensed' registrars of that dependency ... frequently following terminology & declarations recognised from a UK ceremony!

Selling point for many cruise lines for those who wish to avail themselves of such a ceremony. Normal registration ceremony fees apply as if held in port / country where ship is registered . licensed celebrant - normally ships master or first officer receives ceremony fee and cruise line receives inflated income from wedding package ... wedding planner, ceremony, cake, Champaign, canapés minimum number of guests, photographer / album. On one cruise - experienced 4 weddings in one afternoon (witness at one) .... same venue ... x £1000's a time ! Clients who want this romantic option will continue to take it.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Changes would open up the local market for maritime weddings and enable couples to consider this option without having to pay for a cruise to the Caribbean !

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Central government little impact - duty of Registrar General to maintain registers anyway.

Potential loss for local authorities of inflated fees for provision of licensed venues & fees from attending such venues to officiate / register marriage.

Would introduce open competition to an unfairly restrictive and anti competitive wedding industry.

Couples wishing for religious services will continue to do so but will need to allow greater personalisation of services. Some established clerics irrespective of faith will find this challenging. Likewise those organisation of a non religious bodies may need to be more flexible in allowing religious elements / traditions / cross cultural aspects to be included for those clients who wish to do so. This will not be acceptable for all members!

Independent celebrants - who wish to do so - will gain status & responsibility but quite rightly will be expected to pay a license / registration fee and undergo compulsory preparation / CPD training to receive and probably remain said registration.

Couples will gain greater freedom of choice yet potentially save on costs with need for only one bespoke ceremony. Couples will need to accept they will no longer receive the traditional official marriage certificate on the day of marriage ... but wait for it to be registered and then issued in due course. No great difference in principle to not registering births or deaths on day they occur!

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDVP-8

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-28 22:07:47

About you

What is your name?

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

I am happy for my information to be shared

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Couples yes, where a partner dies and they have no security or rights as a spouse.

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely. True lack of personalisation in the ceremonies conduction under the current marriage law that do not reflect the couple.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Yes!

Terminally ill partners unable to marry anywhere other than licensed venue by licensed registrar, especially where time is limited

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

More flexibility

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Again allows more flexibility

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely - the pandemic has proven that many legal registrations, such as death, can happen online, so why not giving notice?

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Unsure

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely!

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Unsure

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

A simple prayer, a reading that has spiritual connotations etc

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Location should be responsible

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Yes - flexibility and accessibility!

Terminally ill/housebound persons should be able to marry where they are receiving care - whether at home, hospice or hospital.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

I lack information on this subject so unsure

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Yes I would think so

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Current law results in a very arduous process to get married and perhaps discourages people. The flexibility and inclusivity of the proposals will not only allow diversity to flourish and be acknowledged, but also potentially result in an easier process.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

In my experience, costing transparency needs improving - often takes a few phone calls!

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Far easier process and freedom of choice!

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Current law is terribly stringent with little to no flexibility, and registrars are unable to meet the demand for couples who wish to marry

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

More affordable

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDMK-T

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-29 11:37:47

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

I do not want any of my personal view and convictions to bring any discredit on [REDACTED] way of life

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I am [REDACTED] and we have had 3 weddings affected by the lockdown restrictions, so I witnessed the intense stress placed upon the couples by the delay - as devout Christians, we fully uphold the sanctity of marriage, as clearly set out in the Bible (Ephesians Ch5 verse 31) - so this meant the couples were unable to proceed until restrictions were lifted and could not start their life together, as they had been planning to and living for - this could have been avoided if there was a simple effective online process to register and secure the required certificates and if the ceremony could have been simply carried out in the house.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is outdated due to modern communication & travel - it is unnecessary

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is outdated due to modern communication & travel - it is an unnecessarily time-consuming process currently

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

why would they need to be longer...as long as the process & its requirements are clear...if any further requirements are flagged up in the interview 3 days is adequate time for this to be resolved

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

yes, this is definitely a good idea - fully agree with this

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

yes, this is definitely a good idea - fully agree with this

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

yes, this would be a sensible way of proceeding with this facility now available

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

this seems a sensible period

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I believe we have always had 2 officiants registered to ensure there is no potential delay or issue if one officiant is delayed or detained for any reason

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

as above - it is a sensible step to take to remove or reduce the risk of disappointment & dealy to the couples life plans

Please share your views below:

yes, this should be possible if the couple requests it and the officiant is free to do this

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a to myself so cant comment

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

n/a to myself so can't comment

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

if the officiant would be the current Authorised Person...This fits in well with how we currently proceed - and the couple getting married should be able to choose their officiant from their church if applicable

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This makes sense...the way we currently operate is that the authorised person is nominated by the trustees of the registered building who are acting on behalf of the congregation.

So if we move away from a buildings based system to an officiant based system then it would be good for the governing authority of that organisation to nominate the officiants and this could still be the trustees of the registered building or other more centralised entity.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Please share your views below:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This makes sense to me - it is very important that it is fully possible for the full sanctity of marriage to be upheld.

In our community, we do have sincerely held beliefs as to marriage, so couples would never live together prior to marriage - this needs to be recognised and allowed for in a simple legal process to allow couples to uphold this Christian scriptural principle.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I would agree that some organisations should be excluded such as those who may promote unlawful or criminal practices.

However, organisations that have genuinely held Christian beliefs that are contrary to public policy (such as same-sex marriage) should not be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is essential for public legal records

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This makes sense, in our community this would not apply however as we have never and would never charge for the service

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I am assuming that this means no limit on how long an officiant is authorised... not how long it takes for an officiant to be authorised!

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Please share your views below:

n/a I can't comment as this does not affect me

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

in my opinion, this would be unnecessary

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I would fully support the repeal of the requirement for a wedding to take place with open doors....this is outdated and a suitable process of checking impediments prior to the wedding would eliminate the need to have open doors.

Ceremonies performed in the house should not require the private dwelling to have open doors.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that wedding ceremonies should not be limited to a registered building and would welcome the provision for weddings to take place in the home...however the importance & dignity of the ceremony needs to be upheld so would not personally approve of some of the locations that have been suggested

in private homes.

Please share your views below:

As above, I would welcome the proposal that weddings should be able to take place in private homes as is already possible in Scotland & NI, and many other parts of the world.

This would have certainly been very welcome in our recent experience during the lockdown due to Covid19 and also avoided the problems we recently had with weddings taking place during a delay with the transfer of the registration of a new church building

I believe that many would find it meaningful to have their wedding in their own home, it would take unnecessary pressure off the couple meaning that the dignity and solemnity of the occasion can be fully experienced without other distractions.

Having the ceremony in the home would also facilitate any food/ drink that may be had after the ceremony and the taking of photos for a lifetime memory of the important occasion

There may be other restricted circumstances such as illness etc where this would help

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - this does not affect me so I can't comment

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - this does not affect me so I can't comment

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree providing the officiant is sensitive to the couples' desire as to where they are married.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree with this proposal.....it is important that the full dignity and importance of the ceremony is fully upheld and there is no risk or inconvenience that would distract from the marriage occasion

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is reasonable as long as it doesn't become over-prescriptive with regards to weddings taking place in houses.

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - this does not affect me so I can't comment

Please share your views below:

N/a - this does not affect me so I can't comment

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

yes, this is necessary for suitable legal records ...however, it would be helpful if these details could be added before the wedding ceremony.

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - this does not affect me so I cant comment

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

as per my prvious comments, this makes a lot of sense now this provision is available

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - this does not affect me so I cant comment

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - this does not affect me so I cant comment

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I have never experienced any situation with this

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - I have no experience of this so don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

makes common sense to operate like this

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - I have no experience of this so don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - I have no experience of this so don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - I have no experience of this so don't feel qualified to comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - I have no experience of this so don't feel qualified to comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/a - I have no experience of this so don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 77:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 78:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

this would not affect me so I don't feel qualified to comment

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

From what I have seen I believe that the proposals being made are a very positive move forward to facilitate couples getting married - whilst it will not change the number of marriages in the community I am in, as we do not believe in living together before marriage... anything done by the government to facilities the institution of marriage being upheld generally is welcomed and I fully support.

From my own personal experience seeing the stress and pressure on couples that have been unable to get married because of Covid19 The changes proposed meaning this could have been avoided.....so it would definitely be welcome

I have also been involved in some overseas marriages and seen the challenges the current system imposes with registering the marriage etc so simplifying and rationalising the process is overdue and welcomed.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

In my opinion, anything that is done to make legal marriage more available to all by reducing cost can only be positive.....as I have heard from many that the cost of getting married is certainly a barrier to a lot of people outside of the community I represent as an approved person.

For ourselves having the wedding ceremony take place in the home will certainly save costs in a number of ways - our registered halls are generally large and cost a lot of money to open up and power etc besides all the extra travelling etc required.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

as above

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I don't have enough experience of this to be able to comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

as above

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I don't have enough experience of this to be able to comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I don't have enough experience of this to be able to comment

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As referred to in my previous answers, I have seen first hand the impact of the current laws on persons travelling from overseas to England to get married.....now it is possible for things to be simply done online, the preliminaries should be done like this.
The residence requirement should be changed/abolished along with the 28 day notice period.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

as above

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no experience in this so can't comment

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I have no experience in this so can't comment

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

For ourselves making it possible for the wedding ceremony to take place in the home will certainly save costs in a number of ways - our registred halls are generally large and cost a lot of money to open up and power etc besides all the extra travelling etc required.

Also for the families involved using the home for this rather than arranging catering etc at a registred building will definitely save a lot of costs and unnecessary stress

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDV3-B

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-29 16:16:55

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

United Kingdom Society of Celebrants

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not married

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not married

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not married

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Most of them postponed.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It makes no sense.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

If concerns were raised, yes a follow up in person interview would be advisable.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Why would it be necessary anywhere else?

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Meet and greet is necessary to confirm who you are.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

No.

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Church wedding is a Religious Ceremony. Keep it as it is.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

None

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Maybe a hymn or song with Religious Connotations

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Local Authority

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Both

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

None

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

All Types

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I have not heard of Religious ceremonies being requested at sea

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD6Y-H

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law

Submitted on 2020-11-29 22:42:04

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Registration Service

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I went through a standard civil ceremony in a lovely Register Office.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Not applicable, our ceremony was just what we wanted.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

As a registrar, I have conducted and registered weddings in the last two months. I am glad that people at least have the option to have a wedding but it does sadden me that face masks and hand sanitisers have had to be part of their big day. However, I and my colleagues have worked tirelessly to ensure the weddings are as meaningful and positive as possible.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This may seem arbitrary but in order for couples to apply to give notice of marriage, there has to be at least a small chance that someone may know if there is a legal reason they shouldn't be married - this is more or less impossible if the couple or one party has been living abroad.

Consultation Question 5:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is very difficult as there are heightened requirements for any wedding involving a non-EU citizen to try and prevent sham weddings.

Also, the information provided by people in the notice interviews gives us chance to ensure the couple know each other and that this is a voluntary union. People also are more likely to enter inaccuracies or incorrect information - this would make the first notices invalid and involve whole new notices being completed at extra cost to the couple.

The notice interview also gives the couple chance to meet a 'real live' registrar and ask any big questions they may have. We also sometimes need to question the couple on more complicated situations, changes of name, previous marriages, foreign divorces etc.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

At least 2 weeks is a reasonable amount of time if both parties are healthy and well. This period used to be 16 calendar days but was extended to give the authorities more time to investigate potential sham weddings. Three or seven days would not be enough time to do this and it seems unfair that one group of people would be expected to wait longer than others.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

We need to see original documents and sometimes request further documents to be presented. I do not see how this would be possible to do remotely. Also, how would we be able to tell if we should be concerned about a forced marriage or sham marriage if we are speaking online - how would we know that this interview is being conducted privately?

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

These circumstances are usually rare but it feels reasonable to have some flexibility regarding people for whom a normal office appointment would be very difficult.

Consultation Question 9:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am not sure how this would work, we alter some details to protect members of law enforcement or armed forces. It may create more situations where people try to interfere with a legal ceremony despite there being no lawful reason the wedding should not take place.

It may however, if done carefully, provide a modern alternative to the strange situation of peoples' notices sometimes being displayed 40 miles away from their home.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason why this shouldn't continue to work.

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Simply not possible. Officiants swap shifts and have family emergencies or are sick at the last minute just as much as professionals in any other field. The idea of having to print paperwork for each ceremony specifying one member of staff that must be there for the ceremony to take place is just not logistically possible and would lead to absolute nightmares on busy ceremony days.

Consultation Question 12:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why complicate matters by having any named celebrants????

Please share your views below:

I believe there are already regulations detailing how to deputise a member of the wedding party to conduct the ceremony should one of the two registrars not be able to attend the wedding.

Consultation Question 13:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason why the banns shouldn't be valid if they are in the district the couple live.

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The rules regarding war damage are obviously of an era that is hopefully over so I don't know if there are any other situations where this would still be relevant.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

As previously stated, I believe the logic dictates that the banns should be read or published in the area the couple live - this increases the, already quite slim, chances that someone may be aware of a legal reason the couple shouldn't be married.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

The question's meaning is a little unclear but I see no reason why clergy members shouldn't be able to play their part in reducing the risk of sham weddings, forced weddings or unlawful weddings.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

I believe this gives us a vital chance to ensure the risks of sham or forced weddings are as low as they can be.

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales; or

Please expand on your answer:

Some British citizens still have a strong religious faith and whether we agree with that or not, it is still the official religion of our country and I don't see why people should have extra paperwork and expense added to their religious ceremony.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I believe it is far safer and more efficient to have two officiants at all legal ceremonies, but these responsibilities are already an important part of our role and an understood duty.

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Smaller churches quite often do not have the capacity to hold their own marriage registers so Registrars are sometimes the logical solution to this situation. We can record the details correctly and for all time, in a register that will be maintained and archived properly, making the record easier to find in years to come.

Consultation Question 21:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This places the officiant at much higher risk in a sometimes volatile situation. It also means that there is no 'safety net' for colleagues supporting each other to ensure all legal requirements are met. The register should be completed during or immediately after the ceremony and this is very difficult, or impossible, for the conducting registrar to do in addition to their existing role, especially on busy ceremony days. Sometimes, on quiet days or in the absence of available staff, the registrars also have to act as ushers to ensure safe crowd control and the management of both parties arrivals. In emergency situations such as health emergencies, having two registration officers is extremely useful.

I personally would really have to think carefully about whether I would be willing to continue in this role if I was expected to work completely alone.

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is more to do with where the register is held, people should have some training and support in this role rather than it being an automatic add on.

Consultation Question 23:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Again, training on the accurate recording of ceremonies and the legal requirements regarding giving notice and ensuring legal ceremonies should be an important part of making this possible.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I don't know how open to abuse this proposal would be...there have been numerous official surveys on peoples' belief systems where Jedi appears in serious numbers. This could leave the system open to farce and mockery.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think this is again very open to potential abuse.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

No-one who is involved in any organisation that is promoting unlawful or immoral values or behaviour should be entrusted with the legally powerful role of assisting in lawful unions.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Again, not everyone is capable of doing this role, some religious or non-religious groups leaders or officials may not be the best people to conduct loving lawful ceremonies. Sometimes their beliefs are in direct contradiction of our laws regarding wedding or civil partnership ceremonies.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We already attempt to keep a list such as this, though it is very difficult to do so accurately.

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The traceability of officiants is essential, the link with the register office engenders a respect of the accuracy of the information recorded and ensures ease in contacting the officiant after the fact should there be a mistake or an omission of any data. Entrusting a ceremony to an independent officiant would mean entrusting them with a register....this could be a massive security risk. If the register wasn't present at the ceremony this would be fraught with difficulties also. How would the register office know that the legal requirements has been met and the information is accurate.

Consultation Question 30:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This is already the situation and I see no practical way to check the capacity of all outside officiants.

Consultation Question 31:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I simply do not believe that people not linked to a register office should be able to conduct a wedding entered into a civil or religious marriage register.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Terrible idea.

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

How on earth would this be checked???

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I do not think independent officials should be able to conduct legally binding ceremonies without the presence of a registrar.

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This question is unclear, time limit on what? How long they are licenced? How long they have to have worked in that field?

Consultation Question 41:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I feel this would be difficult to manage.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage has been a longstanding verbal contract, simple and easily understood by all. I do not think the wheel needs to be reinvented, the consenting 'I do' part of the ceremony is part of the tradition and sometimes is the most recognisable part of the ceremony, especially for parties or guests who don't have English as their first language. The question regarding impediments is there for a reason; so that people knowingly marrying illegally have stated in public, with witnesses that there are no legal reasons they should be married.

Consultation Question 43:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There has to be some way of regulating the conditions under which couples are allowed to perform a legal ceremony and under which registrars and celebrants would be expected to conduct said ceremony. It cannot be expected that each couple's choice potentially might have to be assessed on a case by case basis. Life simply doesn't work in this way. Celebrants need to work in a safe and suitable environment. This is a serious, supposedly lifelong commitment to another person and it should happen somewhere befitting that or it could be open to mockery and trifling situations.

Consultation Question 44:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No special rules but imposing their own requirements sounds contradictory and confusing. A lot of these are based on ceremonies that have come about over many years, is it really necessary to make all of these change?

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think this would muddy the waters slightly, registrars and celebrants may not be religious themselves and would this not seem slightly hypocritical? Also, historically, it was the religious organisations that objected to civil ceremonies being allowed to include religious content, I do not see why they would feel any differently now to then.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This question is very poorly written, but I do not see why couples should not be able to have a religious service following a short civil ceremony as this seems to cover all bases and meets the couples' requirements.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There is a reason behind this, like many of the other conditions that have been in place since 1837. This whole proposal process seems to be throwing the baby out with the bathwater. If someone has a legal objection to a marriage taking place, they must be allowed to voice that objection. Also, we are inundated with late guests that the couple still want to be included in the ceremony, why block this access?

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The dignity and solemnity of the occasion, the weather conditions, common sense and the safety of all concerned does require a certain limitation on 'anywhere'. Conducting health and safety reviews on every single requested location does seem unrealistic.

outdoors,

Please share your views below:

I think outdoors can be done in certain circumstances, safely and with provision for weather conditions. On water, in the air and in private homes all have serious risks associated and all would add to the time the ceremony would involve to travel to and conduct so would unfairly limit who could conduct these events and who could have one.

The risk assessments, travel arrangements and costs involved would suggest that these options could reasonably be avoided without discriminating against individual choice.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The advantages of having these locations as venues for weddings is that they are set up for large groups, they are practiced in fire safety procedures, have appropriate rooms to accommodate individual private interviews, preparation for the celebrants and can assist in the ushering of various parties, musical cues etc. It is a known variable in a sometimes very testing situation for registrars and celebrants. It is also easier from a planning point of view.

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

If the religious or non-religious groups feel that this is appropriate I have no issue with it.

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is not feasible in a registrar's office scenario, many celebrants are part time and would feel great pressure to agree to a potentially unsafe venue to avoid losing out on work and therefore puts an unfair disadvantage on them. It would also encourage a 'every man for themselves' culture amongst potentially independent celebrants. There must be some structure where a recognised, responsible body can give a framework for this to work.

Consultation Question 52:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Officiants have enough responsibilities for their already meagre salary. This level of responsibility cannot be expected to be upheld by one person alone.

No

Please expand on your answer:

How would this system be policed? How would people's interpretations on this guidance be managed? How would this not result in a competitive cheapening of the importance of this occasion? If officiants are effectively self-employed, someone would always be desperate enough for work to agree to nonsense.

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This again seems overly complicated and only replicates part of the existing system.

Please share your views below:

Not applicable.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

A simple amendment to the existing marriage registers to include mothers / other parents' names and occupations would surely tick all these boxes.

Consultation Question 55:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This again seems overly complicated, how do you ensure that the guests will understand, the witnesses will understand, that an officiant would always be available with the relevant language skills....

Consultation Question 56:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Every district up and down the UK has technology issues, week in and week out. The existing system went down for over 2 weeks, leaving absolute chaos in its wake. I wouldn't trust the system to be reliable enough for perpetuity. Records still exist in a legible, accessible and reliable format from almost 200 years ago. No electronic system has been anywhere near that reliable in any known office. A physical record, backed up by an electronic system to make retrieval of data easier surely is the best solution for all.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This again seems like overcomplicating the existing system with no benefits...

No

Please expand on your answer:

I agree that it would be helpful to have some flexibility in the marriage authorities accuracy to avoid marriages having to be postponed over small non-essential typos etc.

But witnesses are there for a reason, they can create an extra level of security and reassurance that this is a legal ceremony, and not open to fraud. The signing of the schedule or 'making a mark' again confirms who was there, it gives a real personal connection to marriages conducted generations ago, it also forms part of people's understanding that this is a legally binding contract.

Consultation Question 58:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This question makes little sense, why would these things not result in the officiant refusing to go ahead?

Consultation Question 59:

No

Please expand on your answer:

What?? As far as I am aware there is already no requirement for couples to co-habit? Many live apart because of work etc...

No

Please expand on your answer:

This already is not the case. Co-habiting partners are not allowed to be recorded as husband or wife on death certificates if not legally married to the deceased. Common law wives or husbands do not exist in law.

Consultation Question 60:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Abolished and replaced with what? An unlimited amount of time? A shorter amount of time? This point is unclear.

Consultation Question 61:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is just one example of why officiants should not be operating independently of registration services.... It is a potential can of worms for misleading and defrauding people.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I feel that there will always be a need for so-called 'deathbed' weddings and anything that can be reasonably done to make this and similar situations straightforward whilst still avoiding opportunities for malicious misuse would be supported by all.

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is so dependent on the circumstances; if the diagnosis is that the person will be alive and able to take part in a marriage in hours, days, weeks or months.... The existing system is compassionate and responsible and officiants bend over backwards to give everyone what they want, whenever they can.

Consultation Question 64:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This can put extra pressure on local authorities but I would support anything reasonable that would speed and aid the process.

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason why a change of circumstances should result in invalid marriage authorities.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I feel this is massively open to abuse, apart from extending documents beyond a national emergency.

No

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Again, massively open to abuse, some medical evidence has to be required surely?

Consultation Question 68:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason in a time of peace why this is necessary it adds so many extra complications for no real advantage...

Consultation Question 69:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The maintenance of records, the availability of correctly trained officiants, the upkeep of common standards and the potential risks here seem to outweigh any advantage.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No, please see above.

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is so open to fraud and abuse it is just not worth the risks...

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The maintenance of accurate records and adherence to the laws regarding marriages should not be seen as simply another duty added on to someone's main job as crew on a ship. This is so open to the watering down of rules and regs with no real ability to check up on this.

No

Please expand on your answer:

This just seems to be overly complicated with no real advantage.

No

Please expand on your answer:

Again, overly complicated with no real plus points.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I see no reason in a time of peace for this to be required.

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Again, massively open to abuse, how would this be policed, who would check up on this, who would be responsible for checking - by district? Far too complicated.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Unfairly prohibitive.

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Any fees should be compassionately set.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As above, all fees should be compassionately set.

Consultation Question 78:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Who decides what is reasonable here and what is discriminatively expensive...?

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why is this any better to the existing system??

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This doesn't take into account travel expenses, what affect this will have on staff rota's - yet more complications as to how many weddings can be carried out over a shift and how long needs to be left between ceremonies.

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This question is very poorly worded but any fees charged by authorities regarding weddings should be reasonable and based on cost recovery with a small area for potential profit to help support other sections of councils.

Consultation Question 82:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Fees currently are much lower for housebound than for approved premises such as hotels and grand venues and that is how it should stay.

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

I feel some fee is reasonable but it should be as low as humanly possible.

Consultation Question 84:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I disagree with the principal of independent, self employed officiants conducting legal ceremonies.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I do not think, professionally or personally, that the current law discourages couples from getting married. I have been married in this country, it was all organised in under 6 months and we were able to invite over a hundred people to the actual ceremony and still only incur costs of about £370 for the ceremony part of the day. This is less than many spend on their dress. The simple ceremony is available to those who want or are financially limited to it and this is quite inexpensive in the grand scheme of things. The cost of certificates is now extortionate though.

I do not feel any of the new proposals add much, the ability to have a legal ceremony outdoors in a suitable venue is maybe the only plus point I can see.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Approved premises are expensive but they are optional. Most people have access to a reasonable registration office however.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None really.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I feel most registration offices have a good relationship with approved premises, both being as flexible as they can to make it work.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I do feel quality, accuracy and responsible officiating is massively at risk in these new proposals with no real advantage.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current laws seem to work most of the time.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

None I can see.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I don't see any obvious impact.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

People can already choose which district to have a civil ceremony in. I see no massive advantage.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I see no real effect.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I see no real advantage that outweighs the potential risks.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

All of this seems a desperate attempt to scrap everything and replace it with more complicated and less reliable guidelines.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDVD-V

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-30 14:21:48

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

UKSOC

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

[REDACTED]

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Married in a church 1983

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Celebrants were not easily available and getting married could only happen in church or at a registry office. These venues do not allow for unique celebrations and actively stifled personal expression.

There were limited and ignored my desire to marry in a beautiful room in a family home.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

3 friends have cancelled weddings as they could not have the number of guests needed. 2 of them would have liked to be married quietly at home and celebrate later but registry offices were shut and personal celebrants do not have the legal right to declare a marriage.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This time allows for checks to be made to ensure that both parties are legally able to marry and both willing to do so - no one is coerced or participating in a sham wedding.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This allows for checks to be made to ensure that both parties are legally able to marry and both willing to do so - no one is coerced or participating in a sham wedding.

This will allow any other person to state if this is not a legal marriage and prevent fake weddings.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

This reduced time allows for checks to be made to ensure that both parties are legally able to marry and both willing to do so - no one is coerced or participating in a sham wedding. The short time creates a safer time buffer to prevent others standing in for couples and prevents illegal immigration opportunities.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

All interviews should be face-to-face to prevent of screen coercion and ensure the identity as far as possible of the true participants.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Notice should be given in Scotland and Northern Ireland too as part of the UK. This allows for checks to be made to ensure that both parties are legally able to marry and both willing to do so - no one is coerced or participating in a sham wedding.

This will allow any other person to state if this is not a legal marriage and prevent fake weddings.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This allows for checks to be made to ensure that both parties are legally able to marry and both willing to do so - no one is coerced or participating in a sham wedding.

This will allow any other person to state if this is not a legal marriage and prevent fake weddings.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Many weddings are cancelled at short notice for personal reasons and rearrangements can begin when ready and this formality would already be done.

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not if 12 months is allowed. Celebrants may be booked and then unable to perform the ceremony as planned so need to seek another celebrant.

Naming a substitute means that person is booked and cannot be booked by someone else but may have to turn couples away whilst not actually be used on the day.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See previous answer.

Please share your views below:

Yes. They are trained and qualified to work in all capacities a 'legal' celebrant would be involved with.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There are no banns in Scotland. They are not necessary for a wedding in England.

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If banns are made public using social media then there will be no issue with this.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Banns should be made public in Council Websites and other forms of social media as they will reach more people and as many people do not want to marry in a church, it is irrelevant to many couples. It is also offensive to many couples who have no faith.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes, This allows for checks to be made to ensure that both parties are legally able to marry and both willing to do so - no one is coerced or participating in a sham wedding.

This will allow any other person to state if this is not a legal marriage and prevent faked weddings.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes. This allows for checks to be made to ensure that both parties are legally able to marry and both willing to do so - no one is coerced or participating in a sham wedding.

This will allow any other person to state if this is not a legal marriage and prevent faked weddings.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

This would cover all faiths and beliefs and non-faith couples. This allows for checks to be made to ensure that both parties are legally able to marry and both willing to do so - no one is coerced or participating in a sham wedding.
This will allow any other person to state if this is not a legal marriage and prevent faked weddings.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

A fully trained wedding celebrant should be able to legally perform this role.

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

A fully trained wedding celebrant should be able to legally perform this role.

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not necessary as a fully trained wedding celebrant should be able to legally perform this role.

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This is in addition to a fully trained wedding celebrant who should be able to legally perform this role. Both should not be required at the ceremony - one or the other.

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Couples should be allowed to choose their own officiant and a fully trained wedding celebrant should be able to legally perform this role.

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This would be discriminatory against couples who have no belief in any system or form of formal teaching.

Please share your views below:

This would allow couples with beliefs or no beliefs to choose who, when and where they are to be married. The lists would be of qualified officiants - clergy or qualified celebrants.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would allow couples with beliefs or no beliefs to choose who, when and where they are to be married. The lists would be of qualified officiants - clergy or qualified celebrants.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes. To allow non-religious belief organisations from nominating officiants if the organisation promotes purposes that are unlawful or contrary to public policy or morality goes against the grain of humanity regardless of faith.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would prevent rogue 'celebrants' conducting sham weddings and forces weddings and keep vulnerable individuals safe.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would prevent rogue 'celebrants' conducting sham weddings and forces weddings.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Fully trained celebrants should only be allowed to conduct ceremonies.

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Fully trained celebrants should only be allowed to conduct ceremonies.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage is a legal and binding state no matter what words are used and the importance of this situation should be treated lightly.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Celebrants have many views. Couples often seek a celebrant because they want a particular activity at their wedding or particular slant on the ceremony. Some want a religious angle but can't express their individualism in a church setting. Others want no religious part at all. Either aspect of the ceremonies performed can be performed by a celebrant.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But this should not stifle the individuality that make couples seek the support of a celebrant in the first place.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Some couples want a blessing or prayer as part of their ceremony and this is acceptable to many celebrants.

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This will not be necessary if celebrants are legally able to perform weddings. If couples wish an additional religious element that should remain their option.

Consultation Question 47:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In a church they should remain public but elsewhere they should be private.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

All should be allowed as legal places as it should be the person conducting the ceremony that makes it legal and not the venue.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

No

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Only religious ceremonies should take place in religious venues as a mark of respect to the faith.

However, couples may want to incorporate aspects of their faith into their ceremonies as well as unique elements that a faith may not allow in a faith building. If two different faiths are marrying then a non religious venue allows for a mixed style of ceremony.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The usual H&S guidelines should abide.

Please share your views below:

The venue should provide a risk assessment form as many places already do.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

These elements are what make it a legal so should not be dismissed.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If a legal ceremony has not taken place, the couple are not married.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Prisoners should not be allowed to marry.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Training must be in place and a recognised qualification required to preform a legal ceremony.

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Prisoners who will be in gaol for longer than the 12 month period should not be granted a schedule.

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Remote activities are open to abuse. Couples, especially females, are vulnerable to coercion and marriage against their will. Immigration situations will be compromised and sham weddings will flourish.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Only for National Emergencies.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Only for National Emergencies.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Pleasure cruisers, Armed forces vessels

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

At the discretion of the couples concerned.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

This should be at the discretion of the celebrant.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As previously stated - the venue should complete a H&S form and have correct insurance documentation on display.

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Celebrants should be legally allowed to preform wedding ceremonies.

Consultation Question 81:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Celebrants should be legally allowed to preform wedding ceremonies.

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Celebrants should be legally allowed to preform wedding ceremonies and set their own fees.

Consultation Question 84:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Couples can contact celebrants in any way they choose because Celebrants should be legally allowed to preform wedding ceremonies.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Many couples do not get married legally because they do not want the formal constraints that local authorities and the law puts on them. Same sex couples are deterred by the difficulties they face from local authorities. Celebrants should be legally allowed to preform wedding ceremonies as we can deliver exactly what people want in venues of their choice. These are often more meaningful ceremonies that draw all members of the families together.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law is stifling and costly. Couples who I marry have to marry at a registry office before my ceremony. This increases costs and takes more time. My couples want to marry in places that are very personal to them and their life experiences and are often not allowed to. As faith declines the desire to marry in a church where individualism is crushed becomes less attractive. Those who do want a religious element want to write their own prayers as these are more meaningful and come from the heart. I have conducted a wedding of mixed faiths. The couple concerned were not permitted to marry in their own religious venues. The ceremony we wrote together combined their values and principles. These met with elders agreement and although not a legally binding ceremony - was a beautiful, meaningful and extremely personal.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Couples will have the choice and freedom to completely express their love for each other in a place of their choosing with time and costs reduced. Ceremonies include special activities that promote family unity and serve to bring everyone together as they are written with the wishes of everyone in mind.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

The cost and time implications speak for themselves. Time is an issue. If the registered venue is booked then couples have to look elsewhere and this comes back to getting married at a venue that is meaningful to couples. Business that have facilities for weddings or a desire to hold weddings are prohibited from doing so.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

If celebrants are legally allowed to conduct ceremonies in any safe venue then the business opportunity made available to the whole of society are endless. Not waiting for Government pre-approval or the availability of registration officers for civil weddings will result in increased numbers of weddings and an increase in business for a variety of venues.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Couples are tied to venues times and registrars availability and this causes unnecessary angst.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Changes in the law would open up some amazing buildings within our local authority to be used as wedding venues. This would bring a new lease of life to some buildings. The Registrars office is often overwhelmed with work and this would release some of that pressure.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

This is causing some issues as some authorities do not accept cross border paper work - despite being the UK. In England some areas still demand banns to be read in Scotland and this has not been necessary since the 1970s residents of England and Wales travelling to other jurisdictions to get married - would allow couples to marry in areas that are meaningful to them. This would increase business in some areas as they would become popular areas for weddings to happen.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

residents of overseas jurisdictions travelling to England and Wales to get married - as before but caution would be needed in order to prevent immigration issues.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

No view

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Couples would be able to be married by a celebrant of their choice conducting a ceremony of their writing.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Government and local authorities - there would be a loss in revenue of officiating at weddings but there will be an increase in the availability of good venues for ceremonies businesses - the hospitality industry would be able to develop further and specialise accordingly to provide bespoke occasions.

religious (and non-religious belief) organisations - both organisations already make their requirements clear. There will be a reduction in money made by the church as less people will marry in a church.

independent officiants; and / or couples - if celebrant ceremonies are legalised there will be an increase in weddings. These will give couples the weddings they really desire.

The cost to couples will give better value for money as the package they are purchasing covers all legalities. Couples would prefer celebrants to be able to perform a legal ceremony.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDVY-H

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-30 16:24:22

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Institute of Professional Celebrants

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As an organisation representing celebrants who cannot legally marry couples in the UK at present we have many members who have to navigate their couples through the process of having a legally recognised ceremony, usually the minimum statutory ceremony at their local Register Office, before having the ceremony of their choice with their celebrant. This creates a sense of confusion amongst the guests and couple.

As an example:

My wife and I had a celebrant led wedding ceremony on August [REDACTED] This ceremony was held in our garden with about 30 guests. It represented who we are, our beliefs (not within a recognised religious or atheist system) and values. The following day we went to our local Register Office and had the 2+2 ceremony. It had taken me several attempts to get the Register Office to agree to the minimum ceremony and not "upsell" us to something bigger. They did not want to give us the option.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In my personal example I had explained to my wife and our witnesses that the ceremony on the 27th was not legally binding and in fact effectively had to be hidden from the registrar on the 28th so that they did not prevent us from having the legal marriage on that day.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, so that we could have the deeply personal ceremony of our choice at the location of our choice and minimise expense.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Because we followed our ceremony with a legal marriage there are no consequences.

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

The current system makes the assumption that one is either happy to have a legal ceremony devoid of personalisation, or to have a religious ceremony. In either option the cost can be huge because licensed venues know they can charge.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

As a celebrant I have seen mine and all of my colleagues businesses decimated this year. We know of couples who have had to cancel and reschedule six or seven times as restrictions have changed.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will open up the possibility of destination weddings in the UK to overseas couples and UK couples greatly increasing the choice available.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Online makes so much more sense especially if this is then searchable. At present the assumption that a paper notice in a Register Office allows members of the public to object to potential problems (bigamy etc) is archaic.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Once the in-person interview has taken place there should be no need for delay.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

An appropriate power to include. If in the future, it is needed then this power could kick in and really assist couples at that time. Yes, a face to face interview option is necessary where a sham or forced marriage was suspected.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

To stop these existing exceptions would restrict some couples and go against the proposals to make the process of marrying easier.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The current system is out of date and inappropriate. Notices displayed in Register Offices are hardly looked at. A far more suitable and accessible system would be online.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

- 1) The officiant should be named so that it can be clarified that they are authorised.
- 2) Yes definitely, a revised schedule detailing the new officiant should be provided in cases where a couple changes their celebrant, but the system of doing this needs to be speedy and straightforward.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Other instances could include: Family emergency, death or illness of close family member, domestic crisis and there will be others. However existing celebrants mostly already operate with a circle of colleagues for just such emergency and unforeseen situations and are therefore likely to be able to locate a substitute authorised officiant in these cases.

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Disagree – Comment – The proposals seek to make the process easier so a wider view in making it possible to have banns read anywhere is preferred. Surely a unified system where banns (Anglican) and notices (everyone else) are posted on the same online system would make sense and have the best possibility of exposing fraud.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

- 1) Disagree – Comment – This would be extremely difficult to implement as infrastructure lacking to carry out such checks. It would be extremely burdensome.
- 2) Disagree – Comment – This would seem to be against the aim of simplifying the process.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Surely the rules for Anglican wedding and other legal marriage should be similar. Whether the priest or a registrar does the interview the resources available and skill at interviewing should be the same.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

Surely the rules for Anglican wedding and other legal marriage should be similar. Whether the priest or a registrar does the interview the resources available and skill at interviewing should be the same. It seems that the best way of achieving this is for the preliminaries to be performed by a suitably trained registrar.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It will be important that all authorised officiants are clear about how consent is given and that they have undergone the mandatory training on their rights and responsibilities. The resulting system would be far more straightforward than the existing.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

When considering 'overlap', there is an inevitable question about whether registration officers can also act as independent celebrants. This gives rise to many further questions. Could they legally be prevented from doing so? Should they not be permitted to operate outside their local authority employer's area? Should they be allowed to use their current or ex-registrar status to promote themselves as independent celebrants?

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will provide cost saving for Local Authorities and couples as there is no need for two officiants.

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, but their status as an officiant of the Anglican church must therefore limit their venues to be those of the Anglican church

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

And in both cases a public list should be made available so that couples can check that their chosen celebrant is nominated.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

'Secular' needs defining carefully.

The suggested definition is probably the best available at the present time, however there is a concern around a definition for organisations calling themselves 'non-religious belief' organisations. If the definition is too loose then numerous such organisations with dubious frameworks will spring up in order to be able to conduct legal marriages. If the definition is too tight then it will deter genuine organisations. HUK's membership of the National Secular Society (NSS) contradicts their professed position of being a non-religious belief organisation.

Please share your views below:

A list is very difficult to draw up and there will always be exceptions, the emphasis needs to be on criteria for becoming such an organisation.

Consultation Question 25:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

20 seems inexplicably low. In this case it is possible for a tiny group of people with extreme beliefs to start marrying people without sufficient oversight.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Absolutely

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

There are different ways of seeing this. If they nominate by office held, the officiant is automatically 'off the list' as soon as they leave office. The burden on these organisations keeping very up to date lists in practice may be impossible, although probably better in theory.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Reasons include:

Gives couples a much-needed choice in who conducts their wedding ceremony.

Celebrants can include different cultural and faith elements in a ceremony that can be tailored to the couple's exact needs especially couples from mixed or non-standard belief backgrounds.

Numbers of celebrants are increasing as couples want this choice.

Celebrants having the ability to conduct legal marriage will attract more couples to get married, as they can have the ceremony they want.

Financially, celebrants are increasing in number so to allow them to conduct legal marriage will grow the sector still further, including attracting couples from overseas.

England and Wales is out of step (and far behind) other countries where independent celebrants have been successfully conducting legal marriages for years.

This would make the countries of the UK more similar in how marriages are conducted.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Guidance on what is "fit and proper" is also needed

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The mandatory training provided by the Registrar General's Office will be very important. The Wedding Celebrancy Commission represents celebrants in England and Wales and offers any assistance to the Registrar General's Office in creating the mandatory training that will be required. 5 WCC Executive Council members train celebrants mainly in the UK but some across the English-speaking world.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is important to recognise that for many independent celebrants this is their primary income and so an artificial limit on fees would present a barrier to entry and restrict choice and quality. A properly functioning market in independent celebrants already exists.

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Defining 'dignity' and 'solemnity' is difficult as it is viewed differently by individuals. However, this needs clarity and breaking it down into elements such as appropriate clothing, wording and actions may be helpful in defining the guidance on this. The Wedding Celebrancy Commission offers to help with information on what may be viewed as appropriate.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The Wedding Celebrancy Commission offers to assist with information on potential additional elements of CPD.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The wording of this proposal should be updated to include independent celebrants.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

This is a huge can of worms. Probably best not to give examples.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

For faith/belief groups they should maintain a register of pre-approved locations. For independent celebrants their authorising organisation should keep such a register. The Wedding Celebrancy Commission may keep an overarching register for all independent celebrants.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Although I agree with what I understand this to mean I'm not sure I fully understand the intent of this statement.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This is less useful than it might at first seem. Most cruise ships are registered under flags of convenience and not on the UK Ship Register. An alternative might be for the cruise ship owner to register their vessel as a registered marriage venue regardless of its flag. This would also potentially allow for airlines to register their aircraft as registered venues allowing for marriages to be undertaken in the sky as well as on water.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

ferries, yachts, cruisers, military vessels, aircraft.

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The name of the celebrant should be included. If it is important on UK soil then it is just as important in international waters.

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Perhaps maritime officiants should belong to one of the UK celebrancy organisations under the Wedding Celebrancy Commission umbrella.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

But the paperwork can be transmitted electronically so perhaps the fixed timescale can remain.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1) The Wedding Celebrancy Commission believes that current law discourages couples from marrying. Civil marriage processes are currently bureaucratic, lengthy and complicated and couples don't always understand them. Register office access and appointments are often difficult for couples under the current system. Venue limitations means that couples cannot have their wedding in a location personal to them, such as their parent's home. A couple pays high fees in many cases to hire an approved venue or attend a register office for a statutory ceremony which is highly restricted. Costs have become far too high in approved venues for couples under current law so many will not in fact marry because of this. If a celebrant - led ceremony is required then couples also have to hold two events, usually on different days. The Wedding Celebrancy Commission has a vast amount of research and information about the difficulties couples experience with this system - couples really dislike this system and want just one event. Couples want more choice in the content and more personal content. They might want to reflect differing cultures, recognising their backgrounds and want the content to be totally personal and unique. Who can marry a couple is highly restricted under the current law. Couples cannot have an independent celebrant or a person from a non-religious belief organisation conduct their legal marriage. Therefore, they are less likely to marry at all. The current law is old and inappropriate in many areas and is out of step with marriage law in much of the rest of the world and our fellow UK Citizens in Scotland and Northern Ireland.

2) Undoubtedly lifting the current legal restrictions as per the proposals in this document will result in the effects listed in 1) above and more couples will choose to marry.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Discuss - All members of the Wedding Celebrancy Commission are in regular contact with practicing wedding celebrants and have numerous examples about how availability and costs of register office weddings affects couples. Stephanie Pywell's research into 2x2 weddings supports this.

It difficult to book a 2 x 2 marriage, and virtually impossible to find any details on many council websites. Couples really do have be very determined to get one of these ceremonies, which it is their legal right to have!

Very limited dates, times and locations are available in many areas and the practice of deregistering marriage rooms and, making them approved venues and charging high fees for their hire happens in many local authority areas.

2) Approved venues pay fees to be 'approved' and checked as a venue suitable for legal marriage. These additional costs are then passed on to couples and they have to have a certain number of weddings to justify these costs. So only larger and more expensive venues are usually 'approved premises', restricting choice for couples.

If couples choose a non-approved venue, they must hold two events to become legally married. Not a good choice for couples.

3) The costs of marrying in registered places of worship:
This is really a matter for the various religious organisations as the costs incurred will vary enormously.

4) Couples can hold a ceremony that is not legal, such as a celebrant-led ceremony, in non-approved venues plus the register office 2 x 2 ceremony. This is costly but still could be cheaper for couples than having the whole event at a venue approved for legal marriage. The cost implications are currently a minefield for couples.

5) Forcing couples to have to have two events is more expensive for couples, travel costs etc. It is more difficult to arrange and decide who should attend. Couples do not like this system.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1) Register office weddings will still be available under these proposals. Some couples will want the statutory only ceremony.

The removal of 'approved venues', means that the deregulated marriage rooms offered by local authorities will become more subject to market forces as these local authority owned ex-marriage rooms will have to compete in the wedding venue market as any other room for hire.

2) This will lead to large cost savings for couples. Many couples will choose a private home or outdoor location for their wedding.

3) Without the need to travel to have a separate legal ceremony or have registrars attend a venue just to do the legal formalities, couples will experience large cost savings.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1) The current law is expensive for couples. Approved venues are expensive. The costs of venues are so high that it prevents couples going ahead with marriages.

2) Two registrars attending a wedding at a weekend is costly, but many couples believe they have no other choice. Registrar availability is limited, and dates need to be booked often years in advance to ensure a couple can have the time and date they require.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

1) For venues to be able to host weddings without lengthy and complicated pre-approval processes is by far a preferred system for couples, for all venues and for the wedding industry as a whole. The flexibility this will provide is exactly what is needed. It will make currently unavailable locations freely available and open up choice for couples.

2) Registration officers should become more available to conduct weddings as there will only be one registrar required.

3) This will have a huge impact for couples and the wedding industry as a whole. In particular, independent celebrants work alongside couples in professional, creative and flexible ways, by allowing freedom of location, couples will truly be able to have the wedding that they want to have, where they want it, not that which is just what they can have under the current restrictions.

4) Undoubtedly the wedding industry, with venues alone thought to be worth currently £5 billion p.a. (upwards of 1/3 of the value of the £15 billion wedding industry per annum) will grow rapidly in terms of number of venues hosting weddings if these proposals are implemented.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The current law allows local authorities to charge high fees for hiring decommissioned marriage rooms and for registrars attending approved venues to conduct marriages. The income from approved venues will be less under these proposals.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Whilst fees from approved venues may be less, local authorities will be able to offer a less restricted service themselves. They will be able to conduct weddings in other locations including outdoors and be a more attractive choice to couples who may choose to use their service, without being compelled to do so. Additionally, there are other elements of these proposals, such as the organising of a pre-approved location listing where new income will be received.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1) The current law continues to drive couples away from England and Wales to other countries to marry, not least Scotland. For all the reasons set out in this document, marrying here is not an easy process and does not give couples the choice they currently demand.

2) Current law in England and Wales is not inviting to couples. Being able to get married how they wish, in places they wish, is too restricted and the current residency laws put off a lot of couples.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1) Freeing up who can conduct marriages, the locations they can be held and establishing simpler preliminaries will greatly reduce the number of couples travelling elsewhere to marry.

2) The attractiveness of England and Wales as a wedding destination under these proposals will escalate hugely. It will become easier to marry here and have the type of wedding required in any location.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Currently couples are prevented from being legally married on ships if they are in international waters. This reduces this market sector considerably and does not attract ships to be registered in the UK.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The effect on the maritime industry and ships being registered in the UK can only be positive in all respects if these proposals are implemented.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1) The Office of the Registrar General will incur administrative costs in setting up a system for authorising nominated officiants. However, fees charged should more than cover this and contribute to other much needed funding requirements.

Local authorities will save by only using one registrar to conduct a marriage and this will be more cost effective. They will lose the approved venue fees but will be able to charge for setting up the pre-authorised venues listing and have more opportunity to promote their wedding services in wider locations.

2) All businesses in the wedding industry will benefit from these proposals as they give greater flexibility of venue and will attract more couples from overseas to marry here. New businesses will also be encouraged to set up.

3) It is certainly the case that 'proper' non-religious belief organisations will benefit from these proposals as, if implemented, people with those views will be able to have the ceremony they wish.

4) Independent celebrants are a growing market sector of mainly self-employed small businesses. Conservatively estimated turnover on weddings of £46 million pa (3700 celebrants conducting 25 ceremonies p.a. @ £500 per). This will increase if these proposals are accepted. Celebrants who become authorised officiants will grow their businesses. Demand already exists from couples for celebrant-led ceremonies, reflecting how many there are now practicing. The volume of ceremonies conducted by celebrants will increase, again conservatively estimated as 40% in the first full year. This will improve the financial situation of hundreds of small businesses in England and Wales.

5) Couples undoubtedly benefit financially more than anyone if these proposals are implemented as couples would then be able to have the wedding they want with the person they want leading it and for a cost they THEY determine.

They will save money by not having to use approved venues, many will use private homes and outside locations and the cost saving will be huge for them in just location costs. They will not have to pay for two registrars to attend their ceremony or have two ceremonies at different locations. They will benefit hugely!

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDVX-G

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-11-30 17:59:01

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] - I am independent but also a member of UKSOC

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am married. The ceremony was in a church with a registrar present for the legal documentation.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

At the time it was important to me to be married in reflection of my faith (Catholicism). Although I don't have this strong faith today if I was to get married I would want it to be personal and with someone that really knew my husband and myself so that they would be able to talk about us rather than the legal binding. Even the priest could do this!

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

They have been very limited and many have been cancelled. Although the ceremony has been similar, the atmosphere has not been the same due to the numbers and this has been an emotional challenge for the couple too.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This makes no sense to me as it doesn't have any long term standing.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In the modern world this seems more appropriate and flexible.

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

This seems reasonable for the couples and also the interviewer. It would also allow time for any queries raised to be addressed.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

This seems reasonable, again with the developments in modern technology it would possibly make this process easier for couples and interviewers.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Perhaps if there were some legal concerns about the officiant the substitute could be given permission to act on the day?

Consultation Question 13:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I believe the simpler the process the more people will be inclined to get married.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

No as many people today do not attend one church for their life. Often people choose a church because of the setting!

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I think the wording of a 'secular belief system' is off-putting as it suggests a set of beliefs, which secularism is not about. Secularism is about humanity, love, compassion and truth searching and then interpreting that individually, whilst also supporting one another.

It needs to be more inclusive:

An organisation that professes a secular belief that claims to explain humanity's nature and relationship to one another and the universe, and to encourage its adherents to live their lives in conformity with their understanding associated with their secular beliefs.

Please share your views below:

I would say things that have no substance or have only been established on a temporary basis.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is important for the up keeping of the the institution of marriage that there is a level of training, education and accountability.

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This is fine in terms of the legal requirements, but it should not be limiting in terms of expression of beliefs, e.g. other elements and rituals the couple might wish to have in their ceremony.

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Q37 & 38 need to be consistent with one another.

Either the General Register Office has the power to monitor and de-authorise

OR

the named organisation has this power.

There will need to be consistency in achieving and maintaining these standards.

Consultation Question 38:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Q37 & 38 need to be consistent with one another.

Either the General Register Office has the power to monitor and de-authorise

OR

the named organisation has this power.

There will need to be consistency in achieving and maintaining these standards.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In theory yes, although it would depend on the financial obligation on the officiant.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

marriage vows
blessings/readings
hymns

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I don't believe so.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

In accordance with the General Registry

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This should be done before the wedding so that the signatures are the final thing to be put on it. That way the couple check all is correct and it keeps its status as a legal document.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

perhaps the time scale for the preliminaries?

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In theory yes but the 'emergency' would need to be very clearly defined to avoid fraud etc.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

I am not sure about this as I don't have enough experience of different vessels.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I don't have enough experience to comment on this.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am unsure about this because I thought the idea was that all weddings would now be civil weddings, but that they could take place in other venues and with independent celebrants? So i would be reluctant to keep civil weddings in register offices without that being opened up to approved independent officiants.

Consultation Question 78:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I don't see how this is necessary. Once a venue has been approved it will be put on the list and that will be set. Most venues are known already.

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Again, why are venues already known to host weddings being asked to pay to be put on a pre-approved list? We already know they host weddings and do a great job, so it would seem like they are being punished.

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In some ways I do as it would enable independent celebrants to be able to offer this service and be able to do the legal bits too (provided the government approve this). However, if we can all be open to offer the same service and work together then I wouldn't want to see a registration officer limited in this way.

Consultation Question 81:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I would need to see the real monetary value of this before I gave a definite view.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

People are discouraged from marriage as they are often unaware of the choices that are out there if they don't want a religious service.

I would like to see, with the potential changes in law, a real push to the communities to show them the choices that are available.

In the weddings I have done the couple always say how they didn't even realise they could do their own things (independent celebrant) and they love the freedom and choices these ceremonies allow, in comparison to a registry office or with a registrar.

I believe that these new proposals will re-ignite marriage in England today.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. Availability is very tight and restrictive.
2. Cost can be very high
3. Limiting if you are not truly religious but want a nice venue (as apposed to a registry office)
4. This impacts the legality of the service and then having to book a 'second' ceremony can seem tiresome.
5. Completely pointless!

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

1. The pressure should be relieved in terms of time.
2. Much more flexibility for couples and also potential venues.
3. Time, money and effort will be saved in being able to have all these sections completed at the same event (which is the one thing the couple want).

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

I have no experience of this.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Overall this will increase the capacity for venues to have weddings and give officiants more opportunity to give couples what they want.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I'm afraid I can't comment on this.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I am unable to comment on this.

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As said already the increase in flexibility in the modern world will be well received by many potential couples.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

As said already the increase in flexibility in the modern world will be well received by many potential couples.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I cannot comment on this.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I cannot comment on this.

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

1. More business opportunities should outweigh the initial cost in providing training to independent officiants.
2. Increase in weddings
3. Much the same (possible continued downward trend but this is to do with belief rather than marriage)
4. Increase in efficiency for the couple as they have the potential to re-train and do the legal side of the ceremony too.
5. More efficient service from their officiant and having everything completed by one person on the one day.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD96-H

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-01 16:47:50

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Carnival UK

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

At present cruise ships are unable to conduct in port weddings in the UK for guests, which would open a new opportunity for guests to legally get married in another location. This is furthermore positive as guests that may not be travelling with the bride or groom could still witness the wedding and disembark afterwards.

However we understand that this would have to be conducted by a land based officiant, which would make this logistically a little more difficult. Would have a preference here for it to be able to be conducted by an officiant on board.

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

At present we have ships in the fleet we are unable to conduct weddings on due to the ships registration. Being able to conduct weddings would influence choice of registration and additionally open a huge amount of opportunity for our guests that which to marry on certain vessels.

Post discussion we would like all international waters to be considered, as to whether the ship can still conduct weddings being in all types of international waters regardless of the port of embarkation. We feel the registration of the ship should be the main consideration as opposed to the embarkation port, so long as guests meet legal and immigration requirements and have completed their pre-ceremony documentation and meeting with a UK registrar.

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Our guests will always have selected and booked a vessel of choice, therefore making this requirement one that is already met by us as the cruise line. The officiant is difficult to name due to unforeseen surrounding circumstances that may arise where a change in officiant happens before the wedding, therefore agree that the couple should not be required to give the name of the officiant.

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The captain and deputy captain should be the only officers able to marry on board vessels and therefore the only ones to be authorised by the registrar general as maritime officiants. This should be limited for a) the guest experience and couples ceremony, having the captain conduct a ceremony is very special. B) Having all crew being able to conduct ceremonies logistically would not be best for the ships operation. Having the captain or their deputy conduct a ceremony keeps the ceremony very official and there should be a limited number of maritime officiants on board that are able to conduct these official legal processes. Additionally we would want to mitigate any ill practice that could occur.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Rules and regulation surrounding conducting weddings on board should be kept much the same as those on land to ensure rigor and that we don't introduce new complexities.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This again keeps in line with land based legislation and ensures only officiants can conduct weddings on board a vessel.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

There is a demand for religious weddings, of which is very limited. We only get approached with this by a very small number of guests each year. To be able to conduct a religious ceremony would need further protocol and a process in place for this to take place and a religious officiant to come on board a vessel. Alternatively the majority of weddings on vessels are towards non-religious weddings.

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDVM-5

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-01 16:59:33

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

[REDACTED]

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

n/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

At all times identity and confirmation of such should be paramount.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Preliminaries should help rather than hinder a couple in the process of arranging a wedding

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

What purpose would be served to read Banns in another church ?

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

In this respect the same rules should apply as in a civil ceremony

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The registration service has held the monopoly over couples for too long and do not always represent the best value for money or provide the best service.

In a private sector the registration would probably be subject to the monopolies commission .

In keeping with many other countries - this section of the marriage must be open to others

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This gives the church dual purpose, where trained and qualified celebrants are not even on the first rung of this ladder

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If the governing authority is the local authority/ register office - they have a conflict of interest in maintaining the status quo and therefore a lucrative income stream

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is another limitation against celebrants

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In keeping with many other countries throughout the world - The church of England and registration service should not hold the monopoly on conducting legal weddings

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This should be done by the General Register Office

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

No

Please expand on your answer:

CPD should be a GRO department.

Otherwise, as long as the officiant is complying with marriage law, the requirements of the title and conducting themselves in a fit and proper manner - that is the indication of a professional

CPD will be open to profiteering and therefore another conflict of interest

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Any couple should be able to arrange their wedding day in a place of their choosing

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

A couple should be able to marry in their home or garden if they wish

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Yes

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

The law should be made as easy as possible and with due consideration for the limited time parameters

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

In these exceptional circumstances , could the healthy partner give notice for both parties?

Consultation Question 64:

No

Please expand on your answer:

During busy periods the registration office may not have the staff or time to make thiis a priority.

suggest this remains with GRO

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Any vessel that permits the dignity of the procedures

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Providing the local authority do not use this as an opportunity to inflate the cost to make a profit

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The fee should be cost recovery

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

There has been an increase on couples marrying overseas in order to have a ceremony of their choice

There has also been an increase in demand for celebrants to conduct a wedding ceremony after having a short legal register office ceremony.

The registration service offers a premium cost ceremony, setting a fee but answerable to no body, for little more than a standard ceremony. The rise in the Celebrant numbers is testimony to the popularity and the preference for a personalised ceremony.

The Church of England and the registration have had a monopoly for too long which dictates the style of wedding a couple may want, but also is restricting business growth for celebrants.

An overhaul is long overdue. And the more choice and competition within the industry must mean any couple getting married has more to choose from

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

In my local area the Registration service make is as difficult as they can for any couple to have a basic wedding EG; restricting the hours a basic ceremony is available. restricting numbers to the bride and groom two witnesses and conducting the ceremony in a working office.

However for an increased charge, more guests are permitted and a greater choice of room to have the ceremony in.

For many local authorities weddings are a lucrative income stream; one where they can charge what they like

Marrying approved premises invokes a higher fee depending on the day of the week and the time. The service given is rarely in proportion to the higher fee charged.

IN view of the rise in the popularity of celebrant led ceremonies some register offices also offer a celebrant led ceremony in alternative place of venue - giving the council two bites of the cherry.

I am a former registrar and I know what is offered by a local authority and many times they do not represent good value for money but more importantly - in a market this big - no one authority should hold this monopoly. It is time the registration ceremony were subject to standard competition that is part of all business. Competition drives the standard up and ensures the best for its customer/client/consumer

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

See above comments

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Increased competition will mean they have to raise their standard of ceremony

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD9T-F

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-01 18:42:45

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Celebrant

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

My income from wedding celebrancy has collapsed. Bookings for early 2021 are now being cancelled and I am having to repay deposits taken last year.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

People are much more mobile these days.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

I see no reason for any minimum period at all.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Remote meetings serve the same purpose and will give people (and Registrars) more freedom/time.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

It should be possible to give notice from outside England and Wales in this day and age.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Yes, by advance arrangement.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

No opinion about Anglican weddings

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

All weddings should be treated equally and be preceded by civil preliminaries, in line with much of Europe.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD9U-G

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-01 19:19:02

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Kelly Chandler Consulting Ltd

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I'm all for the opening up of legal ceremony to independent celebrants who in my view conduct the most beautiful personal ceremonies.

I think it's important to ensure that the training of said officiants is thorough and meaningful. GRO would be the obvious choice to authorise but I trust you'd be working with celebrant bodies to establish the requirements of the celebrant that go beyond the basic legal/paperwork components?

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I believe that the Registrar General would be focussed on the legal/paperwork aspects of a wedding based on what I know Registrars to do currently. I would expect that an approved officiant would have further training related to the more personal aspect of the ceremonies and their content they could conduct.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is of particular concern to some of my wedding venue clients who currently undertake this responsibility partially just by the nature of being the host location that holds the venue premises license for operating overall and simply because absolutely anything which happens in a place is always attributed to the place not, necessarily to independent suppliers coming in.

Example being in a different context: guest gets food poisoning, it's the venue who is blamed even if the caterer has been brought in by the couple.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With support from celebrant bodies.

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Presumably though on a "permission-based" situation.

For example if a premise is private then a couple can't just show up with an officiant and claim that they can get married there.

Will there be exceptions such as "in front of Buckingham Palace" and the likes?

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

I am absolutely in favour of allowing legal weddings in the outdoors in particular. This is so incredibly in demand by so many couples to marry in beautiful nature spots, with country house backdrops, in courtyards, in otherwise meaningful appropriate places which are currently not allowed.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I do think this needs to be in consultation with the venue if a hired wedding venue. Any activity that happens on that site links back to that site whether approved by an officiant or not. And venues have very large responsibilities for health and safety which fall under their obligation for insurance and documentation currently.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Very much in favour as venues could easily be overwhelmed by having to have 100 meetings with 100 different officiants for each wedding they have booked.

I have already been asked by venue clients of mine, if a venue has paid for a 3 year civil license and doesn't need to use it, will they get a partial refund since this will not be needed? A lot of venues have gone to huge costs to enable civil weddings at their venue particularly those who have build outdoor covered structures to fit the current law so clearly looking at a financial rebalance for these venues to ensure they are not out of pocket will be needed, especially after many of them will still be suffering from the brunt of the pandemic for years to come.

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDVR-A

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-01 19:47:52

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

N/A

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

We had three adult children living at home with us during the first lockdown, all of which were engaged, and two of them had already booked their wedding dates.

The emotional distress as having their weddings cancelled was huge. We totally support your proposal to simplify marriages, to enable them to be conducted at home, which would have overcome all this heartache.

Also to simplify and speed up the pre-marriage process.

Thankfully all three of them managed to get married between July and September, but three weddings in three months was pretty full on!

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Agree

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Yes, if for some good reason the couple requested it, and the substitute was happy to act.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Organisations should only be excluded if they promote unlawful or criminal practices.

Organisations that sincerely hold to Christian beliefs which are contrary to what has become public policy such as same sex marriages, should not be excluded.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, provided the setting does not in any way diminish the serious solemnity of the marriage contract.

Certainly, I am in favour of allowing marriages within homes or gardens. This would have overcome the inability to marry during the pandemic lockdown, which could happen again at any time. This therefore needs amending with urgency.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Not Answered

Not Answered

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

But this must not preclude marrying in the home.

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Or better still, scope to fill in these details ahead of the occasion.

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

From our own family experience, I can say that these proposals would certainly have helped the marriages to go ahead.

We believe in couples not living together before marriage, and our family therefore had to wait patiently for lockdown to be lifted.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Marriages in the home could save couples a substantial amount of money, and enable them to tailor their expenditure to their budget.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

From the experience of friends whose daughters have married foreign bridegrooms, the present requirements are onerous. A reduction of the notice period and residence requirement would be welcome. As would the completion of preliminaries online.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

In order to promote more legal marriages, any reduction in administrative costs would be a help to financially pressed couples. Also, enabling marriages in homes has many desirable benefits, and could avoid the need for an expensive venue, if desired.

To give couples more say in how they wish to solemnise their marriage is desirable, provided that it upholds the the dignity and seriousness of the marriage bond to which they are committing themselves.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD9G-2

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-01 21:01:12

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Shia Ithna Asheri Jamaat

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

[REDACTED]

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

none

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Married in nikah as per Islam

No

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes agree

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

there should be limit on the fees

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDMZ-9

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-02 12:09:59

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

I am a trainee celebrant w

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I am divorced

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think it is fair that people register their intention to marry and this time frame is fair

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Good idea to do it online or by post and interview later

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

Surely this would depend on people's personal circumstances

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes I agree that this could be done remotely and an in-person interview for cases as described above

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes - it should be possible

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure why the officiant needs to be named?

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Keep banns as they are

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Not just in church

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think celebrants should be allowed to do this too.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

CivilceremoniesLtd

Independent celebrants

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

An independent officiant would need to be paid

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Independent celebrants could also be nominated as above

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

No

Please expand on your answer:

As a celebrant, the emphasis is on a personalised bespoke service

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In the same way that other services are monitored

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Local council

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

No

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Depends on how long they have got left

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Depends on individual case

Consultation Question 67:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think it needs to be done in person

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

An independent celebrant should be allowed to legally marry a couple in a civil ceremony.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDMD-K

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-03 07:15:25

About you

What is your name?

Name:
Islam Uddin

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:
Middlesex University

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::
london

What is your email address?

Email:
[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:
[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

[REDACTED]

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

during the pandemic, whilst observing government restrictions of social distancing.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is unnecessary.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This could encourage couples to have a civil ceremony.

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

Once the interview is completed, couples should not be restricted to get married at their earliest convenience.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes, seems a good idea and it could encourage couples to get a civil marriage.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, as long as a person is a UK national.

Consultation Question 9:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It is up to the couples to announce publically.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

12months is a good period.

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It is extra paperwork.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Indifferent.

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Indifferent.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Indifferent.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Indifferent.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Indifferent.

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales;
or

Please expand on your answer:

Indifferent

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Indifferent

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Muslims do not have a governing body.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Indifferent.

Please share your views below:

Indifferent.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There are many different types of Muslims, so which organisation would represent them.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

No. But there needs to be an understanding that Muslims are not a homogeneous group.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes, why not.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Organisations may have bias. Let the individual applicant explain for themselves.

Consultation Question 31:

No

Please expand on your answer:

1 and 2 is Ok

3 - there should be guidelines. Training would deter applicants.

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The fees should cover time, expense and travel.

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Indifferent

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not to give organisations power, as they may have bias.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Indifferent

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Gives more choice.

Please share your views below:

It should not be restricted.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Gives more choice.

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

n/a

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

n/a

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

n/a

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

n/a

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

n/a

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

n/a

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

n/a

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

n/a

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

n/a

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

n/a

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

n/a

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

n/a

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

n/a

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

n/a

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

n/a

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD9J-5

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-03 08:56:07

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Brethren

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Other (please state)

If other, please state::

Authorised Person

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

N/A

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We are legally married.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Nothing comes to mind.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

As an authorised person for marriage, I had persons wishing to get married yet frustrated as they were unable to due to the building registered on their licence being in an area of lockdown with marriages restricted. We tried to change the venue to an area that did permit marriages but had to wait 2 weeks for an appointment with the registrar, then a further 30 days for the licence, resulting in the planned marriage day being missed. This specific incident due to old rules caused unnecessary stress and prevented a couple from having their long-awaited happy marriage day.

A licence permitting marriage not relating to a specific building would be much simpler.

I also fail to understand the need to visit a registrar to book a wedding when this could all be done online as per passports etc.

The 30 days wait for a licence seems excessive and out of date in today's fast-paced society. I would have thought that 1 week was more reasonable, especially if they are being published online as set out in the 'weddings at a glance v4' document.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I agree it should be abolished as I fail to see what this achieves, especially with the current 30 day licence period.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree with this proposal.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

I see no benefit for the delay on this so would recommend keeping it as short as possible.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Yes, a good idea to enable remote interviews as this would be a huge time-saver.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, fully agree with this proposal, especially with so much more remote and overseas work being quite normal.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I have no problem with this.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, definitely. A wedding is about the couple getting married and as long as they are in agreement then it shouldn't be held up due to an official person not being available.

Please share your views below:

If unavoidable delay includes when the officiant is unable to attend due to their spouse/close family member being ill then all good, otherwise I would think this needs including.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree that the officiant should be the Authorised Person and that the couple should be able to choose their church officiant.

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 21:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I fully agree that the governing authority of the building or higher authority within the organisation should be responsible for the nomination of officiants.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I have no problem with part 1 and wholeheartedly agree with part 2 as I hold with utmost sincerity the sanctity of marriage.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

I feel the law should exclude any organisation from officiating in weddings where they are engaged or proceeding with anything that's criminal or against the law.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree.

Consultation Question 29:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree.

Consultation Question 31:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I have no problem with this.

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, absolutely.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, guidance is always appreciated.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, most definitely.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I have no problem with this.

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I have no problem with this.

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, agree as I cant see how it would be needed.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, I fully agree and feel that if marriages within homes are allowed then these also should not be subject to open doors.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

In the main yes as I agree marriages should be able to take place in a home, however, marriage is special and the dignity of this shouldn't be compromised by the location.

in private homes.

Please share your views below:

I feel very strongly that homes should be made available to couples getting married so the dignity of the wedding can be experienced without any unwanted distractions. It would also have enabled the marriage referred to in question 3 to have been able to take. Homes would also help provide an area for a couple who were not keen on either a large religious location or the registrar's office.

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, agree with this along with the wishes of the couple.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, definitely needed to ensure all are kept safe.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I do agree but would be against anything too rigid being put in place that could prevent a home marriage taking place.

Consultation Question 53:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Please share your views below:

N/A

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would also be a help if it was possible to add these details prior to the marriage.

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, fully agree.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 68:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 69:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 71:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

N/A

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 77:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 78:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 79:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 80:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 81:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 82:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Consultation Question 84:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

N/A

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I personally would welcome the government's proposals, especially as it would reduce limitations through time like covid.

I also believe that a simpler marriage system may well encourage couples to marry, rather than living together without being married, which I do not agree with.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The cost to use a large building for a wedding can be quite high for an organisation and with the current approved building system, it doesn't give many options to save costs.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

The opportunity to hold a wedding in a private home is one of the best ways I can think off to save costs.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

N/A

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Currently, the law around overseas marriages is quite restrictive and not always very workable for a couple. It would help if the 3 day notice period could be implemented along with being able to register online.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Any move that makes marriage simpler and inturn encourages couples to marry, rather than not, has to be a good thing.

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

N/A

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

As already stated marriage in the homes would be an excellent way to save costs for not only the organisation but potentially the couple to.

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD9Y-M

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-03 12:34:29

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED] Celebrants [REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Unfortunately, all the weddings I was due to officiate as an Independent Celebrant have been either cancelled or moved to 2021 or 2022. It has been a terrible year. However there has been a major increase of potential clients wanting to use a celebrant rather than a registrar, because of the personalisation we offer

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It would be great if couples had more freedom to choose where they wanted to register their intent to marry. There is no need in this day and age for them to be resident there for 7 days

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as they are seen in person at some point, then I don't see why they have to give notice in person initially.

Consultation Question 6:

three days;

Please expand on your answer:

If they have been verified at an interview, then 3 days or less is enough

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

This is a very difficult subject as yes it would be a concern about forced marriages. I personally think there should be an in person interview each time and not online solely

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes this should continue

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Completely agree with this which would make it much easier for the couples to register intent in any district, but it be able to be checked

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will help with any unexpected disruptions where the wedding may be postponed especially after what has happened this year

Consultation Question 11:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Yes I feel this should be required

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As Independent Celebrants have been trained specifically to a high standard to write bespoke ceremonies for their couples that are completely personalised, it would be wonderful if they could also be authorised.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a job with legal responsibility so therefore should be monitored

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely. Couples should have the choice to include a hymn reading or prayer in their civil ceremony

Please share your views below:

hymn, religious reading or prayer

Consultation Question 46:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It should be the couples choice for them to have their ceremony in a place that has a special meaning to them

Please share your views below:

I'd be happy to officiate weddings in all of the above

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

this is a very outdated rule. A wedding should be able to take place anywhere

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However part of the training as a celebrant is to know how to perform risk assessments so are perfectly able to do that

Consultation Question 53:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

yachts, speed boats,

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

The current law does prevent some couples yes as they want everything made legal on the same day as their ceremony but may want their wedding completely outdoors in an unlicensed venue. This isn't possible right now.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Often couples want the personalisation of a ceremony that an Independent Celebrant or Humanist can provide, but will often feel they have to use a registrar in a authorised venue or register office to keep the cost down. it would cost more for them to have a celebrant and then have to have a register office ceremony to make it legal so they choose the cheaper option and miss out on what they really wanted

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

The benefits to venues being able to host weddings officiated by religious officiants, and (if enabled by Government to officiate at weddings) non-religious belief organisations and independent officiants; are that they would be able to fit so many more weddings in their calendar as registrars aren't always available and with more Celebrants, they could possibly double their profit

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDKZ-7

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-03 12:55:17

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

OneSpirit Interfaith Foundation

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Response on behalf of an organisation

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

OneSpirit Interfaith ministers in England and Wales may hold ceremonies for people who hold alternative beliefs e.g. Pagan, Humanist, undefined spiritual but not religious (SBNR). Some of these couples choose to also have a legal ceremony (held by a registrar) others see the importance of the symbolic ceremony but have no legal protection.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

All our ministers in England and Wales who hold these ceremonies are clear with couples from the first contact that the marriage has no legal status.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

An example of this would be one of our ministers, in their role as a legal marriage officiant in Scotland, has encountered a couple who were uncertain whether the marriage they had previously entered into was legal. This couple did not know whether they now needed a legal ceremony in the UK, or whether they needed formal divorce papers in order to re-marry.

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

In some UK countries (Scotland and Northern Ireland) our ministers can offer legal ceremonies that reflect and respect whatever beliefs are important to the individuals getting married.

In England and Wales couples who have alternative beliefs (e.g. Pagan, Humanist or other spiritual paths) or those where the individuals in the marriage hold differing beliefs cannot have a ceremony that is equally meaningful to both partners.

This most frequently occurs where one partner to the marriage holds a recognised religious belief and the other partner is agnostic or atheist.

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Although many marriages are a blend of legal, cultural and social occasions, the restrictions over the past year have brought focus to the legal elements of getting married. Many people have opted for simpler ceremonies so they can be certain of having the legal protection of marriage (for example before starting a family, or if they are anticipating old age or illness).

Celebrants and ministers have had responsibilities to ensure the legality of the marriage and also to ensure compliance with the rapidly changing COVID restrictions, guidance and legislation, regarding numbers, social distancing and prohibited elements e.g. communal singing. It would have been immensely helpful to have an accessible and up-to-the minute source of guidance provided centrally by the Registrar General's office. In the absence of this, individual organisations and celebrants risked running foul of COVID legislation.

Some registration offices in England have been constrained in being able to respond to demand and our celebrants in Scotland have many examples of couples from Wales and England who have 'eloped' to Scotland (from July onwards) because that was the only way they could have a legal marriage.

eg: A couple from Wales who had a large wedding planned for April had this cancelled. They tried to rearrange a small register office wedding when marriages re-started in July but this was not possible as their original ceremony had been in an alternative venue (currently closed), and the registration office was only upholding existing commitments.

A couple from the North of England who felt vulnerable to the impact of coronavirus, didn't want to hold their wedding indoors, so they travelled to Scotland where their ceremony could be held outside.

A couple from England had a wedding arranged for May. As COVID developed they foresaw that their original plans would not be possible and cancelled the arrangements (minimising their financial loss). When they tried to rearrange the registrar would not accept the booking because it has been cancelled by the couple, rather than by the registration office.

In general, many of the ceremonies held since July have been at shorter notice than is normal, with several couples rushing to adhere to the minimum time-scales (29 days before the marriage). Whilst we are confident that all of the marriages our ministers held were genuine and appropriate, the short notice must put pressure on registration services and increase the risk of something being missed.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We have a highly mobile population in the UK. Couples may be getting married in the town where they grew up, or where their parents live, or in a chosen destination.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We have a highly mobile population in the UK. Not all weddings take place in the district where couples are currently resident.

Consultation Question 6:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Experiences during 2020 would suggest that increased use of remote working is entirely possible.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Our ministers in Scotland report that although giving notice in an alternative country is possible, it is much more straightforward when this is all completed in the same registration office.

This process is facilitated by being able to lodge notice by post and would be further eased by virtual interviews.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The current practice of displaying notices in a public place or reading the banns in church does not serve the current habits and practice of life in the 2020's

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This enables couples to accommodate any necessary changes in date. Our ministers in Scotland (where the time period is between 29 days and 3 months) have many examples of the pressure that couples face in the 3 months before their wedding.

With many other organisational pressures, there are occasions where the legal preliminaries get missed by the wedding couple. Being able to address this 12-months prior would ease that situation.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The schedule would clearly identify the officiant, so that the Registration Office, who should have a record of that officiant, knows that they are on the register, thereby lessening the opportunity for celebrants who are not registered to be fraudulent in their approach to couples.

And yes, a process for amending a schedule with a substitute officiant is perhaps a vital requirement as there could be an occasion when an officiant can't be at a wedding on the day.

It is also important that the couple have met with, and agreed a celebrant and have not just made an assumption that the celebrant will be available. Our ministers have experience of many last minute requests for weddings on a Saturday in June!!

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree and for the reasons stated in the question 11 – illness, accident, other reasons the officiant can't be there on the day.

Also as an organisation, we currently have an informal system whereby an on-call co-ordinator can be contacted if someone can't make a wedding on the day, and they can help find another minister in the vicinity to step in from a bank of available/registered ministers.

Please share your views below:

We do not understand this question.

Consultation Question 13:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is the prime purpose of the minister/celebrant in a legal ceremony.

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Depends.

If other celebrant organisations (interfaith, Pagan, Humanist) can hold legal weddings then, yes. Especially as registration officers will not have been trained to deliver any spiritual/religious content.

However, in the current situation we think registration officers should be able to work alongside celebrants of other belief systems to officiate a civil marriage as part of a belief-based ceremony.

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is a responsibility on each belief-based organisation to have appropriate systems in place to be able to uphold this duty. These systems should be subject to audit / verification by the national registration authorities.

Consultation Question 24:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Partly.

We agree with "a belief system that claims to explain humanity's nature and relationship to the universe".

We strongly disagree with the distinction made between 'religious' and 'secular'. It is the experience of our many ministers who hold legal wedding ceremonies that there is no such clear separation, either in the minds of individuals, and certainly not in the type of ceremony that a couple (holding different beliefs) might want.

Please share your views below:

Any organisation that does not respect all humanity, or has a code of ethics that promotes intolerance, or supports violence to others who are not of the same ethnicity/sexuality or race.

Organisations whose belief systems run counter to humanitarian principals, or whose belief systems are based on modern fictional characters e.g. Winnie the Pooh, Luke Skywalker...

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Agree - for instance Sharia law, or pagan sacrifice

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

In general no.

We understand established organisations, but new entrants to the system may have less regulated arrangements.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This provides assurance for the public that ceremonies are legal and that organisations and celebrants adhere to agreed standards and processes.

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We disagree.

This is tantamount to commercialisation of legal marriage. There are many celebrant training organisations who make their profits from training more and more people, without concern or responsibility for how those celebrants are supported on an ongoing basis, and without regard to how many celebrants are 'needed'.

There are currently no standards that celebrant training organisations need to adhere to, nor any professional regulation of celebrants.

In other spheres of ceremony e.g. funerals, there are other moderators in the system. For example funeral directors will know the training organisations and the individual celebrants who are reputable. In marriage there is no such intermediary, and commercially blatant celebrants (or organisations promoting them) would be able to promote themselves to individual couples.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Couples getting married should be able to have confidence in their chosen celebrants.

As an organisation, OneSpirit, has strict criterion that our ministers are required to meet before being considered for nomination to any of the legal registers in those countries within the UK where wedding law allows this.

Our ministers are audited annually to ensure that they are keeping to a schedule of self-development, updated with any changes in wedding law, are not promoting themselves for profit and are upholding the ethics of our organisation, so that we can with integrity, recognise them as 'fit and proper' persons to hold legal weddings.

Consultation Question 31:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We disagree with the proposal to register independent officiants.

As already mentioned, OneSpirit places certain expectations and obligations upon its ministers who are required to meet specified professional standards, and demonstrates the accountability of its ministers by maintaining a register, which in turn promotes high standards of practice and behaviour and the support of professional regulation.

However, if that system were available to independent celebrants, why would it not be equally available to belief based celebrants (either religious or non-religious)? We wonder why a belief based organisation would need to have a different process.

Consultation Question 32:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Depends.

Should weddings become a business and a way of making a living, there is a greater chance of the profit gained from holding weddings taking precedence over the sanctity and meaning of a wedding to a couple.

However, it must be recognised that a reasonable fee needs to be charged to cover costs and the promotion of beliefs. Our ministers who are registered for legal weddings, in Scotland and other places, are very clear that this is a belief-based vocation as part of their ministry, not a money spinner.

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Disagree.

This is incompatible with the proposal at question 32. Whatever system is introduced it must be equal across all organisations and celebrants.

A situation could be envisaged where a belief based individual chose not register as a celebrant with their belief organisation, but chose instead to operate as an independent officiant because they could make profit from weddings that way.

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We disagree first with the basis of the question – that there is such distinction between religious and non-religious organisations. In our experience, with our ministers holding hundreds of weddings and speaking with many couples contemplating marriage, the issue is not binary. ‘Religious’ is often perceived as being in a church, rather than about the content or expression of belief. Very often couples tell our ministers that they don’t want a religious ceremony then request the inclusion of a prayer, or a reading from a sacred text.

There should be no such separation, and if all officiants (religious, spiritual, secular-belief) were in one category, then we would agree, that there would be no need for an individual to be authorised under any other category.

eg: one couple who planned a non-religious ceremony, then following the bereavement of a close family member (about 6 weeks before the wedding) wished to include spiritual references to an afterlife.

eg: very many couples where one partner to the marriage holds a defined religious faith and the other holds secular beliefs. It should be possible for such couples to have a ceremony which is neither labelled as ‘religious’ or ‘secular’ and which enables each party to express what is true and meaningful to them.

In Scotland, this has been addressed by some secular / humanist organisations permitting the inclusion of religious elements. It also brings into question what is classified as secular. Many humanists in Scotland include handfasting’s in a marriage ceremony, including jumping over a broom. Yet this tradition has strong roots in a Pagan culture. Would secular officiants be specifically prevented from including such rituals?

In Scotland the more generalised category of ‘religious or belief based marriage’ (including both established faiths and secular beliefs) has enabled new organisations to emerge to match the emerging expression of belief and spirituality in the population. Agnostic Scotland <https://agnosticscotland.org/> caters for those of all beliefs and none, and Celebrate People <https://www.celebratepeople.co.uk/> has a philosophy which is expressly humanist AND spiritual.

There is a particular challenge with independent celebrants describing themselves as being able to offer religious and non-religious ceremony, without having being trained in any of the faith-based rituals they might offer. We have known of a celebrant holding a 'Jewish' wedding, despite having no personal connection to that faith, or having been trained to understand the meaning of particular elements – there is more to it than just standing under a Chuppah and smashing a glass!

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree, particularly in respect of not offering commercial services, and being part of a reputable and longstanding organisation.

Whilst there must be a degree of flexibility to meet the couple's personal wishes, it must be the officiants responsibility to ensure the ceremony is dignified, acknowledges the solemnity of marriage, and is also held in safety.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree, this would be very welcome. In other parts of the UK where our ministers and celebrants can hold legal ceremony there is a dearth of guidance and training.

eg: general guidance on the legal aspects that the GRO require in each ceremony would be essential, but how the weddings should be conducted ought be up to the nominating organisation and the couples wishes.

eg: guidance on process such as if an officiant suspected a sham/forced marriage for instance, would be very welcome.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree in general:

The organisation that the officiant is nominated by should have that responsibility, and hopefully will be operating within a strong ethical and governance framework, which would pick up any officiants who were failing in their duties and remove them from the register accordingly.

However, if there was a 'central' system for independent celebrants, then this should also be extended to cover belief-based celebrants.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree that the GRO should have the power to remove nominated officiants.

However, we would hope not without conversation with the officiant and the nominating organisation first, and if that fails, then also the authority to withdraw the organisations nomination status until the matter had been resolved.

Consultation Question 39:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This question causes us some confusion.

We would not be in favour of independent officiants being nominated, whether monitored by the GRO or not.

However, in that case, why not regulate all officiants in the same way.

Why would OneSpirit incur the costs and responsibility of this, if there was an alternative way of achieving the same?

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We would be in favour of a similar process that currently takes place in Scotland where officiants are nominated for a period of three years, after which they apply for re-nomination.

This ensures a level of professionalism and commitment to the role.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree, but how will this be monitored?

What are the official CPD courses?

Who is organising them and how are they validated?

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

However, there should be a the same single line included in every marriage – whatever the belief-based or civil, same-sex or opposite sex.

eg: a declaration by both parties that they accept each other in marriage
A pronouncement by the officiant that the couple are now married.

This can be embellished with belief based concepts and enhanced with the use of terms such as husband or wife/partners in life. But all ceremonies should include this basic statement (for the purpose of legal clarity and equality).

Consultation Question 44:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

No

Please expand on your answer:

How can a civil ceremony remain a civil ceremony, if it has any religious content, whoever says it.

A civil celebrant should not have to use any words of belief / religion / sacrament.

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There should be provision for these to be combined in one holistic ceremony. This would require the registrar office and belief based organisation to work together.

There will be less need for this if all belief based organisations (religious, non-religious, SBNR) are able to hold legal ceremonies.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We understand this is part of the ancient system to ensure that neither party to the marriage had a wife in the adjacent village. This is outdated.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree, where the minister feels appropriate.

The primary aim of OneSpirit is the safety and wellbeing of its ministers and the public they serve, so providing the location is safe for all concerned then the couple's wishes to have their wedding in the location of their choice should be supported.

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

In general we agree that weddings be permitted in any place that is safe and appropriate. Safe for the couple, their guests and for the celebrant.

Water - that suitable safety arrangements are in force and in a fixed place on water (to record the legal position).

Air - we cannot see how legal weddings can be achieved in the air, as the position / district / local authority area can't be fixed.

Outdoors - there would be a need to take into account the possibility of adverse weather conditions, and have alternative arrangements in the event the wedding can't take place outdoors.

Consultation Question 49:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We disagree - all wedding ceremonies, should be treated in the same way. If public access is available for civil weddings, it should be so for secular/belief weddings too.

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The experience of our officiants in Scotland is that it is difficult to legislate in regards to venue. It is for each venue to agree what is permissible, and for each belief-based organisation to agree what is appropriate.

For example, most humanist organisations will not hold ceremonies in places of active religious worship; some Anglican churches in Scotland will permit Onespirit ministers to hold wedding ceremonies; in England some Unitarian churches have OneSpirit ministers authorised at those premises to hold weddings under the Unitarian umbrella.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree, but it would be helpful to have guidance on Health & Safety.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is difficult to define 'dignified'.

Our experienced ministers in Scotland have had requests for situations such as sky-diving 'just because it would be crazy' but have also held ceremonies in unusual circumstances which were entirely appropriate to the couple and their lifestyle.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree, this would be very helpful. But guidance, not prescriptive.

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Perhaps a system similar to that in operation in England and Wales now, where a venue is regularly used. The venue applies to the GRO for a licence to become a registered venue, which is renewed annually, and would ensure that the venue complies with a required criteria of safety measures, so that an officiant would know that all was in order

Please share your views below:

The safety measures and appropriate setting for weddings should be the responsibility of the venue.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

We disagree. All marriage should be subject to the same legal process – 2 witnesses, signature of the schedule, registration of the marriage. No exceptions.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Legal marriage should be by one unified process. Systematic and authorised.

Consultation Question 60:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree.

Plus it should also be clear what the status of a ceremony is. In the situation where a couple have legally married in another place, an officiant (religious or non-religious) must make explicit that the ceremony is symbolic and not legal.

This avoids the officiant misleading the guests about the status of the ceremony.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

There needs to be rapid arrangements for authorisation of officiants of specific belief organisations (religious or non-religious) where this is required, with access to emergency numbers etc.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree, but there should be a fast turnaround, a sympathetic approach and the ability to do this virtually.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree, our officiants in Scotland report that this works well.

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

ON the 4 points above:

1) we agree

2) we agree

3) we disagree – our celebrants in Scotland feel that even in the most extreme situations this would not work. It does not enable the officiant to uphold their responsibility to be assured that each party is wholeheartedly and freely entering into the marriage.

4) we disagree - on the basis that this does not uphold the function of a ceremony. It deregulates marriage to an electronic legal process.

No

Please expand on your answer:

We disagree.

We have examples of couples in international situations (genuine relationships) where a marriage was planned in Australia, but the UK bride could not travel; or the marriage was planned in the UK but the Canadian based groom could not travel. In both these examples the couples went to extraordinary lengths to finally be on the same continent and to have their legal wedding. This only goes to prove that they were genuine.

The proposals outlined above would be open to abuse for people who might be seeking to use 'marriage' as a route to immigration.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The processing of administration should be as simple as possible and expedited. However the presence of all parties in even the simplest of ceremonies should not be underestimated. In extremis, if the parties cannot be together, then perhaps that is the very, very rare occasion when points 3 and 4 (above) could be agreed.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In fixed, agreed locations, to ensure that the marriage is registered to the correct district.

Consultation Question 69:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 71:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree. There should be similar rules around training, CPD, etc for all officiants.

Other

Please expand on your answer:

We agree. Under Question 67... In extremis, a registrar could hold a ceremony remotely.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 74:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Regardless of belief, or location, there should be a standard minimum fee for a legal wedding – e.g. on a Tuesday morning in the register office. This should continue to be a statutory duty.

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should also apply to other officiants (religious, non-religious, belief, SBNR)

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Should be discretionary for all officiants, including registration officers

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We agree - this would help to regulate the system and funds could be used to support training for all officiants.

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

1 - the current law adds a layer of complexity to those getting married who do not want a religious or barebones civil ceremony, and does discourage couples from getting married in this country. Getting married in another country is one way of resolving the issue of having a wedding that satisfies the individual's beliefs and wedding wishes.

2 - our experience in Scotland indicates that more couples are getting married, but probably more importantly, it is the way that they choose to marry that changes as there is more choice.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Our officiants in Scotland and Ireland report on hundreds of weddings held for people from England and Wales.

Sometimes this is because of family connections but often it is because of the simpler arrangements, the ability to be married outside, and the flexibility of expressing their beliefs (religious, non-religious or a mix of both).

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Our understanding of evidence from Scotland for last 10 years:

little impact on registration office marriage,
massive [negative] impact on mainstream religious weddings,
huge increase in Humanist weddings, huge increase in humanist organisations (and other varieties), greater choice for couples vibrant wedding industry

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YD94-F

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-03 16:27:24

About you

What is your name?

Name:
Thomas Glyn Watkin

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Learned Society of Wales

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:
[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:
[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I am personally aware of three weddings that were adversely affected by the pandemic.

One couple wisely decided to postpone their wedding until the pandemic was over for reasons connected with the bride's chronic ill-health .

A second couple had to cancel their wedding because of the original lock-down, and then had to cancel their revised date at a little more than a week's notice because of the fortnight fire-break in Wales.

A third couple had to 'uninvite' close relatives at less than a month's notice because of revised restrictions in England regarding numbers attending.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

I have no strong views on this issue.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Agreed.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

I can see no reason to prevent this, particularly given the possibility of interviews taking place remotely.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In the case of ceremonies being officiated by religious officiants, it might be permissible to identify the officiant by role rather than by name, for instance in the case of an Anglican wedding "a serving cleric in the parish of X", leaving it to the incumbent or other appropriate person to designate the officiating cleric at a later stage.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The need for this would be avoided if the officiant was identified by role as suggested in Answer 11.

Please share your views below:

Again, the problem would be avoided if the officiant was identified by role.

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

On the basis that universal civil preliminaries are introduced ending the publication of banns generally.

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

If banns were to continue to be published, it would in my view be appropriate for them to be published in the church/es where the parties reside or regularly worship. There would be little sense in their being called somewhere where there was only a distant qualifying connection with one of the parties.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

It would be appropriate for clergy to be able to carry out the same checks as registrars if ecclesiastical preliminaries are to continue.

If a requirement to meet the parties separately is introduced, the meeting should take place in the presence of at least one other person acceptable to but not chosen by the couple.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

This would in my view be sensible.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

The publication of banns is outdated and inefficient as a means of identifying impediments. Frequently, banns are published to congregations with no knowledge of either party. It is a quaint survival of an earlier way of life. Even where the parties are well-known, it is a mildly comic addition to the service.

Having said that, many are attached to this sort of tradition, and I can see no reason why, if the parties so wish, banns could not continue to be called as an ecclesiastical added- extra with no legal significance in civil law if the Church is willing..

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

From the point of view of Anglicanism, the role of the priest as officiant is to assist the couple in marrying one another. It is they who do the marrying. The priest's role is to pronounce God's blessing on their union, a role he/she is able to fulfil by virtue of their ordination and which lay persons cannot perform. Hence, it would not be appropriate to allow a lay person to officiate at a wedding according to Anglican rites.

Having said that, in the past Anglican Churches have allowed ordained deacons, who despite being Clerks in Holy Orders cannot pronounce a blessing, to officiate at weddings, where they pray for God's blessing on the couple rather than pronounce it. This however was endorsed at a time when women had been admitted to the diaconate but were not yet permitted to proceed to become priests. Now that women can be ordained priests, most deacons are only in that role for a roughly a year before becoming priests, so the rationale for the exception has to all intents and purposes gone away

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided that they all receive suitable training prior to their ordination.

In recent years, an increasing number of ordinands proceed to ordination without having spent time as residential students in a theological college. The thoroughness of their training, and in particular that of those being prepared for what is sometimes termed "local ordained ministry" has been questioned in some quarters. very firm guidelines need to be in place to ensure that appropriate training is received. In the past, clergy in their first post after ordination would be curates serving under a senior, experienced priest, and would remain such for some years before becoming incumbents in their own right. These days, curacies are much shorter and church weddings fewer, making it more difficult to acquire relevant experience.

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I suspect - but cannot be sure - that the points made in the previous answer may be pertinent here as well.

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It needs to be clarified whether the 20 members are meeting in one venue or are 20 members meeting in different venues.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Agreed.

Most religious organizations would face this test if wishing to enjoy charitable status. It would seem to follow therefore that the same should be the case for non-religious bodies.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Yes.

Please see the reasons given in response to Question 11 above.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With regard to age, it may be pertinent to note that the minimum age for Anglican ordination is 23, with a further year being served as a deacon before becoming a priest.

Point 3, in my view (as mentioned earlier), could usefully be extended to Anglican ordinands.

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Uncertain.

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Uncertain.

This might be a matter best left to the organizations to determine.

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Careful guidance would need to be given about the expectations, otherwise this would be very - possibly dangerously - vague.

Interesting that having abandoned the term 'solemnization' in favour of 'officiating', 'solemnity' comes back into the picture at this point.

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Churches and other organizations should be formally consulted regarding the content of the guidance, and there should be a statutory duty to have due regard to their responses.

Consultation Question 37:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

'Primary responsibility' perhaps, but it has its dangers. Organizations might well be judges in their own cause. Some independent monitoring mechanism also needs to be in place.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Clergy, of course, now have a retirement age from office, although they can with permission continue to officiate after retirement.

Given that retired clergy are only likely to be called upon to officiate if the couple requests the individual cleric, there should not be a problem. There might be more of a problem if secular organizations supplied an officiant otherwise unknown to the couple.

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Organizations should also be under some obligation in this regard with reference to their officiants.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

lb While the parties should not be required by law to express that there is no impediment to their marrying each other, I can see no reason why they should not be permitted to do so if it is historically part of the rite they have chosen for their wedding.

I can see no reason why existing marriage rites should be required to be changed if the parties (or the organization) do not wish it.

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Given that the agreement of officiants may be constrained by the internal discipline of their Church (or other organization).

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Agreed.

The examples should be gathered by consultation with religious groups subject to a duty to have due regard to their recommendations.

The worst excesses referred to in the report should be avoided. Thus, readings from Scripture, religious poetry, music, the singing of a hymn, a prayer or prayers and periods of silence should all be permitted. Basically, what needs to be avoided is anything which suggests that the lay officiant is performing a function with a religious significance which in a religious ceremony would require a suitably qualified or authorized person to perform.

If such a person is present, I can see no objection to their performing such a function within the context of the civil ceremony (e.g., pronouncing a blessing) if such participation is requested (and their organization so permits - a matter for the organization).

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

If that is what the parties want, why not?

This might for instance be an attractive option for parties from different faiths or with multiple faiths in their families. If the organizations are content, I cannot see any objection to a series of ceremonies if that is the parties' wish.

The repeal of the section might be taken to mean that it was no longer permissible. A suitably amended retention (to accommodate other organizations) would in my view be preferable to prevent misunderstanding.

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

In effect, this would be a return to the pre-1753 canon law when a marriage could validly be contracted simply by exchange of promises in the present tense or by words in the future tense followed by consummation. While the Church encouraged obtaining sacerdotal blessing, it was not insisted upon. The key requirement is registration of the relationship formed.

Please share your views below:

No intrinsic limitations, subject to safety and dignity.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

Other

Other

Other

Please expand on your answer:

This should I believe be a matter for various organizations involved. If they are not opposed, the law should not prohibit. If they are opposed, the law should uphold their prohibition. It should be for them to prohibit and they should have the legal power to do so.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes, subject to there being clear guidance available and the right of organizations to regulate the activities of their officiants.

Consultation Question 52:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Asking officiants to determine issues of safety is a big ask.

Dignity is fine, provided there is clear guidance as to what it means.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The guidance on dignity should be drafted following consultation with organizations nominating or authorizing officiants and should have due regard to responses.

Organizations should then have the right to issue their own guidance as well, which could also be binding on their officiants as a matter of the organization's internal rules of discipline.

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If religious weddings are to be permitted in secular locations, it should be open to the religious denomination or faith organization to individually or jointly vet the suitability initially and periodically. Religious groups might be permitted to combine to do this if they wish.

Please share your views below:

The mechanism for facilitating the pre-approval process should be set up either by the General Register Office or perhaps by local authorities.

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

1 and 2 should be added; 3 should be at the option of the parties.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This availability should apply within England as well as in Wales, given that a wedding may be officiated in Welsh anywhere in either country.

I can see no reason why Welsh ceremonies, or indeed ceremonies in any other language, should not be permitted outside of Wales given the couple can choose their officiant.

Organizations should be required to make it clear in which languages their officiants can officiate, and there should be an obligation upon civil registrars to provide a service in the couple's language or languages of choice (English and/or Welsh) within Wales. It should be open to the Welsh Language Commissioner to set language standards regarding the provision of wedding services by other bodies or individuals.

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

With some misgivings regarding the absence of witnesses.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Abolition removes uncertainty and makes for simplicity and clarity regarding the law which in turn promotes public understanding.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 63:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Although I have no strong opinion in this regard and no practical knowledge or experience, given the overall goal of allowing couples to marry where they wish and how they wish, I would favour allowing wedding to take place on any vessel which was able to meet the general requirements regarding safety and dignity.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The same approach with regard to not having to name the officiant could be useful, as suggested earlier, when choosing to marry in a religious location, for instance at a church in an Anglican parish.

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I assume that, and can see no reason against, a fellow passenger or crew member (e.g., ship's chaplain) who is in Holy Orders or otherwise qualified as an officiant should not be able to officiate.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I can see no reason against a fellow passenger or crew member (e.g., ship's chaplain) who is in Holy Orders or otherwise qualified as an officiant should not be allowed to officiate.

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I don't know whether there is any demand, but I cannot see any objection provided the organization in question is content. Given the overall goal of allowing couples to marry where they wish and how they wish, it would in my view be an unnecessary and unjustified restriction to prevent such ceremonies.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Perhaps 'reasonably practicable' would be better.

Given the schedule only remains valid for 12 months, there might be a case for notifying the relevant authority before the expiry date or within a short time thereafter that the wedding has taken place even if the schedule cannot be easily returned at that time.

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(2) a separate fee from other forms of giving notice, set nationally on compassionate grounds at below cost level.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

3. I can see no reason against allowing religious ceremonies to take place in secular locations. I would be puzzled if Christian Churches in particular opposed this or refused to facilitate it. It is commonplace for clergy to officiate at funerals in private, unconsecrated chapels in funeral homes or crematoria, locations which can be adapted to host various faith or non-faith ceremonies. Weddings, like funerals, are 'occasional offices'. While it is true that funerals are not classified as sacraments or sacramental rites (in the manner that Roman Catholics and Anglicans respectively classify weddings), it is again not uncommon for the undoubted sacrament of Holy Communion to be celebrated in secular locations. I did myself at one time celebrate the Eucharist monthly in the lounge of a residential home for the benefit of staff and residents, and I have been at or witnessed many such celebrations for large congregations in sports stadia or parks, including a Papal Mass in a public park in Cardiff. I can see no good reason for not allowing wedding venues run as discrete businesses to accommodate religious services in the manner in which undertakers provide a general service, including religious ceremonies, for funerals.

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDK1-X

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-04 00:04:04

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I am a celebrant who conducts celebrant led ceremonies.

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

I have had several weddings cancelled while all my others have been rearranged but this does not mean that they will not be cancelled, while people don't feel they can organise weddings at the moment. Weddings that have already been booked have been rearranged where possible, for some this had been twice, these may be rearranged a third time. Guidance on celebrant led ceremonies has been very unclear and unreliable. Restrictions have been imposed and then changed at the last minute meaning weddings that have been rescheduled to fit in with new guidelines have then had to be cancelled once again due to local lockdowns and fire break lockdowns which unfortunately is the impact of covid rising again. Unfortunately, covid has meant many celebrant weddings have had to be postponed because we were not legally covered by guidelines and therefore our insurance. When wedding were allowed we did not get a clear answer as to whether celebrant ceremonies could go ahead which meant we were advised by memberships and our indemnity insurance that we could not perform ceremonies. However, celebrant ceremonies would probably have been much safer than those taking place in a chapel or registrar offices since celebrant led ceremonies can be performed outside. Covid has impacted significantly on the wedding industry, however, this will have a knock-on effect with weddings in future years, we are already seeing the impact that rescheduling weddings are having on available dates with registrars. Allowing celebrants to conduct weddings legally will help to reduce pressure but will also and give brides and grooms (whether heterosexual or same-sex couples) the right to plan a ceremony without restrictions that are unnecessary and affect their rights to express themselves as a couple. It will give them the freedom to arrange a wedding that is legally binding but also focused on their beliefs and wishes.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

We are a global economy, there are many reasons a couple may choose to be married in a certain district including parental links and many people move away from their familial home to live in other parts of the country. This is an outdated concept and does not reflect the modern times we are living in, you should be able to put forward your intention to marry within in any district in the UK from any district within the UK at any point as we are meant to be a 'United Kingdom'.

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Seven days seems reasonable as it takes time for weddings to be arranged and paperwork to be processed unless there are underlying health problems that may require special consideration for this to be reduced such as a terminal illness.

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

I think allowing interviews to take place remotely is reasonable if there are reasons that an in-person interview cannot take place, as with the current technology we have excellent alternative with video calls. However, there needs to be something in place for those that appear to be entering a marriage without consent to ensure that these people are protected.

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes, it should continue to be possible as UK residents who are relevant nationals as this only seems fair including if they are working outside of the UK for and on behalf of the UK navy etc.

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

No

Please expand on your answer:

With covid, some couples are having to book weddings over 12 months away, while weddings are often booked over a year in advance and they have to try and make arrangements with venues and celebrants etc and then have to sit by the phone to get the time slot they need for their legal wedding to match their date. Hopefully, the changes in the law commission review will make it easier and allow celebrants to conduct legal weddings which will mean that this does not have to happen, however, it may be worth considering extending the schedule as many weddings are booked 1-2 years in advance which will allow easier arrangements to be made.

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This seems reasonable.

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

In extraordinary circumstances that may not be covered in the above question.

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I have no strong opinion either against or for this question. I think that all laws should be fair across the UK whether this is England, Ireland or Wales. I myself am English, my son is Welsh and he has an Irish dad we see ourselves as being part of the UK so I am not sure how this would impact legally on Anglican weddings so cannot offer a view on it at present. However, I feel it should be the celebrant (all celebrants not just humanists) or officiant including religious ministers that are licensed not the location.

Consultation Question 14:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

I cannot offer an opinion on this as I am unsure how it would impact legally on Anglican weddings.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

I cannot offer an opinion on this as I am unsure how it would impact legally on Anglican weddings. However, I feel it should be the celebrant (all celebrants not just humanists) or officiant including religious ministers that are licensed not the location.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

I cannot offer an opinion on this as I am unsure how it would impact legally on Anglican weddings.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

I don't think this has to be done in person, just in a sensible manner to get a valid declaration they can legally marry.

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

All weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries to make the process simpler and clearer, with the same rules for each couple regardless of where the wedding will take place.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

If these registration officers include offering registration to all officiants including celebrants then Yes however this is not a very clear question as it does not define what you are referring to as a 'registration officer'. If it is only referring to the current registrars that offer restricted services then no. I feel it should be the celebrant (all celebrants not just humanists) or officiant including religious ministers that are licensed not the location and that registration officers should extend to all that have undertaken the relevant registration to perform legal ceremonies, not just those employed by a county council registrar.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as this includes all officiants that should be allowed to conduct weddings including celebrant led ceremonies.

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

(if Government enables non-religious belief organisations to officiate at weddings) the relevant governing authority of the non-religious belief organisation should be responsible for nominating officiants to officiate at weddings

Independent celebrants are not focused on a belief but may not be part of a non-religious organisation such as the humanists. If an organisation needs to be responsible for governing who can and cannot officiate a ceremony there needs to be different wording as a couple will nominate a celebrant they wish to perform their ceremony. Humanists while are non-religious are still a religious group as they are still based on theology and do not allow couples to have certain religious elements so restrict ceremonies while Independent celebrants focus on the wishes of the couple. The government needs to establish an organisation where celebrants or ministers of any kind can register themselves as legal officiants whether this is via membership through a registered organisation such as the AOIC or Humanist society or WCC which allows their members to confirm they have had the correct registration however this needs to be open to all organisations that wish to register which would then allow their members to undertake legal weddings. The Non-religious organisation should be able to confirm the validity of the celebrant or officiant to conduct legal weddings but not have the authority to nominate a person as this is then taking the choice away from the couple.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I don't understand this question.

I think simply put all celebrant and non-religious officiants that are part of a valid membership that person celebrant led ceremonies AOIC, WCC, Humanists, FPC should be allowed to perform legal weddings with the right to officiate weddings and the celebrant, rather than the location, should be licensed.

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Yes - if any organisation is shown to not having honourable and lawful purposes with regards to marriage they should not be able to undertake legal weddings.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

I can't see why not.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as there is good evidence and reason and no malice to the decision.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

I do not think there should be particular impositions as what one person sees as a religious element (i.e. Guide me O thou great redeemer) because it is a hymn another sees as a song they share with family because it is a rugby anthem and to them has no religious connection. If a couple can reasonably show that something that may have religious elements to some matters to them on a personal level they should be allowed it. This does not turn it into a religious ceremony as these are two very different things.

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

No, I think you should be able to get married anywhere as long as you have permission from the land or air owner.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 56:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Great Idea.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

I think if someone is terminally ill or has a reasonable excuse to have the marriage take place less than the current 7 days notice then there should be something that allows this to take place sooner.

Consultation Question 63:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 65:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I think this should be the same as awarded to other couples which I have already mentioned I think should be extended due to the time scale weddings now take place within.

Consultation Question 66:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

As above.

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

I think as long as the valid officiant, couple and witnesses are present as would be in any location the officiant should be able to authorise any private or public boat as a valid place to hold a ceremony as long as it is in valid waters.

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

I am sure there may be couples that may have valid reasons to choose this although it's not something I have come across personally.

Consultation Question 74:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

I think it depends on the officiant, while it is nice to be able to offer a lower fee for some they already offer the most affordable fee to ensure they are offering the best service to all and cannot afford to offer lower fees.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I think the current law is very outdated, it restricts couples from including reasonable requests and is too focused on religious and non-religious beliefs over the wishes of the couple that are getting married. I think that the proposal if offered to all celebrants who are part of a recognised celebrant led organisation (not just humanists as is currently the case in Scotland) and all ministers and officiants, would allow couples to have a fair and reasonable choice with up to date and fair marriage laws.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Many of my couples are told what they can and cannot have, that they are only allowed certain times or places and this will give them much more choice. It should not be the location but the officiant that is licensed.

Costs need to be determined by the venue, officiant and place of worship.

Couples should not have to have two separate ceremonies to be able to have a ceremony that reflects their lifestyle as is currently the case.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

It will give couples the choice as to how much they want to pay and if they want a bespoke personal wedding at a specific location or a wedding a registry office.

I do not think a pre-approval process is necessary as it should be based on the officiant not the location.

Allowing a couple to have their legal ceremony with their celebrant ceremony will help by offering savings.

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDK4-1

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-04 15:56:27

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

[REDACTED]

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Wouldn't want my contact information as such to be published

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not married but am a trained level 3 Celebrant

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Not applicable in own capacity

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

Didn't conduct ceremonies during this time

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Most certainly of importance with regards to safeguarding and consent

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 13:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Unsure

Consultation Question 14:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 18:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Celebrants undertake detailed and comprehensive training in the field and the qualification is in high regard

Consultation Question 21:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 23:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Fully trained individuals with relevant qualifications should be appointed to conduct such roles in order to ensure professionalism and understanding of requirements

Consultation Question 24:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 25:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Consultation Question 28:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As mentioned before, Celebrants undergo lengthy and extensive training in order to obtain their qualifications and should therefore be allowed to practise legally to conduct and carry out ceremonial duties

Consultation Question 30:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 31:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 32:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 33:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 34:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 36:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 37:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 38:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 41:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDH9-3

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-04 18:33:40

About you

What is your name?

Name:

[REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

Convert Muslim Foundation

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Other (please state)

If other, please state::

Responding as someone who conducts Muslim marriage - Nikah, who has made an application to become a Muslim Registrar of marriages so that we can combine the two - the religious and the Civil ceremony.

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

NA

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Presently widowed but had a Nikah and a civil marriage over 35 years ago

No

Please expand on your answer:

I had my Nikah (religious ceremony) in Dublin and my civil marriage in Leeds. Apart from the legal aspect of it and wanting to be married properly and according to the law I was not fully aware of the legal aspects of marriage at the time - I have educated myself since. But i was married religiously and in Civil Law from the outset - one month apart.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I wanted to be married legally. It was important for me that if we were to be married it was done according to the law of the country I lived in. However I was not fully aware of the consequences if I had not been married according to the law. I came to learn about this through my work as a Muslim and working within the Muslim community - particularly with women

Other

Please expand on your answer:

NA

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

No legal barriers - wedding a bit small and not a lot of guests but that was fine

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

No experience of this

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I feel worried about how this could be abused and the possibility of coercive behaviour

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I should imagine this will allow for easier organisation and less time consuming and unnecessary meetings. It would also allow for the application to be made and the person to person meeting to be arranged according to availability which need to be accommodated.

Consultation Question 6:

seven days; or

Please expand on your answer:

One week is a safe and standard period of time

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

Definitely not remotely - this may be the only opportunity to establish the true nature of this relationship and marriage - It will open the flood gates for sham marriages if it is an online process. For those of us in the community who are trying to curtail marriages that are not consensual or for other dubious reasons it is absolutely necessary to be able to have face to face meetings with the couple separately and to ensure safeguarding

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Yes but only on the basis that 'both are relevant nationals or exempt from immigration control.' How well would this be established - how safe and secure would this be?

Consultation Question 9:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I've often wondered to what extent this process is relevant and whether the general public really do watch or take notice of such marriage notices - I personally don't but perhaps should do.

Consultation Question 10:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Im not sure that I understand the question- what schedule?

Consultation Question 11:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I worry about the whole process here - we want to retain the importance and the meaningful significance of marriage. The officiant should be a registered officiant with the registry office and not just anyone or someone picked from oblivion. This process must have a framework of security and safety around it to be rendered official and respectful

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes but only replaced by an officiant that is registered and recognised by the registry office

Please share your views below:

Not necessarily except perhaps if the officiant is of the same faith background as the couple - a Muslim officiant for a Muslim couple or marriage etc etc but registered to carry out such a duty

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

perhaps in the churches that have been frequented by both parties of the couple - so not only in the church where the wedding will take place as these are often chosen due to other reasons - geographical location, beauty of the building, size etc. the authorisation should be posted in the churches that are frequented by both of the couple so that their community are aware of impending marriage.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

Yes they should. I believe they have the responsibility to do so and to establish certain things before conducting the marriage. this is essential to maintaining the responsibilities around marriage that make it a responsible ceremony

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

yes - I feel this is a necessary aspect of marriage and of both parties making a statement that there is nothing that prevents them from getting married to each other.

Consultation Question 18:

Anglican preliminaries should continue to be recognised as legal preliminaries to weddings officiated by the Church of England and the Church in Wales; or

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 22:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Why would this only refer to 'clerks in Holy Orders within the Church of England and the Church in Wales' and not to those who act as religious leaders of other faiths - this is surely a discrimination

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

As long as the organisation has proper procedures in place regarding governance and agree that one person of either gender male and female is an officiant on behalf of the organisation. but it would require some training or determination that the officiant is fit for purpose with regard to this role.

Consultation Question 24:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

NA

Consultation Question 25:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

absolutely yes to exclusion. This may lead to all sorts of abusive and sexual perversions etc

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

Not really - feel it is important that the officiant is named and known and takes on this role with a sense of responsibility and commitment to the role

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 29:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure - this will be difficult to manage and if one officiates at a marriage on one occasion will they see it as their right to carry on doing so or present themselves as a recognised officiant though not registered but has acted as one on one occasion. this may be abused

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

absolutely!

Consultation Question 31:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

total agreement!

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

However there should be a nominal charge that is agreed by the organisation and should not exceed an amount that would make it difficult or impossible for a couple to be married or be a financial burden on them. The officiant should be paid for their time and fulfilling the role as it will usually mean that they have to set aside time for the role particularly at the weekend since a lot of wedding take place on weekends. It should not be a burden and perhaps might be a contribution that is offered rather than a set figure.

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Must be limitations otherwise people will be ripped off in certain instances

Consultation Question 34:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Confused.com!

Consultation Question 35:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Absolutely!

Consultation Question 36:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

would be good and advised

Consultation Question 37:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There should be some kind of complaints or grievance procedure where couples who are unhappy with the officiant can use to refer to the registry office and to the organisation but I think the registry office needs to have some involvement here.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 39:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 40:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Feel the need to put a time limit on this - maybe 3 months during which they attend training and shadow a trained officiant

Consultation Question 41:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 43:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 45:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Surely if a religious content is there it being held in a religious building and it is the religious aspect of it that holds the greatest importance for the couple in spite of the civil aspect being included as well - as it has been in churches for so long

Please share your views below:

a Religious sermon based on that particular religious overview of marriage, Prayers said by the bride and groom for each other and for their marriage, prayers said by the congregation to bless the marriage - such like

Consultation Question 46:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 47:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

not sure - depends where it is taking place?

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

No

Please expand on your answer:

outdoors,, on inland waters such as lakes or rivers,, in the air, and/or, in private homes.

Please share your views below:

To what extent should be be mindful of safeguarding here and our duty to determine that peoples lives will not be endangered?

Not in private homes - as a Muslim I would not feel that this is a safely agreed with marriage and that coercion was not applied in some way

Consultation Question 49:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Not sure what is being suggested

Consultation Question 50:

No

No

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Are they going to be required to do a 'risk assessment' of the venue? might be a bit far out don't you think?

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Please share your views below:

the venue management

They have presented this to the registry and are an approved venue

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 55:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

Depends on where it takes place

Consultation Question 56:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

possibly?

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Must be witnesses in the case of a Muslim marriage musty be signed and registered

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

na

Consultation Question 63:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

give notice but there must be some reduced time frame for this - particularly in the case of terminal illness that is determined by a doctor or medical certificate

Consultation Question 64:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Needs to maintain a structure with a Registrars position clearly defined to maintain the sanctity of the marriage process

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 67:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

No idea and would Question the safety of such requests unless it was on a yacht

I guess a private yacht would be OK if it was registered and insured for a wedding and a crowd

Consultation Question 71:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Why would they not give the name of the officiant - I would expect that they should and would.

Consultation Question 72:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

No clue

Consultation Question 74:

No

Please expand on your answer:

needs a fixed time limit - if not it could just be detained for any amount of time and who knows what might happen to either of the couple in that time

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 76:

(1) the same fee as other cases in which the registration officer must travel to the person giving notice, set nationally on a cost-recovery basis; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(1) the fee should be set by regulation at a level below cost-recovery; or

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I don't see that the current law necessarily prevents couples from getting married but I do think that the proposals will help facilitate an increase since they are done to try to accommodate a wider need in the case of different cultural and religious needs and that has to be good practice

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

I feel that from a religious perspective that certainly lots of people are restricted from performing a civil marriage and it shouldn't be the case - it will be facilitated better if it can be carried out in a place of worship or a religious organisation where the couple frequent and it can all be made easier by having the Nikah and the civil ceremony done together - stands to reason and it is sad that this has not been accommodated before now - but it should still carry the structure of a legally defined marriage and be officiated by a registered person to do that.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Of course there will be savings and that is exactly why it should all be made much easier and streamlined so that the Civil marriage is not put on the back burner and in the end and event of time and family additions - children - it just never takes place

Consultation Question 87:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

There are many function rooms where such marriages could take place but they have been prohibitive by the fact that they were not able to be a registered place of a civil marriage - it will be a great help

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it. We would also welcome any data on the size of businesses that are affected by the law or will be impacted under our proposed reforms. :

Feel they should be registered for the civil marriage to take place - it is not difficult and it adds to the seriousness and importance to the whole understanding of marriage

Consultation Question 88:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

na

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

na

Consultation Question 89:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

na

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

Consultation Question 90:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

na

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

na

Consultation Question 91:

Please share your views below:

na

Response ID ANON-5GTU-YDKF-K

Submitted to Law Commission consultation on weddings law
Submitted on 2020-12-05 00:38:46

About you

What is your name?

Name:

The Reverend [REDACTED]

What is the name of your organisation?

Enter the name of your organisation:

The General Synod of the Church of England

Are you responding to this consultation in a personal capacity or on behalf of your organisation?

Personal response

If other, please state::

What is your email address?

Email:

[REDACTED]

What is your telephone number?

Telephone number:

[REDACTED]

If you want the information that you provide in response to this consultation to be treated as confidential, please explain to us why you regard the information as confidential. As explained in our privacy notice, we will take full account of your explanation but cannot give an assurance that confidentiality can be maintained in all circumstances.

Please tell us why you regard the information as confidential:

Please do not publish my contact information

Chapter 1: Introduction

Consultation Question 1:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Not applicable

Consultation Question 2:

Please share your views below:

Not applicable

Consultation Question 3:

Please share your views below:

The way in which restrictions have been imposed at brief notice, modified, increased, decreased, on both weddings and receptions, has been distressing for many couples and families, unable to commit to bookings of any kind, and sometimes having to lose bookings and deposits. The behaviour of the government has been irresponsible and harmful, without any evidence for the actions it has taken.

Chapter 4: Preliminaries

Consultation Question 4:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Modern technology enables checking of identity, impediments and status much more quickly than in the past

Consultation Question 5:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided that all documentary requirements are completed before the wedding

Consultation Question 6:

another period of time.

Please expand on your answer:

The time should be sufficient to allow checking of statements and ID

Consultation Question 7:

Please share your views below:

An in person interview is preferable as an additional means of confirming ID in every case

Consultation Question 8:

Please share your views below:

Provided ID and other information concerning status can be checked satisfactorily there should be no need for notice outside England and Wales.

Consultation Question 9:

No

Please expand on your answer:

The internet is not a secure medium and is open to many kinds of exploitation.

Consultation Question 10:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 11:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 12:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Very rarely an officiant is prevented at short notice from being able to conduct a wedding, and provision needs to be made for this.

Please share your views below:

Ideally there should be a register of people recognised and qualified to officiate, made available by the registrar to couples seeking a schedule.

Consultation Question 13:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I understood that Banns are no longer published in Scotland

Consultation Question 14:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Simpler rules are better rules and there is little likelihood of this provision being relied upon.

Consultation Question 15:

Please share your views below:

There is no need any longer to publish banns anywhere. If banns continue, publication only in the church where the wedding is to take place would make life simpler for all concerned.

Consultation Question 16:

Please share your views below:

1. Clergy do not have any means to verify documentary evidence of this kind.
2. This would be an unwelcome additional burden both for the clergy and for the couple concerned, and would not provide significant extra information about the ID or status of each of the partners.

Consultation Question 17:

Please share your views below:

Without documentary evidence such declarations are meaningless. Common licences depend on information supplied by the couple to a surrogate, who does not have any facility to check evidence, and forwarded to a registrar who must reply upon the forms received from the surrogate. The common licence system adds nothing to the security of the process and should cease to operate.

Consultation Question 18:

all weddings should be preceded by civil preliminaries.

Please expand on your answer:

The system of universal civil preliminaries in Scotland works well, both for the security of the process, for the simplicity it affords to the couple, and for the officiating clergy who can focus on the religious aspects of the occasion without the distraction of legal requirements. The same system, or something very similar, should replace the current system in England.

Chapter 5: Officiants

Consultation Question 19:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The system now in place in Scotland functions very well without such an additional layer of supervision. Officiants themselves should be registered with the registration service and should be regarded as being competent to fulfil these functions without further oversight.

Consultation Question 20:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is the current system as I understand it and it works effectively. It would be invidious to require civil officers to officiate at religious weddings.

Consultation Question 21:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There is no evidence that the current system of weddings conducted by sole religious officiants lacks anything.

Consultation Question 22:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Clergy of both churches undergo extensive selection and training for their role.

Consultation Question 23:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

1. I agree in principle, although many small churches and denominations do not have a governing authority comparable to that of the Church of England. It may not be easy to define what constitutes a "governing authority" in some cases.

2. Similar considerations apply.

Consultation Question 24:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It is very easy indeed to set up a charity or a company, and there will be considerable difficulty in defining what constitutes a responsible "organisation" of this kind.

Please share your views below:

It will be impossible to define such "organisations" pre-emptively. It is better to have a celebrant-based system based on qualifications, recognition and training provided by the state.

Consultation Question 25:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Again, the difficulty of definitions, and evidence as to the size of the organisation. There is already a wide difference between marriage as understood by the Christian faith, and marriage as understood by other bodies, religious and secular.

Consultation Question 26:

Please share your views below:

This would be possible to achieve in terms of public policy or law. It is beyond the competence of the state to define morality.

Consultation Question 27:

Please share your views below:

It is impossible to say what constitutes "office". There are numerous small organisations which describe themselves as churches, which are free to define any multiplicity or combination of offices, but without any evidence of training for any role.

Consultation Question 28:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This would help considerably to ensure that officiants are qualified for the role and safe to employ to conduct a wedding service.

Consultation Question 29:

No

Please expand on your answer:

There must be a satisfactory degree of training and qualification for officiants for them to be authorised. This inevitably excludes self-nominated individuals whose qualifications and beliefs are unknown or untested by a sponsoring organisation.

Consultation Question 30:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is essential both to protect the couples concerned, and to ensure that the law of marriage is fully complied with. But they must be substantial bodies, not ad hoc collections of names and addresses.

Consultation Question 31:

No

Please expand on your answer:

It is imperative that anyone wishing to operate as an officiant should be a member of and be answerable to their own faith or belief community.

Consultation Question 32:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Some churches allow their ministers to receive wedding fees personally as part of the way in which they are remunerated. It is not improper to be paid for work carried out, and organising and conducting a wedding can be time-consuming, with particular implications for ministers who are self-employed or paid part time. The Christian faith teaches that "a labourer is worthy of their hire".

Consultation Question 33:

No

Please expand on your answer:

I do not consider that there should be independent officiants, whose only interest in conducting weddings will be the fees received. Officiants should represent a wider denomination or faith community, and particular beliefs about marriage.

Consultation Question 34:

No

Please expand on your answer:

All celebrants should operate within a defined faith community.

Consultation Question 35:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The meaning of this is unclear. Do you mean that the ceremony itself should be conducted in a dignified manner? Or that celebrants should have particular beliefs about marriage?

Consultation Question 36:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

There is a very wide variety of practice and it is unclear what kind of guidance could be given.

Consultation Question 37:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Faith communities such as churches are best placed to supervise their ministers.

Consultation Question 38:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is a very important reform which is urgently needed.

Consultation Question 39:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It will be impossible effectively to monitor independent officiants

Consultation Question 40:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Re-registration at set intervals, say 10 years, would provide an opportunity to review the quality of the work carried out by officiants.

Consultation Question 41:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It is unlikely that adequate CPD would be provided or maintained by the state, so there should not be independent officiants.

Chapter 6: The wedding ceremony

Consultation Question 42:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There will be no need for declarations during the service if checks on impediments have been completed legally prior to the wedding.

Consultation Question 43:

No

Please expand on your answer:

To ensure the dignity of marriage there must be a set structure to the ceremony so as to ensure that both legal requirements and those of the faith community concerned have been met in an orderly manner.

Consultation Question 44:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This is the only way to maintain open access to church weddings while retaining control over the rites and ceremonies used.

Consultation Question 45:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This should be permitted but not in such a way as to require the officiant to lead religious content.

Please share your views below:

Hymns, prayers and readings, but not religious forms of vows.

Consultation Question 46:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Section 46 allows for a couple who have been married in a civil ceremony in another country to have a religious wedding in the UK. It enables a couple who married in a civil ceremony, who afterwards become members of a faith, to confirm their new understanding of marriage in a religious ceremony. Some faiths do not acknowledge the validity of civil marriage without a subsequent religious ceremony. It enables couples to reaffirm their vows at significant anniversaries following a civil ceremony. To repeal s.46 would potentially be in breach of human rights to manifest one's faith in worship, practice or observance. ECHR Article 9.

Consultation Question 47:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage is a public as well as a private act, and should be capable of being witnessed by the community as well as by guests.

Chapter 7: Location

Consultation Question 48:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will enable couples to manifest their faith or beliefs as they choose.

Please share your views below:

The existing requirement that weddings must take place inside a building is unnecessary and unduly restrictive. For the sake of verification it remains right that the ceremony should take place in an identifiable location, which rules out weddings in the air.

Consultation Question 49:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Many of these will take place on private property, but must remain accessible for checks by registrars, or by police where there may be security issues.

Consultation Question 50:

Yes

Other

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

There are numerous distinctions between the state's understanding of marriage, and the different understandings of marriage in the many faith communities, including within such communities themselves. For the sake of clarity, there need to be restrictions which prevent blurring of beliefs or faiths, so that religious weddings, civil weddings, and non-religious belief weddings are discrete and identifiable as such. Venues should be clearly defined according to their faith or beliefs so that couples understand clearly what kind of wedding they will experience.

Consultation Question 51:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided that all officiants are suitably trained and qualified for their role.

Consultation Question 52:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The safety of all concerned must be paramount, and the location must be appropriate to the seriousness of the commitment which is made in marriage.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

This will be helpful to those being asked to conduct a wedding in unfamiliar surroundings

Consultation Question 53:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It will be helpful for intending couples to have a list of places which are already deemed suitable.

Please share your views below:

It should be the responsibility of the local registrar to assess a venue proposed for regular use and to give it approval

Chapter 8: Registration

Consultation Question 54:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This information should be included in the schedule prior to the ceremony.

Consultation Question 55:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Where both languages are used they should be available for use in the ceremony and documents.

Consultation Question 56:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Hard copies of the documents are of lasting significance to many couples as reminders of their commitment, and are a permanent record whose safety and durability is unlikely to be bettered by electronic means which always risk unreliability of either transmission or permanence of security.

Chapter 10: Validity and offences

Consultation Question 57:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

No

Please expand on your answer:

Failure to observe the requirements for witnesses, or to sign the schedule, or to register the marriage, signify that the ceremony should not be regarded as fulfilling necessary requirements for a marriage to become lawful. A schedule containing minor inaccuracies can always be resolved by issuing a corrected version.

Consultation Question 58:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

If these conditions are not met, it is doubtful whether the marriage has been contracted freely and in the full understanding of the commitments made.

Consultation Question 59:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The marriage should be regarded as lawful if the public and legal requirements have been carried out.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The notion of "common law" marriage leads to many difficulties and disadvantages for one partner or another, without the protection that civil law provides for those who are legally married.

Consultation Question 60:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Relationships are as varied as those entering into them. If there is an issue which calls a marriage into question, it can hardly be limited by an arbitrary number of years, as it may take many years to become apparent.

Consultation Question 61:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Marriage is a cornerstone of society and of family life, and should be capable of being relied upon following the ceremony, in the terms in which it is set both in civil law and in faith communities.

Chapter 11: Special types of wedding

Consultation Question 62:

Please share your views below:

It should be made much simpler for such weddings to take place, which will happen if officiants are no longer bound to use only currently approved locations.

Consultation Question 63:

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is no more necessary in terminal illness than in health, unless there are questions about mental capacity - which also applies in health, as in sickness.

Consultation Question 64:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

The current law is too complex, arcane and dated to be fit for purpose. A single route to marry will provide clarity and simplicity for all concerned, provided the resources are available to registration officers to check ID and documents provided.

Consultation Question 65:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

It is not always possible for doctors to predict the likely duration of any illness. There should be no distinction made between those in good health, and those who are not, in terms of issuing a schedule.

Consultation Question 66:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

I see no need to make special provision in such cases.

Consultation Question 67:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

1 and 2 In the light of the Covid-19 crisis, yes.

3 and 4 should not be permitted. The degree of commitment to marry should always be such as to require the couple to marry in person and in the presence of the officiant and of the witnesses.

No

Please expand on your answer:

Please see above

No

Please expand on your answer:

This is likely to be impossible to prescribe or to define in advance.

Consultation Question 68:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Provided that the arrangements made are consistent with the solemnity of the commitment made in marriage, and can be verified documentarily before and after the ceremony.

Consultation Question 69:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

See above

Consultation Question 70:

Please share your views below:

Provided the arrangements made are in accordance with the solemnity of the commitment made in marriage, and can be documented satisfactorily afterwards.

Consultation Question 71:

No

Please expand on your answer:

To ensure the legal integrity of the process, the officiant should be someone recognised for this purpose, and named in the documentation.

Consultation Question 72:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

It should be possible for recognised officiants from any category to conduct such weddings.

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 73:

Please share your views below:

There will certainly be a demand for religious-based ceremonies if it becomes legally possible.

Consultation Question 74:

Other

Please expand on your answer:

The time limit should be reasonably flexible but not extended indefinitely

Chapter 12: Fees

Consultation Question 75:

No

Please expand on your answer:

People should not face financial penalties because of disability.

Consultation Question 76:

Not Answered

Please expand on your answer:

Provided that there is medical evidence for such a diagnosis, those who are terminally ill should not be required to pay for legal requirements of this kind.

Consultation Question 77:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 78:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 79:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 80:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 81:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 82:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Consultation Question 83:

(2) there should be no fee.

Please expand on your answer:

There should be no fee, on compassionate grounds.

Consultation Question 84:

Yes

Please expand on your answer:

Chapter 13: The potential impact of our proposals

Consultation Question 85:

Please share your views below:

I have been conducting Church of England wedding services for 35 years in [REDACTED] and in [REDACTED]. My experience is that the current requirements for preliminaries are obsolete, in that they are no longer an effective way of discovering impediments, and are framed in such a way as to be discouraging to those seeking marriage, by way of Banns of Marriage. Having served as an incumbent and as a rural dean, and having studied canon law, my view is that many of the clergy find the current law confusing, and that Banns are sometimes called in the wrong place, or in the wrong service, or even skipped when the minister concerned has forgotten to publish them.

The current law on Qualifying Connections makes little rational sense, and evidence for claims to a Qualifying Connection is rarely available in any tangible form. All of this makes the preliminaries, especially where a common licence or a special licence is required, incredibly daunting both to the couple and to inexperienced clergy. The impression is widespread that a church wedding is a rather arcane way of getting married, only for "insiders" rather than for everyone in the parish concerned.

Simplification by way of replacing Banns/Licences with a schedule will go a long way to opening up marriage in church. It will also be helpful to clergy who are not always comfortable dealing with the administration of a complex legal process, and who do make mistakes with both Banns and registration.

Enabling clergy to conduct weddings in venues other than church buildings will also encourage couples to come forward for a religious ceremony in a setting which is more appropriate than the local church building, which in some cases is too small, or too inaccessible by car or by wheelchair. Many churches have churchyards capable of hosting an outdoor service, and there are many ecclesiastical buildings and chapels which are not parish churches, in which freedom to conduct a wedding would be desirable and beneficial.

By far the simplest solution to my mind is the practice in many countries of requiring the marriage to be legally registered in a state register office, leaving the couple free to have whatever kind of ceremony they want, religious or non-religious, at a venue of their choosing. In this way all the requirements concerning ID, status, impediments etc can be dealt with safely by the state, which accords to marriage whatever legal rights and requirements it sees fit, and the ceremony can fulfil the religious or belief requirements of the couple concerned without any need for state intervention or supervision.

Consultation Question 86:

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

3. The cost of a church wedding is currently modest, and the fees can be waived in the case of a couple for whom they would be a financial burden.
4. Provided that a church wedding (or a register office wedding) remain available at a reasonable cost, couples should be free to choose whatever venue they prefer as an alternative, at whatever cost they can afford, as is currently the case with wedding receptions.
5. The state attaches significant rights to marriage, and it is important that every couple should have a legally recognised ceremony, where they are eligible, so as to enjoy the rights and protections of the law. But it should be possible for this to be no more than a brief attendance at an office to sign registers, following civil preliminaries, so that those who want a religious or other ceremony may celebrate their marriage according to their own beliefs or traditions. Because of the divergence between what the state understands to be marriage, and what different religions and communities understand about marriage, it is best for the legal aspects of this to be handled by a registrar, and for couples then to be married according to their own rites and customs in a separate ceremony, conducted by and recognised by their own minister or celebrant, entirely separate from the preceding registration of the legal commitment made by the couple.

Please share your views below. If you have any evidence to support your answers, or which might help us assess the extent of possible benefits, please provide it.:

2. In my experience the costs are not the most important issue considered when planning a wedding. The choice of venue for the ceremony is a high priority, along with the choice of a venue for a reception afterwards. Many couples would like to have a religious wedding at the location of their reception, to avoid travelling in the course of the day. Freedom to marry outdoors or in private homes would add to the options available and would prove popular.

3. Religious organisations such as the Church in England have combined registration and ceremony because of the development of England as a State with an established religion, in which the clergy were the only educated office-holders in many places. But when the Church no longer holds a monopoly, and indeed is now one of many conducting weddings, there is no logical need for the Church or other faiths or beliefs to continue to administer the legal requirements for what the State now defines as marriage.

As is the case now, there will always be those who require only a simple ceremony at a register office, at a modest cost, and not always followed by a reception. If it became universally understood that such a ceremony confers the rights and protections which the state affords by law, and that it is a requirement in order to be recognised by the state, it would not be an issue for those seeking a separate ceremony in accordance with their own preferences, but understood as readily as registration for the right to vote, or registration of a property with the land registry, or a car with the DVLA.

Consultation Question 87:

